TROUBLE MAY AT ANY TIME OCCUR

A Fresh Discovery of Gold May Cause a Collision.

New York, March 6—The London correspondent of The Tribune says: There has been no marked change in Anglo-American relations during the past week. The English journals discuss the Alaskan boundary question with excessive caution. There is an earnest desire to have the question settled, since it may be rendered a highly dangerous issue any day by fresh gold discoveries, but there is a clear recognition of the obligation of the Mother Country to as loyal a confederation as Canada. Questions relating to the personnel of the commission attract little attention here. No sensible journalist supposes that the Commission can be made up like a backwoods jury in a murder case, and that only those without opinions and convictions are eligible for service.

A. FRENCH OPINION.

London, March 6—The Temps, in a pessimistic editorial on the Alaskan Boundary Commission, says:

"The American Senate ratified a modest convention, and as a condition rendering its execution difficult and almost impossible, compelled President Roosevelt to appoint prejudiced, passionate men, instead of the impartial and unprejudiced ones prescribed by the treaty. Secretary of War Root is the most judical of the lot. He is not deliberately an imperialist, but Senator Lodge is the leader of the expansionist school. He is a man of aggressive patriotism, and is an anglophobe.

"Senator Turner, who represents the State of Washington, is influenced by local interests, and will do his utmost to prevent England from acquiring an inch of territory in the Northwest. Moreover, he regards Canada as a commercial and agricultural rival and as a political enemy.

"Certainly these commissioners will do nothing to facilitate a settlement. Ottawa is evidently of this opinion, for it is already accusing Prime Minister Laurier of duping the Dominion and preparing a triumph for Yankee diplomacy. Canadian opinion places small confidence in Lord Lansdowne's Mr. Balfour's or even Sir Michael Herbert's firmness, believing that England will sacrifice her colonial interests before the republic in which Cleveland's spirit is only dormant."

The Temps concludes: "The preliminary embracings, compliments, and friendly professions will end either in a rupture, possibly entailing grave international complications, or in disagreement at the expense of the Dominion, which will overflow with indignation against the metropolis."

A NEW YORK VIEW.

New York, March 6—The Tribune's Washington correspondent wired recently: Senator Turner, of Washington, one of the members of the Alaskan Boundary Commission, called on the President to-day. He will retire from Congress at the close of the present session. He expects to return immediately to his home to arrange his private affairs, and then will proceed to London, where the commission is to meet. He will probably go with the other American members of the Commission, Secretary Root and Senator Lodge. It is scarcely likely that the work of the commission will begin before July 1, and perhaps not until next autumn.

It is not thought in official circles here that the recent criticism of the appointment of Senators Lodge and Turner, said to have emanated from the Canadian Government, accurately represent the feeling in Canada. It is believed that the commission named by President Roosevelt will meet with no objections so far as either the Dominion Government or Great Britain is concerned.

Let's "Bide a Wee."

But it is suggested now that even if it had suited the convenience of the Canadian Commissioners to go to Quebec or Washington at once, it would better suit Canadian interests if they were to wait to see something of the attitude of the American jurists in the Alaskan tribunal. For in the other matters, the American seem to be more vitally interested than the Canadians. In 1899, at all events, they showed themselves vastly more eager.

To mention a few of the matters: The Americans desire most strongly such a revision of the agreement of 1817, as to gunboat along the Great Lakes as will permit them to exploit their plan for the development of an inland naval reserve by means of armed training ships at Chicago, Cleveland and other lake ports. That plan is standing still.

They desire most eagerly the right to enter at Canadian ports in bond, and without payment of duty, for reshipping to American ports, fish caught in northeastern waters.

Other bonded privileges covering the passage of goods through Western Ontario on the big American trunk lines, the Americans [illegible].

These are a few of the things the Americans really want, and, of course, since they want them at all, they want them very badly. Senator Fairbank's request for a speedy adjustment of such international matters as are not keenly controversial is described by authorities on the previous negotiations as an entirely logical and natural outcome of the American attitude in 1899 in these matters.

In plain terms Canada can well afford to wait. In the matters outstanding she holds the whip hand, and her delay in discussing these matters of minor importance to her, until after a decision in the Alaskan question, cannot possibly impair and might well improve her influence in the Alaskan tribunal.

KEENE.

One of the most exciting games of the season took place on Monday evening between Keene and Lang. The game was scheduled for Tuesday, but the weather being soft it was decided to play on Monday. Some of the Lang players came on bicycles, but the majority hoofed it. They struck the rink like a cyclone. Haddy Dinsdale was missing, but it was not long until StubbySpiers came down in hot haste and said Haddy was caught by the hair in the limb of a tree, about a mile from Keene. Barber Wright was sent up with his clippers and soon had him loose. As soon as Haddy arrived the game commenced. The players lined up as follows:

Lang—Goal, Nelson Spiers; point, A. Brough; cover point, Haddy Dinsdale; forwards, Henry Weir, George Weir, Nuss Spiers, Poodle Conmal.

Keene—Goal, Jockey Donnelly; point, "Star" Dixon; cover point, Huffman Quinn; forwards, Toot McIntyre, Millionaire Elmhurst, Jimmie Weir, Stout Gus Bolin.

When the gong sounded Jockey Donnelly had no stick, and the game was delayed till Babe Elmhirst ran to Huffman's pond for a shinny. Stout Gus pulled down his tam and said "let 'er go," when referee Skinny Walsh sounded the gong. It was not long till Stout Gus was elected to decorate the fence, when they discovered they had not appointed a time keeper. Bunty Fawn was duly appointed for this responsible position and the game proceeded. Twin Weir with a brilliant rush put the Star point man on the fence, after which he made desperate attempts to score but Nuss was equal to the occasion. Poodle Conmal secured the puck and started towards Keene's goal, but was well met by Jimmy Weir, both going to the fence for 3 minutes. Time keeper Bunny, in the excitement of the game, dropped his watch and play was stopped. Bunny stooped to pick up the watch when Toot McIntyre struck him on the hand drawing blood. Bunny yelled for embrocation oil, and by good luck Ponty happened to have a bottle in the pocket of his raglan. Just before half time Haddy scored for Lang, after making desperate attempts. After ten minutes rest play commenced with a rush on Lang's goal by Huffman, but unfortunately he and Haddy had a mix-up. Toot McIntyre got the rubber and in his excitement shot towards Keene's goal, but Stout Gus was on hand and made one of his furious lifts and the puck struck the referee's cady, putting it out of business. The game was stopped for 2 minutes till he borrowed Ponty's rough rider hat. Millionaire Dick Elmhirst got the rubber and passed it to Jimmy Weir, who found the net, after several desperate rushes. Bunny gave an awful yell, which shattered 18 panes of glass and 8 Pittsburg lamp chimneys and called time. Referee Skinny Walsh sounded the gong and declared the game a tie, 1 all.

A small evening party took place on North street. As the notice was short and the girls failed to arrive two gentlemen decided to have a dance. While hoeing it down to the music of a Jews harp one man hurt his arm, and the other his leg, very severely.

The two young men from across the lake are too slow for the stage driver. He's not as slow as he drives.

Millionaire Dick decided he would take a walk over the cemetery hill. When they got as far as the hotel corner she told him to go away back and sit down.

Mr. Marsh Weir, who has been in the lumbering business at Gooderham, Ont., arrived home on Saturday.

Mr. G. Laing spent a few days with friends in Peterborough last week.

The second game between the Wellingtons and Victorias took place on Tuesday, resulting in a victory for the Wellingtons. The score was 3—1.

Victorias—Goal, Edith Henderson; point, Carrie Soucie; cover point, Etta Edwards; forwards, Sadie Kempt, Kathleen Walsh, Jennie Weir, Pansy Pue.

Wellington—Goal, Mabel Harrison; point, Mary Bryce; cover point, Annie Hore; forwards, Mabel McCann, Pearl McCann, Maggie Walsh.

CANADA IN GREAT DANGER IN TIME OF WAR SAYS COLONEL KITSON

Canada Can Squeeze Uncle Sam.

That Canada is in a position to dictate to the United States is evident from the fact that she holds the key to the Great Lakes, as well as the pulpwood country of the continent and of the world. The following, from the Minneapolis Tribune tells its own story:

"It is reported that, as soon as the Alaskan question is out of the way, the old high joint commission between Canada and the United States will reassemble to adjust other differences, and make a reciprocity treaty, if possible. This commission had to adjourn because it could not agree on the Alaskan question, and the Canadians would not take up any other while that was open. One of the pending questions is that of ship-building on the Great Lakes. The treaty of 1818 forbids this, as well as maintaining a naval force there. But now that a great ship-building industry has grown up, there is no reason why the United States should not construct war ships on the lake for use on the ocean, under pledge to take them out before arming them. As the ships could only be taken out through Canadian canals this privilege could not be used against Great Britain in case of war. Now that all our shipyards are overworked, and naval construction is two or three years behind, it would be an enormous advantage to use this lake for smaller vessels."

Would Be Exposed to Raids All Along the Frontier of the United States

WITHOUT PROTECTION.

British and Canadian Governments Cannot Agree on Emmigration Policy

London, March 6—At the Canada Club dinner last night, Admiral Fremantle urged Canadians to remember that they had considerable at stake in the Empire, which rested upon the naval strength, towards which Canada gives nothing, though he thoroughly agreed that Canadians could not be expected to contribute, till given a voice in the management of the Empire.

Colonel Kitson, late commandant at Kingston, said Canadians were not lacking in bravery, but wanting in organization. For the last two years he had been military attachee at Washington, and had plenty of opportunity to observe in regard to the frontier problem from the United States point of view. Fortunately the possibility of trouble was further off than ever, but he was assured that the Canadians would enter a campaign under great strategical difficulties, and would be very lucky in Upper Canada if they had any ammunition at all. The main lines of communicatoin would be all along the frontier and open to attack. The only arsenal was at Quebec, the extreme end of the line. Without better organization, without another arsenal in the interior, Canada would never be safe from raids. He begged Canadians to assist Lord Dundonald, so that in time of trouble they may know where to go, what to do, and how to do it.

Lord Strathcona, replying to Admiral Fremantle, said it must not be forgotten that the colonies required to develop very much. Canada had done a great deal for the protection of the Mother Country and herself by building the Canadian Pacific, and filling vacant lands with brave defenders of British interests. He reminded Colonel Kitson that another arsenal was being built at Ottawa, which was some distance from the frontier. Eulogizing Mr. Chamberlain, he said he thought it probable that he would visit Canada.

London, March 5—A letter from Lord Strathcona written to a correspondent indicates the rejection of various schemes submitted to the British and Canadian Governments for assisted passages for hundreds of thousands of British families, suitable to settle in Canada. He says the matter has been under consideration for many years, and no scheme has commended itself either to the Governments or to capitalists. Lord Strathcona argues that some organised plan of emigration would be of great material advantage, forming larger markets for British manufacturers, and solving the problem of British food supplies.

MONTREAL BUSINESS MEN SET THE BALL ROLLING

And will Fight the High Tariff of Insurence Companies.

INSURANC RATES MUST COME DOWN

An Example for Peterborough and Other Places to Follow.

The enormous rates charged by the Underwriters' Association under their new tariff, will not be tolerated. Peterborough especially is singled out for harsh treatment, and it remains to be seen what action our citizens, or Council, or Board of Trade, will take to secure relief. The matter was referred to by Mr. T. E. Bradburn, at the Board of Trade meeting a few weeks ago. He showed that the rates in some cases were more than doubled, and that, the general increase was almost unwarrrantable. It seems to us that the time has arrived when Peterborough should organize a mutual company, and we will be disappointed if steps looking to the formation of such a company will not soon be taken.

A despatch to The Times from Montreal states that at a meeting held in the City Hall by the Finance committee of the City Council, a drastic step was to be taken in order to get a reduction of the insurance rates in that city.

Ald. L. Lapointe announced that at the meeting of the committee on Friday he would offer a resolution that the four city attorneys be asked to give an opinion as to the legality of the insurance companies combining to keep up rates. He would also make a second motion asking that in case the fire underwriters did not consent to lower the rates at once that steps be taken by Council to have a new insurance company organized.

"Sufficient business men are interested in this matter to start a new and powerful insurance company," in the insurance combine, and will soon bring down the rates.

"The excuse for raising the rates was that the Fire Department had not sufficient fire apparatus; had not enough of fire stations, and that the centre of the city was not well equipped with water pressure. The companies, when raising the rates, gave it to be understood that as soon as these defects were remedies the rates should come down again. This promise has not been kept. The water pressure in the centre of the city has been largely increased. We have also bought thousands of dollars worth of new apparatus. Notwithstanding this the heavy insurance rates still continue. The case of the City Council is now a strong one."

"You said you would make a motion on Friday to get an opinion from the city attorneys as to the legality of the insurance companies in the city combining. What does this mean?"

"It means that according to our laws such combines are illegal. It stands to reason they should be. An opinion from your attorneys on this point will be most useful. The aldermen they may be in a position to attack the companies in more ways than one. It is a scandalous thing that business men should be driven to building in outside municipalities in order to escape our insurance rates. I have no doubt but that Council will now enter on a determined campaign in this connection. So long as we remain inactive the insurance companies will do nothing. We will now take the bull by the horns. I have ascertained it will not be at all difficult to start a new company."

THE UNSEATING OF MR. MISCAMPBELL

Mr. Justice Osler has delivered judgment in the Sault Ste. Marie election case, unseating Mr. Miscampbell, the Conservative member in the Provincial Legislature. He finds the defendant responsible for the corrupt acts of two of his agents, Mr. Masrault, in three cases, and he also finds that in his election drinking was indulged in to a reprehensible extent. The offences through which Mr. Miscampbell has lost his seat are not of such a serious nature nor nearly so extensive as those which have characterized recent Ontario elections, but they are sufficient to justify the forfeiture of the seat, and they are sufficient to give color to the theory that the difference between this case and others comes in, to some extent at least, a matter of opportunity. Politicians who are in the opposition, and who bribe voters, employ others to bribe voters, or are willing to profit by the bribes, may not be as bad as the politicians who, being in power and in control of the ballot boxes, are guilty of the forgery and theft of ballots. But the difference is only a question of degree and perhaps of opportunity, and they have no right to say a word in denunciation of the greater sinners. The Conservative party of Ontario has a great work before it, to purify the Liberal party, but as a necessary preliminary its own hands must be absolutely clean—not simply less dirty than those of the other fellows. The unseating of Mr. Miscampbell will naturally be looked upon as an advantage gained by the Liberals. Rightly regarded, it is a much greater advantage for the Conservatives. Mr. Whitney can ill afford to lose any of his supporters in the Legislature, but still less can he afford to profit in the slightest degree by corrupt practices.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

"The aspect of prayer is changing," says the New York Outlook. "The new experience does not look out and up to a King upon a great white throne, nor back to a Divine Man by the Sea of Galilee; it looks within to the God who tabernacles with men. Our prayers are less in asking us for things and more a communion of spirit with spirit; the answers we look for are less external gifts bestowed and more spiritual life imparted; we do not so much seek succor from life's battles and burdens as courage for the first and patience for the second. Thus prayer becomes hardly distinguishable from meditation; it is listening to God perhaps even more than speaking to him; it is compliance with the Psalmist's counsel, 'Commune with your own heart upon the bed, and be still.' It is therefore less a matter for appointed times and occasions; more a habit than an act; more an atmosphere than either. It is consequently more difficult to give to it outward formal expression except in liturgies; it is more private, less public, more unuttered, less expressed, more a life of the subconscious self, less a conscious and deliberate speech. It loses in clearness, definiteness, precision; but it gains in intimacy, closeness, familiarity."

CANADIAN CORDAGE COMPANY

in declaring a dividend of five per cent. We ask the shareholders to accept this dividend as an earnest of still greater returns, which may be expected in the future.

We consider that we have good grounds, based on sound business principles in believing that the stock holders in this company have a permanent, substantial and profitable investment in their stock in this company.

FOR CHEAP POWER

The company have a contract for cheap power, whereby they get 440 electrical horse power for the purpose of driving the machinery in their factory, at the rate of $10 per horse power per annum. Steam power usually costs about $35 per horse power per annum. The company therefore save $25 per horse power per annum, or in round numbers $11,000 per annum on the item of motive power alone.

The company have also a contract entitling them to be supplied with 30 additional electrical horse power for lighting their entire factory, ware houses, boiler house, tar house, offices and other buildings. In this item the company makes a saving of at least $500 per year in lighting their premises, over current prices.

The company have put in the Sturtevant Hot Air Heating System. The heat is forced through the building in large pipes by a fan eight feet in diameter. The fan is run by a 30 horse power electric motor. This additional horse power is also furnished at $10 per horse power per annum. It is the most up-to-date, economical and efficient system of heating a large building that is known. The company estimate that it will cost $500 per year less to heat their premises by this system than if heated by steam, besides the cost of installment and of keeping the same in repair is at least 50 per cent. less than any other system which can be installed.

The company have obtained a bonus of $4,500 from the town of Peterborough with which they purchased a site containing two and one-quarter acres between Lake and Perry streets, and between Aylmer and Bethune streets, in Peterborough.

The company also obtained a bylaw from the Town Council of the Town of Peterborough, which has been ratified by the ratepayers of Peterborough by a large majority and subsequently ratified and approved by the Legislature of the Province of Ontario, fixing the Company's assessment at $4,500 for all purposes and granting to the Company upon their buildings and machinery for municipal and public school purposes. On this item the Company estimate they will effect a saving of at least $1,700 per year in taxes.

The Company have put in their factory the latest and most improved automatic sprinkler system that can be obtained for fire protection. In case of fire the heat from the fire melts the caps on the small sprinklers, which are distributed eight feet apart throughout the entire buildings, and the water automatically rushes out without any action on the part of any one. Each department of the factory is separated by fire proof walls and connected by fire proof doors which automatically close by the heat in case of fire. Fire extinguishers are placed in different parts of the buildings and three street hydrants are on the streets adjoining the factory. The boiler for heating purposes is completely isolated. The electric motors are isolated in small motor houses adjoining the factory. The entire buildings are completely isolated by the streets on all sides and are laid out with a view of getting cheapest insurance rate. They have got a large 500 horse power engine to increase their risk from fire. The Company estimate that the system which they have adopted for fire protection will save the Company about $3,100.00 per year in insurance premiums on buildings, machinery and stock over that of the best equipped cordage factory in Canada of like capacity.

The Company is in a position to get cheap freight rates into and out of Peterborough, on their raw material and finished products on account of the fact that their works are close to namely, the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific Railways, and they have a railway siding immediately adjoining their warehouses, connecting with both railway lines.

The Company further possess the local advantage of being the only binder twine factory in a very large grain growing district of the Province of Ontario, thereby giving it a special advantage over its competitors in such district.

This Company now already has in the neighbourhood of 4,000 shareholders in different parts of Canada who are interested in its success, who will use its twine and rope and and lath yarn, and recommend it to others, therby making for the Company a most valuable good will and tending to do away with expensive agents and travellers.

The wisdom of having the stock widely distributed among parties who use twine, rope and cordage is amply shown from the immense number of offers to handle the output of our factory that are constantly coming in to the Company from different parts of Canada. The Company is constantly receiving offers of orders for not only tons but for car loads of their output from Manitoba and the North-west, where so much twine is now used and where the demand is yearly increasing.

Each shareholder, therefore, should make it a point on every occasion to have hardware merchants, lumbermen and farmers ask for and insist on getting twine, rope and lath yarn, etc., manufactured by this company.

The location and arrangement of the buildings are most complete throughout, being laid out on a principle to save the least possible handling of the goods in the process of manufacture and in receiving the raw material and shipping their finished products. Their raw material comes in by the car load, is landed in the warehouse, thence it is taken to the preparation room, thence to the spinning room adjoining and from thence to the balling room and the rope room, and from thence the finished product will be taken by carriers into the particular part of the storehouse where it should go. These carriers will be operated and it is estimated that the services of four men will be dispensed with, thereby making a saving of $1,800 a year in wages. In these several respects the company claims it will save many hundreds of dollars per year in handling and cartage in the operation of their factory.

The report of the directors shows that the factory is equipped with the most modern and most improved machinery that is manufactured in the world.

The company have employed as foremen for the different departments men who have a thorough knowledge of the business and have gained their experience in some of the largest and best equipped cordage factories in the United States, which have the reputation of turning out and making first class twine, rope, etc.

There is an unlimited market in Canada for binder twine, rope and cordage, and the demand is increasing year by year, owing to the increased numbers of self-binders, etc., that are being used. For instance, according to the report of the Department of Trade and Commerce for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1902, page 179, it appears that during the following years, the following quantities of twine for harvest binders, etc., was imported into this country:

In 1896,	3,023,894 lbs.
In 1897,	3,394,455 lbs.
In 1898,	8,678,823 lbs.
In 1899,	10,629,236 lbs.
In 1900,	6,017,686 lbs.
In 1901,	9,674,268 lbs.
In 1902,	14,927,302 lbs.

The demand for cordage of all kinds is increasing year by year in Canada on account of the large pulp mills which are being erected in the provinces of Quebec, Ontario and other parts of Canada, and the immense lumbering and mining operations, which are increasing year by year in Ontario, and British Columbia, and other parts of Canada. The large cattle ranches and farms of the Northwest, and the carried on on the Great Lakes and inland waters, demand a constantly increasing quantity of cordage of all kinds. In addition to the Canadian markets we are in a position to compete on equal terms and on common ground with the American manufacturers in the United States on that class of twine that enters their ports free of duty. The consumption of binder twine in the United States is estimated at 150,000,000 pounds a year; of this it is admitted that about 50 per cent could be admitted free of duty. The South American Republics, the West Indies, and other foreign countries open up a wide field for twine, rope and cordage of all kinds, on a fair margin of profit.

To operate this company successfully, it is important that the company should be in a position to carry its raw material and finished product independently of, and unhampered by, the banks, and save the interest for the shareholders. To carry 3000 tons of twine at an average cost of ten cents a pound, requires not less than $600,000. It also requires about $100,000 to carry a stock of rope. That is a large amount to carry for months on a small capital.

To successfully compete with other large manufacturers it is necessary to carry twine accounts in various parts of the country until the first day of October of each year, the same as the large American manufacturers.

To do this requires money. To get the necessary money the directors require to sell some more stock. Any extra capital which is received will enable the company to do a larger volume of business. To get the largest profits out of the factory, it is necessary to run the factory to its full capacity every week in the year. It is not expedient, nor is it in the interests of the shareholders, to do this by borrowing too much from the bank on too narrow a margin between the amount borrowed and the value of the raw material, finished product and accounts outstanding on the usual periods of credit given by other factories. It does not do to sail too close to the wind, and thereby assume too much risk. The directors feel that it is safer and better to sell more stock, so that a larger volume of business may be done at more profit, and on a more sound and substantial financial basis. I therefore have very much pleasure in moving the adoption of the report, and of the accompanying statement, and that the same be printed for distribution amongst the shareholders of the company.

Mr. R. B. Mowbray, County Councillor and ex-Warden of Ontario County, spoke as follows:

Mr. Chairman, — It affords me great pleasure to second the resolution for the adoption of the report, and of the accompanying statement, and to congratulate the shareholders upon having one of the best equipped and most modern cordage factories in Canada. When we take into consideration the difficulties which always attend the starting of a new industry, I think the shareholders are to be congratulated upon the excellent results of the operation of this company, and for the very bright prospects for its future.

There is no reason why this company should not be a good, sound, substantial and profitable investment, when we consider its many advantages referred to by the president, such as a free site, exemption from taxation on the buildings and machinery, cheap electric motive power, for power, lighting and heating purposes, an exceedingly low rate of insurance; many shareholders living in different parts of Canada using its product and recommending it to others; the most modern machinery and most up-to-date labour saving devices and conveniences, expert foremen in each department and an unlimited market for the product of the factory.

I therefore have much pleasure in seconding the resolution.

The bylaw of the directors to increase the capital stock of the company to $800,000, was sanctioned unanimously by the shareholders.

Author of "The House in the Marsh," "A Prince of Darkness," etc.

own coming, and was filled with suspicion regarding her.

She had the same impression when, on entering the great, bare, comfortless hall, to which even a roaring fire in the hooded fireplace imparted little warmth, she was met by a curtseying housekeeper, a stout, red-faced woman of middle age, in the inevitable black silk dress and massive gold brooch, who was presented to her as "Mrs. Griffiths."

Mrs. Griffiths was condescending, ceremonious and stately: Lady Darwen (Norma started when Astley called her by this name) was nervous, frightened and almost humble. She tried not to move too fast for her dignity when the ordeal of presentation was over, and she was ceremoniously inducted, after ascending a wide and draughty staircase, and traversing a wider and more draughty corridor, into an enormous bedroom, where a frowning four-poster, with mediaeval hangings, seemed to scout the idea of sleep or repose.

Refusing all offers of assistance from the head housemaid, who was as thin and gaunt as the housekeeper was stout, and quite as forbidding-looking, Norma shut herself into the huge apartment, and looked round her with a shiver.

It seemed to her the biggest room she had ever been in, and the most uninviting. The walls were covered with dingy old tapestry, which suggested to Norma nothing but nightmare; the furniture was heavy, cumbrous and shabby, and the window curtains and bed hangings, though more modern than the tapestry on the walls, was sombre-looking and heavy, too. There was a fire in the grate, but it appeared to Norma as if most of the heat went up the old-fashioned chimney.

When she walked to the windows, of which there were three, she found the outlook as dispiriting as the inlook. Bare fields, divided from the lawn of the house by a patch of scrubby orchard, stretched away to a river in the distance, which ran in a rocky bed, bounded on the other side by a row of bleak hills. There were factory chimneys within sight on either hand, and there was the heavy black smoke cloud over all.

Decidedly this was the most depressing locality she had ever been in: and the supersensitive Norma wondered how she could ever have been so mad and wicked as to contemplate self-destruction in the comfortable midlands, when such awful places as the cotton towns and their environs existed upon the earth!

She sat down in an unwieldy armchair almost in the middle of the room, and stared around her in a sort of mental torpor for nearly twenty minutes, at the end of which time there came a sharp knock at her door, and Astley's cheerful voice sang out from the corridor outside:

"Are you still up here? May I come in?"

She jumped up and rushed eagerly to the door, and then suddenly checked herself with her fingers upon the handle. There she stood for a moment hesitating, with a hot blush on her face, until the handle was softly turned, and Astley's face appeared peeping at her, with an amused smile on it.

"I may come in, mayn't I?" he whispered.

She slunk away from the door to the middle of the room without a word, and Astley came in and threw himself into the unwieldy arm-chair. She noticed that he limped more than ever, and again she was struck by the extreme pallor of his face. The sight cured her self-consciousness, and she came quickly up to him.

"You're overtired," she said anxiously. "You'll be ill again if you don't take care."

"That's just what I'm afraid of," panted he. "I do feel this rushing about after the quiet time I had of it at Oxford. I've been thinking—if I were taken very ill, what on earth would you do?"

She sat down promptly in a little chair, which was near the one in which he sat, and said, looking earnestly in his face, "What should I do? Why, stay here and take care of you, of course!"

His pale face grew a little less pale, as he met her eyes.

"Would you? That's nice of you. I've been thinking about you, and feeling so sorry for you, as often as I've had a chance of thinking of anything since poor Hugh died."

Norma leaned forward a little, and said in a low voice:

"But you're not to think about me, at least not to worry yourself. You don't understand how I feel. There, I won't say much now, because I don't want to make you talk; but I must just say this: I feel your kindness to me so deeply, I feel so grateful to you as the one creature who's been good to me—really good and kind, since my poor mother died, that whatever were to happen to me now, I should just take things quietly, thankful for having had the one experience of true goodness in the world."

She spoke in a very low voice, putting such strong constraint upon herself that the nails of her clasped hands dug into her flesh. But there was a passionate thrill in her voice which made her simple words eloquent, and touched a sympathetic chord in Astley's heart.

He put out his hand and laid it firmly on both hers.

"There's a good, good girl," said he. "I'm glad we've had these few words together. So it's settled then, that you stay up here, eh?"

Norma looked at him with the blood rushing into her face. Then she looked down again.

"If you wish," said she, in a low voice.

"I do wish it most emphatically. It's the only thing to be done. People would think it very odd of you if you were to run away now, when they know I'm not well, wouldn't they?"

An Opportunity

We are offering for public subscription a limited amount of stock of exceptional merit affording an unusual opportunity for a very profitable investment. We desire to be conservative in our representations, but do not hesitate to state that the stocks of the properties we are representing are absolutely certain to rapidly increase in value, and the fortunate purchasers of the stock at the present prices will have more than reason to congratulate themselves for grasping this opportunity.

Success lies in being alive to that which is going on around you, and they who "grasp the skirts of happy chance can break the blows of circumstance."

We have the disposition of a certain amount of treasury stock in four corporations. We have thoroughly investigated the present value of the properties owned by the Companies, and have full cognition of the immense profits that are awaiting only the further development and equipment of the properties.

We are offering an equal number of shares in each of the four corporations at a price that make the combined issue a most attractive feature, giving also to the purchaser an unusual safe guard on his or her investment; in other words, you are not placing all your eggs in one basket. Or if you prefer you can purchase separately the stocks we offer.

As the money received from the sale of the stock is strictly for the purpose of equipping the properties with the necessary machinery, etc., the time will not be long before handsome dividends are available. We are not asking your subscriptions to pay for the properties; they are already owned by the Companies, and there are no outstanding obligations.

This preliminary notice is to advise the public in general that an opportunity now presents itself for a safe investment of unusual character, embodying also speculative possibilities sufficiently great to make even a small investor a competency within a few years.

You can invest in any amount from Ten Dollars up, and, if so desired, you can have the privilege o paying in installments the amount of stock paid for from time to time being non-forfeitable in the event of your ceasing payments, thus relieving those of small or uncertain income from possibility of loss, should they for any reason become unable to continue payments.

Our business is to aid responsible Companies in the disposal of their treasury stock for the thorough equipment of their properties; we do not and will not handle indiscriminate mining or other stocks under any circumstances. W make a thorough personal examination and investigation as to the merits and possibilities before undertaking to assist in financing any Corporation; the paramount issue with us is to give complete satisfaction and cause much success to our patrons.

We have furnished the publishers of The Times with an outlined description of the Companies we represent, and the names of the Directors of each Company whose tock we offer to their subscribers and friends. We have also furnished The Times with bank references as to our own bonafides and standing. We desire to command the utmost confidence of all subscribers and to retain same along with their friendship for all time; you add riches without effort and increase our brain and labor: you increase your rr without effort and increase our power to make you still richer. In ordinary everyday experience a man's expenses nearly equal his income and he has little chance to make a turn for the betterment of his condition. This is anyone's opportunity; you can invest Ten Dollars or One Thousand Dollars on the same basis as one who invests Ten Thousand Dollars. You cannot afford to neglect your opportunitie and this is a chance to get in on the ground flow and reap the profits of substantial, quick money making enterprises. Your money need not be tied up for a long time; we know that one of the Companies, at least, will pay handsome dividends this year. It is an easy matter to become rich; just watch for the opportunity and take advantag of it. This is your opportunity; will you grasp it?

City Council Passes a Resolution as an Offset to De Armond's Boomerang

Windsor, March 3—At the City Council meeting last night Ald. Leggett and Keogh offered the following resolution, as an answer to the De Armond resolution, presented to the United States Congress last week:

"In view of the wonderfully rapid growth of Canada in the last few years and, as a natural consequence thereof, the necessity of the acquisition of more territory to meet its growing needs, therefore, be it

Resolved that the Mayor be and be is hereby authorized to sign a petition on behalf of this Council to be forwarded to his Majesty, King Edward VII., through the hands of the Governor-General of Canada, praying him to confer with the President of the United States to ascertain upon what terms, if any, consistent with their dignity the people of the United States would agree to annexation or sale of the States to Canada, and, in the event of such annexation, or sale, to be divided into one or more provinces the people of the Commonwealth to be guaranteed the same laws and protection as the citizens of Canada now enjoy.

Mayor Drake thought that the undertaking is such that it should be further considered before any action is taken and the resolution was referred to the Market and Property Committee This is the least important committee of the Council, but has charge of all transfers of property.

INTERNATIONAL ELECTRIC MINING Co

185 SUMMER ST., - BOSTON, MASS.

A Dividend Payer for the Past Five Years.

12 PER CENT GUARANTEED

Capital Stock, $500,000. Par, $1.00, full paid and non-assessable

Over eight thousand tons of $50.00 ore mined and smelted from this group of mines.

A limited number of shares of the tock of this Company now offered at seventy-five cents per share. This price will shortly be increased to par. Stock registered by the International Trust Company, Boston, who is also the transfer agent.

This Company has a small capital stock.

The International Electric Mining Company owns seven mines and milling plant.

The Brooklyn and New York mines of this Company lie north of and join the Victor and the Hoodlum—two rich mines that are now being worked by California parties. On the west lies the Electric Mining Company's mines. In these mines are millions of dollars' worth of rich ore in sight. On the south, adjoining the Berlin mine of this Company, is the Montezuma and Clipper. From the Montezuma over three million dollars has been taken within 60 feet of the grass roots.

This Company owns free and clear seven mines of twenty acres each, all containing rich ore, located in the Arabia and Trinity mining districts, Humboldt County, Nevada. The Company has worked these mines for the past five years, and is now driving a tunnel to cut out a rich ledge about 300 feet from the surface. The Arabia mining district, in which these mines are located, is a lively district—a great many men being employed there. The tunnel now being driven on the Brooklyn mine has about 250 feet already completed. When the tunnel cuts the main ledge, which has just been reached by the Victor tunnel about 600 feet, the Brooklyn will have about 300 feet stoping ground, which runs high in gold and silver, over $60.00 per ton.

The Company is offering for a short time a limited amount of stock for the enlargement of its plant and the working force at the mines and for the completion of the Brooklyn tunnel.

This Company has thousands of tons of rich ore in sight.

We are not making a lot of talk, because it is unnecessary. What the investor wants is dividends, which we have paid for the past five years. Now if you want a safe 12 per cent. investment, let us hear from you.

THE OLD COMSTOCK

A California mining paper has this to say: "Nevada, that grand old stamping ground of mushroom millionaires, who plucked enough wealth from her prolific fields to build mansions, banks, and big hotels in San Francisco, and palaces in Paris and London, is again astonishing the world by making more millionaires and by yielding millions in gold and silver from a new field which rivals the old Comstock lode in the days of its pristine splendor. Not only in Tonopah and Arabia districts, where within the past year nearly ten millions have been exposed, are operations active, but in every mining district in the Silver State are operations active, and Nevada will once more take her place among the big producers, the peer of any of them."

Dear Sir,—During the six months of October and November of this year I visited the mines of the International Electric Mining Company, situated in Arabia and Trinity mining districts, Humboldt County, Nevada. I found the country remarkably mineralized; in fact, the possibilities of the country as a mineral producing country are yet unknown. For years it certainly has produced well. The work now being done in the Arabia and Trinity districts establishes the fact that they are fine producers.

I also found that there is a great deal of interest being taken in these properties, which have produced a great deal of wealth the past quarter of a century.

The Electric Spark GOLD MINING COMPANY

Offers to investors an opportunity to secure through a purchase of its stock

A monthly income of $50.00

On an investment of $1,000; or a monthly income of $5.00 on an investment of $100.00. This is purely a business proposition. Their is no uncertainty about it; you do not take any chances. We actually have enough ore in sight to keep us working for three or four years, and the more development work we do the more ore there is in sight; the deeper we go the richer it is. Bear in mind, too, that we do not come to the public with an untried experiment. Our shaft is nearing the 200 foot mark, with better values at the bottom than any place nearer the surface. The ore runs in value from $25.00 to $86.80 per ton, by actual carload shipments

The par value of our stock is $1.00, with only a limited amount of shares to be sold, and this has been placed on the market at the low rate of 20 CENTS PER SHARE. On March 14, the price will be advanced to 30 cents per share, providing any of the original offering remains unsold; therefore we advise all who are interested to send in their applications without a moment's delay, as they will be filled and eventually rejected just in the order received.

Prospectus free on request Applications should be addressed to and remittance made payable to the order of

is the richest gold producing camp in the United States, and also the largest. The Thunder Mountain district, in central Idaho, is twenty miles wide and forty miles long. In comparison with this we have Cripple Creek, four miles wide and seven miles long. In many of the Thunder Mountain mines ore has already been reached that carries ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD TO THE TON. All of the Thunder Mountain ore is free milling, which means that it can be treated by the cheapest extraction process known—the ordinary stamp mill. It can be both mined and milled at a cost not to exceed $2 a ton. The past years operations in the several working mines have opened up millions of tons of ore that will give a net profit of from $10 to $30 a ton, enabling the respective companies to pay dividends at a rate never before equalled. Such is the showing and the prospect of the

which unless all indications are at fault, will become the largest producer in the district. The EAST DEWEY mine, which it owns outright, is located directly on Thunder Mountain, just east of the famous "Dewey" mine. which already has $20,000,000 of ore in sight. The surface area of the East Dewey mine is one hundred and twenty acres—six full quartz claims. The company has also secured the big GOLDEN GATE mine, in the Big Creek section of the Thunder Mountain district—which has been so aptly termed "The Pot of Gold"—and is now developing the mine with all possible speed. For a distance of 9,000 feet, nearly two miles, the Golden Gate mines cover a mineralized ledge that is 900 feet wide, with an average height above the tunnel level of 500 feet, thus giving it the largest exposed tonnage of any mine in the west.

If you would share in the enormous profits which these figures indicate and which these developments promise, invest your money in "East Dewey" Stock. It can be bought to-day for 10 Cents a Share. Its par value is $1.

If the East Dewey mines are what they appear to be, and there is absolutely no reason to doubt or question these indications, this stock will eventually be worth at least $10 a share, and to-day you can buy it for ten cents. PRICE ADVANCES TO FIFTEEN CENTS ON FEBRUARY 28th. 5% discount allowed for cash. Stock sold at flat price of 10 cents on deferred payments, 10% with application, and 10% monthly until paid. Full particulars, prospectus, etc., on request.

A New Electrical Company

Some Havelock and Norwood citizens are talking about forming a company for the purpose of generating electricity at Crowe River and transmitting it to the two villages. The Times hopes that the project will not end in talk.

Doing Good Work

Crossley and Hunter have been conducting evangelistic services in wicked Kingston the past week, and the News reports many converts. Both of the evangelists are well known in Peterborough and their numerous friends will be pleased to hear of the good work being done in that city.

Scarlet Fever on the Wane

Dr. Bingham, our popular Medical Health officer, reports scarlet fever to be almost stamped out in town; he believes that in a short time he will have no more trouble with this dread disease. There are only three or four houses quarantined at the present time, and no fresh cases reported lately.

A Fine Brick Terrace

Mr. John Hays, contractor, has erected on King street, a beautiful brick terrace of four houses, containing all modern conveniences. The building is in a good situation and convenient to a number of our large factories, and should bring Mr Hays fair remuneration on his outlay. Congratulations are due our enterprising townsman for such improvement.

Syrup from Sugar Beets

Toronto Globe: Mr. J. A. Snell, principal of the Wiarton High school, writes Hon. John Dryden that a discovery has been made by which a delicious syrup can be made from sugar beets, closely resembling in appearance and taste the ordinary maple syrup of this country. He thinks there is a good future in this enterprise if it is pushed. He also thinks it forms a good opportunity for farmers, as the necessary machinery would not be expensive.

A Fierce Encounter

The other day as the town clock tolled the midday hour, there was an exciting time in one of our leading grocery stores. A large Brown rat made its appearance, much to the alarm of the [illegible] who at once prepared for mortal combat by arming themselves with clubs, brooms, and potato [illegible] which followed, put up a decided defence [illegible]. The rat had up-Hill work which he must have thought was Hardel-ly square, as he was only after some Graham flour and a few Currants. His ratship soon bit the dust, and his Boddy was fired into the sewer where it will no doubt, in time, be carried Styles down the raging Otonabee. The above item is true, and was furnished The Times by an eye-witness.

WEATHER NOTES

HARWOOD RACES

Took Place Yesterday Under the Auspices of the Turf Club

There were a good many Peterborough people who drove to Rice Lake to take in the races. There was a good crowd and a pleasant time was enjoyed by those present.

The ice was very heavy and consequently no fast paces were recorded. There were a number of town horses entered, but Richard K. (by Keepsake) owned by Martin Connors was the only horse to bring home any of the prize money.

Mr. P. Clunan was starter and the judges were Messrs Brooks and Munroe of Peterborough, and it is needless to say that these officials gave entire satisfaction.

The races resulted as follows:

2nd—Little Diamond...	20 00
3rd—Flora Patcher...	10 00

ANOTHER ACCIDENT

On Grand Trunk Railway, Near Omemee, on Tuesday Night.

On Tuesday night a heavily loaded G. T. R. freight train had a mishap which was fortunately not very serious, about a mile east of Otonabee. One of the trucks of a box car filled with cement from the Lakefield works suddenly left the track and the result was that for a short time traffic was suspended and the regular train from Port Hope due in Lindsay at 6.23 did not arrive until 9.10. At 6.10 Despatcher Lyons received word from Omemee and at 6.40 the auxiliary train was despatched. In the short space of thirty minutes the men were gathered together and on the way to the scene of the accident. The regular train from Toronto travelled on time.

Would Not Have a Grit Paper If It Were Delivered Free

This great family journal is in receipt of a letter from Gooderham, ordering The Times, but with it a strong proviso, however. Our correspondent says:

"Send along your paper, as I hear many speak highly of it. I do not want it however, if it is a grit sheet I wouldn't allow a paper of that stripe into my house for fear my house would be struck by lightning."

So far as this g. f. j. is concerned we can assure our friend that there is no lightning where it is to be found—except what is used to bring to our thousands of readers the latest and brightest news from all parts of the world by wire.

Snell, principal of the Wiarton High School, who is of the opinion, that with the proper amount of push and the necessary machinery, another important Canadian industry will be made to boom.

WHISKEY VS. COFFEE

A Woman Experiments

Some families have sad experience with whiskey. Probably twice as many families have sickness and distress caused by coffee and the cause not suspected half the time.

A woman from Tacoma, Wash., says; "One of our family had become so ill that the doctor finally pronounced him incurable from enlarged liver. He recommended a sea voyage which might prolong his life, but said it was only a question of time when he would die from the disease.

He was dreadfully nervous, thin, could not sleep at night, lost flesh and strength daily and everything he ate or drank soured on his stomach He was so weak and faint he could hardly walk about.

I finally came to the conclusion that coffee made the mischief so took coffee away from him altogether, and next morning gave him Postum Food Coffee. He steadily began to get better, and has never had a sour stomach from that time. He now sleeps all night where he used to suffer from the agonies of death. He has gained over 20 pounds and is well and strong.

My little boy was given coffee at an early age and he began to have spells of sickness at times. I did not suspect the trouble until my experience with Postum opened my eyes, then I took Postum away from him and gave him Postum steadily. If you should see him now and see how well and strong he is you would not believe it was the same puny boy he was when he was drinking coffee.

An acquaintance of ours carried Postum with him to the gold fields of Alaska. He says he met some men up there who had run out of Postum and could not drink coffee. They offered him as high as twenty dollars a pound for the Postum. He said it was worth forty dollars a pound to him for it gave him strength to endure the hardships and the he would not part with it at any price until he could get more.

Now about my own case. I was a sick, nervous woman and did not not suspect it was coffee, but from the experience I had gained about two years ago I quit coffee and took up Postum Food Coffee. My appetite improved. I can eat anything, have no indigestion, and have gained about forty pounds in the two years.

I know of a man whose eyes were so affected by coffee drinking that he was going blind. The doctor suspected coffee to be the trouble and ordered him to quit and take on Postum Food Coffee. The change produced a great change in his eyes. He gradually got better and has now left off his glasses altogether. He would have been stone blind if he had not quit coffee and taken up Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

SOUTH AMERICAN WAR CLOUD BRAZIL THREATENS BOLIVIA

The Dispute Over the Rice Acre Territory

BRAZIL CALLED OUT HER RESERVES

And Has Sent Her Gun-boats Up the Acre River

Washington, March 7.—The trouble between Brazil and Bolivia has broken out anew, and serious trouble is apprehended. Troops are being rapidly mobilized, and preparations for war are being made with feverish haste.

The relations between the two countries, which were restored to a fairly friendly basis recently through an agreement to refer the dispute to between them over the rich Acre country to the arbitration of The Hague tribunal, have become very strained, and the situation is more critical that it was before the arbitration agreement was made.

Under the pacific agreement between the two countries, Bolivia was to permit Brazil to occupy part of the disputed area and to administer a government there, pending the decision of The Hague court as to the differences over boundaries. Brazil agreed also to rescind the duties she had decreed on rubber coming from the Acre country by way of the Amazon River, the only feasible outlet, and it was arranged that the claims of the Anglo-American syndicate, to which a concession had been granted by Bolivia to exploit the disputed area, should be settled by Brazil.

Authoritative information has now come to Washington by telegraph that the Brazilian Government has demanded possession of 32,000 more square miles of the Acre territory, and has informed Bolivia that if that Government does not consent the additional area demanded will be occupied by force. The action of Brazil appears to be a violation of the terms of pacific settlement. Brazil has already begun operations by sending fifteen gunboats up the Acre River, which flows through part of the region in dispute.

Acre territory consisted of about 90,000 square miles. Under the agreement between Brazil and Bolivia the territory to be occupied by Brazilian troops, pending a settlement through arbitration was to include about 34,000 square miles. Should Brazil seize the additional territory demanded, she will have possession of 66,000 square miles, or more than one-third of the entire territory. It is contended the additional 32,000 square miles were conceded to Brazil three years ago as rightfully belonging to Bolivia, and in evidence of this the following extract from a note sent by the Brazilian Minister of Foreign Affairs, to the Bolivian Government, on March 14, 1900, is cited:

"The only litigious part is that comprised between the Teffe, and the Cunha-Gomez lines. The part extending to the mouth of the latter line is Bolivian, and Brazil does not question it."

Paine's Celery Compound used regularly for a few weeks will build up nerve force and physical strength, tone digestion, keep the kidneys and liver in working condition, will banish gloomy fears and give sweet sleep. It has saved thousands of women from sufferings and death. Mrs. Beverly Vincent, St. John, N.B., writes thus:

"I am happy to let you know what Paine's Celery Compound has done for me. I suffered from nervousness, female troubles, and my constitution was all rundown. I tried many medicines but received no benefit from anything until I used Paine's Celery Compound. It is a medicine that has given me grand results."

Manufacturers' Bill of Fare For The Approaching Congress

The resolutions which will be submitted by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to the Congress of Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, which meets in Montreal next August, have been finally decided.

The resolutions are twelve in number and cover a wide range of subjects of the utmost importance.

The Association will send ten members to the Congress, three will be from Ontario and three from Quebec.

The resolutions are as follows:

That British capital and emigration be directed more to the colonies, rather than to foreign countries.

That the various colonies should undertake to contribute to the expenses of imperial defence.

That a reciprocal preferential tariff be established within the Empire.

That all treaties between Great Britain and Foreign countries should leave Great Britain free to enter into such relations with her colonies and dependencies as might be deemed expedient.

The establishment of a fast steamship service between the various ports of the Empire.

The adoption of decimal currency and metric system.

The establishment of intercolonial commercial consuls.

Imperial postage system throughout the Empire, not only on letters, but on printed matter and parcels.

In all contracts for public works preference to be given to British subjects.

An Imperial Commission to visit all parts of the Empire and prepare a report pointing out the resources of the various portions and how they may best serve the interests of the whole.

That facilities should be arranged whereby news to and from the different parts of the Empire should be transmitted entirely through British channels, and not be subject, as at present, to the censorship and influence of foreigners.

That if the large tracts of land to the north of Canada are not at the present time part of our Dominion, or of the Empire, and held with a clear title, that steps should at once be taken to have the possession established.

WILL THE IRISH QUESTION BE SETTLED AT LAST?

The Opinion Prevails that there will be No Peace in Ireland

New York, March 6.—The Sun says: Mr. John Morley did not exaggerate when he said that not since Strongbow's invasion of Leinster had such an exhibition of harmony between Irishmen and Englishmen been witnessed as was presented on Wednesday, Feb. 2, in the House of Commons during the debate on the amendment proposed by Mr. John Redmond in order to elicit from the Government some definite statement about the promised project of land purchase. He would be a rash man, however, who would infer that the British lion and the Irish lamb will henceforth lie down together, and that the Nationalist members will find their occupation gone.

Unquestionably the spectacle is one that has no parallel in Parliament since the Act of Union brought representatives of Ireland to Westminster. Even Col. Sanderson, who for many years has been the bitterest opponent of Home Rule, repelled one of the principal objections to the land-purchase plan by avowing his belief that the Irish tenants could be relied upon punctually to pay the installments of the purchase money advanced by the Government. To appreciate the importance of this admission we should call to mind the fact that at first Col. Sanderson, like the Duke of Abercorn, discountenanced the land-purchase scheme formulated at the conference of landlords. Having been brought up to recognise the advantages of the plan, however, he has now become one of its warmest advocates. It would have been astonishing, indeed, if everybody except the British taxpayer had not welcomed the principle on which the bill is to be framed.

As we have formerly pointed out, the sale of the land is not to be compulsory, nor does it need be, since the landlords will be as anxious to sell as the tenants to buy. The landlords are to receive prices considerably above those which their estates would bring in the open market, while, on the other hand, the annual installments of the purchase money required from the peasants converted into proprietors will be considerably less than the judicial rents last fixed by the Land Courts. The difference is to be defrayed by the Imperial Exchequer, and it is possible that the present harmony may be disturbed when the precise amount of the difference becomes the subject of debate. On the whole, however, it is probable that the wishes of both landlords and tenants will be satisfied, for the landlords control the Unionist Government, and the Liberals would scarcely venture to uphold the interests of the British taxpayer, lest they should incur the responsibility for rendering the bill a failure, and thus alienate their Nationalist friends.

Let us assume, then, that a land-purchase bill acceptable to both landlords and tenants will become a law during the present session of Parliament. Does it follow that the Irish question will thereupon pass out of British politics? On the contrary, a desire for a strong approach to Home Rule will continue to be felt and expressed by Irish Nationalists, and, what is quite as much to the point, the so-called Irish Loyalists will have lost their principal motive for opposing that desire. If heretofore the Irish Loyalists have been the most vehement opponents of a Dublin Parliament, and have succeeded in averting a repeal of the Act of Union through their strength in the House of Lords and their hold upon the sympathies of the British land-owning aristocracy, it is because they have feared a virtual confiscation of their estates at the hands of the Irish Legislature. With their estates once sold at a high price and the purchase money in their pockets, they would have no personal losses to dread from the triumph of Home Rule, and they might even have something to gain, for it would be to their interests to bring about a spirit of contentment in a community wherein they would still retain sporting rights, and, perhaps, dwelling houses. It should be remembered that the bill is expected to facilitate the retention of mansions by the landlords and to assure to them the right of hunting and shooting over their former estates. The peasants do not want the landowners to emigrate from Ireland en masse, and they would probably be willing to tempt them to remain by a revival of the Dublin House of Lords, which, after a fashion, Mr. Parnell's first bill reproduced.

We expect, then, to see the demand for Home Rule continued, although the whole of the present occupying tenants may be transformed into proprietors. Nor is it conceivable that a concession on the lines of Mr. Parnell's second bill may be made by a Conservative Government. An Imperialist like Mr. Joseph Chamberlain must recognise that a scheme of "Home Rule all round" for the United Kingdom is an indispensable preliminary to the representation of the great self-governing colonies at Westminster.

One thing is certain, namely, that if the Land Purchase bill is framed on the lines agreed upon by landlords and tenants at their recent conference, the Nationalists will look hereafter with different eyes on the Conservatives, and may revert to the belief, once axiomatic in Ireland, that more solid benefits may be obtained from the Tories than from the Whigs. The Conservatives have the tremendous advantage of controlling the House of Lords, and, therefore, if Mr. A. J. Balfour should decide to make a considerable political concession to Ireland it would not be obstructed in the upper chamber. That is unlikely ever to be true of the Liberals.

General - Sports

A student who played football last October is dead. This proves conclusively that the game is fatal.

The formation of a new Eastern Ontario Hockey League to replace the O.H.A. is "well under way," according to the Kingston Whig's champion dreamer. Turn over, old man, and refrain from sleeping on your back so much.

The following recipe is printed as a guide for the formation of new hockey leagues:

Take a piece of white writing paper, 8x10, and place it on a table, with the inside flat on the surface. Next secure a lead pencil, BBB preferred, or a fountain pen.

Before mixing the ingredients think of all the prominent men within a radius of 100 miles of the district in which you expect your league to operate and consult a geography so as not to miss any of the towns and cities on the map.

Do not fail to include the names of places having had trouble with the OH.A.

Borrow an opium pipe from the nearest Chinese laundryman and as you sit down to write take a good long draw.

A first-class hockey league is assured when the sleeper wakes, unless by some mischance you get the wrong brand. They use the proper kind in Kingston.—Toronto Star.

The Kingston Whig has taken up its old course again this season, in boosting an Eastern Hockey League. The cause this year is the decision of the O. H. A. in the Belleville-Marlboros protest.

AN EVIDENCE OF THE DOMINION'S PROGRESS

British as well as Canadian public impressed by Canada Life's showing

No better evidence could be given to the British public, with regard to Canada's financial stability and progress, than the example afforded in the establishing of an English branch of the Canada Life. This company, it is interesting to note, has the strongest policy reserves of any life office from the American continent doing business in Great Britain.

The 56th annual report of the company, published elsewhere in our columns, shows remarkable continued gains all along the line. The new business actually paid for during the year amounted to about $8,500,000—the banner record thus far. The insurance in force now stands at about $90,000,000 and the assets at nearly $26,000,000, the latter having increased $1,400,000 during the year.

Since its commencement the company has paid to policy-holders or their heirs over $25,300,000. The report states further that after settling for all management expenses and all taxes, the company has paid or credited to policyholders over $6,730,000 in excess of their total permium payments. This goes strongly to prove able management and considerate treatment of clients.

FIRST ANNUAL BANQUET

Of the Toronto University Alumni Association

A MOST BRILLIANT AFFAIR.

Dr. McClelland, of Toronto, Delivers an Eloquent Address—Splendid Repast in Long's Palm Parlors

The first banquet given under the auspices of the Toronto University Alumni took place under very favorable circumstances last evening in Mr. H. Long's palm garden, which will remain a source of pleasure to all who participated.

Among the visitors were Dr. McClellan, of Toronto; Dr. W T Harrison, Keene; J L Garvin, of Cornell University; Chief Justice Moss; John Moore, Crookston, Minn.; Principal Fessenden, B.A., of Trinity and D A Sadler, B.A., Toronto.

A list of those present include the following members of the Association. J H Burnham, B.A. E B. Edwards, M.A., L.L.B; J A Fife, B A, J W Garvin, B.A.; H R H Kenner, B.A, R F McWilliams, B.A.; D O'Connell, B.A.; A Stevenson, B.A.; Duncan Walker, B. A.; A J Raddon, B.A.,; Dr W D Scott, B.A; F D Kerr, B.A.; D W Dumble, B. A; R E Wood, B.A; Dr W Caldwell Dr J H Eastwood, Dr McFall, H H Edmison, Phm. B; Dr. G. H. Amys; A A Fowler, Phm. B; Dr M A Morrison, W J Francis, C.B.M. Can. Soc C E; Dr. W S Hall, Dr T N Greer; Rev. J P Wilson, B.A; G E Revell, B.A. Sc; David Eason, B.A., Sc.

After ample justice had been done to the viands prepared by Mine Host Long, President Dumble proposed the health of the King, and was responded to by the singing of the National Anthem. Col. E. B. Edwards, in a short, pithy, and interesting speech, proposed the health of our "Alma Mater," which was received by the "boys" with a "Varsity cry" amongst very much enthusiasm.

Letters of regret were read from Judge Meredith and others at not being able to be present.

Vice-Chancellor Moss then delivered. It is needless to say that he gave the Toronto University very great praise for what she had done in the past. He showed how this institution had grown from 26 students in 1813, when it was called King's College, until at the present time there were over 850 students in Arts, 500 in Medicine, and 850 in Applied Science. So wonderful was the growth of this educational institution in so short a time, that it was now one of the largest and most useful Universities in the Dominion. He admitted that funds were not as plentiful as could be desired, which hampered the progress of the institution, but hoped and expected that necessary funds would in some way be forthcoming in a short time, as he believed that the government was now disposed to look more favorably upon their plea for financial assistance, and he believed that by taking advantage of the importunity help would come from this and other sources very soon. He spoke at some length on the improvements which are contemplated by the authorities for the advantage and expansion of the University.

The next speaker was the eloquent Dr. McClellan, who spoke of the time he started out to try to organise Alumni Associations under the most discouraging and trying circumstances possible to conceive, but, being encouraged by the President and Vice-President of this Association he proceeded with a lighter heart and with greater success as he proceeded, until now there are 26 Associations assisting the University to a wonderful extent, uniting, as they do, to promote the usefulness of this institution. He spoke of the monthly magazine published by the University; of its influence for good, of its final financial success, and he with confidence asked for the hearty co-operation of all present to promote the welfare of this monthly. He complimented the government on the way they had assisted and dealt with them in the past, for the financial assistance rendered and for yielding gracefully to the hard knocks given to them by the friends of the University.

The speaker enlarged on the progress and expansion of the University. But it was when he came to the discussion of the work of this great institution and of the building of a Convocation Hall that the speaker became fluent, even very eloquent in the describing the usefulness of the University for young people yet to attend there, and held his audience spellbound for nearly half an hour, and which became inspired by the eloquence and enthusiasm of this attractive speaker; and before he was through every man present (except your reporter) was ready to make a large subscription on the spot for the building of this Hall. He closed his remarks amid the most enthusiastic applause.

Speeches were then delivered by Mr. Burnham and others, when the banquet was brought to a close, all expressing themselves as having thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

WILL GREAT BRITAIN ABANDON GIBRALTAR?

A Proposition Now Under Consideration by the British Military Authorities

IT NO LONGER COMMANDS THE MEDITERRANEAN

It is Proposed to Exchange the Fortress for Minarco, Which is Better Situated

London, March 6—The advisability of exchanging Gibraltar for some other strategic point in the Mediterranean is being discussed in the British military journals. The docks at Gibraltar, on the west side of the rock are exposed to the fire of long-range artillery from the Spanish mainland and docks on the east side would have to be protected from the eastern gales, for which purpose it would be necessary to construct immense breakwaters, in deep soundings, at a cost of many millions of pounds. This being the case the problem whether the strategical objects aimed at could not be in a more complete and satisfactory manner by other means naturally arises.

Ceuta, opposite Gibraltar, and belonging to Spain, has been proposed but the map of the country shows that the peninsula from a military point of view, is much the same as Gibraltar, with its faults intensified. No place in the western waters of the Mediterranean seems to meet the case better than Minorca, with its magnificent harbor of Port Mahon.

This place offers great facilities for docks secure from attack. The harbor is about three miles long, and its width averages about half a mile. There is excellent anchorage for a large number of the heaviest battleships, the holding ground consisting mostly of sand, shells and gravel. Along its sides run hills, protecting it from fire, and offering sites for forts with a good command of the surrounding area. The highest points of these hills are at the entrance to the harbor, where the modern and powerful fort of La Mola now commands the passage. As regards its position, it lies practically at the centre of a circle, on the circumference of which are the great naval ports of Cartagena, Toulon, Genoa and Spezzia, and in the direct line between Toulon and Algeria, and would consequently menace the line of communication between France and her great colony. It is therefore, a grand naval strategical centre, and would constitute an excellent naval base, especially for a blockading fleet. The island is about 260 miles square in extent, and is well stocked with cattle, sheep, goats and mules, while fruits and vegetables are abundant and wheat and barley are cultivated.

The British, of course, count largely on the national pride of Spain in effecting this exchange. Spain looks on Gibraltar as a part of her fatherland, and deeply resents its retention by the British; consequently that country will probably be favorably inclined to the proposal.

The exchange of Gibraltar for other territory has been proposed by several Ministries. As far back as 1757 Pitt proposed to restore it in exchange for Minorca. Great Britain does not fear the actual power of Spain so much, but if Gibraltar were held out as a bait to induce her to join an alliance, Great Britain would have the use of all the important ports of Ferrol and Cartagena.

The history of Minorco is of interest. It was captured by the British in 1708 and held by them until 1756, when a great French expedition was planned against it. After enticing the British away on other work, the Duke of Richelieu with 15,000 men in 120 transports, convoyed by La Galissoniere with twenty sail of the line, laid seige to Port Mahon in which was a meagre garrison, under Gen. Blakeney. The British held out gallantly in Fort St. Philip, (still in existence, opposite the modern Fort La Mola) for twenty days but eventually capitulated with the honors of war. During this seige the relief of Port Mahon was attempted by Byng without success, and for this the latter was superseded and eventually tried by court-martial and shot.

In 1763 Great Britain regained Minorca by exchanging it for Cuba and the Philippines. In 1872 it was again besieged by an expedition which started from Cadiz under the Duke of Crillon, as if to attack the British West Indies, but turned round, slipped through the straits and sailed for Minorca, where it landed 8,000 men. Gen Murray, the Governor, retired into Fort St. Philip with his force of four regiments, and did not surrender until it had been reduced by scurvy and other diseases to 600. In 1978 Minorca again capitulated to the British, after the Battle of the Nile, but in 1802 the then Government, thinking Malta sufficient for British needs in the Mediterranean, ceded it to Spain under the treaty of Amiens.

THE COMMISSION FAVORS THE MINERS' CAUSE

Decision will Raise Wages of Some of the Men, the Boycott Condemned

New York, March 6—The Herald prints the following as a summary of the findings of the Coal Strike Commission, appointed by President Roosevelt, which, it is expected, will be handed to the President within a week.

There will undoubtedly be at least a ten per cent. advance in the pay for mining, to take effect from the time the miners returned to work last October. The per deim employes will not have their wages increased, but will be recommended the same pay for a day of nine hours.

The system of pay will be regulated. Wherever practicable, the operators will be required to pay by weight, instead of by the car, and elsewhere by the lineal yard. The miners will have check-docking representatives at their own expense. This will practically amount to a second increase in wages.

There will be indirect recognition of the union, which will come when the findings are submitted by President Roosevelt to John Mitchell, as president of the Miners' Union.

The cause of the strike, as found by the commission, will not be comforting to the coal mining companies.

The boycott will be condemned, and the principle will be laid down that a miner has a right to work, without molestation, even though he does not belong to the union.

The terms of the verdict are to hold good for three years, and recommendations are to be made for settlements of wage and other questions at the end of that period.

In local disputes the operators will be advised to treat with committees of the miners, and there may be a suggestion for a local Board of Arbitration.

REVOLT SPREADS

Affairs in Macedonia Rapidly Approaching a Crisis

Vienna, March 6—Despatches received daily from Constantinople and Sofia indicate that the Macedonians are in no way becoming more peaceable, despite the promulgation of the reform scheme. Hardly a day passes without a conflict between Macedonians and Turkish troops. None of these has as yet been very serious, but they show that the revolutionary movement has not been checked. The Sofia correspondent of the Neues Wiener Tagblatt telegraphs that the Macedonian leader, Sarafoff, will shortly assume a most active role. He has written to M. Daneff, the Bulgarian Prime Minister, from his retreat in the mountains, outlining the insurgent's plan of campaign, which, he says, no measures taken by the Bulgarian Government can prevent. He proceeds to point out how the Bulgarian Government is able to advance the Macedonian movement without compromising itself.

Another Sofia report says that Bulgarian police have seized ten cartloads of rifles, which were being taken to the frontier. Stories of Bulgarian officers quitting the army to join the revolutionists are frequent. It is the firm belief in Macedonia that the movement is developing into a crisis.

Porte Seeks Advice

It is reported from Constantinople that the situation is such that Baron von Calice, the Austrian Ambassador and M. Zinovieff, the Russian Ambassador, have been consulted by the Porte in regard to what measures are advisable. The Ambassadors recommended that the individual bands be suppressed systematically, but without mobilizing more troops. It is reported that incidentally the Ambassadors advised the disarming of the Albanians. If Turkey, despite the counsel of the Ambassadors it will be a most difficult task to suppress the bands, despite the overwhelming numerical superiority of the troops, because the bands are far more mobile than the soldiers, and know every pass, by-path, and hiding place in the mountains. They probably would be able to carry on indefinitely similar tactics as those of the Boers.

T. A. S. CHAMPIONS OF T. V. LEAGUE.

The tie between the T.A.S. and Norwood hockey teams for the championship of the Trent Valley League and the Stratton Cup was played off in Lindsay last night and resulted in the T.A.S. landing the championship and trophy by a score of 6 to 5. The score at half-time being 3—3.

About 400 supporters accompanied the T.A.S. by special train. About 40 of the Norwood supporters arrived in town yesterday afternoon, and took the 6.30 G.T.R. train for Lindsay. The Norwood hockey team had been in Lindsay since Thursday morning, having stopped over there on their return from Fenelon Falls where they played on Wednesday evening. The ice was in poor condition, as a result of the prevailing soft weather, and good hockey was at a premium. Individual play was a feature of the match, the heavy ice being a detriment to the combination work of either team.

The winning team arrived home about 12.15 and were met at the station by a large crowd of their admirers and supporters and were given a rousing welcome.

Mr. Roy Schooley, of Toronto, performed the duties of referee.

NO CHANGE IN LIQUOR ACT

Stricter Enforcement of Law, Object of Temperance Legislation

The Mail and Empire is informed by a Liberal member of the Legislature who is in close touch with the Government that there will be little or no change made in the License Act at the approaching session of the House. The temperance legislation that Premier Ross will introduce, this gentleman says, will have for its object a more strict enforcement of the existing law. The present hours of sale will not be interfered with, neither will the license fee be increased.

A TEMPEST IN A BOTTLE

It has often been said, and truly, that a bad action knows no ending. The lately imported Scotchman, Prof Patrick, of Winnipeg, when he attacked the visiting team of Scotch curlers and Scotland at large, on the score of drinking and drunkenness, did Canada a bad service. Rev. Dr. Milligan, of Toronto, another Scotch reformer (of other people) smashed into them on the plea of Sabbath breaking, in going to view Niagara on Sunday. The question arises early in this affair or series of affairs, "Has any censor the right to name individuals who incur his censure?" If he has, then we predict riots galore. Many think that these self-constituted instruments of the Creator fancy themselves a little. At any rate if this policy of expressing opinions about other people in this detailed and particular manner is to continue, it is easy to see that words will soon be succeeded by blows. There is a disposition in Canada on the part of a certain class of evangelising enthusiasts to make the rest of us conform to their ideals whether we will or no. Let us warn these gentlemen that what can't be done by persuasion or argument can't be done otherwise. Abuse is the language of the ungodly, and while it continues as such we must judge it. Here's to the Scotch visitors meanwhile, as fine a set of men and curlers as we wish to see.

THE LABOR PROBLEM

With all the efforts now on foot to bring immigrants into Canada, the labor problem threatens to grow worse instead of better, says the London Free Press. This province has been so well drained of its best blood and sinew for the North-west and across the border that the cry for men to do its work rises higher in every branch of trade and industry. Farmers want men to help on the land; manufacturers to increase their working forces to meet the growing demands for their output, and in domestic service the tendency is toward "famine" conditions.

How far are the great works now projected to be brought to completion without resort to the Yellow Plague? It is a startling outlook, when the whole field is surveyed, in view of the North-West expansion, particularly in railway construction.

Ontario alone could at present, it is estimated, absorb 15,000 laborers. The difficulties experienced by the sugar beet producers are a fair example of those found by farmers in general. The other day a deputation representing the sugar beet interests waited upon the Government of Ontario to explain the great scarcity of labor for work in the beet fields, as revealed in the County of Waterloo last year, when Indians, Chinamen, school children, and the general public had to be "impressed into service" to get the thinning of the drops done at the proper time. With the progress of this industry the difficulty will increase. It was stated that atleast 500 men were wanted this year. It was suggested that the Government should secure men women and children from Germany. Last year a regiment of men were brought from Europe by the Dresden Beet Sugar Company, but they gave poor satisfaction, and large numbers of them crossed the lines, where they hoped they could get better wages.

Another suffering industry is that of canning fruits and vegetables. Several hundred women are wanted for fruit picking and in preparing for canning in the factories of one neighborhood in Western Ontario.

Taking up at random a copy of the Bureau of Industries' annual report we find the cry for more and better work people for the farm to be uniform and general. Among the answers to questions sent out by the Department, are such as these: "Try and get laboring men from the old countries;" "Unless farm laborers came voluntarily from the old country they are not worth having;" "We want immigrants of the proper sort," etc. As to domestic help on the farm, the following answers are in the last reported: "Domestic are out of the question. I think the country will have to resort to Chinese labor; a female with any ambition becomes a school teacher, book-keeper, typewriter, or something of the sort;" "there are plenty of girls, but many of them think work degrading. A woman told me she would rather her daughters drowned themselves than work for a living;" "it is impossible to get the girls to work on the farm, nearly all flock to the towns and cities;" "there are lots of girls, but they will not hire out," etc.

It is a bad outlook for the future. The prosperity of the country is mainly the cause of this scarcity of industry. Men refuse to work on the farm merely in the busy season, when they can get steady employment at other kinds of labor at higher wages. Women who have to earn their own living will prefer to work in a store or office to the so-called drudgery of rural life. To many the city or town holds out false allurements. The country is best, if they would only think so.

We are on the eve of a great railway expansion in the North-west. A Grand Trunk Pacific line is promised within five years. The Canadian Northern is to be pushed through as a transcontinental enterprise. But these will not suffice to transport the teeming agricultural wealth of the North-west in the years to come. Four or five railways will be needed, and double the present number of lake steamers, to cope with the increase of production by the hundreds of thousands of new settlers, who are not "navvies," but farmers. Where are the navvies to come from to make these railways? We know that the western section of the C.P.R. could not have been built without the employment of Asiatics. Shall Canada, find it necessary, and imperative, for its progress, to throw down the bars and beckon hither an army of such laborers as are found to be a "plague" to British Columbia? It would be a terrible penalty of the prosperity which has made such railway expansion necessary.

56th Annual Report

THE YEAR'S BUSINESS

The applications for new assurances received were 6,932 in number, and $10,687,072 in amount. The number of policies issued was 4,796, representing assurances of $9,794,993. Two hundred and seventy applications for an aggregate of $712,300 were declined—the lives not coming up to the Company's high standard; and the balance were deferred or incomplete at the close of the year. As compared with the previous year, there was an increase of 1,077 in the number of policies issued, and $1,572,871 in amount. The new policies actually paid for in cash again show a satisfactory increase over previous year. These were 4,143 in number, representing new assurances of $8,308,396, constituting the largest year's business in the Company's history. The total assurances now in force amount to $98,179,574, being an increase of $4,746,003 during the year.

THE INCOME

The net premium and annuity income amounted to $2,615,171.81, and the income from interest, to $1,098,968.07, including $14,005.58 profit on sale of securities, making a total net income (exclusive of payments on account of Capital Stock) of $3,714,139.88—an increase of $196,822.65, as compared with 1901.

THE PAYMENTS

The death claims paid during the year amounted to $1,179,370, an increase of $16,272 over those paid in 1901. Including bonus additions, the death claims, endowments, and annuities paid in 1902 amounted to $1,442,-920.85, while $162,457.04 was paid as surrender values and cash dividends to policyholders, making total payments to policyholders $1,605,277.89.

THE ASSETS

The total assets at 31st December, 1902, as shown by the balance sheet amount to $25,964,932.50, being an increase of $1,460,142 over 1901—deducting the $37,000 received from calls on Capital Stock, the natural increase is $1,-423,142—a growth which your Directors think is very satisfactory.

THE LIABILITIES

The valuation of the Company's liabilities was again made on the Institute of Actuaries Hm. 3 1-2 per cent. table for all business secured prior to the 1st January, 1900, and on the same table with 3 per cent. interest for policies issued since the 31st December, 1899. In valuing on this conservative and stringent basis the Canada Life retains its unique position among the older established companies of having accomplished the necessary change to the higher standard of Reserves. After providing for these Reserves, and all other liabilities, except Capital Stock, there remains a surplus on policyholders' account of $1,831,718—an increase of $482,012 during the year.

REVIEW

The year just closed has been one of progress and advancement in all branches of business, and that this Company has fully participated in the general growth is clearly evidenced by the figures which the Directors are able to submit for your approval. The increases in assets, interest, and premium income, and in assurances in force, are very satisfactory, while the larger amount of assurances applied for indicates the growing popularity of the Company in the different fields in which it is represented. While no new territory has been entered during the year, considerable progress has been made in extending and improving the organization in States and Provinces where we were already licensed to do business. Arrangements were also completed during the year to commence business in Great Britain on the 1st January, 1903, and having secured suitable offices in London, and selected a manager, we confidently look forward to satisfactory results.

The President, Hon. Geo. A. Cox, in moving the adoption of the report, spoke as follows:

For the first time in our history, the proposals for assurance submitted to the Directors exceeded in amount ten and a half millions of dollars, and showed an increase over those offered in the previous year of $2,220,430. It is gratifying to note that over one-third of this increase was derived from our Canadian Agencies.

The actual claims incurred in 1901 amounted to $1,256,206, including bonuses, while those of 1902 amounted to $1,110,006, also including bonuses, a decrease of $146,200. Our actual death claims for 1902 were materially lower than we were led by the Table of Mortality to expect. This, I am sure, will be most satisfactory to the policyholders and shareholders alike, emphasizing, as it does, the great care which has always been exercised in the acceptance of proposals for assurance.

I take this opportunity of pointing out a fallacious method frequently used by inexperienced persons in comparing the death rates of different companies—that is, by comparing the average number of deaths per thousand, without regard to the age of the Company, or the duration of the risks. Without an actuarial investigation of the claims expected at each age, and a comparison with the claims actually incurred at each age, it is impossible to tell whether one Company has had a more favorable mortality than another. In fact, a well managed and old-established Company, with a mortality rate of 13 per thousand, may experience a much larger relative saving in mortality than a young Company with an average death rate of 7 per thousand.

In connection with payment of death claims, it may be interesting to mention that since the inception of the Company the total claims incurred, including bonus additions, amount to $16,257,221.00, in addition to profits paid with claims, a further sum of $7,120,102.09 has been returned to policyholders as dividends; while other items, such as annuities and surrender values, increase the grand total of payments to policyholders and their heirs to $26,213,146.36; and we hold for the security of our policyholders to-day cash assets of $25,964,-932.50. After the payment of all expenses of management and taxes the Company has paid or credited to policyholders $6,731,243 in excess of the amount actually paid by them.

As stated in the Report, our policy liabilities have again been valued upon the Company's severe standard—the rate of interest used being 3 1-2 per cent. for all business up to the end of 1899, and 3 per cent. for business issued since that date.

Since the Report was issued, we have received an official certificate from the Commissioner of Insurance for the State of Michigan, and it will no doubt be of interest to compare this official certificate with the valuation made by the Company's own Actuarial Department, as follows:

Valuation of policies on Company's own standard	$23,877,612
Valuation by Michigan Insurance Commissioner	22,485,879
Difference	$ 1,391,733

It will thus be seen that the Company holds reserves of almost $1,400,000 in excess of those required by the American standard. This large difference is accounted for by the fact that the Company used 3 and 3 1-2 per cent. rate of interest in its valuation, while the American law requires only 4 per cent.

Once in five years the Dominion Insurance Department values our policy liabilities, and it will be remembered that a year ago we were able to make comparisons of our own Reserves with the valuation made by the Dominion Department, when it was shown that we held Reserves of $2,065,196 in excess of the Dominion Government standard, which requires a 4 1-2 per cent. interest basis for business up to the end of 1899, and 3 1-2 per cent. after that date. As intimated in the Report, the Company continues to hold the unique position of being the only old-established Company in Canada or the United States that has succeeded in transferring the whole of its policy liabilities to the new and higher standard of Reserve.

In the history of the Company January 1st, of 1903, will mark an epoch as being the date when the Company opened business in Great Britain, with Head Office at 14 King William street, London, England. I am pleased to be able to say that already we have agencies established in many of the leading centres in England, Ireland and Scotland, and we already have had a substantial amount of business from our branch in Great Britain, where the Canada Life has been long and favorably known in insurance circles.

At the close of the meeting the following Directors were re-elected: Hon. Wm. Gibson, A. Bruce, K.C.; Z. A. Lash, K.C.; Dr. John Hoskin, K.C., and E. W. Cox. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Hon. Geo. A. Cox was re-elected President, and F. W. Gates, Vice-President.

Yet one of the ways that LEAD TO FORTUNE

Why not make a small investment in oil lands right ahead of good producing wells, some having wells producing oil on adjoining farms? The oil now brings $1.50 per barrel, bought by the Standard Oil Co., without any transportation charges, and is bound to go higher; a few hundred dollars often invested in property of this kind yields thousands of dollars profit. I personally know of parties who made over $100,000 in 60 days time on an investment of this kind; also have wells making from 10 to 200 barrels a day. Parties desiring to organize a company will do well to investigate this opportunity, getting thereby the advantage of years of experience, and if you don't want to drill the wells wait until the wells drilling close to you have come in and reap the benefit of their outing. The oil business conducted on business principles, with honest management, is bound to succeed. You do not have to look farther than the Standard Oil Co. to see what honest management founded on facts will produce, they have drawn very heavily on stocks the past three years and there is not enough of this grade of oil now above ground to run the country for more than two years, so you can readily see the profits that will be realized by starting now and obtaining the big price the Standard Oil Co. will be compelled to pay for crude oil to supply the demands of the country. To Set Her Free

By FLORENCE WARDEN.

Author of "The House in the Marsh," "A Prince of Darkness," etc.

"Yes," whispered Norma, still with her eyes down. There was a pause, and then she said: "You meant me to stay then, when you asked me to come?"

"Yes. But I wouldn't frighten you by telling you so till I'd got you up here," said he with a laugh. "I'm afraid you don't care for the place much now you've come."

"It isn't a very lively place," she suggested modestly.

"It isn't at all lively. It's precious dull. And your room: do you like that?"

Norma hesitated.

"I don't much like the dragons and giants on the walls," she said humbly.

Astley affected horror.

"Not like our four-centuries-old tapestry! The pride of the Haigh!" cried he. "My dear child, for heaven's sake don't let Mrs. Griffiths or Martin hear you say so. I suppose you'll be grumbling about our best bedstead next!"

Norma glanced at the cumbrous piece of furniture in question.

"It's rather high," she said meekly. "I've never seen one that you had to go up steps to before!"

"That's the beauty of it," exclaimed Astley. "People come miles to see the furniture in this room. It's the oldest in the county. They say it ought to be put in a museum."

"I shouldn't much mind if it was!" piped out Norma in a small voice which set Astley laughing.

"You've no gratitude," said he. "I said this room was to be prepared for you, because I thought you'd find it interesting, and because the view's better than in the front of the house. There you can see nothing but trees."

"Is it worse than this?" said Norma, with intentional lugubriousness, because she saw that she was amusing him.

He got up slowly and held on for a moment by the back of the chair.

"Much worse," laughed he. "And now I'll let you have a little peace. I thought," he added hurriedly, looking at the fire, "that I'd better come and see how you were getting on, so—so that nobody would think we weren't good friends, you know."

"Oh, yes, yes," agreed Norma breathlessly, also looking at the fire.

"Haven't they brought you a cup of tea?" said he, as he limped across the hearthrug to the bell. "Tell them to bring you one, and try to get warm."

"It's you who ought to do that," said Norma anxiously. "You keep shivering."

"Yes, I always catch cold directly I come to this beastly old draughty house."

"Won't—won't you stay and have a cup of tea with me?" said Norma diffidently.

"Thanks, no, I mustn't. I've got to get round to Lord Wyeradale's to—to explain things. It's just occurred to me that, when I last saw Lady Myfanwy"—instinctively Norma drew herself up—"I said nothing to—to explain matters. There was so much to say about poor Hugh, you see," he went on apologetically, "that I—well, I forgot it."

It was Norma's turn to hang on to a chair.

In a stifled voice she began: "Doesn't she know you—I—we—"

"—No—no—no," said Astley awkwardly.

Norma was shaking like a leaf. This Lady Myfanwy Scorton, the lily-fair lady, whose voice was so sweet and who rode so well to hounds, was already the object of her ardent jealousy. That Astley should be so anxious to visit her immediately after his arrival at once became a vivid sorrow. Astley saw that she was perturbed, but he supposed it was at his remissness in not having explained his position to the neighbors more clearly.

As Norma turned away to the window, he walked to the door. But she heard a shuffling, uncertain sound, and looked round just in time to fly across the room and support him as he stumbled into a chair.

With a face alight with tender kindness, and with gentle hands, Norma drew his head on to her shoulder, and whispered: "You mustn't go out again today."

"I suppose not," answered he in a weak voice. "I'm too giddy and stupid."

"We must send for the doctor," said she anxiously.

Astley lifted his head and frowned.

"Wharles!" said he. "I hate the beast!"

"It can't be helped. He must come," said Norma firmly.

And then there was a knock at the door, and Martin, the head housemaid, answered the summons Astley had given. She looked startled when she saw her master's white face and blue lips.

He sprang up and staggered to the door trying to laugh. Norma ran with him, insisting that he should lean on her. But he shook his head, and disengaged himself from her arm, telling her he was too heavy a load for such a slender little creature as she was.

"Here, Martin, lend me your shoulder," said he. "And you, Norma, go and have a cup of tea, and don't look so frightened, child. I'm all right, all right."

With a reassuring nod to her, he went away with Martin, leaving poor Norma half crazy with grief and misery.

"He won't let me help him! He won't lean on my arm! He hasn't really forgiven me—and he never will!" sobbed the poor creature to herself as she shut herself in her great, lonely room.

She sent herself for Dr. Wharles, and when she had seen him drive up in his gig and had heard him go upstairs to his patient, she walked up and down the wide corridor to meet him on his way out.

When the door of the bedroom opened at last, Norma looked at the doctor with a good deal of interest, to find out what it was in him which had so prejudiced Astley against him.

Dr. Wharles was a tall, dark, broad-shouldered, fresh-colored man about thirty years of age, with black hair, blue eyes, a silky long moustache, and a smiling look of self-complacency on his features. He passed for the handsomest man in that part of the county, and appeared to be not unaware of the fact.

He greeted Norma with a bow of the deepest respect, rather more demonstratively than a London man would have done.

"Lady Darwen!" said he. "I'm very happy to have the pleasure and honor of making your acquaintance."

Norma shook hands with him, understanding as she did so how his rather swaggering provincial manner must grate upon Astley, but not otherwise predisposed against the good-looking man.

"Tell me what you think. Is Sir Astley really ill?" she asked anxiously.

"I wish I could say no, your ladyship. But unfortunately it is true that he is very feverish, and that he must take the greatest care of himself. I've ordered him to bed at once; and I think he had better not be left to-night without someone on the watch. But he is rather touchy on this point, and declines to be treated as an invalid. You, however, with your sex's tact, will, I doubt not, overcome this difficulty."

"I'll try," said Norma, as she accompanied the doctor down the wide, bare-looking marble staircase, which seemed to strike cold to the feet through the thick pile carpet.

"I think I'll write him out a prescription," said Dr. Wharles as they reached the bottom stair.

Norma reddened a little, not knowing the house, or in which direction to go for a pen and ink. The doctor understood.

"May we go into the study here?" asked he, as he pointed to a door in the hall.

Norma accompanied him into a cosy room, not too large, and differing in character from what she had seen of the rest of the house. The furniture was newer; there was more of it, and the room was filled with a man's mementoes.

"The late Sir Hugh's sanctum this was," said Dr. Wharles, as he placed a chair for Norma with elaborate politeness, and then proceeded to write out his prescription.

"I understand that it was in Oxford that Sir Astley had the good fortune to meet you, Lady Darwen," said he, as he put down the pen.

Norma, who perceived under his manner that he had something to say to her, assented.

"I have been there myself," said he. "Lovely place. I like the Midlands. My own wife comes from there, from Leamington. You know, of course, that Sir Astley and I married sisters?"

"Yes," said Norma rather coldly, not caring to discuss the subject.

But she saw that the doctor, who was no fool, had some object in persisting.

"Sir Astley hears nothing from Leamington now, I suppose?" he went on. "Doesn't care what becomes of the family, in fact?"

"I don't know, really," said Norma stiffly.

"He wouldn't receive any of the family now, of course?" said the doctor. "Even if there were any discoveries or confessions to be made, I dare say he would be in no hurry to hear them?"

Norma rose to her feet, trembling and very pale.

"Explain yourself, Dr. Wharles," said she in a steady voice, meeting him eye to eye. "Do you mean that—his first wife—is not dead?"

She put the question in a low voice, and quite calmly. The doctor paused before answering her. Then he looked down.

"She is supposed to be dead, Lady Darwen," said he in a voice as low as her own.

"Do you suppose so?" said she searchingly.

After a moment's hesitation he looked up.

"Your ladyship," said he, "this is a very delicate matter. Will you excuse me if I don't answer at once?"

"I will take no excuses," said she. "You have said too much or too little. I must have an answer."

He paused a few moments longer, and then said frankly:

"Your ladyship, it is true that I have had doubts; but they are doubts only. But if you wish it, I will go to Leamington myself, and make the doubts certainties one way or the other. Speak the word: am I to go?"

The room seemed to swim round Norma. She dared not answer. Holding fast to the chair by which she was standing, she held out her hand as if to beg for a minute's grace.

CHAPTER IX.

Handsome Dr. Wharles was sorry for the poor young wife, confronted so early in her married life with a terrible difficulty. He insisted on her sitting down again, and tried to speak comforting words.

"Come, your ladyship, you mustn't despair. This may be only a fancy, an idea. Tell me, what made you think Sir Astley's first wife was not dead?"

Norma hesitated, and then said in a low voice: "I didn't think that. But I saw a lady in the office of the hotel where he stayed at Oxford, and she went out quickly as soon as she heard me ask for—for my husband. Then I saw her again, and she appeared to be following him—us."

A light seemed to break over the doctor's face.

"Ah!" muttered he, "I thought so."

Norma fell to trembling so violently that for some moments she could not speak again. To do her justice, she was by this time too anxious about Astley to think of herself and her own position in the matter. She was half crazy with fear, on the other hand, of the effect it would have upon Astley, if he were to learn that his wife was still living, now that he was ill and depressed.

The doctor's voice broke upon her troubled reflections: "My dear Lady Astley, I cannot express what I feel for you in these most trying circumstances. But remember, we cannot be certain of this yet: for my part, nothing but seeing her in the flesh will persuade me that she is alive, and I strongly advise you to be equally incredulous."

"What motive could she have for practising such a deception upon a husband who was always good to her?" asked Norma indignantly.

Dr. Wharles shrugged his shoulders.

THE COAL COMMISSION

An Early Decision Upon the Points Now at Issue is Looked For

Washington, March 5.—Representatives of both sides of the coal strike question appeared before the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission to-day. The main question discussed was that of determining the best method of payment for coal mined, and hinged upon the point as to whether settlement shall be made with the men according to weight or measure. The meeting today foreshadows an early report of the commission to President Roosevelt as it involves practically the only issue which remains unsettled in the minds of the commission. The session was secret.

COMING TO AMERICA

Negotiations on Foot to Bring 200,000 Religious French to U. S. and Canada

Rome, March 5.—The Very Rev. John A. Zahm, provincial of the congregation of the Holy Cross, Notre Dame, Ind., left here for Paris today. Father Zahm had been negotiating with the French and Vatican authorities on the subject of members of the religious orders remaining in France. It is asserted that if the laws are strictly applied, about 200,000 persons belonging to 32 different communities eventually will be expatriated. Father Zahm is now going to Paris to make provisions for those who belong to his order in France, numbering altogether about 400 brothers and 200 sisters. It is proposed to transfer them to various colleges and parishes in the United States and Canada. The sisters already have moved their mother house to New York, and have appointed an American mother superior.

Are Matches Made in Heaven?

None but a blasphemer dares accuse Heaven of having made all the matrimonial matches, remarks an exchange. Responsibility for the great number of mismated couples lies below and not above. Heaven is no such bungler as the old saw would make out. Neither is it a fact, as the romantic superstition has it, that true lovers were made to measure for each other, the plans having existed from all eternity, and that somewhere in this wide, wide world there is a predestined affinity for each man and woman. The man who waits until Heaven and predestination shall have brought his affinity to him will be more than likely to find her married to a more enterprising fellow than he, and owning half a dozen children. In the search for one's affinity it is necessary to do some hustling, for competition is sometimes severe, affinities will become impatient, and if one meets his affinity too late, and still presses his claims nothing but scandal can come of it.

Propinquity and mammas have a good deal more to do with matrimonial matchmaking than Heaven or predestination. Given the case of a particularly attractive girl for whom Heaven has appointed an affinity in distant lands, but who is being "rushed" rather hard by an active, attentive fellow with serious intentions and money to back them up; whose chances would the betting odds favor, those of the man on the ground or those of the far-away affinity? In the absence of rivals any intelligent and decent man of the world can make any woman of his own class love him, if he sets out to do it, and has opportunity to talk to her alone. If there is competition, of course, each man takes the chances of the game. Vice versa, no doubt, a woman can do the same with any man.

Love is a sublime emotion only when it is not ridiculous. Writers on the subject and authors of novels in English are inclined to take too romantic and sentimental a view of love. The majority of love affairs in English literature are thoroughly foolish, and if the stories were continued beyond the wedding day they would be sad narratives of disillusionment, infelicity, and antipathy. The Romeo-and-Juliet sort of love and all first-sight or sudden passions can end in nothing but coldness and bitterness if they are given rein. Thackeray was the English writer who came nearest to setting out a sane idea of love. He was worldly wise and knew human nature, and the happy love affairs in his books are constantly directed by common sense. Dickens, too, was human and observant, but as he was less cynical, he was less sound than Thackeray in his treatment of love. Modern French writers go to the extreme of cynicism, and therefore paint a sort of love which is mere dirt, and is as false in its naturalism as Victor Hugo's sort was false in its romanticism. The love of Marius and Cosette in "Les Miserables" is utterly silly, and could end in nothing but sorrow for the two young fools.

Sanity and common sense should have play in love as in other affairs. Why not? Lasting love must be founded on reason. A man and woman, before falling into each other's arms, ought to know each other well, to have been much together, to have considered the health, the physique, the temper, and the mental character of both. Their love, during a long life together, will have many shocks to stand, and it behooves it to be robust and firmly rooted. Before marriage a girl ought to learn from her mother and from wise married women just what she may expect and may not expect, and a man before the wedding ought to take counsel on the same point from married men. Too much reading of romantic literature, coupled with maiden ignorance of human nature, is likely to give a girl expectations impossible to realize.

Parents ought to look after their sons and daughters, and guard them, as much as possible, from that sort of love which the Latin poet called a sort of madness. To love rightly one should have an old head and a young heart. Unhappily, mad young love will have its way, in spite of law or parents. As the Eastern proverb says: "When man and woman are agreed, what can the cadi do?"

But it must be a bitter, bitter thing for a husband and wife to one day look into each other's faces and confess that they have made a mistake, and that their love, which they had fancied deep as the sea, was only the foam that passeth—and has passed.

Canada's Indignation is Natural

London, March 6.—The London Chronicle to-day admits that Canadian indignation at the choice of the American representatives on the Alaskan Boundary Commission is very natural. The Chronicle says: "Canada sees that the question is either to be given away beforehand, or so much complicated that a solution be made impossible." The paper also attacks the British Government for not making prior stipulations regarding the commissioners, and says the neglect of these obvious precautions seems only too likely to wreck the whole negotiations, or what would be even more serious, estrange a great colony which has been devotedly loyal but is continually exposed to the very strongest temptations to change its allegiance.

Another Fad.

Not all the pretty summer young woman's fad concern her frocks and frills, says a London paper. On the contrary, the summer sweetheart has his share of attention, after a certain fashion, and at present he may consider himself as representing a really novel fad born of this young person's clever brain:

"What do you think of this as a surprise for Edward?" queried the handsome young matron, as she rolled up her sleeve, displaying a sunburned and interesting-looking arm, which she stretched forth for closer inspection.

"Why, it's a picture of Edward!" exclaimed the three summer girl friends gathered about her on the hotel veranda, and, sure enough, there on the wife's pretty arm was a remarkably good portrait of her lord and master.

"What is it?" "How did you do it?" and "Will it come off?" were a few of the questions which came simultaneously from the excited trio.

"I got that clever little Japanese artist in town to do it. He's been working at it ever so long, and has it finished just in time for Edward's birthday. Won't he be surprised and pleased when I show it to him?"

While the novelty appealed to the three girl friends and each was turning over in her mind the advisability of copying the fad, it contained one element which made them hesitate. Each in her own heart longed to try the experiment, if only a process could be found which would make the picture last for a shorter time than eternity. If there's one thing which is absolutely essential to the happiness of the summer girl, it is variety—variety in her beaux, as well as her bonnets—so it would never do to stamp upon her arm a likeness which would withstand the changing seasons of time and her own heart. Why couldn't a photograph be printed on the flesh in the same manner that fancy pillows, screens, and even dainty handkerchiefs are decorated?

The idea struck her as being immensely clever, and her eagerness to test its feasibility took her, the following day, to a prominent photographer in the city.

"I want you to make a photograph of him on my arm," was her startling demand, as she exhibited to the artist the treasured portrait of a handsome man in uniform.

"But, my dear young woman, we don't do that sort of thing. It's quite impossible," was his mild reply.

"I'm sure it can be done," she pleaded, "if only you'll try. I do so want to get ahead of the other girls, and the idea is all my own. I've thought it all out in my own mind. You see, I'm something of an amateur photographer myself, and I know a little about isochromatic plates, hypo, and toning solutions. I feel positive you can do it for me."

"Think of what might happen to you. For instance, there is the silver bath, which would certainly turn your arm quite black; and there—"

"Oh, but you needn't do it that way," she interrupted. "Try some other. Just as you do those delicate white porcelains and rich ivories. I must have a photograph of him on my arm before I go back, and I'll give you as many days as you like to do it. I've promised myself this surprise, so please do help me, won't you?" and her voice and eyes pleaded her cause.

"All right. I'm willing to make the experiment," was his good-natured reply, "though I tell you beforehand, the picture will not last more than three weeks at the most, and it will be tedious work, too."

"I don't care if it stays on my arm only twenty-four hours, just so that I have it there long enough to show the other girls;" and she offered her pretty arm for the test.

So it came about that a sweetheart, a bevy of girls, and the whole summer colony were amazed one day to see this ingenious young woman wearing a fashionable elbow-sleeved frock, which disclosed to advantage the head and shoulders of her uniformed sweetheart, photographed in the sunburnt arm.

The idea was altogether too novel and catching to be monopolized by one, or even two, so, in an astonishing time, the entire colony—that is the young women members of it—appeared with photographs transferred to their fair flesh.

While the arm remained the favorite spot for wearing the unique ornament, some, with tastes a trifle more barbaric, chose to have the photograph stamped just above the heart or high on the rounded part of the arm.

'Twas Ever Thus.

And there came unto the sage far famed an anxious mother leading a small boy.

"Advise me, oh, fount of wisdom," spake she, "concerning my child, who has fallen into evil ways. He will not study, but persists in dodging his tasks, that he may idle in the fields and hear the birds sing."

"Alas!" replied he of the perspicacity, "your son has the budding genius microbe in his system. You can do nothing. When he grows up he will cultivate a flowing mane and be a poet. And the public will call him a 'sweet singer' after he has passed away."

Then the woman wept much and bitterly, for it had been her heart's desire that Reginald should follow the gas-fitting trade.—"Judge."

A TERRIBLE CHARGE

Uncle of Murderess Charged with Complicity

Alleged to Have Prompted Woman to Kill Her Husband and Destroy the Body

Monticello, N.Y., March 4— Peter Yerkins, the uncle of Mrs. Kate Taylor, who is now awaiting trial here for the murder of her husband, was arraigned to-day for a preliminary hearing, charged with complicity in the murder in having instigated the woman to commit the crime. Mrs. Taylor was arrested on information given by Yerkins who informed the authorities that his niece had confessed to him that on the night of January 28th she had shot her husband, and had then chopped up the body and burned it in the kitchen stove. The woman's fourteen-year-old daughter, Daisy, witnessed the murder, and testified against her mother after the arrest. Yesterday the daughter, who since the murder has been living with her uncle, James Taylor, of Kiamesha Lake told him that Yerkins had persuaded her mother to kill her husband. On this information Yerkins was arrested. In her testimony at the hearing today the girl said:—"Last September mamma and I went to see Peter Yerkins and mamma and he had a long conversation. I only heard a part of what they said but I heard him say to her, "If you will kill Taylor and get him out of the way I will buy the Benson farm and give you the deed, and I will come and live with you. Be sure and make a clean job of it."

Yerkins was committed to jail for further examination.

King Leopold May be Here in 1904

Pumping a Sea Dry.

The pumping dry of Harlem Lake, in Holland, was pronounced by many engineers to be impossible; yet it was successfully performed. Zuider Zee is many times the area of Haarlem Lake, and presents from its depth and character many more difficulties, and yet the fiat of doom of the Zuider Zee has gone forth. In a very few years many thousands of acres of smiling Dutch pastures, of prosperous Dutch villages, of poplar-bordered roads will characterize what is now merely the bottom of the sea. Science in the twentieth century will have hardly any tale to tell more astonishing than this.

The Zuider Zee, celebrated in Dutch legend and history, occupies some fourteen hundred square miles, the area of a large European province. On its shores are the ancient towns of Medemblik, Hoorn, Harderwijk, Norden and Enkhuizen, once large cities in the halcyon days of Dutch commercial and naval supremacy. It encompasses the islands of Marken, Schokland and Urk.

The present plan consists of building a dam or embankment across the northern part of the sea from Wieringen, in North Holland, to Piaam, in Friesland. Then will follow the creation of two "polders," or areas of dry land reclaimed from the sea. The water will be pumped out by means of steam-pumps.

The entire work is to be completed in eighteen years. The enclosing dike from Wieringen to Piaam will be finished in the ninth year. In the eighth year will be commenced the work for diking the Wieringen Polder, which in the fourteenth year will be dry and ready for sale. In the eleventh year the similar works on the Hoorn Polder will be begun, and will be completed in the eighteenth year, making up to that date a total area of upwards of six hundred square miles of reclaimed and fertile soil.

It is as if Lake Ontario or Lake Erie were to be pumped dry, and the lake floor of each added to the area of Ontario.

What Part Should Reason Play?

A Philosophic Western writer speaks thus of the part reason should play in love affairs:

Reason, unfortunately, is not consulted very often by lovers. The marriage of reason is held in contempt by the young and romantic of both sexes, especially in this country, where children make their own matches and parents are not asked for their consent. When a pair of penniless young fools run away from home and marry because their parents bade them separate or wait, the newspapers, instead of ridiculing or reproving them, make much of the affair, call it a romantic flight, print photographs of the couple and encourage other couples to imitate their madness.

Love is a strange and sometimes a fleeting emotion, and it behooves all who feel it stirring in their blood to go slowly and to follow the guidance of their reason rather than their passion. There are so many cases of passing infatuation mistaken for love that a man or woman, perceiving the symptoms within, should carefully analyse the case and by many tests determine whether it be the genuine article or one of the many counterfeits. A man should project his reason, as it were, out of himself and study himself and the girl impartially as though they were strangers. He should ask himself whether they are of equal mental ability and equal education, whether their tastes are similar, whether they are well matched physically, whether she interests him merely because of her pretty face and figure, whether he could agree with his people-in-law in the event of his marrying the girl, and whether he could support her in the degree of comfort or luxury to which she has been accustomed. He should consider, too, the probability of the girl's being happy or unhappy with him. He should weigh his own faults and even tell the girl about them so that she may be warned. She will not believe his confession, however, and the only benefit in making it is the feeling of having done his duty and hidden nothing.

Lovers, contemplating matrimony, should bear in mind that living together all a couple's lifetime is something vastly different from holding hands in the parlor on two or three evenings a week. It is easy to be good-humored and agreeable to each other at occasional dinners, but a man and woman, going into matrimony, should be good-humored and agreeable to each other at breakfast as well as at dinner, and at breakfast every day in the year. He who raves about the curls in her hair, when he sees the girl in her best gowns, must remember that after marriage he will see her sometimes with hair uncurled and costume none too neat. Any girl can be attractive in a pretty silk waist with ribbons and bows and all the helps to loveliness that women know, but the girl a man marries ought to be attractive to him at all times, bending over the kitchen stove as well as bending over the piano, getting up in the morning as well as dancing in a ballroom. Similarly, the man a girl marries ought to please her when his beard is two days old as well as when it has been lately shaven, in his business clothes as well as in his handsomest evening suit.

Courtship is one thing and matrimony quite another. Matrimony is life, and life is full of dullness and routine. Courtship is a round of dances, dinners, moonlight conversations, romantic walks, perfervid protestations of love, sentiment, vows, sighs, hand-clasps and ecstasies. Matrimony is the steadiest companionship of two people in their right senses, and the question which reason should answer for the lover is that of his suitability for a certain woman on the lower, less aerial plane of matrimony. Marrying is something like betting one's whole fortune on a horse race. One may go it blind, as many do, and lay one's money on a certain horse because it is pretty and steps high, or one may carefully estimate the form and record of the entries and base one's choice on what the horse is and has done and what its ancestors are and have done. In neither case is one certain of winning, but the man who bets on form is more likely to win than he who bets on the mere beauty of a horse. There are some who advise people to refrain from going into the matrimonial gamble, but these are the timid who would not go seeking heaven for fear of stumbling into hell. One must venture something to win the prizes of life, and the man and woman who are happy in their marriage have won the greatest of all prizes.

Roosevelt and Mitchell

Lansford, Pa., March 6.—Miners there have started a boom to nominate John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, for Vice-President of the United States, on the Republican ticket. The States, on the Republican ticket. The miners are coupling the names of Roosevelt and Mitchell. At a meeting held near here last night a mine orator declared that Roosevelt and Mitchell "would receive the entire vote of the laboring classes and would sweep the country as it had never been swept before." He said that Roosevelt was "a labor sympathizer and Mitchell a labor leader," and that they were far and away the two greatest men in the country to-day.

SPORTING COMMENT

MODEST LITTLE BARRIE.

From Barrie Gazette.

March 4—Paris plays here Thursday night, and the fastest team in the world will show the Parisians how the game is really played when they visit that town next Monday.

Belleville's exit from the O.H.A. was by the back door. They didn't make their case any stronger by defaulting; better to have taken their medicine like men and played the game at Peterborough on Wednesday night when they might have demonstrated their superiority to the Marlboros on neutral ice, even if they did not win the round.

BERLIN BEAT WATERLOO

Waterloo, March 5—Berlin beat Waterloo here last night by 8 to 3, in the first of the Twin City championship matches. President Wettlaufer, of the W.O.H.A., who lives in Berlin, was referee, and the locals claimed that he allowed his team to rough it. Several bad cross-checks were pointed out to him in the first half, and on being told his work was unsatisfactory after the half was finished he took off his skates and refused to act. The game was delayed for some time until the managers of the two teams coaxed him to continue for the sake of the spectators. In the second half the farce became a comedy. Wettlaufer moved around automatically, and everything went, both teams indulging in rough work to their hearts' content. Waterloo practically played without a goalkeeper, as Kessler, owing to the referee's work, allowed the shots on his goal to take care of themselves.

LACROSSE.

The Lindsay Post says: "Lacrosse is being talked up quietly among some of the enthusiasts, and we expect in a couple of weeks a meeting will be called for re-organizing this club. It is likely a team will be entered in the C.L.A."

The Woodstock Express says: "Between Brantford and Toronto all the good players for senior company are seemingly being "lifted" up. St. Catharines must get wised up, and spread sails or they will be left leeward in the race for C.L.A. honors."

LINDSAY'S CRICKET COACH

Lindsay, March 4—W. Sheldon, an English professional, who coached the Trinity College School team of Port Hope, has been engaged to coach the Lindsay Cricket Club this year.

STOCK MARKETS

The Bulwark of the Market

New York, March 5—The dramatic and energetic attack made upon the stock market by the bears on Tuesday, left bare certain issues that can be relied upon to hold pretty well under any further market pounding. Sugar was remarkably strong, actually recording a gain for the day in the bearish excitement. Manhattan was prominently strong also making a gain though losing it later. Copper showed remarkable recuperative powers and so did Peoples' Gas. M. P. was extraordinarily steady while the Wabashes were under fire. Steel stocks also presented a comparatively strong front to the raiders. It was a busy day for the guerillas of Wall street. The market was put to a most severe test and came out of it well on the whole. It shows the power of absorption to be behind prices and the willingness of long-headed people to take on stocks when prices are under fire. The results expected to accrue from passage of the Aldrich bill were greatly exaggerated in market importance. As we said yesterday the situation it was intended to relieve will not occur again until next fall when the movement of the crops commences. Then sufficient funds are needed to run general business and finance the movement of our great crops. Had the bill not been presented at Washington, there would have been no drive against prices. Its presentation and side-tracking simply gave the bears an excuse to attack values, which they did vigorously. The loan crowd shows their sales to have been considerably in excess of their purchases, so they did not recover all the stock sold in depressing the market, while none of what they were previously short of has been brought back. This fact means a considerable extension of the short interest. During the attack some one, probably the old bull pool, took all of the Southern Pacific people cared to sell. Many of the members of the pool have sold some of their stock against their long interests in the pool. Were deliveries called for from them by the pool management there would probably be a lively time in the stock, the short interest in the stock being in this manner much larger than what it would appear from studying the loan crowd. We believe the little flurry will soon be over, if it is not already.

Summary—The day's market in the majority of instances opened off, and considerable bearish pressure was brought to bear against prices, though more or less intermittently a fitful rally took place, then followed by a renewed attack. Rumors of trouble in a certain trust company were utilized as a depressing factor. They were vigorously and emphatically denied by the vice-president and treasurer of the concern. Foreign Banks are freely offering money in the New York markets for a period of 6 months at 5 1-4 per cent. This indicates no money stringency. This week's bank statement should prove favorable. London was a considerable seller. The short interest has been materially extended and a sharp rally should be here. If nothing more for the time being the speculative struggle in cotton also tended to militate against the stock market. Prices are low. The fellow who can accurately guage the approximate bottom prices will soon be a buyer and thereby make good profits. Money closed last loan 5 per cent. Sales [illegible].

HAIGHT & FREESE.

"The aspect of prayer is changing," says the New York Outlook. "The new experience does not look out and up to a King upon a great white [illegible] by the Sea of Galilee; it looks within to the God who tabernacles with man. Our prayers are less in asking for things and more a communion of spirit with spirit; the answers we look for are less external gifts bestowed and more spiritual life imparted; we do not so much seek succor from life's battles and burdens as courage for the first and patience for the second. Thus prayer becomes hardly distinguishable from meditation; it is listening to God perhaps even more than speaking to him; it is compliance with the Psalmist's counsel, 'Commune with your own heart upon the bed, and be still.' It is therefore less a matter for appointed times and occasions; more a habit than an act, more an atmosphere than either. It is consequently more difficult to give to it outward formal expression except in liturgies; it is more private, less public, more unuttered, less expressed, more a life of the subconscious self, less a conscious and deliberate speech. It loses in clearness, definiteness, precision; but it gains in intimacy, closeness, familiarity."

Rheumatism So Bad That Hip Joint Slips From Socket.

Reduced in Flesh About Fifty Pounds, One Leg Becomes Twisted and the Knee Stiff--The Pain Was Excruciating.

Mr. E. Willfong, Caretaker of the Sherbourne Street Methodist Church, Tells of His Wife's Illness and How She Was Cured.

Serious as the Case Was, Powley's Liquified Ozone Immediately Destroyed the Disease Germs and Now Every Trace of Rheumatism Is Gone.

A SIMPLE STATEMENT OF GREAT SUFFERING.

Toronto, Feb. [illegible]

THE OZONE CO., Limited, Toronto. Ont.

Gentlemen,—It is with deep gratitude I write you of the wonderful benefit my wife derived from the use of Powley's Liquified Ozone. In May of last year she had an extremely severe attack of rheumatism. The best possible aid was at once secured, but after three months' treatment and good nursing her case was so much worse that she had become a chronic rheumatic. She was reduced in flesh about fifty pounds and had become a mere skeleton. One limb was twisted to such an extent that the knee joint became stiff and the hip joint had slipped from its socket. When moved the least bit she would suffer excruciating pain. Her temperature ran up to 104 and there was continual fever for three months. Her suffering was almost unbelievable, as she could not be moved from the position in which she lay in bed.

We had just about given up all hopes of her recovery when we read in the papers of some of the wonderful cures that Powley's Liquified Ozone was effecting. To make sure that these cases were genuine we called upon the people whose testimonials appeared. We found them genuine in every case and the people who had given them enthusiastic in praising the merits of Ozone.

A bottle was purchased and the treatment commenced. Shortly after Mrs. Willfong was able to sleep naturally and her appetite improved. She had not been able to sleep naturally and had had but little appetite for three months previous. In a week's time she was removed down stairs to another bed and gradually gained in strength all the time. In a few weeks she had gained in flesh and now her general health is as good as ever.

The hip joint, of course, is not altogether in its proper place and she is somewhat lame, but otherwise is in good physical condition. She has regained her good health and every trace of her rheumatism is gone.

Her recovery is due entirely to the use of Powley's Liquified Ozone, as it succeeded after all other remedies had failed. We have recommended Ozone to others and know of many cures that have been effected.

We will always have a feeling of gratitude to Ozone and trust that many others may be induced to try this peerless remedy, and are satisfied that the results will prove entirely satisfactory.

Yours very truly, E. WILLFONG, 165 Carlton St.

What Ozone Has Done For Other Rheumatic Sufferers.

The following are brief extracts from letters written by other persons who have been cured of rheumatism by Powley's Liquified Ozone:

WM. GOUGH,

Danforth and Pape avenue, Toronto, says: "I had a severe attack of la grippe, which developed into rheumatic fever. I was reduced in weight to 120 pounds. I employed the services of a good physician, but derived no benefit; in fact I became worse. I was advised to try several of the cures advertised, but in spite of all the many remedies I took I grew weaker and weaker. I was advised to go to Preston Mineral Springs, which I did, but I was so weak I could not stand the baths and got worse. I became discouraged and came home to die.

"After taking three bottles of Powley's Liquified Ozone the rheumatism left me. For six weeks previous to this I could take no nourishment at all, but the first bottle gave me a good appetite. I began to gain in flesh and have been steadily increasing ever since. I now weigh 170 pounds and feel as well as possible."

D. T. GREENSIDE,

90 Clarence street, London, Ont., says: "For years I had rheumatism and indigestion. I tried all kinds of remedies, but got nothing to help me out of my trouble. Mrs. Harry Mason, of Toronto, sent me several bottles of Powley's Liquified Ozone. After taking it I am happy to say I am now in splendid health. You certainly have the best remedy in the market to-day for chronic diseases, as I have proved to my entire satisfaction."

JOSEPH CORON,

[illegible] St. Antoine street, Montreal, says: "Two years ago I was laid up with rheumatism for nearly two months, and since February last I have been very bad. I saw your Ozone advertised and I procured a bottle and began taking it. I had not completed the bottle when I began to get better; my rheumatic pains began to leave me. I have taken only three bottles and my rheumatism is completely cured. I am in better health now than I have been for the last ten years."

MRS. MATILDA DALE,

90 Edwin street, Toronto, says: "My husband contracted a very severe case of muscular rheumatism. He soon became so bad that he had to quit work. Finally he had to be lifted or turned in bed, as he could not move himself. At length we decided to try Powley's Liquified Ozone. At first it made him very sick and he wanted to give it up. But I had heard if Powley's Liquified Ozone caused any sickness at the stomach that this was a sign that the remedy was doing good work, and I prevailed on him to continue it. In one week after he was able to get out of bed. He continued to take Powley's Liquified Ozone, using seven bottles, when he was entirely relieved of the rheumatism, and is now working every day."

GEO. BRENNAN,

504 Albert street, Montreal, says: "For four years past I have been a sufferer from rheumatism. Sometimes so severe was the pain that I was forced to lay off from my work. I am a cabman and when I was forced to go to bed I suffered much pain. I tried all kinds of liniments and patent medicines, but got no relief. About July 1st I was induced to try Ozone and when I had taken about three bottles I was free from any pain and my rheumatism was entirely cured, and I felt better than I had for years."

A FREE BOOK We have a book on Rheumatism that gives much information of value and interest to rheumatic sufferers. We will be pleased to mail this book free to any person sending name and address. A postcard will bring it. Write now while you think of it.

An Opportunity

We are offering for public subscription a limited amount of stock of exceptional merit affording an unusual opportunity for a very profitable investment. We desire to be conservative in our representations, but do not hesitate to state hat the stocks of the properties we are representing are absolutely certain to rapidly increase in value, and the fortunate purchasers of the stock at the present prices will have more than reason to congratulate themselves for grasping this opportunity.

Success lies in being alive to that which is going on around you, and they who "grasp the skirts of happy chance can breast the blows of circumstance."

We have the disposition of a certain amount of treasury stock in four corporations. We have thoroughly investigated the present value of the properties owned by the Companies, and have full cognition of the immense profits that are awaiting only the further development and equipment of the properties.

We are offering an equal number of shares in each of the four corporations at a price that make the combined issue a most attractive feature, giving also to the purchaser an unusual safe guard on his or her investment; in other words, you are not placing all your eggs in one basket. Or if you prefer you can purchase separately the stocks we offer.

As the money received from the sale of the stock is strictly for the purpose of equipping the properties with the necessary machinery, etc., the time will not be long before handsome dividends are available. We are not asking your subscriptions to pay for the properties; they are already owned by the Companies, and there are no outstanding obligations.

This preliminary notice is to advise the public in general that an opportunity now presents itself for a safe investment of unusual character, embodying also speculative possibilities sufficiently great to make even a small investor a competency within a few years.

You can invest in any amount from Ten Dollars up, and, if so desired, you can have the privilege o paying in installments the amount of stock paid for from time to time being non-forfeitable in the event of your ceasing payments, thus relieving those of small or uncertain income from possibility of loss, should they for any reason become unable to continue payments.

Our business is to aid responsible Companies in the disposal of their treasury stock for the thorough equipment of their properties; we do not and will not handle indiscriminate mining or other stocks under any circumstances. W make a thorough personal examination and investigation as to the merits and possibilities before undertaking to assist in financing any Corporation; the paramount issue with us is to give complete satisfaction and cause much success to our patrons.

We have furnished the publishers of The Times with an outlined description of the Companies we represent, and the names of the Directors of each Company whose tock we offer to their subscribers and friends. We have also furnished The Times with bank references as to our own bonafides and standing. We desire to command the utmost confidence of all subscribers and to retain same along with their friendship for all time; you add riches without effort and increase our brain and labor; you increase your rr without effort and increase our power to make you still richer. In ordinary everyday experience a man's expenses nearly equal his income and he has little chance to make a turn for the betterment of his condition. This is anyone's opportunity; you can invest Ten Dollars or One Thousand Dollars on the same basis as one who invests Ten Thousand Dollars. You cannot afford to neglect your opportunitie and this is a chance to get in on the ground floor and reap the profits of substantial, quick money making enterprises. Your money need not be tied up for a long time; we know that one of the Companies, at least, will pay handsome dividends this year. It is an easy matter to become rich; just watch for the opportunity and take advantag of it. This is your opportunity; will you grasp it?

STOCK MARKETS

FITFUL AND FEVERISH—TAKE SMALL PROFITS

New York, March 6.—The market is at present in a more or less vacillitating and feverish condition. It presents an opportunity however for grasping frequent small profits, and frequently small profits usually excell in aggregate a few large ones. The basis underlying foundations of values are at present sound, consequently when active speculatie issues are suddenly and sharply depressed from two to three points, they are practically absolutely to purchase, provided the buyer be willing to accept a profit of from a point and one half to two points and one half. In such a market as existing at present, he will speedily get an opportunity to repeat the operation if not in the same issue in someother active speculative. Those chances naturally most frequently occur in the active speculative favorites such as Manhattan, B. R. T., Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, etc. The large speculative dealings in such issues makes the inevitable rebound more certain than in a simply investment issue. This is owing to the fact that the former class stock has a dual supply and demand namely speculative and investment. Those who hold for the long pull either on the long or short side of the market, such as is existing at the present time, not only have their patience tired most severely, but fail to catch some of the numberless ups and downs, averaging from one to three per cent. One can in the manner outlined actually bull a stock over a given period in which it might decline from five to ten points and make money in so doing. If a decline be in progress when he is so doing his profits will be minimum ones. An advance would bring him the maximum of profit, in other words the very best obtainable from trading in any given amount of stock. At present don't look for too large profits upon any given deal, but for more frequent ones. The following of such a method at present we believe will be conducive to the best results.

INTERNATIONAL ELECTRIC MINING Co

185 SUMMER ST., - BOSTON, MASS.

A Dividend Payer for the Past Five Years.

12 PER CENT GUARANTEED

Capital Stock, $500,000. Par, $1.00, full paid and non-assessable

Over eight thousand tons of $50.00 ore mined and smelted from this group of mines.

A limited number of shares of the tock of this Company now offered at seventy-five cents per share. This price will shortly be increased to par. Stock registered by the International Trust Company, Boston, who is also the transfer agent.

This Company has a small capital stock.

T International Electric Mining Company owns seven mines and milling plant.

The Brooklyn and New York mines of this Company lie north of and join the Victor and the Hoodlum—two rich mines that are now being worked by California parties. On the west lies the Electric Mining Company's mines. In these mines are millions of dollars' worth of rich ore in sight. On the south, adjoining the Berlin mine of this Company, is the Montazuma and Clipper. From the Montazuma over three million dollars has been taken within 30 feet of the grass roots.

This Company owns free and clear seven mines of twenty acres each, all containing rich ore, located in the Arabia and Trinity mining districts, Humboldt County, Nevada. The Company has worked these mines for the past five years, and is now driving a tunnel to cut out a rich ledge about 600 feet from the surface. The Arabia mining district, in which these mines are located, is a lively district—a great many men being employed there. The tunnel now being driven on the Brooklyn mine has about 250 feet already completed. When the tunnel cuts the main ledge, which has just been reached by the Victor tunnel about 600 feet, the Brooklyn will have about 500 feet stoping ground, which runs high in gold and silver, over $50.00 per ton.

The Company is offering for a short time a limited amount of stock for the enlargement of its plant and the working force at the mines and for the completion of the Brooklyn tunnel.

This Company has thousands of tons of rich ore in sight.

We are not making a lot of talk, because it is unnecessary. What the investor wants is dividends, which we have paid for the past five years. Now if you want a safe 12 per cent. investment, let us hear from you.

THE OLD COMSTOCK

A California mining paper has this to say: "Nevada, that grand old stamping ground of mushroom millionaires, who plucked enough wealth from her prolific fields to build mansions, banks, and big hotels in San Francisco, and palaces in Paris and London, is again astonishing the world by making more millionaires and by yielding millions in gold and silver from a new field which rivals the old Comstock lode in the days of its pristine splendor. Not only in Tonopah and Arabia districts, where within the past year nearly ten millions have been exposed, are operations active, but in every mining district in the Silver State are operations active, and Nevada will once more take her place among the big producers, the peer of any of them."

Gentlemen,—If you wish to sell your Brooklyn mine I can get you a good price for it. If it was mine I would not sell it at any price, as you have more than a million dollars of ore in sight.

Mr. Geo. D. Burton, Treas.,
International Electric Mining Co.,
Boston, Mass.

Dear Sir,—During the six months of October and November of this year I visited the mines of the International Electric Mining Company, situated in Arabia and Trinity mining districts, Humboldt County, Nevada. I found the country remarkably mineralized; in fact, the possibilities of the country as a mineral producing country are yet unknown. For years it certainly has produced well. The work now being done in the Arabia and Trinity districts establishes the fact that they are fine producers.

I also found that there is a great deal of interest being taken in these properties, which have produced a great deal of wealth the past quarter of a century.

The Electric Spark GOLD MINING COMPANY

Offers to investors an opportunity to secure through a purchase of its stock

A monthly income of $50.00

On an investment of $1,000; or a monthly income of $5.00 on an investment of $100.00. This is purely a business proposition. Their is no uncertainty about it; you do not take any chances. We actually have enough ore in sight to keep us working for three or four years, and the more development work we do the more ore there is in sight; the deeper we go the richer it is. Bear in mind, too, that we do not come to the public with an untried experiment. Our shaft is nearing the 200 foot mark, with better values at the bottom than any place nearer the surface. The ore runs in value from $25.00 to $86 80 per ton, by actual carload shipments.

The par value of our stock is $1.00, with only a limited amount of shares to be sold, and this has been placed on the market at the low rate of 20 CENTS PER SHARE. On March 14, the price will be advanced to 30 cents per share, providing any of the original offering remains unsold; therefore we advise all who are interested to send in their applications without a moment's delay, as they will be filled and eventually rejected just in the order received.

Thunder Mountain!

is the richest gold producing camp in the United States, and also the largest. The Thunder Mountain district, in central Idaho, is twenty miles wide and forty miles long. In comparison with this we have Cripple Creek, four miles wide and seven miles long. In many of the Thunder Mountain mines ore has already been reached that carries ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD TO THE TON. All of the Thunder Mountain ore is free milling, which means that it can be treated by the cheapest extraction process known—the ordinary stamp mill. It can be both mined and milled at a cost not to exceed $2 a ton. The past years operations in the several working mines have opened up millions of tons of ore that will give a net profit of from $10 to $30 a ton, enabling the respective companies to pay dividends at a rate never before equalled. Such is the showing and the prospect of the

which unless all indications are at fault, will become the largest producer in the district. The EAST DEWEY mine, which it owns outright, is located directly on Thunder Mountain, just east of the famous "Dewey" mine, which already has $20,000,000 of ore in sight. The surface area of the East Dewey mine is one hundred and twenty acres—six full quartz claims. The company has also secured the big GOLDEN GATE mine, in the Big Creek section of the Thunder Mountain district—which has been so aptly termed "The Pot of Gold"—and is now developing the mine with all possible speed. For a distance of 9,000 feet, nearly two miles, the Golden Gate mines cover a mineralized ledge that is 900 feet wide, with an average height above the tunnel level of 500 feet, thus giving it the largest exposed tonnage of any mine in the west.

If you would share in the enormous profits which these figures indicate and which these developments promise, invest your money in "East Dewey" Stock. It can be bought to-day for 10 Cents a Share. Its par value is $1.

If the East Dewey mines are what they appear to be, and there is absolutely no reason to doubt or question these indications, this stock will eventually be worth at least $1 a share, and to-day you can buy it for ten cents. PRICE ADVANCES TO FIFTEEN CENTS ON FEBRUARY 28th. 5% discount allowed for cash. Stock sold at flat price of 10 cents on deferred payments, 10% with application, and 10% monthly until paid. Full particulars, prospectus, etc., on request.

WEDDING BELLS

Nuptials of Miss Mabel Hutchinson of Birdsall's and Mr. Jas. M. Bonar, of Assiniboia

The home of Mr. and Mrs William Hutchinson, near Birdsall's, Asphodel, township, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on the evening of February 25th, when their only daughter, Miss Mabel Maud, was united in marriage to Mr. James M. Bonar, of Ferndale, Assiniboia. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. W. Foley, B.A., and the wedding march was played by Miss Nellie Hutchinson, of Trent Bridge.

The bride was charmingly attired in cream cashmere trimmed with watered silk and lace, and was attended by her two cousins, Miss Nellie Faux, of Birdsall's and Miss Eva Wessels, of Wooler, who was prettily gowned in white organdie over pink and carried bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Mr. W. B. Hutchinson, of Asphodel, supported the groom.

An elaborate wedding breakfast was served at the conclusion of the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Bonar left on the 6.50 a.m. train at Indian River, for their home in the West.

Yesterday, Mr. Lee recieved notice that it was up to him to buy the boots,—which he did, and forwarded them as above. The boots, however, will be more for ornament than use, for two or three years, until the child grows to fit them.

Wiped Out by Scarlet Fever

Toronto Globe:—During the first week of January a suspected case of scarlet fever occurred amongst the pupils attending the high school in one of the towns of the Province, and the school was closed for two weeks. A few days thereafter two of the pupils were stricken with the disease and one died. Both these children lived in the adjoining township. A relative went to nurse them, and she too contracted the disease, and during the illness of these children the father frequented the town, taking his meals at the house of a friend, whose two children were attacked. The relative who contracted the disease, upon being liberated from quarantine, brought her son home, from a neighboring city, and within a week he was taken ill and died. A brother is now down, and a boy who delivered packages to the house in the town where the two children are ill is now afflicted with scarlet fever, and there is still commingling of persons from these quarantined houses with the public.

—A party was given at the residence of Mr. Hastman, on Wednesday 25th inst., when a host of friends and neighbors were present and report a most enjoyable time.

The sleighing has nearly all disappeared in the country.

HOW HEALTH IS GAINED

The story of a great deal of the unhappiness of women is a story of lost health. Women wonder how it is that little by little the form loses plumpness, the cheeks grow hollow and sallow, and they feel tired and worn-out all the time. In a large proportion of cases when women are weak, run-down and falling off in flesh and looks, the root of the trouble can be traced to womanly diseases which undermine the general health. The proof of this is that women who have been cured of painful womanly diseases by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription have recovered their general health, gained in flesh and in appearance.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the womanly diseases which sap the general health. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"I suffered for three years with ovarian trouble," writes Mrs. Anna Quinn (Treasurer Woman's Athletic Club), of 644 Sycamore St., Milwaukee, Wis. "The treatment I took did not do me a particle of good, until a good neighbor who had been using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription advised me to give it a trial. The next day took my first dose, and it was my first step toward recovery. In nine weeks I was a different woman; my flesh which had been flabby became firm, complexion clear and my eyes bright. It was simply an indication of the great change within from pain and suffering to health and happiness."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

Proper Dress For a Groom.

One of the largest ready-made clothing houses in the city received not long ago from a remote place a letter, the substance of which was, "What is the proper dress for a groom in the afternoon?" The clerk who opened the mail, naturally enough, referred the enquiry to the livery department. The head of that branch in turn dictated a brief reply, something like this: "Bottle-green coat, fawn-colored trousers with top boots, silk hat with cockade. We can make prices as follows, et cetera." A week elapsed, and the big store received a plaintive little note: "I always knew it was expensive to get married; but can't you suggest something a little less elaborate?"

'Twas Ever Thus.

And there came unto the sage for counsel an anxious mother leading a small boy.

"Advise me, oh, fount of wisdom," spake she, "concerning my child, who has fallen into evil ways. He will not study, but persists in dodging his tasks, that he may idle in the fields and hear the birds sing."

"Alas!" replied he of the perspicacity. "your son has the budding genius microbe in his system. You can do nothing. When he grows up he will cultivate a flowing mane and be a poet. And the public will call him a 'sweet singer' after he has passed away."

Then the woman wept much and bitterly, for it had been her heart's desire that Reginald should follow the gas-fitting trade.—"Judge."

THE TRUTH ABOUT BREAD

From London "Chic"

In a recent issue of Chic, one of the big illustrated weeklies for which is famous, a writer, on scientific foods says: "There was never coined a more delusive phrase than 'Bread the staff of life,' because bread is always the worst of all foods unless the eater knows all about its properties. It is poison to the man in a hurry.

Here follows a long argument.

"'Why not,' asked the dietic experts, 'do for the bread and other cereal foods what the mastication does so that those whose digestions are enfeebled may be fully nourished, that is, derive every grain of nutriment possible from the food and avoid the discomforts of indigestion, the pains after eating, flatulence, acidity, heartburn, and the hosts of evils indicating faulty digestion? Why not prepare a food so perfectly that if it be eaten in a hurry, or bolted, it will be as readily digested as if chewed five minutes?'

"To convert the starch in cereals into the form of Grape Sugar which is most agreeable to the stomach and which can be immediately taken up by the system as nourishment is what has been done in Grape-Nuts which, for the reasons I have given, is a far more healthful and nourishing food than the best porridge or bread and can be eaten with advantage by persons with the most delicate stomachs.

"This food discovery comes from America, but widespread recognition of its valuable properties is, to my thinking, much hampered by a name which is meaningless even to the chemist or dietist. I must confess to not understanding the meaning of 'Grape-Nuts' when I first saw it, but an examination of this food discovery reveals it as one of the most important dietic advances ever made.

Note:—This name is partly derived from Grape Sugar and the term "Nuts" is suggested by the nutty flavor. The entire word is the registered trade mark.

The Grip Leaves Thousands in its Path Weak, Nervous, Dyspeptic, Catarrh Wrecks.

"For Grip and the after effects like debility, nervousness, dyspepsia and other catarrhal conditions resulting from the Grip, in the entire Materia Medica I have found no remedy that equals Peruna for prompt action."—Dr. S.B. Hartman, President The Hartman Sanitarium.

From N.Y. Journal. "During the recent Grip epidemic, claiming a million victims or more, the efficiency of Peruna in quickly relieving this malady and its after-effects has been the talk of the continent."

LIKE A DEMON grip has crossed our country, leaving behind scores of physical wrecks.

Victims of catarrh of the head, catarrh of the throat, catarrh of the lungs, catarrh of the stomach, catarrh of the kidneys, catarrh of the pelvic organs, are to be counted by hundreds of thousands. Grip is epidemic catarrh, and sows the seed of chronic catarrh within the system.

This is so true that few grip sufferers are able to make a complete recovery until they have used Peruna.

Never in the history of medicine has a remedy received such unqualified and universal eulogies as Peruna.

A New York Alderman's Experience.

Hon. Joseph A. Flinn, alderman Fifth District, writes from 104 Christopher street, New York City, as follows:

"When a pestilence overtakes our people we take precaution as a nation to preserve the citizens against the dread disease.

"La grippe has entered thousands of our homes this fall, and I noticed that the people who used Peruna were quickly restored, while those who depended on doctor's prescriptions, spent weeks in recovering, leaving them weak and emaciated.

"I had a slight attack of la grippe and at once took Peruna, which drove the disease out of my system in a few days and did not hinder me from pursuing my daily work.

"I should like to see our Board of Health give it official recognition and have it used generally among our poor sick people in Greater New York."—Joseph A. Flinn.

D. L. Wallace, a charter member of the International Barber's Union, writes from 15 Western avenue, Minneapolis, Minn.:

"Following a severe attack of la grippe I seemed to be affected badly all over. I suffered with a severe backache, indigestion and numerous ills, so I could neither eat nor sleep, and I thought I would give up my work, which I could not afford to do.

"One of my customers who was greatly helped by Peruna advised me to try it, and I procured a bottle the same day. I used it faithfully and felt a marked improvement. During the next two months I took five bottles, and then felt splendid. Now my head is clear, my nerves steady, I enjoy food, and rest well. Peruna has been worth a dollar a dose to me."—D. L. Wallace.

Mr. O. H. Perry, Atchison, Kansas, writes:

"Again, after repeated trials of your medicines, Peruna and Manalin, I give this as my expression of the wonderful results of your very valuable medicine in its effects in my case after repeated trials.

"First, it cured me of chronic bronchitis of fifteen years' standing by using two bottles of Peruna in January, 1894, and no return of it.

"After I was cured of bronchitis I had la grippe every winter for several winters. But, through the use of Peruna, it got gradually weaker in its severity, until it dwindled down to a mere stupor for two or three days. Now the stupor does not trouble me any more."—O. H. Perry.

SECTARIAN HATE AND SECTARIAN GREED

Relief for the Jesuits, A Proposal to Put Them on the Same Footing as the Nuns in England

London, March 7.—Mr. Frank Hugh O'Donnell, ex-M.P., for Galway, has a four-column letter in The Morning Post this morning upon the Irish land question. One sentence reads: "Let the gifted Irish race become a nation of manly laymen instead of cleric-ridden and cleric-exploited, and the whole land question will solve itself by mere mutual honesty and mutual patriotism, by intelligent labor without malingering, by the co-operation of Catholic and Protestant without sectarian hate and sectarian greed."

The Daily Express takes the ground that, in view of recent hostile votes of Unionist members in the House of Commons, the fate of the Government depends on the Irish and that if this Land Bill is not satisfactory to the Nationalists the Government's position may be seriously imperilled.

Nothing has transpired regarding the provisions of the Land Bill, and will not until Mr. George Wyndham, the Chief Secretary for Ireland, explains the bill in the House of Commons. Meanwhile the Nationalist members are lying low.

Mr. T. W. Russell, M.P., for South Tyrone, opened a debate on the Irish land question at the National Liberal Club last night. Judge Adams, chairman of the Limerick Quarter Sessions, made the closing speech, and said that the Empire had in the past wasted the fiery valor of Irishmen. The Empire now had a King full of generosity and benevolence towards his Irish subjects, and Irishmen felt towards King Edward as they had never felt towards any King since they held the crumbling wall of Limerick for King Shamus.

RELIEF FOR JESUITS.

London, March 7.—A bill has been introduced in the House of Commons by Dr. Robert Ambrose, M.P., for West Mayo, and supported by John Redmond and John Dillon, to remove the disabilities of the Jesuits and and members of other religious orders, and place them in the same position in respect to the right to acquire property as is now occupied by religious communities of women.

TRACING STAR OF BETHLEHEM

London, March 6.—It has been supposed that the star of Bethlehem, the herald of the Christian era, was in conjunction with two planets. David Forbes hazards the supposition that it was the comet called Halley's comet, which has an interval of approximately seventy-five years, ten months and six days. It was last visible in October, 1835, and will probably, therefore, be seen again in 1911. Halley, who saw the comet in 1682, predicted its return in 1759. Several reappearances have been observed. Pompey's defeat of Mithridates in in 152 B.C., was signalized by one appearance; Josephus mentions another at the destruction of Jerusalem, about 70 A.D.

Mr. Forbes contends that one of the returns of the comet between these two dates must have been about the date of the birth of Christ. Some months before the birth the Wise Men saw "His star" in the East; the comet would then be on its course towards the sun. On its return, six months later, it would be in the zenith above Bethlehem about the end of December. If the subsequent dates are computed it will be noticed that the comet was apparently fifteen years out, and should have reappeared in 1820 instead of 1835. Mr. Forbes surmounts this difficulty by remarking that it was not until the sixth century that Dionysius made out the present chronology, and that he then made an error of fifteen years which became stereotyped. This year, therefore, should be 1888.

THE SULTAN'S DECEIT

Has No Intention of Obeying European Powers

ABDUL HAMID IS AT WORK

The Outlook for Peace in the East Not at All Bright or Reassuring

Events in the Far East are Being Watched with Great Interest by the Civilized World

London, March 7.—When the Sultan accepted with such readiness the Austro-Russian proposals regarding Macedonia, it was obvious to every one acquainted with his character that he had no intention to give them serious consideration except to find loopholes for evasion. The announcement made by Tewfik Pasha, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, that after examination of the reforms demanded the Sultan had decided to apply them to all the six vilayets of European Turkey in the first act of the game.

Tewfik Pasha is no novice in dealing with Russia. He was Charge d' Affaires at St. Petersburg during the negotiations just preceding the war of 1877, and before his nomination to his present position, spent several years as Ottoman Ambassador at Berlin. He is a man of capacity and well qualified to second his master in the present contingency. The object of the intention declared, however, is not to procure delay only; it will tend to create dissensions among the Powers as well.

The inclusion of the two Albanian vilayets of Skodra and Jania in the Sultan's plan will be sure to raise opposition from the Albanians and bring Italy, who would have been only an interested observer where Macedonia was concerned, into the field. This is as well understood at Constantinople as at Rome; and as neither Russia nor Austria can desire to raise a general conflict, Tewfik Pasha has, no doubt, suggested the step the Sultan has taken. It is a decided check, and if the Russian Government stands by its recent declaration to the Bulgarian revolutionists and they in consequence refrain from action, a complicated and embarrassing situation has been created for St. Petersburg and Vienna.

The departure of Prince Ferdinand from Sofia to Varna on the Black Sea is a bad sign. It removes a restraining influence to a far distance, and leaves his administration exposed to being carried away by some sudden outbreak of popular anger, caused by reports of real or fictious outrages on the Christians of Macedonia. The turn of events depends on the unforseen.

THE ANNUAL MEETING

Of the Peterborough County Sunday School Council

THE ELECTION OF OFFICERS

Rev. J. G. Potter of St. Andrew's Church is Chosen President

The Work of the Sunday School in the County—Reports of the Officers Submitted

The annual meeting of the County Sunday School Council was held Saturday morning, February 28, in Y.M.C.A. Owing to the wet day there was not as large an attendance of members as usual. In the absence of the president, Rev. J. G. Potter, Mr. J. Lancaster, 1st vice-president, occupied the chair.

After reading minutes of last meeting reports were received from field secretary and superintendents of departments.

The report of the field secretary gave a comprehensive review of the work and contained many helpful suggestions that should prove invaluable to the Sunday school work of the county.

The report of the treasurer showed the finances to be in a healthy condition, all indebtedness being paid and a balance on hand. Yet more money is needed to push the work in the sparsely settled districts of our county. Workers have volunteered to give their time if those schools or individuals who have been highly favored will but contribute for the simple expenses of the workers. We also need $100.00 for provincial work.

A folder containing information regarding our work and a statement of our finances will be prepared and published for distribution in every home in our county, if finances will warrant it.

The pastors of the various churches in the county will be asked to refer especially to Sunday school work in their churches on the Sunday previous to our annual convention.

One of the greatest needs in the Sunday school of today, is better equipped teachers. In order to meet this deficiency the Council discussed the advisability of holding an institute for 10 or 14 days, somewhat after the nature of a summer school, for the study of Sunday school methods and association work under competent teachers. It was decided to discuss it at our conventions before any decided action was taken.

Some member of the Council will be asked to visit each township convention in an official capacity, bearing our greetings and presenting our work.

Conventions will be held the same as last year, sometime in May or June, the exact dates to be fixed later, and the Council desires that every township officer and every earnest Sunday school worker co-operate to make them a success.

The following are the officers for ensuing year:

President—Rev. J. G. Potter.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mr. J. Lancaster.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mr. T. W. Robinson.
3rd Vice-Pres.—Rev. E. A. Langfeldt.
Field Sec.—W. T. Harrison, M.D.
Minute Sec.—Miss Laura Bennett.
Treasurer—Mr. A. J. Johnston.
Prim. Supt.—Mrs. J. W. Garvin.
Assist. Supt.—Miss English.

Normal Supt.—Rev. W. L. Armitage
Editor—Miss Bennett.

TELEPHONE COMPANY'S RIGHTS ON THE STREETS

Important Decision by Judge Meredith—Fort William vs The Bell Telephone Co

The interim injunction issued on the 12th of February restraining The Bell Telephone Company from erecting any further poles or stringing wires for telephone purposes in the Town of Fort William came up for hearing before Judge Meredith at Osgoode Hall on the 19th. Mr. Holman, acting for the Town of Fort William, asked to have the case enlarged for two weeks to enable him to cross-examine those who had made affidavits in the case. Walter Cassels, Esq., K.C., for the Bell Telephone Company, asked to have the injunction dissolved so far as the stringing of wires is concerned, stating that the Company had no present intention of erecting any further poles on the streets of the Town. The Judge amended the injunction so that its prohibition effects only the erection of new poles, allowing the Company to proceed with stringing wires on existing poles until the case comes to trial.

A PROSPEROUS COMPANY

Twelfth Annual Meeting of the Dominion Permanent Loan

We congratulate the Hon. Mr. Stratton, President of the Dominion Permanent Loan Company, and Board of Directors, on the splendid position of the Company, as set forth in the annual report which appears elsewhere in this issue. During the year the assets of the Provincial Building and Loan Association were acquired by the Dominion Company. These amounted to $756,492.58. Of this amount the sum of $282,726.16 was applied to meet debenture obligations, bank overdrafts, etc. and the balance, $473,766.22, was distributed to the shareholders of the Provincial Company, in permanent stock of the Dominion Company. The total of the net earnings of the year was, after paying $79,942.04 interest on debentures, the sum of $103,199.33, a handsome return, equivalent to ten per cent. on the stock, for, though the total paid-up capital amounts to $1,263,941.08. In that sum is included $473,766.22, transferred from the Provincial Company.

During the year there was paid in dividends the sum of $53,170.68. After the payment of this dividend, writing off $1,544.10 office furniture, and after the addition of $30,000 to reserve, making a total of $70,000, there remained $20,053.28 to be placed at the credit of profit and loss. The surplus assets over liabilities shows an increase over last year of nearly half a million—$492,278.28, the figures at the end of the year 1901 being $912,727.87, and at the end of last year, $1,405,006.15. There has been during this year also a good increase of the total assets. In 1901 the assets amounted to $2,013,213.63. In 1902, December 31st, the total was $3,304,269.26, an increase of $1,378,004.16. In addition to these favorable conditions the report shows a satisfactory increase in the deposit and debenture account, and it presents an all-round favorable showing, giving evidence of careful management, successful operation, and substantial strengthening of the standing of this company, which must still more strongly commend it to the confidence of the public.

REVOLT SPREADS

Affairs in Macedonia Rapidly Approaching a Crisis

Vienna, March 6—Despatches received daily from Constantinople and Sofia indicate that, the Macedonians are in no way becoming more peaceable, despite the promulgation of the reform scheme. Hardly a day passes without a conflict between Macedonians and Turkish troops. None of them has as yet been very serious, but they show that the revolutionary movement has not been checked. The Sofia correspondent of the Neues Wiener Tagblatt telegraphs that the Macedonian leader, Sarafoff, will shortly assume a more active role. He has written to M. Daneff, the Bulgarian Prime Minister, from his retreat in the mountains, outlining the insurgent's plan of campaign, which, he says, no measures taken by the Bulgarian Government can prevent. He proceeds to point out how the Bulgarian Government is able to advance the Macedonian movement without compromising itself.

SENATOR COX BUYS TEMPLE

Comes to the Rescue of Burdened St. James' Methodist Church

Montreal, March 7.—Senator Geo. A. Cox in his personal interest to-day concluded arrangements for the purchase of the Temple building, situated in St. James street, next to the Canada Life building.

The building was owned by the trustees of St. James' Methodist church and was heavily mortgaged by the Standard Assurance Co. Had it not been for the action of Senator Cox the sale of the building would have been forced by the Standard Assurance after May, or taken in by them at a very low figure. By the action of Senator Cox the trustees get a good figure for the building, and will be able to use it in relieving the debt on the new St. James' Methodist church. While the building and site is assessed at $350,000, the price paid was a little over $[illegible]000.

THE BRITISH NOW ONE PEOPLE, APPEAL TO THE COLONIES

Mr. Chamberlain's Speech at Kimberley.

RE-BIRTH OF S. AFRICA

British Must Stand Shoulder to Shoulder to Support Common Interests

London, March 7.—The speech of the Colonial Secretary at Kimberley on January 30 was one of the most important of his South African tour. Mr. Chamberlain referring to the attitude of the Mother country during the war, said that a minority of pessimists had prophesied that the nation would be sick of the war when it had to pay the bill. This prediction was false. The nation on the contrary had granted more and more. The mother country in this instance had nobly sustained her claims to the leadership of the British race. With an Empire stretching from pole to pole, and covering a large portion of the earth's surface, the demands upon her were ever increasing, so that the gates of the Temple of Janus were never shut. The motherland alone could not much longer sustain the burden, and therefore called her children from the four corners of the world to help her to maintain what in the past she had maintained by her sole efforts.

A CANADIAN CITED.

"You," said Mr. Chamberlain, "are invited to share the privileges and glories of the Empire, which is yours as well as ours; and you are also asked to share the burdens of the Empire. If I have ever been in any doubt as to what you would give it has been removed by my experiences since I have been in South Africa. There is a small minority in the United Kingdom and elsewhere which is apt in great questions of policy to haggle about the cost. A conception of the Empire will not be gained if treated in a huckstering spirit. (Loud cheers.) The Empire is a great and priceless possession which we cannot weigh in balances, putting so much Empire against so much gold. My opinion is that the people of the colonies will resent any imputation on their loyalty to this great ideal, and will feel no sacrifice too great to maintain their fundamental position. A Canadian statesman has said that the British are now one people, animated by one spirit, and that they shall in future stand shoulder to shoulder in support of their common interests and common rights. (Cheers.) That is the tone in which the matter should be treated. I call on all the colonies to sustain it to the end. If this be achieved I venture to predict that the British Empire, standing four-square to all the winds that blow, will carry down the disadvantages these ideals of humanity, justice and freedom on which they have been based."

DO NOT FORGET.

"A new nation is now springing up and growing under our eyes to be a great free nation under the British flag. (Cheers). Do not forget the Empire. Do not forget the Motherland that bore you and in your time of stress and difficulty came to your aid. She may yet need your support. You must be prepared at all costs to give it. (Loud cheers.) What an Empire it is for which we are responsible! It is the greatest in extent the world has ever known, with a population of nearly four hundred million inhabitants, which includes hundreds of different races, which embraces every climate, and which produces every necessary and luxury of life. (Cheers.) What a heritage! You are co-heirs with us in its privileges and glories. Are you going to be content to be sleeping partners? (Cries of 'No.') You must claim your share in all that the Empire represents; you must claim as an honor and privilege your share in its burdens and obligations; you must join with us to do everything to maintain the unoin and confirm the strength, power and influence which I believe in the future you will find to be the greatest force in civilization and in the peace of the world."

SERIOUS OUTLOOK IN HOLLAND

General Railway Strike to Be Ordered—Socialists to Be Prosecuted

The Hague, March 7.—There are grave fears of a serious recrudescence of the Socialistic trouble in Holland. Last night a committee consisting of the leaders of the labor unions, representing 90,000 workingmen of all branches, met at Utrecht and resolved upon the firmest possible action against the proposed bills which forbid strikes. They determined to proclaim a general railway strike on Monday or Tuesday, which will last, according to reports, until the Ministers withdraw the bills. This will never be done, and the resolution, if acted upon, and fully supported, therefore means something near a revolution.

The Government will probably answer by the proclamation of martial law, as it has already indicated that it will firmly manitain order. All measures have been taken to preserve the troops from infection by Socialist leaders, and any one distributing revolutionary pamphlets in the barracks will be prosecuted.

Prof. Vandergoes, lecturer on socialism at the Amsterdam University, who, in addressing the meeting, advised the soldiers to "shoot in the right direction," is to be prosecuted, as will the Socialist paper, Volk, which published a secret circular addressed to the stationmasters containing rules how to act in the case of a strike.

The Political Slate.

As the Ontario Legislature will meet on Tuesday next, interest is being centered in the standing of the two political parties. Correctly given, they are as follows:

Members in the House	98
Government	52
Opposition	44
Seats vacant	2
Government majority	8

In the above Mr. Gamey, who who was elected a Conservative, is counted with the Government. After electing a Speaker, the Government will have a clear majority of 7. Should the Opposition carry the vacant seats, which is unlikely, the Government will have 5 of a majority. The election court has not yet given judgment against Dr. Routledge, Liberal, East Middlesex, and the Court of Appeal has still to deliver judgment in the South Oxford case on the petition against Donald Sutherland, Opposition, and in the Lennox case on the petition against T. G. Carscallen, Opposition.

AUSTRALIA ECITED BY A STORY FROM FIJI ISLANDS

The Work of a Priest, He Destroyed the Protestant Books of Native Converts to Catholicism

London, March 7.—Great excitement has been caused in religious circles in Australia, says the Melbourne correspondent of The Times, by a statement that the Catholic mission at Suval (the capital of the Fiji Islands), burned Bibles and hymn books which formerly belonged to Methodist natives, who have now been converted to Catholicism.

Cardinal Moran, of Sydney, strongly denied the statement, but, says the correspondent, the latest advices from the Fiji Islands show that the burning was admitted by a local priest.

Severe condemnatory resolutions have been passed by the Melbourne and Adelaide Methodist Conferences, which are now in session.

London, March 7.—Impressed by recent speeches of Ambassadors Choate and Cambon in London, and by Herr Delbruck's observations in The Preussische Jahbucher, says the Paris correspondent of The Times, The Siecle concludes that Great Britain is being wooed by nations which two years ago took a very different tone. The Siecle contests Herr Delbruck's views in favor of an Anglo-German alliance. It says that three things would prevent it; first, Anglo-American friendship; second, Anglo-French sympathy; third, British antipathy to Germany.

The Petit Bleu, dealing with the same question, says it is not surprised that Herr Delbruck has failed to convince Great Britain that "her principal adversary is the great trans-Atlantic Republic, not ambitious, envious Germany."

In commenting on the foregoing, The Times' correspondent says that a great deal of the anti-German feeling in the United States was made in Germany, and deals with the German naval proceedings at the time of the Spanish-American war, which opened the Americans' eyes to the grasping tendency of Germany, as evinced in South America and Holland. If, says the correspondent, Germany restrained her absorbing tendencies, there is little doubt but that former American sympathy would revive. This seems true with regard to England, but the re-establishment of cordiality would be slow work and would have to be preceded by a decided change in German temper and German policy.

The Berlin correspondent of The Times quotes an article in The Vossiche Zeitung on the news that a British North Sea naval station is to b established. The paper says that Germans need not betray excitement over every increase in the fleets and arsenals of foreign powers. "We leave to others that nervousness, which is a sign of weakness. If the English feel that their position as a world power is threatened, let them strain every nerve until they consider themselves safe, for in the end, it is better for international situations than the everlasting state of disquiet in which the British now live should disappear."

After further slighting remarks, says the correspondent, The Vossiche Zeitung refers to "the grudging spirit with which the English regard that extension of our fleet which is necessary to secure our political and protect our politican interests."

BRITAIN'S FOOD IN WAR TIMES

The London Times Discusses Possibility of Grain Cargoes Being Seized

London, March 7.—In ad editorial on the deputation to Premier Balfour in regard to Great Britain's food supply in time of war, The Times says that so far as grain is concerned, [illegible] to the possibility of treating it as contraband of war, it is unlikely, as Mr. Balfour pointed out, that the United States would tolerate for an instant that its grain in its own ships should be captured and sold in some foreign prize court.

The Times adds: "At the same time the question must be considered whether if our carrying trade were temporarily paralyzed by war, the the mercantile marine of other nations, which we have outdistanced in this field of enterprise, would be sufficient to bring all we want. The addition to the cost of the necessaries of life, combined with the deficiency in employment, such as occurred in consequence of the cotton famine during the warr of secession, would create a very painful situation."

DISCUSSIONS ON BRITISH ARMY

House of Lords on the Boer War—The Commons Hears of Spanking Practices

London, March 7.—In the House of Lords yesterday a motion presented by Earl Carrington to reconsider the Government's plan of military organization was defeated by 63 votes to 15. The debate brought out several criticisms of the Government's conduct of the Boer war by Earl Carrington.

Earl Hardwicke, Under-Secretary for War, replied. Foreign Minister Lansdowne said that the Government did not intend to make any change in the existing system.

The Grenadier Guards scandal was officially explained by Mr. Brodrick yesterday, and the responsibility for the suspension of Lt.-Col. Kinloch was placed where it belonged. Lt.-Col. Kinloch has convicted himself by his own testimony, and Commander-in-Chief, being the judge. Mr. Brodrick's statement was unexpectedly strong, and Lt.-Col. Kinloch's defenders were temporarily silenced. The important facts were that the complaints presented by Lord Belhaven and Lord De Saumarez had been followed by a military enquiry, and that subalterns were caned for military offences, as well as matters of social etiquet. The subaltern court-martial was revealed as a recognized agency of military discipline, and sentences for trivial offences were enforced with extreme rigor.

Lord Roberts' action in disciplining a commander who failed to suppress such proceedings was justified by the necessity of reforming existing scandals.

A POPULAR EXPERIMENT

The government of New Zealand is a radical one. There is nothing in the way of public management and control which it will not try. It has now in practical experiment several things that are too advanced for Canada, or for which the people of Canada are not advanced enough to undertake. These include life insurance, old age pensions, compulsory arbitration, woman's suffrage, land government ownership of telegraph telephone and railway lines. It is just possible that it has been rushing the socialistic ideas too much, that it has not had sufficient experience with any one feature or principle or plan of business to vouchsafe success, and yet it keeps on adding to the list of public utilities. Perhaps the most popular move of the government is towards the ownership of the mines. It is proposed to operate the fuel beds and in such a manner as to guarantee the people at all times a competent supply of coal at reasonable prices. The purpose of the government is not to enrich itself, but to give the consumers fuel at as near cost as possible. The government hires the miners and so guards against any difficulties in the labour market. It directs the railways and so prevents any impediments towards the free and helpful handling of the coal as it may be wanted. New Zealand will have what the people of Canada and the United States never had occasion to wish for, during the long period of labour troubles, idle mines and coal frauds. But the conditions in America do not point to relief in way it is afforded in New Zealand. The anthracite coal lands of the United States are the possession of the monopolists and cannot be recovered except by methods more revolutionary than any that have been so far visible.

AN ENTERPRISING TOWN

The mayor of Renfrew, Mr. W. E. Smallfield, is engaged upon a series of investigations into the question of municipal ownership in the towns of Ontario. Renfrew, which has established municipal waterworks and sewerage systems, apparently is considering the question of municipalising its lighting. Mayor Smallfield's tour began in Collingwood, and in a message to the town council he has discussed the waterworks and electric lighting of Collingwood in detail, and with frankness and vivacity. His conclusion is that "municipal ownership of water and light in Collingwood over a period of fourteen years has been satisfactory. The people get a good service at a moderate price. The management seems to have been good. It has probably been so largely because it has been continuous. Councillor Guilfoyle—a business man of standing—has been chairman of the water and light committee for thirteen out of fourteen years the plants have been in operation.

Asthma and Kidney Trouble Both Cured.

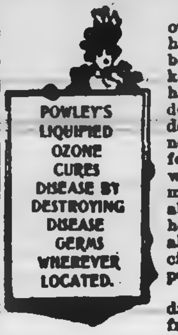
Mrs. Jos. Wright, of London, Was So Ill That Her Husband Gave Up in Despair and Neighbors Came In to See Her Die.

Her Druggist, Knowing How Greatly Others Had Been Benefitted, Strongly Advised the Peerless Remedy, Powley's Liquified Ozone.

Almost Immediately She Began to Get Better and After Having Taken Four Bottles Was Entirely Cured—Is Now a Different Woman.

London, Jan. 23, 1903.

The Ozone Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.



Gentlemen,—For over nine years I have been a terrible sufferer from kidney trouble. I have spent a great deal of money in doctoring, but got no relief. My suffering at times would prostrate me and I was unable to do my little housework. I tried all kinds of medicine, but to no purpose.

I have been a dreadful sufferer from asthma also. Many times I have been so bad my neighbors thought I would die. I was run down and was a physical wreck. My husband had given up in despair and both he and myself thought I would never get better. Some of the attacks were so bad that my neighbors would come in to see me die and my husband would open the window to let in the air and watch me, thinking I was dying.

Mr. E. W. Boyle, druggist, advised me to try Powley's Liquified Ozone. I bought a bottle and began taking it according to directions. I had not taken it long before I began to get better. I have now taken four bottles and I am completely relieved of the asthma and have not had an attack of my old troubles for over two months and am in perfect health. My neighbors all tell me I am a different woman, and I feel that I am, as I have not had such good health for nine years. I think there is no other such medicine on earth

I know I should have been in my grave but for Ozone. I recommend it to everyone I meet and for all ills, as I know it is a great medicine. I can't find words to praise it enough and my husband says it is the cheapest doctor he can have and does not begrudge the money he pays for Ozone, as he gets full value in using it. We would not be without it in our house if it cost $5 a bottle, for it is worth $5 a bottle.

I gave a neighbor part of a bottle to try it and told him it was the only medicine that did me any good.

MRS. JOSEPH WRIGHT,
763 York St., East London, Ont.

What Mrs. Wright's Case Proves.

Asthma and kidney trouble are two widely different diseases, and as a rule a remedy that would cure one would be entirely worthless in the treatment of the other. The fact that Mrs. Wright was cured of both proves that each of these diseases is caused by disease germs and that Powley's Liquified Ozone destroys disease germs wherever located.

REVOLT SPREADS

Affairs in Macedonia Rapidly Approaching a Crisis

[illegible] March 6.—Despatches received daily from Constantinople and Sofia indicate that the Macedonians are in no way becoming more peaceable, despite the promulgation of the reform scheme. Hardly a day passes without a conflict between Macedonians and Turkish troops. None of these has as yet been very serious, but they show that the revolutionary movement has not been checked. The Sofia correspondent of the Neues Wiener Tagblatt telegraphs that the Macedonian leader, Sarafoff, will shortly assume a most active role. He has written to M. Daneff, the Bulgarian Prime Minister, from his retreat in the mountains, outlining the insurgent's plan of campaign, which, he says, no measures taken by the Bulgarian Government can prevent. He proceeds to point out how the Bulgarian Government is able to advance the Macedonian movement without compromising itself.

To Set Her Free

By FLORENCE WARDEN.

Author of "The House in the Marsh," "A Prince of Darkness," etc.

"The whole thing seems improbable, and I shouldn't allow the faint possibility that it is true to disturb me if I were you," said he.

Norma moved impatiently.

"As if one could help it!" she said. "I repeat: what motive could she have had?"

"She was always a flighty little thing," said the doctor, "and if this appalling suggestion should prove to be true, I imagine we shall find that she was frightened by the divorce proceedings her husband had started against her."

"And if she is alive, he will have all the worry of beginning them again," said Norma.

Dr. Wharles shook his head decidedly. "I think not," said he. "Both my wife and I are of opinion that it would be impossible to prove the case against her. Sir Astley was misled, we believe. It will be most unfortunate if he engages in proceedings which will only bring scandal and disgrace upon himself and us all, without being able to get free from a union which has grown distasteful to him."

Norma looked suspiciously at the doctor. Of course it was natural that he should take the part of his wife's sister, who would now, if alive, shed lustre upon him and his modest household by her new position as a baronet's wife. He smiled a little as he met her eyes, divining her thoughts.

"Yes, I admit I have to see both sides of the question," said he. "But distasteful as it must be to you to have to do so, I think it is fairer for me to put to you the facts of the case as they seem to one who knows them. I repeat, we do not know yet that Lottie Darwen is still alive. But, if she is, I believe Sir Astley will find that the bond between himself and her is not to be broken."

Norma waited a few moments after he had finished speaking, and then rose to her feet.

"One thing is certain," said she; "and that is that Sir Astley must be told nothing about all this until he is quite well again. After the fatigue and anxiety he has recently gone through, this would retard his recovery, I'm sure."

"I quite agree with you, Lady Astley," said the doctor earnestly. "And now what is your own view? Shall I go to Leamington myself and find out the truth?"

Again Norma hesitated. She began to feel that even miserable doubt was preferable to the more miserable certainty that there was no bond between her and Astley. And then again, she did not care for the responsibility of authorizing enquiries to be made in such a delicate matter by a person for whom Astley felt little liking.

"I thank you for your offer, Dr. Wharles," she said, after a short pause to recover her composure. "But I think a still better plan would be for me to consult Sir Astley's solicitors."

"An excellent idea," assented the doctor. "I believe I can give you their address: you mean his London solicitors, of course?"

"Yes," said Norma. "I think I would rather not speak of the matter to anybody in this neighborhood except yourself."

"That also is a very wise decision, and I must compliment you on showing so much discernment. For you are very young to be burdened with such unhappy responsibilities," said the doctor kindly, and with respectful sympathy in look and tone. Norma bit her lips.

"Of course," went on the doctor, "you will ask one of the partners to come and see you here; you won't go up to London yourself, for fear that, if Lottie should be really still in the flesh, she should burst in upon Sir Astley in your absence. She was always a most impulsive woman, and I am dreading what will happen if she is really still alive, when she learns that there is a Lady Astley already established here."

"We must be prepared to face that risk," said Norma calmly. "You may trust me to take care, however, that Sir Astley is not intruded upon."

She gave the doctor a look which implied that he was going farther with his admonitions than was necessary, and he took the hint, and bowed himself out, with another murmured expression of his readiness to do anything he could to help her.

When he had gone Norma first gave the prescription to a servant with orders to have it made up at once, and then went upstairs to Astley's room and knocked softly at the door.

"Come in," cried Astley, and she entered to find that he had obeyed the doctor's orders and gone to bed.

His face was flushed and his eyes looked glassy and feverish, but he smiled at her, and told her that he was going to be a good patient.

"What did that fellow say to you?" he asked. "Have you been talking to him al this time?"

"How did you know I spoke to him at all?" asked Norma in surprise.

"Why, I heard your voices as soon as he got outside the door! Well, isn't he a cad?"

Norma hesitated. She did not want to excite Astley by the least appearance of disagreement with him, though she scarcely felt justified in assenting to his view.

"I think he'll take every care of you," she said, evading the direct answer.

"Oh yes, yes, I dare say. But he's a swaggering bounder all the same. And I hate his wife as much as I hate him. She's full of affectations; they both put on no end of side, and yet they're both as uncomfortable as possible among decent people."

"He seems very good-natured and obliging," said Norma gently. "But I wish you wouldn't talk. You're to keep quiet, he says."

Astley frowned.

"Oh, he's got round you because he's good-looking," said he impatiently. "I can't think how women can admire that type of man. To me it's the very emptiest sort of looks, such as you might admire in a tailor's dummy, and—"

Norma, who had taken his mutely given invitation to sit down on the chair by the bedside, rose and leaned over him.

"If you don't leave off talking this minute," she whispered in the gentlest of voices, laying a softly restraining hand upon his twitching fingers, "I must go away."

She was surprised by the wistful look which there was in his gray eyes as he looked up.

"No, no, don't go away. I won't say another word if only you'll stay," he said.

The thrill which shot through Norma's heart at these words brought the sudden tears to her eyes. What did he feel for her then? Something more, surely, than had been apparent all this time under his easy, every-day charm of manner? Did he, could he feel for her that strange something which made her heart beat faster when she heard his voice or

An Opportunity

We are offering for public subscription a limited amount of stock of exceptional merit affording an unusual opportunity for a very profitable investment. We desire to be conservative in our representations, but do not hesitate to state that the stocks of the properties we are representing are absolutely certain to rapidly increase in value, and the fortunate purchasers of the stock at the present prices will have more than reason to congratulate themselves for grasping this opportunity.

Success lies in being alive to that which is going on around you, and they who "grasp the skirts of happy chance can breast the blows of circumstance."

We have the disposition of a certain amount of treasury stock in four corporations. We have thoroughly investigated the present value of the properties owned by the Companies, and have full cognition of the immense profits that are awaiting only the further development and equipment of the properties.

We are offering an equal number of shares in each of the four corporations at a price that make the combined issue a most attractive feature, giving also to the purchaser an unusual safe guard on his or her investment; in other words, you are not placing all your eggs in one basket. Or if you prefer you can purchase separately the stocks we offer.

As the money received from the sale of the stock is strictly for the purpose of equipping the properties with the necessary machinery, etc., the time will not be long before handsome dividends are available. We are not asking your subscriptions to pay for the properties; they are already owned by the Companies, and there are no outstanding obligations.

This preliminary notice is to advise the public in general that an opportunity now presents itself for a safe investment of unusual character, embodying also speculative possibilities sufficiently great to make even a small investor a competency within a few years.

You can invest in any amount from Ten Dollars up, and, if so desired, you can have the privilege o paying in installments the amount of stock paid for from time to time being non-forfeitable in the event of your ceasing payments, thus relieving those of small or uncertain income from possibility of loss, should they for any reason become unable to continue payments.

Our business is to aid responsible Companies in the disposal of their treasury stock for the thorough equipment of their properties; we do not and will not handle indiscriminate mining or other stocks under any circumstances. W make a thorough personal examination and investigation as to the merits and possibilities before undertaking to assist in financing any Corporation: the paramount issue with us is to give complete satisfaction and cause much success to our patrons.

We have furnished the publishers of The Times with an outlined description of the Companies we represent, and the names of the Directors of each Company whose tock we offer to their subscribers and friends. We have also furnished The Times with bank references as to our own bonafides and standing. We desire to command the utmost confidence of all subscribers and to retain same along with their friendship for all time; you add riches without effort and increase our brains and labor: you increase your rr without effort and increase our power to make you still richer. In ordinary everyday experience a man's expenses nearly equal his income and he has little chance to make a turn for the betterment of his condition. This is anyone's opportunity; you can invest Ten Dollars or One Thousand Dollars on the same basis as one who invests Ten Thousand Dollars. You cannot afford to neglect your opportunitie and this is a chance to get in on the ground floor and reap the profits of substantial, quick money making enterprises. Your money need not be tied up for a long time; we know that one of the Companies, at least, will pay handsome dividends this year. It is an easy matter to become rich; just watch for the opportunity and take advantag of it. This is your opportunity; will you grasp it?

STOCK MARKETS

AGAIN THE COUNTER BARGAIN COUNTER

New York, March 7.—Only a few weeks ago were the bargain counters of Wall street open to all buyers with ready cash to spare. Those who availed themselves of the opportunity then offered very speedily had a chance to accept good profits. Steel advanced from 3 to nearly 40. Manhattan from 128 to 146. Illinois Central from 137 to 150. Southern Pacific from 56 to above 65. Copper from 63 to 75, and soon all along the line. At the time we urged our clients and readers of these letters to come and buy. Stocks are again on the bargain counters. We urge you to utilize all the available funds you can spare in carry stocks. No man can tell if they will go lower yet, if they do it will not be much lower, while on the other hand the absolute bottom prices may have already been reached. We will not endeavor to say, as some of our contemporaries, as we frankly acknowledge our lack of second sight or having mediumistic attainments, but we do unhesitatingly and unqualifiedly declare that stocks at current prices are very cheap, in fact, unduly so, and that those who will buy them now will have more than an average chance of taking good profits within comparatively short times. The very best time to buy stocks is the time when the fewest speculators will do so; is when they are unduly depressed, and where press and Wall street utterances generally are hopeless and discouraging. If such a state of affairs exists when all outside factors and conditions remain as bullish as they appeared before the depression, then the opportunity is doubly a good one. Such is the case at present. Be courageous, fortify your purchase with as liberal margin as you can possibly do, select such issues as have had a maximum of decline, then buy them. Don't allow continued market turmoil to scare you into changing your market position. It will ultimately emerge from present conditions and influences, rewarding the present buyers for their courage and sagacity. Buy when other fellows demoralized and discouraged in selling out. He is doing that now. Then hold until such time as the other fellows want to buy. Then sell.

Summary—The market today opened weak, following London. After the first half hour there was some slight support, latter sagging without any special features. Dullness prevailed until publication of bank statement, when nearly the entire list broke sharply, the statement apparently showing worse than anticipated. There should be without doubt excellent opportunities early in the coming week for discreet traders to pick up some excellent bargains. Money 4 per cent. Sales 393,500.

Porte Seeks Advice

It is reported from Constantinople that the situation is such that Baron von Calice, the Austrian Ambassador and M. Zinovieff, the Russian Ambassador, haveb een consulted by the Porte in regard to what measures are advisable. The Ambassadors recommended that the individual bands be suppressed systematically, but without mobilizing more troops. It is reported that incidentally the Ambassadors advised the disarming of the Albanians.

ENTIRELY OUT OF THE ORDINARY

Yet one of the ways that LEAD TO FORTUNE

Why not make a small investment in oil lands right ahead of good producing wells, some having wells producing oil on adjoining farms. The oil now brings $1.50 per barrel, bought by the Standard Oil Co., without any transportation charges, and is bound to go higher; a few hundred dollars often invested in property of this kind yields thousands of dollars profit. I personally know of parties who made over $100,000 in 60 days time on an investment of this kind; also have wells making from 10 to 300 barrels a day. Parties desiring to organize a company will do well to investigate this opportunity, getting thereby the advantage of years of experience, and if you don't want to drill the wells wait until the wells drilling close to you have come in and reap the benefit of their outlay. The oil business conducted on business principles, with honest management, is bound to succeed. You do not have to look farther than the Standard Oil Co. to see what honest management founded on facts will produce, they have drawn very heavily on stocks the past three years and there is not enough of this grade of oil now above ground to run the country for more than two years, so you can readily see the profits that will be realized by starting now and obtaining the big price the Standard Oil Co. will be compelled to pay for crude oil to supply the demands of the country. Offers to investors an opportunity to secure through a purchase of its stock

A monthly income of $50.00

On an investment of $1,000; or a monthly income of $5.00 on an investment of $100.00. This is purely a business proposition. Their is no uncertainty about it; you do not take any chances. We actually have enough ore in sight to keep us working for three or four years, and the more development work we do the more ore there is in sight; the deeper we go the richer it is. Bear in mind, too, that we do not come to the public with an untried experiment. Our shaft is nearing the 200 foot mark, with better values at the bottom than any place nearer the surface. The ore runs in value from $25.00 to $86.80 per ton, by actual carload shipments.

The par value of our stock is $1.00, with only a limited amount of shares to be sold, and this has been placed on the market at the low rate of 20 CENTS PER SHARE. On March 14, the price will be advanced to 30 cents per share, providing any of the original offering remains unsold; therefore we advise all who are interested to send in their applications without a moment's delay, as they will be filled and eventually rejected just in the order received.

Thunder Mountain!

is the richest gold producing camp in the United States, and also the largest. The Thunder Mountain district, in central Idaho, is twenty miles wide and forty miles long. In comparison with this we have Cripple Creek, four miles wide and seven miles long. In many of the Thunder Mountain mines ore has already been reached that carries ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD TO THE TON. All of the Thunder Mountain ore is free milling, which means that it can be treated by the cheapest extraction process known—the ordinary stamp mill. It can be both mined and milled at a cost not to exceed $2 a ton. The past years operations in the several working mines have opened up millions of tons of ore that will give a net profit of from $10 to $30 a ton, enabling the respective companies to pay dividends at a rate never before equalled. Such is the showing and the prospect of the

which unless all indications are at fault, will become the largest producer in the district. The EAST DEWEY mine, which it owns outright, is located directly on Thunder Mountain, just east of the famous "Dewey" mine, which already has $20,000,000 of ore in sight. The surface area of the East Dewey mine is one hundred and twenty acres—six full quartz claims. The company has also secured the big GOLDEN GATE mine in the Big Creek section of the Thunder Mountain district—which has been so aptly termed "The Pot of Gold"—and is now developing the mine with all possible speed. For a distance of 9,000 feet, nearly two miles, the Golden Gate mines cover a mineralized ledge that is 900 feet wide, with an average height above the tunnel level of 500 feet, thus giving it the largest exposed tonnage of any mine in the west.

If you would share in the enormous profits which these figures indicate and which these developments promise, invest your money in "East Dewey" Stock. It can be bought to-day for 10 Cents a Share. Its par value is $1.

If the East Dewey mines are what they appear to be, and there is absolutely no reason to doubt or question these indications, this stock will eventually be worth at least $10 a share, and to-day you can buy it for ten cents. PRICE ADVANCES TO FIFTEEN CENTS ON FEBRUARY 28th. 5% discount allowed for cash. Stock sold at flat price of 10 cents on deferred payments, 10% with application, and 10% monthly until paid. Inspection of Milk

A number of towns have taken advantage of the Government's offer to send an inspector to make periodical examinations of the milk supplied the dealers. Our Council should give the matter their attention seeing that our Board of Health no longer takes any interest in the purity of the supply furnished. There will be no cost to the town in the matter and it will insure purity of the article [illegible]. The inspector samples, secures supplies of milk, analyzes, and in case of impurity, lays charges against the dealer.

Death of Mrs. Moncrief

It is indeed sad to record the death of Mrs. Wm. Moncrief, of South Monaghan. The deceased lady was well known to the people of town and county, and was respected and beloved by all who knew her, being of such a gentle and amicable disposition and possessed of more than ordinary ability. She was a niece of our County Crown Attorney, R. E. Wood, and has a very large family connection. Mrs. Gilbert Hewson, Mrs. Samuel Armstrong, Mrs. Duncan Fife and Miss Emma Porter are sisters, and Messrs. William and David Porter are brothers of the late Mrs. Moncrief. She leaves a husband and [illegible] to mourn their heavy loss. The funeral will take place to the Little Lake cemetery, leaving her late home at 1.30 Monday afternoon.

A COFFEE DRUNK

Held on to the tree

Some people go on using coffee for a great many years without showing much effect of the drug, but as a rule it is slowly doing its ill work, and the time will come when stomach or nerve diseases will show itself.

An interesting case is that of a man who drank coffee for many years before he felt the effect of it. He says further: "Finally my health began to give way, and I first noticed being dizzy headed and I began to have spells of heart trouble, rapid palpitation of the heart, and dizzy sick feelings like I was going to die. My appetite began to fail and I had a sore, distressful pain in my side. I noticed my memory was not as good as it had been and that worried me some.

One day I stepped out of my shop to wait on a lady when all at once I became blind and staggered along like a drunken man until I ran against one of the shade trees which I grasped or I would have fallen. Cold sweat stood out on me and I [illegible] and it was a long time before I recovered myself again.

The family doctor, who was called in, advised me to quit coffee and try Postum Food Coffee. I thought it would be a big undertaking to quit coffee, but when I got my cup of Postum it satisfied my coffee taste, and from that day on I began to feel better. That was three years ago and I have never used any ordinary coffee since, but have stuck to Postum.

When I quit coffee I weighed 145 pounds, my weight now is about 175. For a long while people kept talking to me about the change. I had been a wrinkled, run-down old man; but am now healthy, my skin smooth, good color, and when I walk I step out like a healthy man ought to.

I honestly believe Postum saved my life, for I was simply being poisoned to death. Now I can eat anything I want and naturally enjoy life." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

TROOPER BRACE'S ADDRESS IN OPERA HOUSE

On Sunday Afternoon To The Men of Peterborough

An Interesting and Eloquent Discourse to a Large and Attentive Audience

According to arrangements previously made, and given publicity, a successful "Man's meeting" in the opera house yesterday afternoon, when a "Hart's River Hero" gave a pleasing, interesting and powerful address, entitled "A Manly Man."

The president of the Y.M.C.A., Mr. Madill, read the scripture lesson, 2nd Chap. of II. Tim.

Trooper Brace, who was somewhat ill, and looked much fatigued; but looking a soldier from head to foot, and whose gallant bearing and kindly face captured the undivided attention of his large and intelligent audience at once. As a prelude to his address he sang in a rich, full voice, "Building For Eternity."

He commenced by saying that a Christianity which would not enter into every day life, from the greatest ideals involving immense sums of money to the exchanging of a ten cent piece for its value in trade, was no good. It makes a manly man in every phase of the great battle of life. If he were to choose a text he would take, "Endure hardness as a good soldier." He showed who were the ones fit to be a soldier of the King; how it was so necessary to make such exacting choice among those presenting themselves for service in the British army, and told how even then out of the 450 who went to South Africa along with the speaker, nearly 25 per cent. of them were physically unsound, and had to be either returned or sent up the country for rest. He then made the comparison between the physically sound soldier as is required by the country, and the morally and spiritually "Manly Men" required by the King of Kings. He related some of his experiences on the veldt, in the lumber shanty and on the river, and very soon satisfied all present that he understood all the vicissitudes of these laborious and apparently rough occupations. He told of the rough oaths of some of these old companions, but like a true man, who can recognize the true inwardness of men, he told of the good hearts and kindly dispositions of even the very roughest and uncouth of his former companions. The incidents of his experience were related with wonderful lucidity, and was of thrilling emotions. The wonderful tenderness with which he spoke of his former associates stamped the speaker as a "Manly Man" himself, of no mean type, and won for him not only the admiration, but the sympathy and love of every one of his hearers, and many were the expressions of approval heard among the dispersed congregation of men. Should Trooper Brace come to Peterborough again, we bespeak for him another such large audience of appreciative hearers as he stood before yesterday, and will be welcomed by many an admirer.

It was announced that Mr. T. F. Best, of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, would speak in the same place and at the same hour, where all men are invited to attend on Sunday next.

There was a good male choir, Mr. Schnider presided at the piano, and Mr. John Millar played the cornet in his usual good style. Mr. Wildgust was leader of the choir, which rendered fine music, adding much to the interest of the meeting. The meeting came to a close by singing "Just as I am."

ANNUAL CONVENTION

The Cheese and Butter Makers of Peterborough and Lindsay District Meet

The cheese and butter makers of this district held their annual convention in the Council Chamber on Saturday afternoon, with the President, Mr. Jas. Ryan, of Westwood, in the chair, and was addressed by Mr J. A. Ruddick, chief of the Dairy Division, Ottawa, who said in part:

It has been known in a general way for many years that when Cheddar cheese is exposed to the extreme heat of summer during the period of curing or ripening, that there is more or less deterioration in quality, and some unnecessary loss of weight, but it required the experimental results [illegible] to show how serious the injury to the texture and flavor of cheese, and how much is really lost in weight, when the temperature in the curing room is allowed to go too high. Babcock and Russel have cured cheese at temperature ranging down to below the freezing point of water, and their work, along with that of VanSlyke, Dean and others, proves beyond any doubt that cheese may be cured at temperatures as low as 40 degrees Fahr., or even lower, with most excellent results as far as the quality of the cheese and the saving of shrinkage is concerned. The employment of such low temperatures is generally referred to as "Cold Curing," and if I may be allowed to draw a line of division, I would say that all cheese cured at temperatures under 50 degrees might be called "Cold Cured," to distinguish them from those cured at temperatures ranging from 50 to 60 degrees, which are more properly described as "Cool Cured" cheese. It has always been considered that the finest quality of Canadian cheese is produced during the months of September and October, when the average temperature ranges from 55 to 62 throughout the cheesemaking sections of Canada. The Cheddar cheesemaker's ideal is, however, the best of the English and Scotch makes, and it is on these cheese that the [illegible] the average temperature of the English and Scotch curing rooms is not over 60 degrees. The "Cool Curing" of cheese, therefore, does not introduce any new conditions, nor does it involve any expense that will not be fully met by the saving of shrinkage, to say nothing of the improvement in quality.

It is along the line of Cool Curing that the Department has been working for some time. During the seasons of 1899 and 1900 an extensive series of experiments were conducted at the Carp Cheese Factory under Prof. Robertson's direction, and the information thus collected has been freely circulated among those interested in such matters. On several occasions samples of the cheese from the same batches, but cured at different temperatures, have been submitted to the Montreal buyers and of the exporters, and in every case they have pronounced the cool cured cheese [illegible] quality to the ones cured at ordinary temperatures. The difference in value has been placed as high as 1 cent per lb.

CENTRAL COOL CURING ROOMS.

With the object of providing a practical working illustration on a scale sufficiently large to attract general attention, and to get a comparatively large number of people directly interested in the results, Parliament was asked last session to vote a sum of money to be used in constructing four large central or consolidated cool cheese curing rooms.

It is generally known that this plan was carried out, and that curing rooms were built at Woodstock and Brockville in Ontario, and at Cowansville and St. Hyacinthe in Quebec, where sites, with siding accomodation, were given by the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railway Companies. My main object in appearing before you to-day, is to briefly describe these curing rooms, and to give you some notes and observations on the results of their operations during a part of the season of 1902. Here Mr. Ruddick described in detail the construction of a cooling room and its operation, as well as any possible disadvantages. The lecturer was very lucid in his explanations, was was listened to with earnest attention.

At the conclusion, President Ryan moved a vote of thanks to the town for the use of the hall, and to Mr. Ruddict for the instructive lecture; it was seconded by Secretary A. Cameron and carried

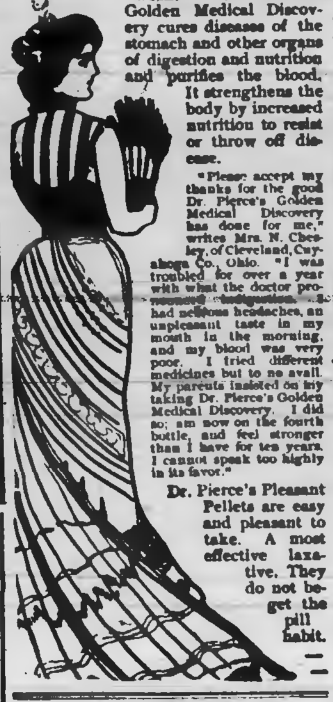
The Deadly Trail

Of disease is often the trail marked by a woman's gown. A recent investigation showed a horde of microbes, including those of influenza, consumption and a dozen other varieties, gathered in the trail of a woman's dress.

The microbe is everywhere, but its prey are the weak and feeble people whose blood is "poor" and digestion "weak." Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition and purifies the blood. It strengthens the body by increased nutrition to resist or throw off disease.



"Please accept my thanks for the good Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has done for me," writes Mrs. N. Chesley, of Cleveland, Cuyahoga Co., Ohio. "I was troubled for over a year with what the doctor pronounced indigestion. I had nervous headaches, an unpleasant taste in my mouth in the morning, and my blood was very poor. I tried different medicines but to no avail. My parents insisted on my taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I did so; am now on the fourth bottle, and feel stronger than I have for ten years. I cannot speak too highly in its favor."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are easy and pleasant to take. A most effective laxative. They do not beget the pill habit.

Care Needed Not to Check the Movement of Settlers

Dr. Barr will sail on the Lake Manitoba on April 1 with 2,000, whom the papers describe as pilgrim fathers, mothers, and children, drawn from all parts of the country. They include fifty sons of clergymen, five nephews of Lord Donegan, six physicians of independent means, nurses, and clergymen. The expedition will carry 10,000 tents, 2,000 waterproof sheets, and a large supply of army blankets.

It is stated in journals here that three towns will be called Preston, Barrview and Lloydsville. What, it is asked, have Hon. Mr. Sifton and Mr. Smart done that they are not also immortalized?

Another 2,000 will leave on an early steamer, and additional 10,000 will go next year.

The greatest anxiety is expressed that these pioneers shall be carefully piloted and well settled, that the movement Canadawards will receive no check.

London, March 9.—Sir Thos. Shaughnessy is expected in London on Thursday. The final arrangements for the Canadian Pacific fast freight service are awaiting his arrival. The first ship is expected to leave Liverpool on April 16, but as little as possible is being published because of rivals' desire for information.

THE CHANGE OF OFFICIALS.

Mr. Colmer quits the Secretaryship of the office of the High Commissioner on Thursday, to assume a partnership in Costa, Son, and Company. Mr. Griffiths, hitherto Canadian agent in Wales, will then assume the post. Mr. Griffiths is Hon. Mr. Sifton's own nomination. He was formerly a farmer in Manitoba, and has also been grain inspector at Winnipeg, and a most active agent in Wales. He should do effective work.

WANT EQUAL RIGHTS.

In view of the interest here in all British settlements in the North-West, and the fact that many other groups are being organized quite independently of the Barr, it is most important that it be officially announced from Ottawa that equal homestead privileges will be extended to all acceptable British settlers within the same area. These independent emigrant groups include excellent, hardworking farmers, possessing capital. While they do not desire to be patronized by clerics or anyone else, they desire to settle among Englishmen.

Young Englishmen working in Manitoba farms are also writing home asking friends to apply for homesteads for them in all British districts for settlement on the expiry of their terms of service in Manitoba.

German Eyes on South America

New York, March 9.—The Herald's Berlin correspondent says: The German Government welcomes the new immigration restricting laws shaped by Congress at Washington. For many years the Government has been trying to curb German immigration to the United States and direct the stream instead to Germany's colonial possessions or to South America. At the present time the Government Colonial Office is concentrating all its efforts to induce Germans leaving the fatherland to settle in Brazil. This serves as a basis for the reports which are being circulated once more regarding German designs upon Brazil. Brazil is the most promising of South American countries for German colonization schemes.

The Government commercial reports show that Germany occupies the first place in trade with Brazil and Chili. The large export houses of Brazil are in German hands, and German ships plough the Amazon as far as it is navigable. A syndicate was formed entirely to promote the construction of a railway with German capital in the southern provinces, where German colonies are numerous.

Bitter Attacks Upon Mr. Devlin by Irish Papeps, An Enemy of Ireland

London, March 9.—The candidature of Mr. R. C. Devlin in Galway is provoking the warmest kind of fight.

United Ireland, the well-known Dublin newspaper, attacks Mr. Devlin under the heading, "An Emigration Man From Galway," and says that his only interest in Ireland lies in her impoverishment. After referring to him as an emigration agent, it continues: "The Irish Parliamentary party, by adopting Mr. Devlin, has declared its antagonism to those endeavoring to preserve the nation by staying emigration."

The newspaper charges the party with hypocrisy and quotes Mr. William O'Brien as having said in The Irish People: "Canada, wants victims. She needs young and strong men to do hard and bitter work in her vast Northwestern solitudes."

"In Ireland Canada has an able representative in the astute and energetic Devlin, who has succeeded in coaxing more men and women out of Ireland during the last few years than any man living. No worse work can well be imagined."

The article concludes: "If the people of Galway are not lost to all sense of nationality, self-respect and common shame, they will kick this enemy of Ireland out of their gates and secure the name from being altered to that of the city of the blind leaders."

The Free Lance says: "Prostitution is a word which naturally occurs to us when we contemplate this action of the patriots of Galway in throwing their beggarly constituency into the arms of a Canadian immigration tout. God help Ireland!"

HAS SOME FRIENDS.

The Freeman's Journal and other leading Nationalist journals support Mr. Devlin, who feels free now that he has made the sacrifice of resigning his position as emigration agent. In that capacity he never urged wholesale emigration, but pointed out the advantages which Canada possessed to Irishmen who contemplated improving their position abroad, including Provincial self-government, and the possibility of becoming their own landlord. His lectures in various parts of Ireland have spread much light about Canada.

Prominent Irishmen of the National Liberal Club and elsewhere are making enquiries as to Mr. Devlin's ability as a speaker, and his standing in the House of Commons at Ottawa while a member thereof.

ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION.

Dublin, March 9.—Mr. C. R. Devlin Irish Nationalist, formerly Canadian Commissioner on Ireland, has been elected without opposition to represent Galway in the House of Commons, in place of Col. Lynch.

A BIG PROFIT

Bellefontaine Proves its Ownership of Public Utilities as Shown By Reports

Bellefontaine, Ohio, March 9.—Bellefontaine stands pre-eminent among Ohio cities in the matter of municipal ownership of public utilities. The city owns its own electric light, water and gas plants, and has always done so, and more than that, operates all of them at a profit.

From a statement which has just been prepared on the subject are gleaned the following facts and figures, which are of interest to other cities, owning a part of their utilities, and also cities which have the franchise system of public ownership—

The annual report of the gas works for 1902 shows the total receipts to [illegible] $15,997.23, making a net profit in favor of the plant of $3,614.29. The city charges $1.25 per 1,000 feet for illuminating gas, and 50 cents per 1,000 feet for fuel gas.

The electric light plant is under the same management as the gas plant, but as they carry the whole street lighting and have only a small commercial department, their report shows a loss of $1,190.28 for the year. Interest on the bonds to build this plant runs the sum up to $1,862, which represents the cost for furnishing 91 arc lights for street lamps, besides the incandescent lights which are used in the city parks and public buildings.

The waterworks plant is a money-saver, and the water, which comes from artesian wells, is the best in the state. With a pumping capacity of 2,500,000 gallons per day, it supplies 1,662 patrons and furnishes 155 fire hydrants, and during the past year, earned above all expenditures and interest on bonds, the sum of $571.26. Water rents are 25 per cent cheaper than in adjoining cities.

The tax rate in Bellefontaine the past year was 2.37 per cent, but this is offset by low price and good service for all the utilities and the coming year the tax rate is to be dropped to the 2 per cent. mark. The three plants have always been free from the baneful influence of political spoilsmen, and [illegible] to become large factors in raising revenues for the other expenses of city government.

THE FUTURE OF THE YUKON

Mr. Alex Macdonald Talks of the Present and Future of the Yukon

Ottawa, March 9—Mr. Alexander Macdonald, the Klondike king, is in the city on his way to the west, after a visit to Nova Scotia and cities in the eastern states. He is accompanied by Mrs. Macdonald and her sister, and will remain in the city until the opening of Parliament. To a reporter Mr. Macdonald said:

"While in the east I have been looking for machinery to work the low grade placers because there is almost inexhaustible wealth in them, especially on the Stewart river. There is an absolute necessity for machinery for this purpose, and the exploiting of the placers by hydraulic machinery will add largely to the wealth of the country and to the royalties paid to the government. As soon as the quartz mining is exploited for all it is worth there will follow the introduction of the cyanide process and the need of the machinery used in extracting gold from quartz. I am a firm believer in the future of the Yukon district. It has mineral wealth undeveloped which surpasses the dreams of the most sanguine and all we need is machinery and cheaper transportation for the machinery and and for all purposes. It is my hope to take into the Yukon this spring some hydraulic machinery to work some low grade placers I have bought which could only be worked at a loss by hand, but worked by machinery should give a good return on the investment. I heard recently from a friend to went to Valdez, where the last great strike was made, and he predicted that there would be a second Klondike there. Two town sites have already been taken up. That is in American territory, of course, but the wealth on our side is just as great. In the American Yukon they have begun a railroad, and the place chosen for the sea terminus of that road is bound to be a second Seattle. You can say that the possibilities of the Yukon are only beginning to be discovered, and that it future is as bright as anyone could imagine."

SOME UNUSAL PEOPLE

A Man Said to be Over Two Hnndred Years of Age

THE NEXT OLDEST PERSON

The Average Life is Said to Have Been Increased 25 per cent

Some Facts Regarding a Number of Very Remarkable old People

New York, March 9—If cabled reports are correct the palm for longevity must go to Russia and all other countries which possess centenarians will have to take a back seat. Russia, in the town of Tomak, claims to have a man whose son died in 1824 at the age of ninety-four. This is staggering. This man has been a widower for 123 years. Documents are said to exist which prove him to be 200 years old. He is bed-ridden in the hospital, but his mind is bright, and his memory goes back to the time when he saw Peter the Great.

THE NEXT OLDEST MAN.

If the Russian claim is true, Manuel del Valle must rank second in point of age, because he is only 157 years old. He lives in Menlo Park, a suburb of San Francisco. According to his birth certificate, he was born of Spanish parents in Zacatecas, Mex., on Nov. 24, 1745. He is very frail, weighing but ninety pounds, and standing less than five feet high, but he can still walk without support of a cane. For a hundred years he has never used tobacco in any form or drunk alcoholic liquors. He says he has never wet his feet or been out in a frost. From 1814 to 1845 he was a supernumerary in the Franciscan Mission at San Quentin, Lower California. In the latter year he came to San Francisco, where he has since lived.

MAINE'S LEADING CENTENERIAM.

Mrs. Lovica Cox, of Norway, Me., celebrated her 104th birthday last month. Mrs. Cox, who is a hard tobacco smoker, has never been sick enough to need a physician and says this is due to her long-time habit of going to bed with the chickens and rising with them.

A BIG FAMILY.

In Pierce county, Georgia, Thos. Albritton, a farmer, died recently at the age of 104. He left eighteen children, some of whom had settled in Polk and De Soto counties, Florida. Three of these sons have 563 descendants, and of all the clan it is estimated there are now living 2,000 members. Triplets, the report says, have been such a common occurrence in the family that they pass almost unnoticed.

WHERE CENTENARIANS THRIVE.

In Campbell county, Tenn. which is the eastern part of the state along the Jellico coal belt, centenarians are so common that no one thinks them unusual. According to the best statistics obtainable there are eleven persons in this county who are 100 years old or more, and as for those who have passed the limit of two-score-and ten, they number over forty, this in a total population of less than 15,000. There are three Vincent brothers, Richard, 100 years old; George, 102 and James, 104. A certain man named Paul died within the last few years, at the age of 115. He left one daughter, who is now 100 years old, and four sons, whose ages are, respectively 81, 79, 77, and 76; mere infants, but still to be reckoned with. Mrs. Betty Clepper is 110 years old and has two sons who are 90 and 88 years old, respectively. Jacob Hatmaker is the oldest man in the county. He is 107 and he has a younger brother of 81. Dollie Sutton is 105, and Shad Massee is 104, and Peter Pierce is 105. Peter's skull was fractured sixty years ago but he lived to fight through the civil war on the Union side and live for forty years longer. Besides the eleven centenarians that are now living, nine died last year, the oldest of whom was John Meyers, who was 112. His wife, who was 111, died the same day as he. This is a record for a country that is remarkable indeed.

RIB PIERCED HEART

Fatal Runaway Accident Took Place Near Belleville Saturday

Belleville, March 8—A runaway accident happened yesterday afternoon close to the village of Foxboro, which resulted in the death of one person and serious, possibly fatal, injury to another. John Lithgow, of Chatterton, accompanied by his sister-in-law Miss Johnston of this city, was driving home after a visit to Belleville. Mr. Lithgow's team was a spirited one. While trying to pass another rig on the road the two conveyances collided, frightening Mr. Lithgow's horses, which started to run away. After going a short distance, the wagon struck a bad piece of road, and both the occupants were thrown out. Miss Johnston had five ribs broken in her fall, the splintered ribs penetrating her heart. She died in twenty minutes. Mr. Lithgow was also badly hurt. He was conveyed to his home and the doctors are not yet able to state whether he will succumb to his injuries or not. He is a well known and prominent farmer, who has many friends in this country. Miss Johnston was a sister of School Inspector Johnston, of this city. She was about fifty years of age.

NORWOOD PROTEST GAME

Claim That Parnell Played Ball for Money and is a Professional

The Norwood hockey team, who were the runners-up in the Trent Valley League and met defeat by the champion T.A.S. team at Lindsay on Friday, entered a protest yesterday morning against the latter team, on the grounds that Parnell was a professional, having received money for playing baseball at Roseneath. News of the protest caused considerable excitement among the T.A.S. supporters, who at once proceeded to clear up such an unjust charge laid against a member of their team. The T.A.S. has informed The Times that they have put in their defence, which will be considered this morning: Affidavits have been made by Parnell and Thornton—to the effect that Parnell did not play baseball for money, and that Thornton had been engaged by one, Armstrong, to fill Parnell's place at the fire hall while Parnell was absent playing ball, and for his services was to get $2 for the day's work, while he claims to have received only $1.50, with 50 cents still coming—also that Parnell was in no way connected with the deal.

THE ATHLETICS HOLD A MEETING AT Y.M.C.A.

The Athletic Lacrosse Club held their adjourned meeting in the Y.M.C.A. parlors last night. The vice-president, Mr. W. A. Sanderson, was in the chair, in the absence of the president, Mr. Kenner, who was unable to be present. Secretary McPherson read the report of the secretary-treasurer, which on motion of Mr. Glover was adopted. It was decided to send two delegates, Messrs. Kenner and McPherson, to a meeting called for the 28th March at 9 a.m. in the Oriental Hotel to decide whether the Club join the C.L.A., the Peterborough League, or a League to be formed. The treasurer's report showed a balance in the bank to the credit of the club of $50.41.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

Patrons—Messrs. W. A. Sanderson and C McGill.

Patronesses—Mrs. C. McGill and Mrs. W. A. Sanderson.

AN ACT OF A DEMON ENCLOSED IN A LIVING TOMB

Was Compelled to Die Behind A Bricked up Wall

Berlin, March 9—Writers of Morbid fiction may find a congenial theme in the details of a tragedy which occurred in the country near Odessa, a short time ago. Reports agree that a stonemason who was at work in one of the main streets of the small town of Baku was kidnapped and compelled to wall up a living woman.

The mason was seized by two men who drove up in a rubber-tired, covered carriage; his head was enveloped in a sack, and he was driven away rapidly in a direction he was unable to indicate.

After a lengthy drive, which was accomplished at good speed, the carriage stopped, and the workman was taken to an empty room in a house, apparently some distance from the town. From a large hole in the wall the terrified face of a woman looked out, and a man in a mask ordered the mason to brick up the wall.

Seeing that a terrible crime was about to be perpetrated, the man refused, but, on being threatened with a revolver, was compelled to do the work, and the wall was filled up. He was then again muffled in the sack and driven back to Baku, where he was released.

The police were duly informed of what had taken place, but no trace of the kidnappers could be discovered. Finally the victim was located and released in a dying condition.

It [illegible] that the woman condemned to die behind the bricked-up wall [illegible] husband had revenged himself on her in this terrible manner for her infidelity.

NEW CRISIS IN BULGARIA, MOROCCAN REBELLION

Sultan Prepares for an Evil Day by Laying Up Treasure in England

London, March 9.—The Times' correspondent at Sofia says that the resignation of General Paprikoff, War Minister, has caused a cabinet crisis.

In view of the continuance of Turkish military activity and the notorious unpreparedness of the Bulgarian army, General Paprikoff proposed that a credit of 8,000,000 leys ($1,600,000) should be allotted for the purchase of war material. His colleagues, fearing that this would create an unfavorable impression abroad, dissented. The relations between General Paprikoff and the other members of the Cabinet have long been strained. General Paprikoff would now apparently be unwilling to accept the responsibility if mobilization should become inevitable.

FRANCE AND ABYSSINIA.

London, March 9.—In to-day's Revue Politique et Parliamentaire, says the Paris correspondent of The Times, the French explorer, M. Michel, will declare that the construction of the Soudan-Uganda railway secures to Great Britain complete suzerainty over the regions traversed. M. Michel says that France's situation in Abyssinia is now bad, and that she must push the Jibuti railway rapidly towards Addis-Ababa and Didesa in order to create an outlet releasing Abyssinia from the trap into which Negus Menelik fell in allowing the establishment of a British frontier post at Itang. The military garrison at Itang, asserts M. Michel, will gradually accustom the natives to consider Anglo-Egyptians as masters of the region, the Negus only influencing them intermittently.

THE MOROCCAN REBELLION.

London, March 9.—Better news has been received, says the Times correspondent at Tangier. There have been several small Government successes against the rebels. The Sultan continues to order arms and ammunition in Europe, entailing fresh loans. The Sultan recently purchased an estate in England, and has deposited large treasure of gold and jewels in a London bank.

The loyalist adherents of the Sultan disapprove of the recent additions to his entourage. All the viziers except El Menebhi, Minister of War, have more than once collectively protested against the unsuitability of the present period for an exhibition of European ideas, and also for extravagance.

Chicago, March 9.—Two thousand Irish-Americans gathered here last night to hear Joseph Devlin, M.P., and John Finerty, under the auspices of the John Dillon branch of the United Irish League. Mr. Devlin discussed the land question in Ireland. In his speech he said:

"Within a few months the farmer of Ireland will be on a par with his brother on the Continent or in your own adopted country. The fruits of his labor will be his, and with his well-known energy and his anxiety to show the world at large that his abilities compare with those of any nation on earth, he ultimately will become a land owner himself, and out of the mist which for centuries has covered the Emerald Isle will rise a nation at peace with all, but catering to none."

London, March 9.—The chief religious event in England this week will be the discussion of the church discipline bill, which comes up as a private measure. It dispenses with imprisonment as a method of punishing disobedient clergy, and substitutes for it deprivation of their posts and salaries. The hostility of Lord Halifax and the Church Union to this Protestant measure is proof that it is considered an effective weapon against extremists.

Montreal, March 9.—Mr. R. S. Logan, assistant to the general manager, states that while the Grand Trunk has considered the advisability of establishing offices at British ports, no policy has yet been determined. They have now no English offices, except the head office and an advertising branch in London, and if one is established in Bristol, or at any other port, it will probably be the inaugural of an extensive system.

The Canadian Pacific, when acquiring the Elder-Dempster Line, took over all the offices and machinery pertaining to the Atlantic business of that line. The exact extent of this classification is understood to be among the details yet to be settled. The line will certainly have an office at Bristol, which could be used for railway as well as steamship business.

THE ECONOMIC DEBAUCH MUST SOON END.

The Americans Have "Bitten Off More Than They Can Chew," Financial Situation

London, March 9.—Referring to the diminution of the strength of the New York associated banks, The Times in its city article to-day, says that the mysteriously large reductions of net deposits effected in the last quarter of 1902 have usually been the result, not of real liquidation of excessive commitments, but of trans- [illegible] handsome consideration, to take over a time "these attempts to put off the evil day when the United States business world will have to own that it has bitten off more than it can chew."

The Times says that during the last three or four years the United States has had more success than would have been possible in case of any other country, adding: "No country can show contempt for sound business rules with impunity apparently enjoyed by the United States for the disregard of laws of economics which is the consequence of that country's comparative youth, merely amounts to delay in the day of reckoning for each occasion of economic debauch."

NUMBER OF BRITISH SETTLERS DOUBLED

Canada Receives More Immigrants From England Than any Colony

TWICE THOSE OF LAST YEAR

Even Yet United States Received One Hundred Per Cent. More British Settlers

London, March 9—A remarkable increase is shown in the Board of Trade emigration returns. The departures of British emigrants during February for Canada number more than double those of last February.

The total for the first two months of this year is 7,065, as compared with 3,526 for the first two months of last year. Canada now receives more British emigrants than any other part of the Empire, except South Africa, though still behind the United States total, which for the past two months number 17,000, as compared with 11,600 for the first two months of 1902.

That Horrid Eczema and Other Blood Diseases

Paine's Celery Compound

Does a Blessed Work for a Peterboro, Ont., Gentleman.

The blood plays a most important part in our physical economy, and, in a liquid state, constitutes a large part of the entire body. Unhealthy conditions of the life stream affect seriously all parts of the human system. It seems unnecessary to remind intelligent people that, when vitality is low, when the appetite fails, when oppressed by tired feelings and heaviness when headaches and insomnia make our days miserable, when itchings, skin troubles and eruptions cause alarm, that the condition of the blood calls for prompt attention.

If you have delayed the work of purifying the blood in the past months, you cannot with safety allow the springtime to pass without some effort on your part to rid yourself of perils and dangers. In the spring season Paine's Celery Compound effectively removes all impurities of the blood, so that the vital fluid goes on its health-restoring mission to heart, lungs, brain and all other parts making you vigorous, healthy and stronger than ever before. Mr. D. McMahon, Peterboro', Ont., says:

"I was troubled with a very bad type of eczema on my face, and in patches all over my body for four years. I was under treatment of three doctors at different periods, have also tried many remedies, but all proved useless. At last I bought a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound, and put in Iodide of Potassium as recommended on label of bottle. The one bottle did me so much good that I bought five bottles more, and now, am happy to say I am perfectly cured and completely free from the troublesome disease."

MONTREAL'S BIG FIGHT FOR LOWER INSURANCE RATES

A Series of Questions Submitted Invoking Criminal Law

City Attorneys Asked Whether Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association is Illegal

Montreal, March 9—The statement that Ald. L. A. Lapointe and other members of Council were determined to fight for a reduction in the fire insurance rates, was proven to be true at the meeting of the Finance committee. In very plain language, Ald. Lapointe said that it was full time that the fire insurance rates were reduced.

He laid before the committee a series of questions he desires to have answered, dealing with the fire, light, police and water service, and among other things, he wants to know what improvements have been made to the Fire Department by increased forces, improved stations and additional apparatus, and what further improvements are necessary to make the service efficient.

INSURANCE COMBINES.

"I also desire to submit a question," said Ald. Lapointe, "to the city attorneys on the legality of the fire insurance companies combining to keep up rates. I believe I am right in saying that according to the Criminal Code such combine is illegal." He went on to prove the existence of the Canadian Fire Underwriter's Association by naming its officers, and quoted a section of 62 Victoria, chap. 41, sec. 1, dealing with the case.

The section reads:

"Everyone is guilty of an indictable offence, and liable to a penalty not exceeding $4,000, and not less than $200, or two years' imprisonment (and if a corporation, is liable to a penalty not exceeding $10,000, and not less than $1,000), who compromises, combines, agrees or arranges with any other person, To unduly prevent or lessen competition in the production, etc...... or, in the price of insurance upon person or property."

HAD SYMPATHY OF COMMITTEE.

The members of the Finance Committee were in sympathy with Ald. Lapointe; they, too, thought it was time the insurance rates were reduced.

It was pointed out by Ald. Lapointe that ever since the Board of Trade fire, the insurance rates, in the business portion of the city, had been higher by about twenty-five per cent. From what he knew of the improvements made to the fire brigade, and to the water Department, the insurance companies were not justified in continuing the high rates.

The committee decided to bring the whole subject to the attention of the City Council at its next meeting.

THE "MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP" CONVENTION

Reports which appeared in the New York papers last week of the 'Municipal Ownership' Convention there, a large and important gathering indicate the strides which the idea of public ownership has made in a few years. The convention was not intended to be one-sided; the effort was to get representatives of all shade of opinion; but the weight in numbers, and we think in argument, was on the side of advocates of public ownership.

For one thing, the discussions made it clear that the strongest opposition to public ownership of public utilities [illegible] who have made the most money out of private ownership.

Moreover, an analysis of the so-called failures of public ownership shows in most cases nothing worse than that the rate of profit on the municipal balance sheets is low. In other words, they are failures only when tested by a standard that is strictly one of "private ownership." The standard which the people of the municipalities, who take the place of shareholders, will apply is a very different one. What the people reckon on in passing judgment is how good the service has been, how cheap prices have been, how valuable a property has been built up for their future enjoyment—and, as is coming to be forcibly seen, how much cause is removed for political corruption. It must be remembered, too, that in the great majority of cases in which cities have taken over the management of public utilities, they have assumed heavy debts for plants formerly in private hands. They have cared closely for their sinking funds while they were reducing prices, and improving the service, and so provided for the unencumbered ownership of the valuable properties after a term of years.

The many city officials in charge of such enterprises, both British and American, who spoke at the conference, were unanimous in their story of success. That they are the representatives of municipal enterprises is not a fact which need discredit their testimony. To say that they are interested witnesses, is true in a sense, but in a very different cause from what is intended when the same statement is made of the men who are at the head of private corporations in these fields. The interest of the former lies in the good of their communities, and in their pride of their work, the interest of the later is chiefly that of their pocket books.

OF IMPERIAL IMPORTANCE

The dozen resolutions which have been prepared for submission by the Canadian Manufacturers' association to the congress of chambers of commerce of the empire which is to meet in Montreal in August aim at nothing short of a federation of the commerce of the empire. They should give rise to important and valuable discussion and have a far-reaching educative influence in advancing the cause of Imperial federation along its most vital and practical lines—not of sentiment but of business. Of imperial sentiment there is plenty, but the problem heretofore has been to find practical means to advocate the objects aimed at by that sentiment along the lines of trade and commerce which are the bands of steel which knit an empire together.

The scope of the resolutions is comprehensive and represents the most important features of a policy which if carried into effect as a whole would go far to unite the empire in a trade federation which would at the same time be a great source of national strength. Britishers have been called a nation of shop-keepers, but that is true of the whole empire in a larger sense. We produce or manufacture everything that we require, or that all the other parts of the empire require, within our respective boundaries and it only remains to cultivate an inter-imperial trade which will utilise these multifarious sources in order to make up the strongest trade federation the world has ever known.

A LESSON FROM HOLLAND

Facts are continually being brought before the public to show the profitableness of municipal and government ownership of public utilities, and that this important phase of economy can not much longer be ignored with impunity by Canadian statesmen seems certain. Holland is one of the richest little countries in the world, and it has become so to a large extent through its people's progressive spirit in providing all sorts of accommodations at the minimum of expense. Frank Carpenter, the noted American newspaper correspondent and traveler, is now in Holland, and in his last letter gives some striking details of how government ownership has worked in the land of the Dutchman.

Take, for instance, the railroads of Holland, which are run by the government. Last year the receipts were twenty-three million guilders, which is one-third more than they were in 1890 and the fares are remarkably low. The telegraph lines are also owned by the government, and messages sent at one-half the Canadian charges, and Mr. Carpenter says the service is fully as good as ours. You can send a telegraph message anywhere in Holland at the rate of ten cents for the first ten words and about sixtenths of a cent for each additional word.

Telephone service is conducted in Holland by the municipalities, and the rates are equally as low, compared to ours, as the telegraph rates are. A novelty in connection with the telephone service in Holland, which might advantageously be adopted here, is the manner of stringing the wires in steel, towers, one hundred feet high, so that they rise far above the tops of the houses, and are thus no hindrance to the firemen in the performance of their duties. Add to all these advantages the fact that taxes are comparatively low in Holland, and we can readily conceive that it is a pretty good country in which to live.

If Canadians furnished public utilities on the same economical basis as they are furnished in many European countries, our people would be much more prosperous than they now are. Our natural advantages are superb, and although living expenses are certainly much higher than they should be, we are such great producers that nearly everything in the way of food is cheaper here than in Europe.

In Paris, for instance, beef retails at twice the price charged here, and many other foods are in the same proportion. Were we to take a lesson from the older countries, where it has become an absolute necessity to take up and solve problems of economy, there need be very little poverty in the Dominion.

To Set Her Free

(COPYRIGHTED

By FLORENCE WARDEN.

Author of "The House in the Marsh," "A Prince of Darkness," etc.

met his eyes? Was he beginning to love her?

Oh Heaven, the thought was bitter—sweet, almost more than she could bear!

As his hot fingers closed round her own, Norma resumed her seat, glad of the excuse to do so, since she could scarcely stand for trembling. Where was her boasted coldness now? Where was the adamantine hardness which she had believed in so firmly, which had made her think it possible for her to treat the marriage tie as a mere form? Here was she stirred to the very depths by a mere touch of the hand of the man who was to have been merely a business partner, sharing her fortune but not her heart, heart-whole himself, leaving her heart-whole too!

As she sat there, listening to his rapidly-drawn breath, Norma felt the scales of ignorance and girlish folly fall from her eyes. She knew what her mother's unconventional counsels had prevented her learning before, that a woman is but a poor, weak thing when nature speaks within her, ready to bow her head and to stretch forth her hand, and to place herself under the yoke of that instinct for which she was born, of love and honor for the first true man who shall look into her eyes with eyes of love.

For it was love, was it not, that she saw in his eyes, that she felt in his touch, love repressed till then, but apparent now that illness had relaxed his hold upon himself?

Norma felt little doubt of it; little doubt either, that he who had known so much more than she, had understood what she had not, that the bond entered into by her so lightly would soon become more permanent. And her heart was torn by the pangs of love on the one hand and of distress on the other. For she knew, what he did not, of the danger which hung over them, of the shadow of the woman which was hovering between them and happiness.

"Norma," said he suddenly, "give me something to drink. I'm parched."

"Yes, dear."

As she rose, and withdrew her hand gently from his detaining fingers, she felt a mad throb of joy at the tone in which he spoke to her. It was an order that he gave her, not a request: it was, so her instinct told her, the tone of a man who is sure of his own. She was delirious with the excitement of this new feeling as she moved softly about the room, drew down the blinds, rang the bell, and gave her orders for the cooling drink she wanted. The medicine had come, and she poured the dose into a glass, and went back to the bed, with a loving smile upon her face.

"Come," she whispered, as she put her hand under his head and held the glass to his lips, "you must take this first."

If she had been doubtful before, she was doubtful no longer. Astley smiled back at her as he obeyed.

"I perceive from your manner that you're going to be a tyrant," said he, as she rearranged his pillow before he lay down again.

"I shouldn't wonder," said she.

That was all. Without another word he took her hand again, and lay quietly holding it, sometimes looking at her, sometimes keeping his eyes closed.

She, poor girl, wondered what his thoughts were, and comforted herself with the knowledge that they could not be as sad as her own.

And yet, through all the distress, all the terror she was in, the fear that he might wake to the knowledge that he was still bound to a woman in whom he had lost confidence and who had deceived him cruelly, hideously, Norma could not help feeling, side by side with this misery, a sense of sweet present rest and comfort in the knowledge that, for these precious hours, he was all her own.

And he felt this even more strongly than she did: she was sure of this. Love had given her sympathy, understanding. She needed no words to tell her that, for good or for ill, for happiness or for misery, it was she, she only, who held Astley's heart.

It was strange that, ill as he undoubtedly was, the one fear that never entered her head was that death would take him away from her. A shadow there was between them, but it was not that. When the idea presented itself as a dim horror to her mind, she scouted it instantly, incredulous, fierce. No: her love [illegible] the possibility of the existence of a living, breathing woman who was his legal wife: but against the powers of death she felt strong. Blind, foolish as the feeling was, she believed that her love, her tender care, her trust in heaven, would keep the hand of death away.

As night drew on Astley grew restless and began to mutter incoherently, and to turn his head from side to side on the pillow. At first the sound of her voice would be enough to check these symptoms; but as the evening wore on she knew, with a pang, that he had lost consciousness of the fact that she was by his side.

When the doctor came in again, as he had promised to do, Astley seemed for a moment to recognise him, for he frowned slightly, and turned his head away; but the next instant he began to speak in a low voice, in a rambling manner, about his cousin Hugh's dogs, and about the new stable arrangements.

Dr. Wharles did not stay long; at the door of the room Norma, who would not go outside, asked for instructions for the night's watching. "You'll surely not sit up yourself, Lady Darwen," said he. "You had better let Mrs. Griffiths—"

Norma shook her head decidedly.

"Mrs. Griffiths can relieve me to-morrow for a little while," said she. "But nobody but me shall watch by him through the night."

"But—excuse me—you look too fragile for this sort of work!" said Dr. Wharles.

Norma smiled.

"A woman," she answered, "is always strong enough for the work she loves to do."

The doctor was touched. He hesitated, frowned slightly, seemed inclined to say something, then changed his mind very suddenly, and left her somewhat hastily.

"Who was that?" cried the patient from the bed.

Norma turned to him quickly. Without quite recognizing the doctor, Astley appeared to have been conscious of an antipathetic presence, and was for a few moments petulant and difficult to manage. Then, under the influence of caressing words and tones, he sank back on the pillow, and presently began muttering once more.

Then for the first time Norma heard her own name. But he was not addressing her.

"Norma—Norma," said he slowly, speaking with closed eyes and below his breath. "Poor little girl!" Then he laughed a little. "I won't do it!" he said suddenly, "I won't do it! Absurd, absurd! And yet—" There was a pause, and he went on. "Why not? Why shouldn't we join forces? It's mad, mad—Poor little girl! Poor little girl!"

Norma held her breath. The sick man was silent a long time, except for occasional murmurs, and then he laughed again, very softly.

"We will do it," said he in a whisper. "There's a tie between us already: she feels it—she's grateful—in her odd way. Yes, we'll do it, we'll do it, and defy the gods! Norma, Norma, little wife that is to be no wife—or she thinks so. Poor child! Poor child!"

Norma, with her eyes full of tears, drew nearer to the bedside and laid her warm hand on Astley's hot fingers. At first he did not seem to feel the touch, but presently he turned his head in her direction, though without opening his eyes.

"You shall be happy; we'll be happy," said he. And then, while her tears fell, he rambled on, with a sudden change to an irritable tone, about the things he had to see to at the Haigh, about his cousin's death, and about his lame limb.

All through the early hours of the night he slept very little, and had snatches of delirium in between. But Norma remained alone with him, refusing all companionship, watching him, tending him, soothing him sometimes with tender, whispered words. And through all the trouble and all the pain, she felt the comfort of his kindness, of his sympathy, of his dawning love.

With the morning came a strange doctor, who said that Dr. Wharles had been called away suddenly, and that he was taking his patients for the day.

Astley was conscious when he came, and Norma thought that an enquiring frown crossed his face. But he said nothing, and indeed spoke very little all that day. But he got some refreshing sleep, and Norma was able to go away and get a couple of hours' rest, while Martin took her place by the bedside.

And in the evening a note was brought to her from Mrs. Wharles, which she opened and read in the sick-room.

It contained an enclosure and the following words from Mrs. Wharles:

"Dear Madam—I have just received the enclosed letter from my husband, and I have thought it best to send it on to you at once.
Yours truly,
"FANNY WHARLES."

The enclosure, which was in a man's hand, was as follows:

"Dear Fanny—Our suspicions were well founded. Lottie is alive, and insists on going to Darwen Haigh. Let poor Lady Darwen know, at once.
Yours,
"FRANK."

CHAPTER X.

Norma had been prepared for some such shock as that contained in the letter, so she folded the paper calmly, put it and the enclosure into her pocket, and was at the door of the sick-room before the servant who had brought the note was out of sight.

"Martin," she called in a low voice, from the tones of which no one could have detected the agitation from which she was suffering, "who brought this letter?"

"Mrs. Wharles herself, my lady."

"Is she gone?"

"Yes, my lady, she didn't wait."

"Send someone after her; ask her to come back and speak to me. And then you will take my place by Sir Astley till I come back."

Martin ran downstairs, and Norma, unwilling to return to Astley to answer questions, remained outside the sick-room door till she heard by the sounds below that the doctor's wife had entered the hall and been shown into the drawing-room.

Then Martin came up, and Norma, outwardly calm but inwardly agitated as she had never been before, went down the wide staircase and across the cold, bare hall to that gloomy apartment of state which betrayed, as no other room in the big house did, how long it had been without feminine occupation.

Stocks—THE MARKETS OF THE WORLD—Grain

An Opportunity

We are offering for public subscription a limited amount of stock of exceptional merit affording an unusual opportunity for a very profitable investment. We desire to be conservative in our representations, but do not hesitate to state that the stocks of the properties we are representing are absolutely certain to rapidly increase in value, and the fortunate purchasers of the stock at the present prices will have more than reason to congratulate themselves for grasping this opportunity.

Success lies in being alive to that which is going on around you, and they who "grasp the skirts of happy chance can breast the blows of circumstance."

We have the disposition of a certain amount of treasury stock in four corporations. We have thoroughly investigated the present value of the properties owned by the Companies, and have full cognition of the immense profits that are awaiting only the further development and equipment of the properties.

We are offering an equal number of shares in each of the four corporations at a price that make the combined issue a most attractive feature, giving also to the purchaser an unusual safe guard on his or her investment; in other words, you are not placing all your eggs in one basket. Or if you prefer you can purchase separately the stocks we offer.

As the money received from the sale of the stock is strictly for the purpose of equipping the properties with the necessary machinery, etc., the time will not be long before handsome dividends are available. We are not asking your subscriptions to pay for the properties; they are already owned by the Companies, and there are no outstanding obligations.

This preliminary notice is to advise the public in general that an opportunity now presents itself for a safe investment of unusual character, embodying also speculative possibilities sufficiently great to make even a small investor a competency within a few years.

You can invest in any amount from Ten Dollars up, and, if so desired, you can have the privilege of paying in installments the amount of stock paid for from time to time being non-forfeitable in the event of your ceasing payments, thus relieving those of small or uncertain income from possibility of loss, should they for any reason become unable to continue payments.

Our business is to aid responsible Companies in the disposal of their treasury stock for the thorough equipment of their properties; we do not and will not handle indiscriminate mining or other stocks under any circumstances. We make a thorough personal examination and investigation as to the merits and possibilities before undertaking to assist in financing any Corporation; the paramount issue with us is to give complete satisfaction and cause much success to our patrons.

We have furnished the publishers of The Times with an outlined description of the Companies we represent, and the names of the Directors of each Company whose stock we offer to their subscribers and friends. We have also furnished The Times with bank references as to our own bonafides and standing. We desire to command the utmost confidence of all subscribers and to retain same along with their friendship for all time; you add riches without effort and increase our brain and labor; you increase your riches without effort and increase our power to make you still richer. In ordinary everyday experience a man's expenses nearly equal his income and he has little chance to make a turn for the betterment of his condition. This is anyone's opportunity; you can invest Ten Dollars or One Thousand Dollars on the same basis as one who invests Ten Thousand Dollars. You cannot afford to neglect your opportunities and this is a chance to get in on the ground floor and reap the profits of substantial, quick money making enterprises. Your money need not be tied up for a long time; we know that one of the Companies at least, will pay handsome dividends this year. It is an easy matter to become rich; just watch for the opportunity and take advantage of it. This is your opportunity; will you grasp it?

Write immediately for prospectuses, reports and full details.

STOCK MARKETS

Great Things Ahead for Mo. P.

New York, March 9—Have you noticed the marked strength of Mo. P. during the past few days? Some one is certainly absorbing all the stock the bears and public care to sell. Were this not so the stock would today in current market be quoted around par. There are more plans for improvement for the Missouri Pacific system and allied Gould lines than for any other Wall street issue at present. The Gould party are today foremost in the line of improvements as far as their property is concerned. The earnings of the Mo. P. system are at present increasing most wondrously, gross and net and the company's lines have improved materially in physical condition. The margin between what the company is paying its shareholders and what it is earning, is way to the good upon the right side of the ledger; consequently the surplus is growing rapidly and steadily. As we have frequently remarked before the company could lose over twenty-five per cent. of its business without in the least impairing its present rate of dividends. The amalgamation of the Gould properties and allied lines, is calculated to greatly enhance the earning power of Mo. P. The company is better able to pay its shareholders at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum to-day than it was when it did so in the days of Jay Gould. For absolute merit it is today probably the cheapest of the Gould properties. Its present market action under more or less discouraging market auditors, indicates most strongly that the stock will shortly advance, and to a considerable extent. We believe it will sell at 125 before it sells at par, and therefore strongly urge its immediate purchase, fortifying same with a liberal margin. For one year or more those people who bought Mo. P. every time they could do so below 110 had a speedy opportunity to make from 6 to 10 per cent. The present time is one of these occasions.

Summary.—Today's market opened off generally from one-quarter to one per cent., the notable exceptions being Man. U. P., and Southern Pac, which all opened higher. The fight between the speculative combatants in U. Pac. and Southern Pac., is largely responsible for the recent decline. The ragged opening was accentuated, if not brought about, through the closing out of weak accounts that failed to answer the call of Saturday for additional margins. Improvement shortly after the opening, led by S. Pac. and U. Pac., while Manhattan exhibited marked strength. Improvement outside of these issues ran from 1-2 to 2 1-2 per cent. A natural set back occurred later. The market is likely to remain feverish with frequent spells of strength and weakness for a few days, but stocks bought at current range of prices, should prove profitable. Money closed 3 per cent. Sales 1,081,400.

HAIGHT & FREESE.

A Canadian Ghost Story.

In Lake Huron there is an island called Main Station. On this island is a stone structure which is supposed to have been a fort to shelter United States troops in the war of 1812. The Indians tell many stories of the spirits which are supposed to gather round this fort. The structure is built of solid stone. It is divided into two compartments by a stone partition, and in each of these is found a fireplace. In and around this structure have been found the bones of many human beings. Also some distance below the surface have been unearthed a number of cannons of solid brass, and the other weapons of warfare.

In the summer of 1899, says a correspondent of the Chatsworth "News," a camping party visited the island. "We purposed remaining for some time. On the first night we were determined to sleep within the walls of the old fort. As the darkness gathered round, driftwood was brought and bright fires were soon ablaze in each of the fireplaces. Story-telling, song-singing, and whist-playing were the amusements of the evening. At last, the hour for retiring having arrived, camp-beds were arranged and all retired. We had lain for several hours; a number were in the world of forgetfulness, as was shown by their heavy breathing. The wind moaned among the trees, and the waves beat upon the rocks below the cliff. Just outside the walls was heard a strange and unearthly noise, which awoke several of the campers, who arose to see, if possible, the cause of the disturbance. On opening the door a bumping noise was heard a few rods away, but as the night was dark nothing could be seen. After gazing into darkness for some time and seeing nothing, all again retired to their beds, with the hope of no further disturbance for the night. In this, however, they were disappointed, for only a few minutes elapsed when the strange noise was again heard. This time it sounded like one crying for help. The door was again opened, and a white figure of a human being was seen. It disappeared as if the earth had opened to receive it. Those who were awake and saw the sight remembered the stories told of the haunted island. These weird sounds were continued during the rest of the night, and sleep forsook the frightened campers. As soon as daylight, all concluded to leave the island, which they did, selecting another some distance from this one, where they pitched their tents and finished their stay at Lake Huron."

ENTIRELY OUT OF THE ORDINARY

Yet one of the ways that LEAD TO FORTUNE

Why not make a small investment in oil lands right ahead of good producing wells, some having wells producing oil on adjoining farms? The oil now brings $1.50 per barrel, bought by the Standard Oil Co., without any transportation charges, and is bound to go higher; a few hundred dollars often invested in property of this kind yields thousands of dollars profit. I personally know of parties who made over $100,000 in 60 days time on an investment of this kind; also have wells making from 10 to 300 barrels a day. Parties desiring to organize a company will do well to investigate this opportunity, getting thereby the advantage of years of experience, and if you don't want to drill the wells wait until the wells drilling close to you have come in and reap the benefit of their outlay. The oil business conducted on business principles, with honest management, is bound to succeed. You do not have to look farther than the Standard Oil Co. to see what honest management founded on facts will produce, they have drawn very heavily on stocks the past three years and there is not enough of this grade of oil now above ground to run the country for more than two years, so you can readily see the profits that will be realized by starting now and obtaining the big price the Standard Oil Co. will be compelled to pay for crude oil to supply the demands of the country. Offers to investors an opportunity to secure through a purchase of its stock

A monthly income of $50.00

On an investment of $1,000; or a monthly income of $5.00 on an investment of $100.00. This is purely a business proposition. There is no uncertainty about it; you do not take any chances. We actually have enough ore in sight to keep us working for three or four years, and the more development work we do the more ore there is in sight; the deeper we go the richer it is. Bear in mind, too, that we do not come to the public with an untried experiment. Our shaft is nearing the 200 foot mark, with better values at the bottom than any place nearer the surface. The ore runs in value from $25.00 to $86.80 per ton, by actual carload shipments.

The par value of our stock is $1.00, with only a limited amount of shares to be sold, and this has been placed on the market at the low rate of 20 CENTS PER SHARE. On March 14, the price will be advanced to 30 cents per share, providing any of the original offering remains unsold; therefore we advise all who are interested to send in their applications without a moment's delay, as they will be filled and eventually rejected just in the order received.

Prospectus free on request. Applications should be addressed to and remittance made payable to the order of

Thunder Mountain!

is the richest gold producing camp in the United States, and also the largest. The Thunder Mountain district, in central Idaho, is twenty miles wide and forty miles long. In comparison with this we have Cripple Creek, four miles wide and seven miles long. In many of the Thunder Mountain mines ore has already been reached that carries ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD TO THE TON. All of the Thunder Mountain ore is free milling, which means that it can be treated by the cheapest extraction process known—the ordinary stamp mill. It can be both mined and milled at a cost not to exceed $2 a ton. The past years operations in the several working mines have opened up millions of tons of ore that will give a net profit of from $10 to $30 a ton, enabling the respective companies to pay dividends at a rate never before equalled. Such is the showing and the prospect of the

EAST DEWEY GOLD MINING CO.

which unless all indications are at fault, will become the largest producer in the district. The EAST DEWEY mine, which it owns outright, is located directly on Thunder Mountain, just east of the famous "Dewey" mine, which already has $20,000,000 of ore in sight. The surface area of the East Dewey mine is one hundred and twenty acres—six full quartz claims. The company has also secured the big GOLDEN GATE mine, in the Big Creek section of the Thunder Mountain district—which has been so aptly termed "The Pot of Gold"—and is now developing the mine with all possible speed. For a distance of 9,000 feet, nearly two miles, the Golden Gate mines cover a mineralized ledge that is 900 feet wide, with an average height above the tunnel level of 500 feet, thus giving it the largest exposed tonnage of any mine in the west.

If you would share in the enormous profits which these figures indicate and which these developments promise, invest your money in "East Dewey" Stock. It can be bought to-day for 10 Cents a Share. Its par value is $1.

If the East Dewey mines are what they appear to be, and there is absolutely no reason to doubt or question these indications, this stock will eventually be worth at least $10 a share, and to-day you can buy it for ten cents. PRICE ADVANCES TO FIFTEEN CENTS ON FEBRUARY 28th. 5% discount allowed for cash. Stock sold at flat price of 10 cents on deferred payments, 10% with application, and 10% monthly until paid. Full particulars, prospectus, etc., on request.

A butcher rig, belonging to Mr. Gunsion, was badly wrecked yesterday morning at the corner of Aylmer and Macdonnell streets. The horse started and ran down Macdonnell street, and in attempting to turn at the corner, the rig turned over and over, throwing the young lad who was driving, out against a stone fence. It was thought by those who witnessed the occurrence, that he had been killed, but the lad, after looking around to see what happened, picked himself up and ran after the horse, which he caught and brought back to the rig.

The Dead Body of John Wood Found on the Public Road

WAS IN TOWN SATURDAY.

And Was Said to Have Considerable Money With Him

Deceased was a Well-to-do Farmer and His Mysterious Death Looks Suspicious

While on their way to school at Westwood yesterday morning a number of children came upon the dead body of Mr. John Wood, son of Mr. James Wood, a prominent and respected farmer of Otonabee, lying on the road. The spot where the body was found was about two miles from the village, and was a lonely place, hidden with trees. On the arrival of the children in Westwood, an alarm was raised, and Dr. Gray, coroner, notified. County Constable Cochrane was at once despatched to the scene of the tragedy.

The deceased was said to have been a quiet, unoffensive man, and was well known. He was in town on Saturday, and is reported to have displayed a quantity of money.

It is possible he missed the train, and started on foot for home, and perished with cold and fatigue. He was between 40 and 45 years of age.

The investigation made by the County Constable showed suspicion of foul play, and Coroner Gray will leave for Westwood this morning at 10 o'clock to hold an inquest on the remains.

—Reports say that there has been an exceptionally large cut of lumber this winter in the Georgian Bay district, owing to the favorable weather conditions. It is estimated at 550,000,000 feet, of which probably 85 per cent. will be marketed in the United States.

—The other day a young man from the country presented himself at the Ontario Bank, with a check from Mr. Mattar, the well known grain merchant. "What denomination would you like?" asked the polite teller. "Well, I don't care,' said Ruben. "You see,I'm not prejudiced. I'm a Catholic myself." The money was promptly paid over in tens and fives.

—The employees of the C.P.R. at Prescott, Ont., purpose, we are told, having a co-operative coal company of their own for next season. They will require in the vicinity of 600 tons of anthracite, and will endeavor to procure a large load for their own use. Each member will get his coal at actual cost, but none will be sold to outsiders, as this, they think, would be unwarrantable interference with the regular merchants.

The Lift Lock

The work of placing the steel superstructure in position at the lift lock is progressing very satisfactorily. The lifts are now in place and the operations are now becoming very interesting. On Sunday, notwithstanding the unfavorable weather, hundreds of people went over to view the lock. It is said that it will be completed in June.

The deceased was in his 85th year. He leaves behind two sons, Henry and John; and four daughters, Mrs. George Hatherly, Mrs. A. Willson, and Mary and Alice, at home. The funeral takes place from his late residence, about 6 miles from town, to the Little Lake cemetery at 1.30 this afternoon.

Broke His Neck

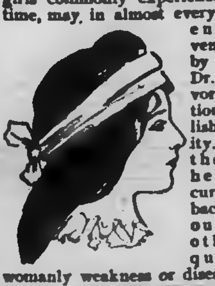
New York, March 9.—After completing the autopsy on the body of George Cooper, whose neck was broken while wrestling with Frank Wagner at the Turn Verein, in Green Point Friday night, Coroner's Physician West said yesterday that the accident was most unusual.

Wager had partially thrown Cooper, who suddenly lost his balance and fell off the mat, striking the floor on the back of his neck. His long-shanked collar button struck the side of the spinal column at its weakest place, causing the fracture.

A Sartorial Superstition.

The superstition that London tailors and London men combine to produce the best-dressed men in the world dies hard. Yet this very season, of all seasons, says a writer in "Town Topics," should see its final extinction. "If ever the London average in masculine apparel might be expected to be high it is this summer," remarks the critic. "Yet such abominably turned-out men would be a conspicuous vice in any second-rate town in America. The number of shocking hats, distressing trousers and shabby ties is equaled only by the abominable boots to be seen everywhere in London. When the average Londoner ties his four-in-hand he likes to leave a gaping half-inch or so between the knot and the shirt-stud; the result is as if he had dressed for an alarm of fire. Speaking of footwear, it is to be noted, as evidence of the sad state of English concern for the niceties, that one may see in the most exclusive hotels in London men who wander about the lounges wearing spats after six o'clock in the afternoon. Only in sporting togs is the Englishman still something of a model for the world. At Hurlingham in the polo matches, on the roads to Windsor and Epsom, and in the Row, one still sees men who are in every way well-groomed." The writer says his contention is proven by the recent London exhibition at the National Academy, where John Sargent's two notable portraits of Alfred Wertheimer and Lord Ribblesdale show two of a very small handful of well-dressed men in England. "Both are in attire smacking of outdoor life. The sporting peer is in full riding togs, which hang on his gaunt frame in a slovenly, careless way that denotes his scorn of all but comfort; riding-breeches with more wrinkles than fit; a top-coat that falls limply, and a black stock tied awry under the right ear. The top-hat, the riding-boots and the crop, on the other hand, are stiff and uncompromising, and mate well with the thin face, the keen eyes, and the strong nose. Opposed to this scene of aristocratic slovenliness is the immaculate young Jew, Alfred Wertheimer. He wears an ordinary sack suit, black, perfect in fit, and with a buff waistcoat and a riding stock. Not a wrinkle anywhere. The clothes are really good. The two lower buttons of Lord Ribblesdale's waistcoat are recklessly open, but about Wertheimer there is not so much as a pin-point wrong. Mr. Wertheimer and Mr. Sargent together have produced at least one well-dressed man in London this season."

THE FIRST LESSON



That the young girl has of womanhood is not seldom a painful one. She learns to know what headache means, and backache, and sometimes is sadly borne down by this new experience of life.

All the pain and misery which young girls commonly experience at such a time, may, in almost every instance be entirely prevented or cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity. It tones up the general health, and cures headache, backache, nervousness and other consequences of womanly weakness or disease.

"I received your letter some time ago, with advice about your wonderful medicine," writes Miss Stella Johnson, of 28 Brady Street, Dayton, Ohio. "I was troubled with severe pains every month when I wrote to you for advice. After receiving your letter and following its directions, I am now happy to say that after five years of untold suffering I have not had any pains since first using your 'Favorite Prescription.' I was induced through a friend to write to you and follow your kind advice. I thank God and Dr. R. V. Pierce for the health I now enjoy. I shall urge other women who suffer as I did to use your medicine."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

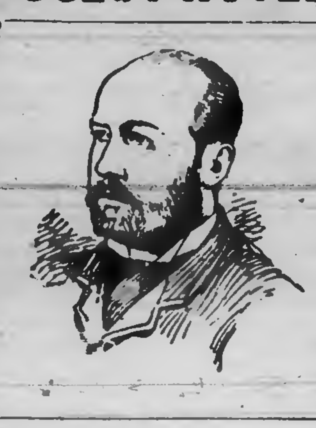
SIR WILLIAM TO BUILD WORLD'S BIGGEST HOTEL

It Will Be an Adjunct to Cuban Railway

And Will Occupy a Historic Site in Havana



Montreal, March 1—Sir William Van Horne the President of the great Cuban Railway, is about to erect an enormous hotel in Havana, Cuba.

In order to accomplish this undertaking, Sir William is now negotiating with the Cuban Administration for the purchase of the historic prison of Havana. The price mentioned in connection with the building, as it now stands, is between $350,000 and $500,000.

The prison of Havana stands in one of the most beautiful sections of the Cuban capital. It is surrounded by squares, which are decorated with beautiful tropical trees and plants, and it commands a charming view of Havana harbor, whose waters lave the shore which forms one side of the square.

If the purchase be affected the work of reconstruction will go ahead forthwith. Included in the building in its proposed reconstructed form, will be stores, a palatial theatre, a de luxe roof garden, in short everything which will add to the utility, convenience and beauty of the immense caravansary in contemplation.

Forming an adjunct to the Cuban Railway, which Sir William now has under construction, the hotel will serve the purposes of visitors to the island, and enable the management of the road to confidently set forth the attractiveness of Havana, with the sure knowledge that tourists and others will be properly taken care of and their creature comforts supplied in a manner now unknown in Cuba.

INQUEST ADJOURNED

Until Monday Afternoon, March 16th.

THE DEATH OF JOHN WOOD

Still a Mystery—Evidence of County Constable McMillan

Coroner Gray went to Westwood yesterday morning and held an inquest on the body of the late John Wood, which was found on the roadside, about two miles from Westwood. No clue has as yet been found as to his mysterious death. After the jury had been sworn in, and the evidence of Mr. McMillan taken, the inquest was adjourned until Monday at 3 o'clock.

The following gentlemen compose the jury:

Andrew Robertson, George Renwick, Thomas Fox, Jeremiah Hefferman, James Robertson, William John McMillan, John Bathgate, John W. Walker, Wm. Weir, John Dickson, John Dickson.

MR. McMILLAN'S EVIDENCE.

I, William John McMillan, being sworn, saith:

I am a County Constable. On Monday, 9th March, about eleven o'clock, David Cameron notified me that there was a dead man at Har-[illegible] the side line where the Norwood Road crosses the boundary between Asphodel and Otonabee. I went and found the body of deceased John Wood, whom I knew. The body was lying about 15 feet from the centre of the boundary line and about 35 feet from centre of side line, his head towards the north. Lying on his left side with face turned down, no coat nor cap, but had a vest on. Nothing in his pockets but $2.00 in paper money and 90 cents in silver in one pocket and 10 cents in hip pocket. He had a return railway ticket for Peterborough. I had gone up with him to Peterborough by train in the morning. It [illegible] his clothing was wet. I last saw him alive at White's Hotel on Saturday about 12.30. He was then pretty sober. He had been drinking probably a horn or two, but was not intoxicated. I brought the body to the home of his father, James Wood, where he lived and have seen it to-day. He told me he would return by afternoon train, but did not. I saw no sign of injury, but did not examine body carefully.

The remains of the late Mr. Wood will be interred this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

HIS STRONGEST PLEA

Mr. Chamberlain's Appeal to the Cape Colony Dutch

IN REPLY TO MR. DE WAAL

Bond Secretary Supposed to have Spoken After Consulting His Colleagues

London, March 11—What is regarded as one of the most significant utterances made on Mr. Chamberlain's tour was contained in the speech he delivered in reply to one from Mr. de Waal at Rosemead. The English papers contain fairly full reports of both speeches, The Times adding the following comment:

"The speaker distinctly referred to those who work with him, and hence it is concluded that the Bond Secretary would never have thus spoken without consultation with his colleagues or knowledge of their concurrence. The pro-Boers insist that such voluntary avowals of loyalty deserve acceptance than opening up a new chapter in African history. British opinion generally is that Mr. de Waal doth protest too much, and that his remarks are too good to be true. Mr. Chamberlain's guarded and cautious reply, although less hesitating in tone that at Graaff Reinet, rather, I think disappointed his Dutch hearers, who expected a warmer recognition."

MR. DE WAAL'S SPEECH.

Mr. de Waal's speech was full of the gospel of union and mutual trust. He denied that there was ever any idea of Dutch supremacy in South Africa. The whole community thoroughly endorsed the ideas contained in his address, which was one of welcome, and expressed the hope that both nations would unite. Although, Mr. de Waal continued, many of the Dutch had differed from Mr. Chamberlain in the past, they had read his recent speeches and cordially approved his conciliatory attitude. They were heartily prepared to clasp hands in sincere friendship. All ideas of a united South Africa under any flag but the British flag had entirely vanished. "Mr. Chamberlain's name," the speaker concluded, "is now a household word in every Dutch household."

MR. CHAMBERLAIN REPLIES.

"I am very glad," Mr. Chamberlain said, "to see a mixed audience of Dutch and English meet together for a common purpose and in perfect harmony one with the other. That is indeed an epitome of what I desire South Africe to be at large. To complete the illustration you have only to look at the flag which waves above you and draw from it the moral—that under that flag we will seek and find that harmony we desire with those of the other race race, which shares with us our allegiance to the King.

"I venture to say that you who have had experience of so many generations will not find that flag one under which it will be hard to serve. Under it you have all liberties, so that you are at the present time a free State without any interference from the Mother Country. Under it you have grown and prospered, and under it alone can you continue to grow and prosper.

"The address said that I have endeavoured to acquaint myself on the spot with the problems vexing South Africa. That is true, and in doing so I have not confined myself to one side or party, but have endeavored to see men of all opinions and gather from them separate views in the hope that I may be able to bring them together.

"The time has been when we differed largely about the causes of the war, about the extent to which it might or might not have been prevented. But to-day I do not wish to talk of the past. That is all over, and we now have to see whether the war which has brought so much loss and suffering, has not also brought some compensation.

"At all events it has settled for ever one issue—that that flag is destined to wave not only over the Cape but over the whole of British South Africa. That issue is accepted in the Colonies where the fiercest struggles have taken place. I have travelled through them, and met many men who were most prominent in the struggle against us. They had not respected us before, but they have learned to respect us now, and because we admire the qualities which they have shown so thoroughly, we trust their assurances that now the quarrel is over, they are prepared to be as good friends as they were stout enemies.

"As this is the position in the new colonies, may we not hope that the same position may be established in the old colony? Since I have been visiting different places in the old colony, collecting information, I have found a great deal of bitterness. The address you have presented to me speaks of two results which the signatories hope may come from the war, the first being better union between Dutch and English in this colony. A better understanding can only be achieved by getting rid of the distrust and suspicion, which still unfortunately prevails.

"Whatever the past may have been, a new issue has been presented to us. There is no longer in the mind of any sensible man—if it ever existed—the idea that it would be possible to separate South Africa from the British Empire. That cause of quarrel, at any rate, has come to an end, and there remains nothing that tends to separate us, except suspicion, which leads one or the other to take different sides. Those who have got to live together in this country, must make a great country of it, and they can do so if they work together with a common object.

"To you Dutchmen specially, I speak. You are a great people, with all the qualities of the ancient race from which you sprang. But you have one great fault. You are too parochial. You think too much of your villages and not enough of the large scenes in which you are destined to play your part. You have forgotten that for years you have been part of the greatest Empire the world has ever seen. You have not had sufficient pride in that Empire. You have not taken the share in the administration of that Empire which you cannot avoid if you wish. But I do not believe that you wish to do so. You are proud of your own towns and [illegible] of the colony to which you belong. I want you to be prouder and greater that ever—proud of the British Empire, which is yours as much as ours. I want you in future to accept not merely the privelege, but also the obligations and responsibilities which make for empire."

Returning Missionary to Get Warm Reception in Peterborough

Yesterday morning the Executive committee of Peterborough District Epworth League met in the George street church, when it was proposed to extend a reception to Rev. Mr. Smith, the missionary in China, who is supported by the Leagues of the Cobourg and Peterborough Districts. It was decided to join with the Cobourg District in a reception to Dr. Smith on his arrival from China, and a committee was appointed to arrange details. A committee was also appointed to make arrangements for the District Convention to be held in Millbrook next October.

STRONGLY FAVORS VISIT TO CANADA

Canadian Gazette Says Austen Chamberlain Should be Invited

HERE TO REPRESENT HIS FATHER

No Doubt as to His Active Sympathy With the Desires of the Dominion

London, March 11—The Gazette is an enthusiastic supporter of the suggestion that Mr. Austen Chamberlain visit Canada this summer. In its last issue, one of its leading editorials was as follows:

"We most cordially support the suggestion which comes by cablegram from Canada that Mr. Austen Chamberlain be invited to visit the Dominion during the coming autumn.

"It is obvious, however much his inclinations may point in another direction, the Colonial Secretary cannot himself anticipate a Canadian tour for some little time to come. His call to South Africa was imperative and every newspaper reader knows how amply it has been justified; but, having thus detached himself from the administrative work of his department for the best part of six months Mr. Chamberlain cannot for some little time to come, hope to find time for another Colonial tour.

"In these circumstances nothing could be happier than the suggestion that one so closely in touch with Mr. Chamberlain's opinions, and so thoroughly in sympathy as Mr. Austen Chamberlain has proved himself to be with his father's views on all Imperial questions, should be asked to make a tour through Canada to acquaint himself and his colleagues in the British Ministry with the remarkable changes which abundant prosperity is bringing to Canada, and the new light which these changes throw on the relations between Canada and the rest of the British Empire.

"There is happily no doubt of Mr. Austen Chamberlain's active sympathy with Canadian aspirations, for at a Birmingham meeting the other day a letter was read in which the hon. gentleman expressed himself thus:

"Had my other engagements permitted, it would have given me great pleasure to show in this way my sympathy with the efforts which the Canadian Government are now making to bring home to the people of this country the splendid outlet which the great and fertile, but, as yet, comparatively little developed, North-Western Territories of the Dominion offer to settlers of the right stamp. To people these great areas with men of British birth and to secure their early and fruitful development is a task full of promise alike for the settlers themselves, the Dominion and the Empire."

"Mr Austen Chamberlain would, it is clear, go to Canada with a mind 'well' prepared to receive impressions giving a formal shape in Canada to an invitation, which we are told is heartily approved of by the Boards of Trade throughout the Dominion."

ALL-BRITISH COLONY EXCITES GREAT INTEREST IN ENGLAND

The First Batch to Sail Early in April for Canada

A LARGE EXODUS TO OUR NORTHWEST

Hope is Expressed That No Trouble Will Occur

London, March 11—In view of the interest taken here in the All-British settlements in the North-West and the fact that many other groups are being organized quite independently of the Rev. Mr. Barr's scheme, it is most important that it should be officially announced from Ottawa that equal homestead privileges are to be extended to all acceptable British settlers within the same area. These independent emigrant groups include excellent, hard working farmers possessing capital.

Young Englishmen working for Manitoba farmers are also writing home asking friends to apply for homesteads for them in the All-British districts for settlement, on the expiry of their terms of service in Manitoba. Rev. Mr. Barr sails on the Lake Manitoba on the first of April, with 2,000 settlers, whom the papers describe as pilgrim fathers and mothers. The children are drawn from all parts of the country, and include fifty sons of clergymen and five nephews of Lord Donegal. Six physicians of independent means will nurse the clergyman's expedition. Amongst the supplies carried will be 1000 tents, 2000 waterproof sheets and a large supply of army blankets. It is stated in journals here that three towns are to be called Preston, Barrview and Lloydsville.

Another 2,000 emigrants have seen after the first steamer sails, and 10,000 more will go to Canada next year. The greatest anxiety is expressed that these pioneers should be carefully piloted and well settled, so that the [illegible] movement. Canadians [illegible]

HOLYROOD CONDEMNFO

The Ancient Scottish Palace is No Longer Safe

King and Queen May Stay at Dalkeith Palace When They Next Visit Scotland

London, March 10.—If all stories are true Edinburgh has received a stunning blow. Its ancient Palace of Holyrood, once the home of Scottish royalty and the scene of so much stirring history, is now reported to have been pronounced, after examination, no safe residence for the King and Queen.

Holyrood, as visitors to Edinburgh know, lies in the valley of Queen's Park, between Salisbury Crags and Calton Hill, at the lower end of the oldest and most unsanitary part of Edinburgh called Cowgate of late years. Tourists have been puzzled by curious odors which have regaled their noses when westerly winds blow toward Holyrood. Expert investigators have now apparently discovered the cause, so poor Holyrood is condemned as a royal residence.

Truth says that if it is undesirable for the King and Queen to stay at Holyrood the Duke of Buccleuch will will place Dalkeith Palace at their disposal, thus following the example of his father, who received George IV. at Dalkeith in 1822, and Queen Victoria and Prince Albert in 1842.

[illegible] this is a day for Edinburgh worse even than any that she has ever suffered, due to the consequences that may follow it. It is not impossible that one result may be the serious abridgement of Edinburgh's national pageant, the annual assembly of the Church of Scotland.

ENGLISH PAPERS ADVICE LABORERS TO COME TO DOMINION

Broke Up In A Riot

London, March 10.—A meeting of the United Irish League near Templemore, says a telegram from Dublin to The Times, ended in a rather serious riot. The meeting was held near the house of a farmer, who has been severely boycotted, his offence being that he is a large holder of grazing lands. The police were obliged to charge with drawn batons. The crowd stubbornly resisted. Two officers and several policemen were injured.

A REMARKABLE ORDER

Galt, March 10.—Thos. Todd & Son, Limited, commission merchants, received the oddest kind of an enquiry in a letter from South Africa yesterday. "Can you give us a car load of watermelon seeds?" it asked. The firm making the enquiry is one of the largest in Cape Town, but is apparently not versed in Canadian fruits. It would seem that the growing of watermelons in South Africa is a new venture, or it is unlikely an order for a carload of seeds would be asked for.

British Ship-Owners are Pressing for Favored Treatment

ROYAL ANNIVERSARY.

King and Queen Celebrate Fortieth Year of Married Life

London, March 10.—The newspapers are encouraging general laborers as well as farm workers to emigrate to Canada. They say that at present one shilling an hour is easily obtained in Canadian cities by ordinary day laborers, while bricklayers and carpenters secure two shillings. They represent that there is no fear of the demand for labor decreasing. The Daily Mail says none are turned back unless mentally deficient or diseased. All that is required is that a man possess a clear head and strong arms. Of course the vast majority of the emigrants now leaving intend to farm.

Extra steamers are being put on for the traffic.

IN COLONIAL TRADE.

London, March 10.—British ship owners are pressing the Government for restriction of the shipping trade between the mother country and the colonies to British vessels, seeing that unfair bounties and subsidies aid foreign rivals. Col. Geoffrey, chairman of the Liverpool Shipowners' Association, says: "Competing with foreign rivals under present conditions is like a man fighting with his right arm tied behind his back. Unless we change our policy we will find a large proportion of the trade of the world closed to British vessels."

THE FAST LINE.

London, March 10.—Regarding the fast Atlantic tenders, regret is expressed in the best Anglo-Canadian circles that the Government has not stipulated that the whole fleet shall be of 21 or 22 knots, in order to make the Canadian Weekly service equal to New York in speed, comfort and equipment. It is felt that nothing would do Canada more good here than evidence that she is content with nothing short of the best.

Regarding the statements that Galway has practically been accepted as the Irish port of the service, the whole question of the selection of ports remains in abeyance. The selection will be made solely on commercial consideration, in which the contractors will naturally have the most to say. There is little evidence as yet on this side that anyone but the Canadian Pacific will likely prove the successful tenderers.

GRIFFITH WELL RECEIVED.

London, March 10.—Mr. Griffith's appointment to Mr. Colmer's position in the High Commissioners' office has been well received. Mr. Griffith is already at work under Lord Strathcona.

A ROYAL ANNIVERSARY.

London, March 10.—The King and Queen celebrated the fortieth anniversary of their wedding to-day with a family gathering at Buckingham Palace, and a private dinner and dance. The guests were chiefly relatives, personal friends, and ambassadors. Eight ladies, who acted as bridesmaids at the wedding, are all living.

DEVLIN DISSATISFIED.

London, March 10.—Mr. C. R. Devlin, M.P., for Galway, who was elected yesterday without opposition, says that he only resigned the position of Canadian Commissioner in Dublin under pressure from Ottawa. He is much aggrieved thereat, and considers that he should have been allowed to retain the post. The position [illegible] Catholic priests are so opposed to emigration.

THE BRITISH MINISTERS CONSIDER ALASKA.

Sir Wilfred Laurier's Protest Before the Cabinet, No Appointments Yet.

London, March 10.—The British Cabinet is to-day considering the question of who is to represent Great Britain on the tribunal, which is to adjudicate the disputed boundary between Alaska and the Yukon.

Sir Wilfrid has submitted a lengthy memorandum setting forth Canada's objections to the nomination of Messrs. Root, Lodge and Turner to represent the United States. The Canadian Premier points out that the treaty calls for the appointment of distinguished and impartial jurists, and that all three of the American commissioners have expressed themselves in anything but an impartial manner upon the points involved in the dispute.

It is not probable that any announcement of the decision of the Cabinet here will be made until to-morrow; but there is a general belief that Canada's representations will have some effect.

FAST ATLANTIC SERVICE.

London, March 10.—Lord Strathcona, the High Commissioner for Canada, says that the proposed fast steamship service between England and Canada is likely to knit the Empire more closely together. He thinks that both the Canadian and Imperial Governments will grant subsidies, and is most hopeful for an early realisation of the project.

GREAT RAILWAY FOR AFRICA.

London, March 10.—Sir Percy Girouard, director-general of military railways in South Africa, who is a son of Judge Girouard, of the Supreme Court of Canada, has submitted a magnificent scheme for an African railway system. Lord Milner in accepting it, said it would commend itself on its merits to the conservative business man. It involves the expenditure of five million pounds sterling, under the joint State ownership of the Orange River and Transvaal colonies.

SIR GILBERT PARKER'S IDEA.

London, March 10.—Sir Gilbert Parker, M.P., for Gravesend, last night supported a motion in the House of Commons to separate the volunteer and the regular departments from the War Office. He said that if Great Britain had a citizen army with its own department, equipment and national responsibility there would be no difficulty in getting the colonies to contribute to Imperial defence in a form suitable to democratic communities.

London, March 10.—Justice Buckley in the Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice, this morning made an order directing the official receiver, as liquidator of the London & Globe Finance Corporation, Limited, to criminally prosecute Whitaker Wright, the well known promoter of companies, and utilize the assets of the London & Globe to pay the cost of the prosecution.

The demands for Wright's prosecution have been incessant since the collapse of the corporation. After the Public Prosecutor declined to proceed the fund projected at a meeting held in this city on January 28 to initiate the prosecution of Wright and others connected with the failure was started, but it was generally felt that the proceedings ought to be of a more official character, hence the application that the receiver should be allowed to take action.

MILLIONS OF RATS

Startling Result of London House Demolitions

Rats Have Destroyed Much Valuable Property in the Heart of London

London, March 11—A rat plague unprecedented in the annals of London has broken out on the north side of the Strand. The streets principally infested are Catherine, Drury-lane, Blackmore, Stanhope, White Hart, and Russel streets. Something akin to a reign of terror prevails among the inhabitants after nightfall. Women refuse to pass along streets after dusk for droves of rats perambulate the roadways, and run along the window ledges of empty houses awaiting demolition for the Holborn improvement scheme. They have been evicted from their old haunts by the county council housebreakers, and are now busily in search of new homes.

The Gaiety restaurant has been the greatest sufferer. The managers have had to close the large dining-room on the first floor and the grill rooms on the ground floor. Behind the wainscot of the bandstand in the grill room is a mound of linen shreds. This represents 1,728 serviettes carried there by the rats. In the bar the removal of a panel disclosed that the rats had dragged for seven or eight yards some thirty or forty wine bottles and stacked them to make sleeping places. The rats have destroyed $1,000 worth of linen. Formerly the Gaiety restaurant dined 2,000 persons daily; no business whatever is done now.

One of the barmaids relates experiences. She was eating her lunch behind the bar when a couple of gentlemen called for drinks. When she sat down to resume her meal, the plate was empty. A large rat was quietly munching the missing beef, while it laid a boiled potato between its claws. In a matter-of-fact and impudent manner a rat climbed on to her skirts with the idea of going to sleep. Dozens of lemons and fresh eggs have been eaten by the rats, who have also a partiality for cigarettes, which they extract from the boxes as neatly [illegible] dog of rat-killing fame was left in the restaurant all night. But it was the dog that died. The poor creature was found terribly mauled the following morning.

The female occupants of a tenement house in Stanhope street were faced with the alarming spectacle of a body of rats which had taken possession of the stairs and refused to budge. In Catherine street is one of the shops of W. Clarkson, costumier. The rats have eaten their way through the window frames and mounted to the rafters. The other night a muff was left on a table. The following morning a litter of thirteen young rats was found inside it.

A tradesman in Clare street was amazed at the gradual disappearance of the contents of two uncorked bottles of olive oil. Though painfully aware that this place was overrun with rats, he realized the impossibility of their getting their heads into the narrow necks of the bottles. One night he watched. Presently two rats approached the bottle. One dipped its tail into them, and allowed the other to lick the oil off. Then the other rat obliged in a similar way.

An inventory of the damage done to the Gaiety restaurant shows $25,000; but the rats, in ever increasing numbers, continue to work their wicked will upon the place. All the electric wires have had to be duplicated, for the lights frequently went out in consequence of the creatures gnawing through the wires. One of their latest achievements has consisted of gnawing a hole through a twenty-eight ate to the last morsel. A ratcatcher employed there used to "bag" between 200 and 40 nightly.

So extensive is the plague that the inhabitants despair of exterminating it. Professional rat-catchers are grappling with the problem at fourpence a head.

WEATHER NOTES

Probs: Unsettled and showery.

The outlook is decidedly unsettled for Ontario and Quebec. Cold weather prevails from the Rockies to Manitoba, but it is unlikely to spread eastward at present.

THIS GREAT FAMILY JOURNAL

A Tribute to Peterborough's Brightest Daily Newspaper

The following lines have been received at the office of this g. f. j. and at the risk of breaking our press, we let her go:

How dear to my heart is the great family journal
That comes to my home every day in the year.
How eager I watch for the great family journal
And how my heart sinks when it fails to appear.

But when from the carrier I gladly receive it,
And through its loved pages I hurry with speed,
There's nothing on earth could induce me to leave it
'Till all the important news items I read.

The dear g.f.j. I hail as a treasure,
And often at night by the fire as I sit,
I find it the source of an exquisite pleasure,
To drink from this fountain of wisdom and wit.

And while in my arm chair I fondly peruse it
I'm lost to all else while under it's spell,
The dear Morning Times—the great family journal
Just out of the press—O, I love it so well!

The great family journal—the great educator—
It cheers up the home of the poor and the rich;
It's welcomed in mansions, it's loved in the cottage,
It's light and its joy is all the same pitch.

When I try to express my great love for the paper
Words utterly fail me; I never can tell,
But I hail it with pleasure—my great daily treasure,
So fresh from the press, I love it so well.

THE ALASKAN BOUNDARY

A few days ago we published the text of the treaty between Great Britain and Alaska, showing the difference between the American and Canadian contentions, so far as the boundary line from Point Chacon to the 56th parallel of north latitude is concerned. The question is whether the inlet called Portland Canal now, is the channel called Portland Channel at the time the treaty was made. If it is, then the treaty speaks nonsense in speaking of a northerly line from Point Chacon. It also seems strange that it should have been necessary to mention that Prince of Wales Island was to belong to Russia, when the treaty was giving Russia a large portion of the mainland, to which the island is opposite. In a message to Congress submitted by the President of the United States some years ago, a number of maps are published bearing on this point. The modern ones all show Portland Canal as Portland Channel. So do the ancient ones, but the ancient ones have all been corrected and modernized by United States officers, except apparently one, Vancouver's chart. The name Portland Channel, as applied to the inlet now known as Portland Canal, appears to have been derived from that. The most interesting, the crucial point of the whole investigation, will be as to whether the treaty framers used Vancouver's chart and talked nonsense, or some other map in which Portland Channel was applied to the strait, which would admit of a northerly line from Point Chacon. There is no doubt, it is generally admitted, that the treaty defining the boundary north of the 56th parallel was based on a misunderstanding of the configuration of the country. It was believed that a range of mountains ran north and south close to the coast. The summit of this range of mountains was to be the boundary, provided that summit was not distant more than ten marine leagues from the coast. Where it was at a greater distance than this ten marine leagues were to form the limits of Russia's holdings. There is in fact no such range of mountains, so that the alternative method of delimiting the boundary must be adopted. In regard to this the Canadian case is impregnable. Territorial waters do not constitute the ocean and are not counted in the determination of the coast line. The coast line does not follow the contour of a long narrow inlet, but cuts across its mouth. This has been determined by international jurisprudence over and over again, and the objection of the United States to referring the matter to independent arbitration has been largely on account of the fact that no international tribunal would for a moment recognize the special construction which the United States desires to place upon this particular document. The United States has pinned its case to a special construction of this treaty which would exempt it from the ordinary rules for the interpretation of such documents. Hence comes the unwillingness of the United States to submit its case to anyone with whom this special construction is not already an article of faith. Suppose we had two religious sects, one holding to a certain dogma dependent upon a particular construction of a certain portion of Holy Writ, and the other holding to a precisely opposite dogma dependent on a different construction of the same passage. What hope of harmony could be held out from the formation of a commission composed of three professors of the one dogma, and three professors of the other dogma? We need not impute lack of honesty in any member of the commission to predict with almost positive certainty their failure to agree. Believers in, let us say infant, and adult baptism are not generally supposed to be dishonest in their views, even by those who are strong exponents of one view or the other. The question of which is right, would be very unlikely of settlement by a commission of six strong professors of the opposing doctrines, three on one side, and three on the other.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP IN TORONTO

When a man interested in the private control of public franchises argues against municipal ownership of important services, he fails to comment on Toronto's experiments in public ownership. The waterworks of Toronto yield a profit, though the charge to patrons has been reduced to $2.40 a year for an eight-roomed house, and $4.20 for a ten-room house. Last year, the street railways, municipally owned, but leased to a company paid 5 per cent. on the stock and, in addition, secured $235,447 for the city treasury. Although the people of Toronto get gas at 80 cents a thousand feet, they are insisting that the price is too high. Unless the company controlling the product satisfies consumers, the city will soon build its own plant.

RAPID FOR A SLOW CITY

Reformers have to be wide-awake to keep up with those who are not reformers. A scheme has just come to light in Philadelphia which has given those who are opposed to pool-rooms there quite a jolt. The scheme is to run a pool-room openly and above board in the guise of an insurance office. This idea comes from Lloyds, where insurance may be placed on anything under the sun, provided the element of chance enters. If one can insure a horse against dying, it was argued, why cannot one insure him against defeat? Conversely, why is it not possible to insure him against winning. That, in brief, is the plan. Instead of a pool ticket, the establishment will issue a policy, agreeing to pay a certain sum if a certain horse wins (or does not win, as the case may be) a certain race on a certain day. In the office will be kept a blackboard on which the constantly fluctuating rates of insurance will be chalked. For instance, when the vulgar and illegal pool-rooms and betting rings are offering odds of 4 to 1 on Nux Vomica, the company will charge a 25 per cent. premium to insure that horse. Again, if the odds on Creosote are 8 to 3, a policy of $16 will cost the beneficiary just $5. If the horse wins, the company is liable for the face value of the policy.

This is rather rapid for a city which had the reputation of being slow. The syndicate back of it was planning to secure a charter under the laws of [illegible] new corporations, and then obtain the consent of as many State insurance departments as possible, but it is believed that publicity will interfere with the well-devised scheme.

To Set Her Free

(COPYRIGHTED)

By FLORENCE WARDEN.

Author of "The House in the Marsh," "A Prince of Darkness," etc.

A footman was lighting the heavy old-fashioned glass chandelier which hung from the middle of the lofty painted ceiling. The lighting up showed yellowish-white and gold walls, with some tarnished gilding; rows of chairs placed stiffly against the sides of the room, interspersed with sofas and couches, all swathed alike in washed-out brown holland coverings; tall glasses which reflected each other in endless weird depths of glimmering gas-lights and spectral holland furniture; tables which held nothing; a brown holland harp; a brown holland piano.

In the middle of the floor stood a tall woman in black, whom Norma recognized, as she had been pointed out to her by Astley at the station. A cold-looking face, with aquiline features and hard black eyes, a languid and affected manner; these were her most striking attributes, and Norma was not surprised at Astley's prejudice against her.

"Mrs. Wharles?"

The doctor's wife put out a limp hand, with her elbow raised very high.

"Yes."

There was a moment's pause, as Norma invited the visitor to be seated; but the footman, having by that time finished his task of lighting up, left the room, and the two ladies faced each other on the sofa.

"I thought," began Mrs. Wharles, in a mincing tone, "that I had better lose no time. So I didn't even have the carriage ordered round. I came myself on foot at once."

"It was very kind of you," said Norma with a little coldness. The woman's air of mingled patronage and affected languor was intolerable.

"Of course it is very dreadful for you, and my husband and I both feel for you sincerely. But at the same time there is my sister to be considered, and of course she has every right to be recognized as Lady Darwen," went on the doctor's wife, serenely.

This was rather too much, and Norma, who saw that Mrs. Wharles intended to presume upon her own mild manners and quiet tone, began to perceive that she must assert herself a little. She laughed drily.

"A woman who has laid a cunning plot to deceive her husband by pretending to be dead may find it rather difficult to justify herself," she suggested. "Especially when she is more than suspected of having deceived him in other ways."

Mrs. Wharles reddened slightly and became a trifle less off-hand in manner.

"Lottie was always a wild creature," said she, "and not like other people. That was one of her charms."

"I'm afraid Sir Astley is hardly likely to appreciate these particular instances of it!"

"You are prejudiced, very naturally," said Mrs. Wharles with vivacity.

"I dare say I am. Sir Astley happens to be prejudiced in the same way."

"But he won't be able to divorce her," said Mrs. Wharles, quickly recovering her self-confidence. "That I'm convinced of."

"He'll be the best judge of that," said Norma quietly.

The doctor's wife looked at her, and after a pause, spoke in a much gentler tone:

"You mustn't be surprised at my taking my sister's part," she said, "especially as I was always very fond of Lottie, and proud of her. But I have every wish to make things as pleasant as we can for you too. Of course all this business has nothing to do with you, and it's very hard that you should be mixed up in it."

Norma bowed her head without speaking. Mrs. Wharles went on:

"And I quite see that Lottie has behaved foolishly, wickedly. But she was frightened when she heard of the proceedings against her, and took this mad way out of the difficulty."

"Who helped her?" asked Norma suddenly.

"Oh, I don't know. Our old servant, I think. I know my mother and my other sister were away: they would never have allowed her to do such a wild thing."

"Well, it will all have to be very closely enquired into," said Norma with decision.

"Of course. Only unluckily for you," said Mrs. Wharles, her tone becoming rather aggressive again, "nothing that they may find out about her deceit can alter the fact that she's Sir Astley's wife, and you are not."

Norma was stung to the quick. She dared not answer. Mrs. Wharles went on:

"You'll excuse my speaking plainly, won't you? I always think it's best. Now poor Lottie is sorry and ashamed of herself, and most anxious to return to her husband and explain things."

"I can quite understand that," said Norma frigidly.

A sudden illuminating flash of intelligence showed her a possible reason for the action taken by the doctor and his wife. She conceived that this Lottie, whether innocent of the charges brought against her or not, had grown tired of her husband, whose slender allowance had not been sufficient to provide her with any great amount of luxury, and had determined, when deceiving him by her pretended death, to disappear from his sight forever.

And Norma thought it probable that it was less by the wish of the woman herself than by that of her greedy and ambitious relatives that she now proposed to come to life again, and, with the help and connivance of these same relations, make it impossible for Astley to prove his charges against her, and so settle herself upon him again now that he was in a brilliant position.

For if, she argued to herself, the wife had really been as unscrupulous and as greedy as her sister evidently was, she would not have been so retiring and modest on the occasion of her appearance at Oxford. For that the woman who had followed Astley and herself would prove to have been the unfortunate Lottie she could scarcely doubt any longer.

Mrs. Wharles sighed.

"You could scarcely expect her to go on living in the most pinched circumstances, while you and her own husband —"

"Mrs. Wharles, you must not speak like that to me," interrupted Norma, with unexpected fire and dignity. "Whoever may be to blame in this matter, it is neither Sir Astley nor I, and you will be good enough to avoid making use of expressions which convey an implied insult."

Mrs. Wharles looked rather alarmed, and mumbled an apology.

"I only mean," she explained more civilly, "that it's hard for her to be very poor, when Sir Astley is very rich."

"She has brought her position upon herself," said Norma. Then, conscious that she, too, was not blameless in her relations towards the chivalrous Astley, she added hastily: "Nobody is less likely to be ungenerous than Sir Astley, or indeed I may say than I."

"I'm sure of it," said Mrs. Wharles.

AN INVESTMENT NOT A SPECULATION

An Oil Stock That is Being Offered with Absolute Guaranteed Oil Bearing Land to Back it Up.

This being the case, you will agree with us that it is not a speculation, but an investment. If you will investigate you will learn that the Dayton Oil Company will be in a position to pay handsome dividends in a short time. Our net proceeds from production of oil from ten wells will amount to $2265,000, and this amount divided by the number of shares which the corporation will have issued, will give a return in dividends amounting to $90 for each 100 shares issued. Then calculate what our income will be, when we have our property thoroughly developed.

Facts Which You Must Weigh Deeply When Making Investments:

First, does the company own their land, or is it leased? The Dayton Oil Company owns their land.

Second, is the land in the oil bearing belt? The land of the Dayton Oil Company is in the middle of the oil bearing belt of Kern County, Cal., and is completely surrounded by other producing corporations who have flowing wells averaging from two to five hundred barrels of oil a day.

Third, is there a market for all this product? Yes! And a steady increasing demand for all the fuel oil that California can produce. The production and consumption in that State amounted to 4,000,000 bbls. in 1900; 8,000,000 bbls. in 1901; reached 15,000,000 bbl. mark for 1902, with increased consumption for 1903, amounting to 20,000,000 bbs. Throughout the Eastern States we are now experiencing the scarcity of fuel and the advance in the price of this commodity. Such being the case now forces us to realize what the population of the Pacific coast has been forced to exist under, until her rich fuel oil deposits were discovered. Coal in California has commanded a price of $6.50 to $11 a ton. That State now is free from King Coal's grip.

Fourth, is the stock non-assessable? The Dayton Oil Company procured its charter from Arizona. By its incorporation under the laws of Arizona the stockholders are exempted from personal liability for the obligation of the corporations and stockholders' liability. Therefore this company's stock is absolutely non-assessable.

Fifth, to what source is this money being applied, which is being raised by sale of treasury stock? Wholly to the development of its rich oil land holdings in the manner of drilling for oil.

To-day it will only cost you 25 cents a share for this ground floor stock, which is being rapidly subscribed for at that figure. Delay upon your part will force you to pay 50 cents a share, which is the price to which it will advance shortly.

SIOCK MARKETS

THE AFTER-MATH

New York, March 10—Oftimes when great men fall out other men suffer. Mr. Keene and Mr. Harriman have apparently been having a battle royal. The former dissatisfied because Mr. Harriman and the dominating forces in Union Pac. declined to charge any part of the vast improvement going in Southern Pacific to capitalization through issuance of bonds, commencing immediately thereby dividends upon Southern Pacific in which stock Mr. Keene had been conducting a giant pool. Commencement of dividends would have aided the bull pool. Possibly Mr. Keene was right. The present stateholders should rightfully participate in present vast earnings, instead of being compelled to divert same entirely into improvements. Of course the other course is good for the company and for prosperity, but it makes no immediate returns to present holders. Recourse to the law has been had in endeavor to enjoin the U Pac people from voting their Southern Pacific holdings which constitute a majority, and recourse to the Stock Exchange has been taken by the veteran operator and his following to try and punish the Union Pacific interests. Hence the present turmoil in the market. The result has been a marked decline with stocks offering at most tempting prices. It is a difficult matter for a judge of market values to refrain at present from buying something and doing so liberally. Purchases made now and adequately protected should be resultant in handsome profits. The great power now depressing prices changes its position upon the market like lightning, generally to the embarassment of his following and the speculative situation then appears to change like a picture presented by a kaleidescope. There can be no doubt of the fact that stocks are inordinately low, and while no man can say exactly how much lower, if at all, prices will go, it can be said with accuracy and safety that prices will very shortly be above those now ruling. To be certain to get the advantage of above fact through buying now, fortify your purchases with liberal margins in order to be safe in case the battle now going on be prolonged still further before the inevitable turning point.

ENTIRELY OUT OF THE ORDINARY

Yet one of the ways that LEAD TO FORTUNE

Why not make a small investment in oil lands right ahead of good producing wells, some having wells producing oil on adjoining farms? The oil now brings $1.50 per barrel, bought by the Standard Oil Co., without any transportation charges, and is bound to go higher; a few hundred dollars often invested in property of this kind yields thousands of dollars profit. I personally know of parties who made over $100,000 in 60 days time on an investment of this kind, also have wells making from 10 to 200 barrels a day. Parties desiring to organize a company will do well to investigate this opportunity, getting thereby the advantage of years of experience, and if you don't want to drill the wells wait until the wells drilling close to you have come in and reap the benefit of their outlay. The oil business conducted on business principles, with honest management, is bound to succeed. You do not have to look farther than the Standard Oil Co. to see what honest management founded on facts will produce, they have drawn very heavily on stocks the past three years and there is not enough of this grade of oil now above ground to run the country for more than two years, so you can readily see the profits that will be realized by starting now and obtaining the big price the Standard Oil Co. will be compelled to pay for crude oil to supply the demands of the country. Offers to investors an opportunity to secure through a purchase of its stock

A monthly income of $50.00

On an investment of $1,000; or a monthly income of $5 00 on an investment of $100.00. This is purely a business proposition. Their is no uncertainty about it; you do not take any chances. We actually have enough ore in sight to keep us working for three or four years, and the more development work we do the more ore there is in sight; the deeper we go the richer it is. Bear in mind, too, that we do not come to the public with an untried experiment. Our shaft is nearing the 200 foot mark, with better values at the bottom than any place nearer the surface. The ore runs in value from $25.00 to $86 80 per ton, by actual carload shipments.

The par value of our stock is $1.00, with only a limited amount of shares to be sold, and this has been placed on the market at the low rate of 20 CENTS PER SHARE. On March 14, the price will be advanced to 30 cents per share, providing any of the original offering remains unsold; therefore we advise all who are interested to send in their applications without a moment's delay, as they will be filled and eventually rejected just in the order received.

Thunder Mountain!

is the richest gold producing camp in the United States, and also the largest. The Thunder Mountain district, in central Idaho, is twenty miles wide and forty miles long. In comparison with this we have Cripple Creek, four miles wide and seven miles long. In many of the Thunder Mountain mines ore has already been reached that carries ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD TO THE TON. All of the Thunder Mountain ore is free milling, which means that it can be treated by the cheapest extraction process known—the ordinary stamp mill. It can be both mined and milled at a cost not to exceed $2 a ton. The past years operations in the several working mines have opened up millions of tons of ore that will give a net profit of from $10 to $30 a ton, enabling the respective companies to pay dividends at a rate never before equalled. Such is the showing and the prospect of the

EAST DEWEY GOLD MINING CO.

which unless all indications are at fault, will become the largest producer in the district. The EAST DEWEY mine, which it owns outright, is located directly on Thunder Mountain, just east of the famous "Dewey" mine. which already has $20,000,000 of ore in sight. The surface area of the East Dewey mine is one hundred and twenty acres—six full quartz claims. The company has also secured the big GOLDEN GATE mine, in the Big Creek section of the Thunder Mountain district—which has been so aptly termed "The Pot of Gold"—and is now developing the mine with all possible speed. For a distance of 9,000 feet, nearly two miles, the Golden Gate mines cover a mineralized ledge that is 900 feet wide, with an average height above the tunnel level of 500 feet, thus giving it the largest exposed tonnage of any mine in the west.

If you would share in the enormous profits which these figures indicate and which these developments promise, invest your money in "East Dewey" Stock. It can be bought to-day for 10 Cents a Share. Its par value is $1.

If the East Dewey mines are what they appear to be, and there is absolutely no reason to doubt or question these indications, this stock will eventually be worth at least $10 a share, and to-day you can buy it for ten cents. PRICE ADVANCES TO FIFTEEN CENTS ON FEBRUARY 28th. 5% discount allowed for cash. Stock sold at flat price of 10 cents on deferred payments, 10% with application, and 10% monthly until paid. Full particulars, prospectus, etc., on request.

The Greatest Mining Proposition of Modern Times

This company has demonstrated its ability to produce ore at a profit and pay regular monthly dividends under the most adverse circumstances. Only the highest grade could be shipped and cost upwards of $35 per ton. With a mill it can be treated at less than $3 per ton. The company has nearly enough money to pay for the mill, which they promise to have in operation by April 1st, 1903.

Mr. Bradburn was secretary of the Peterborough Golf Club, a lieutenant in the 57th Regiment, and has a host of friends, who will wish him success in his new home.

Mr. Dutton's Enterprise

Mr. R. A. Dutton has leased the store immediately north of his present premises, and is having it fitted up with shelving, counters, etc., for the purpose of a grocery store. The addition will be connected with the present establishment by an archway, and is expected to be finished and ready for occupation by the first of May next.

The Times commends Mr. Dutton's enterprise, and bespeaks for him a large patronage.

The Fortnightly Club

On March 20th, Prof. Young, who succeeded the Hon. David Mills as Professor of International and Constitutional Law at Toronto University will give an address on "The Monroe Doctrine," a subject which at present is one of the most acute questions of international politics. On the 27th of this month, Prof. G. M. Wrong, who succeeded the late Sir David Wilson as Professor of Modern History in Toronto University, will deliver a lecture on "The Study of History." Both gentlemen are fluent and interesting speakers, and the members of the club may count on a rich treat on both evenings. It is expected that the address by Hon. F. R. A. Fountaral will be given as soon as he is sufficiently recovered from his present serious illness.

THE ALBANY CLUB

The New Local Club Getting Into Good Running Order

The Albany Club premises in the opera house block are now open for members, nearly one hundred of whom have already signed the roll. It is proposed to limit the membership to 200.

As soon as the remainder of the furniture is installed, we understand the club will have a formal opening, to which the ladies will be invited.

CHEMONG PARK

Every Cottage in the Park Rented for the Coming Season

Every cottage in Chemong Park has been rented for next season, and the outlook for a brisk summer is good. Mr. Alex. Elliott told The Times yesterday that he could have rented 60 additional cottages.

It is altogether likely that a line of automobile cars will be put on this year between the town and the Park, which will enable our citizens to visit this lovely spot more frequently than they have been doing in the past.

TO ADVANCE PRICES

The Barbers Have Agreed to Raise the Price of Cutting Hair

At a meeting of the employing barbers, held at McGregor and Rumble's shaving parlor, it was decided to advance the price of hair cutting to 20 cents, to take effect on the 1st of April next. It was also agreed to abolish the monthly ticket system.

The increased price of labor, as well as other expenses in the way of fuel, etc., has made this step imperative.

CARPENTERS' UNION

Met in Discussion Last Night at the Orange Hall, Simcoe Street

The regular fortnightly meeting of the local union No. 673, Carpenters and Joiners, was held on Monday night in the Orange Hall, 130 Simcoe street. The president, Mr. J. Jones, was in the chair, and about 90 members of the union were present.

On motion it was unanimously decided to raise the scale of wages from 20c. to 22 1-2 cents per hour, this alteration to come into effect on the 1st of May next.

After some further discussion upon this and other matters the meeting adjourned.

MR KENNEDY'S SUGGESTION

Regarding an Important Matter in Connection with Our Town

On May 1st the lease which is held by Mr. H. P. Kennedy for the stock market site in the south end of the town expires, and with his characteristic foresight and enterprise Mr. Kennedy has suggested to the Council that they control these premises and operate them after the same fashion as the up town produce market, and remunerate him for his outlay in connection with them.

At the meeting of the Market committee yesterday morning Mr. Kennedy spoke at some length in regard to the matter. That both the local market and the stock yards can be run successfully is thought quite certain, and many advantages will thereby be afforded to the local cattle merchants, who will have equal rights and privileges in connection therewith.

GOLF CLUB BANQUETTED

By Mr. J. W. Garvin at Long's Palm Parlors

Owing to the hospitality of J. W. Garvin, B.A., the members of the Gold Club dined last evening at Mr. H. Long's palm parlor. Among those present were: Messrs. Hughes-Charles, Peter Campbell, J. W. Garvin B.A., John Crane, Robt. Fair, Robt. Frost, Dr. Neill, J. R. Garvin, W. Stocker, E. C. Clarry, C. Moore, J. H. Burnham, Dr. Eastwood, Dr. Greer, Sam Ray, Dixon Hall, A. H. Stratton, D. Davidson, Dr. McFall, V. McGill and others.

Mr. Garvin occupied the head of the table, and delivered a splendid address, in which he expressed sorrow in parting with his associates in the Club. Mr. P. Campbell gave a short history of the Club and, like others, was sorry to part with so an enthusiastic a golfer as Mr. Garvin. Mr. Walter Stocker here sang "The Boys of The Old Brigade" with life and vim, which was appreciated very much. Mr. J. H. Burnham delivered a speech in his inimitable style, and was easily the speech of the evening, which was received with cheers and applause.

The secretary, Mr. C. H. Bradburn, was also sorry to part with such a jolly lot of good fellows. He very modestly referred to the slight services he had rendered the club, and hoped that the club would prosper even greater in the future than in the past. Upon taking his seat the crowd sang lustily "For He Is a Jolly Good Fellow."

Short addresses were delivered by Messrs. Crane, Burnett and Dr. Greer. A violin selection by Mr. Markle was well received.

HE CAN

Because he is a hero over the road.

A Grocer down in Texas said that when he first put in a stock of Postum Food Coffee he concluded to try it himself to know how well he could recommend it to his customers. He says: "I quit using coffee and tried Postum prepared according to directions on the package and found it a most healthful, toothsome beverage.

I had been seriously troubled with stomach trouble but after leaving off coffee and using Postum I gradually got better and better. That interested me so I persuaded my Mother-in-law, who is over sixty, and a confirmed coffee drinker, to quit coffee and use Postum.

She has suffered for years with stomach trouble and food coming up in her throat after eating. As soon as she quit coffee and began using Postum this distress stopped and she has been getting better and better ever since.

A short time ago a lady who was starting West bought up my entire stock of Postum for fear she could not find it where she was going.

From my own experience one can readily see that I can recommend Postum very highly." Name given by Postum Co. Battle Creek, Mich.

PARK STREET BAPTIST CHURCH

A Very Fine Discourse Delivered Last Evening at Revival Service

Rev. A. E. de St. Dalmas, who is the evangelist assisting Pastor Hanna in the revival services, took for his theme last evening, I. Sam. 21:8, "The King's business requireth haste." By way of introduction, lessons were applied from an earthly King to the King of Kings. The nature of the King's business was shown to consist of a royal proclamation to the whole world, and contained a warning "Escape for your life; flee from the wrath to come," also an offer of salvation.

"One offer of salvation
To all the world make known
The only sure foundation
Is Christ the corner-stone."

Moreover, this proclamation included a call to service to every one who accepts the salvation, for Christ is Sovereign as well as Saviour. The King's business demands haste. It is an age of hurry, steam and electricity have superseded the horses. O, what need of haste on the part of King's loyal citizens to make the proclamation known and on the part of His enemies to surrender.

The subject for to-night was announced to be "Gold, Gold, Gold."

The "St. Catharines Well"

In the "Garden City of Canada" eleven miles from Niagara Falls is situated the historical "St Catharines Well." The waters of this famous well is saline, and its prototype in Europe is the celebrated Kreutznach Spring in Prussia, and are a great specific for such diseases as rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, liver troubles, skin disease, and cases of nervous prostration, or as a tonic, pure and simple.

"The Welland" remodelled and enlarged, is the principal building in which these waters are used, and most comfortable accommodation can be had there at reasonable rates.

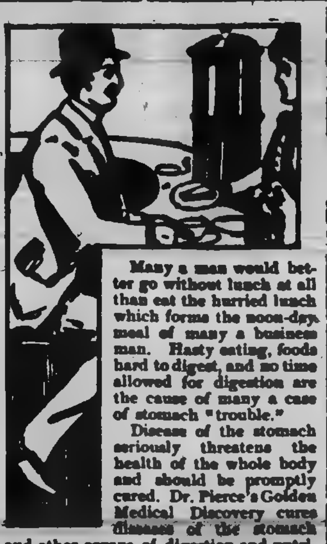
A Plausible Suggestion.

They were coming across the Brooklyn bridge, says the New York "Evening Sun," and saw a little tug pulling around one of Uncle Sam's war vessels just outside the navy basin.

"There's a man-of-war, my dear," he said, pointing to the big ship.

"And is the little one a tug-of-war?" she asked, as she gazed demurely upon the waters.



Many a man would better go without lunch at all than eat the hurried lunch which forms the noon-day meal of many a business man. Hasty eating, foods hard to digest, and no time allowed for digestion are the cause of many a case of stomach "trouble."

Disease of the stomach seriously threatens the health of the whole body and should be promptly cured. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect assimilation of food and the proper nutrition of the body on which physical strength depends.

"Nine or ten years ago my health became very poor, and in 1892 was so far gone that good doctors pronounced my case the worst they had ever treated," writes Mr. Harvey Phipps, of Florence, Ala. "I had acute stomach trouble, liver complaint, catarrh and was nervous to such an extent I could not sleep. I finally got three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and some 'Pellets.' Took them according to directions on the bottles, and in a few days noticed a decided improvement. I commenced to get more rest at night and could eat with pleasure, where formerly food was like chips to me. When I had used three bottles of the 'Discovery' I was a new man; could eat mince pie for supper, go to bed at seven P. M. and sleep until seven A. M. I am now working at my trade (carpentry), every day in all kinds of weather, and think if I had not taken your medicines I would now be under the sod."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cleanse the clogged system from accumulated impurities.

THE EMPIRE'S MISSION JUST NOWBEGINNING

Stanley Not Coming Here, Has Not Been Offered the Post of Governor-General

London, March 11.—The Canadian Gazette makes the following statement, regarding the rumor that Lord Stanley will succeed Lord Minto: "Seeing that Lord Minto's term will not expire till November, it is somewhat premature to talk of his successor. Lord Stanley has not accepted or been offered the post. We do not know that he has done anything to qualify for the position, which more than ever requires tact and statesmanship of a high, if quiet order. He has been press censor in South Africa, and neither journalists nor the public have reason to love him. For brusque, lofty bearing in that capacity he is Brodrick's alter ego. In the House of Commons Mr. Brodrick is hardly a Ministerial success. In any event, the statement that Lord Stanley has been chosen as Lord Minto's successor can be confidently dismissed."

THE EMPIRE'S MISSION.

London, March 11.—Speaking at Madeira yesterday, Hon. Joseph Chamberlain said that when at home he had thought the mission of the United Kingdom had perhaps nearly been fulfilled, but now he was convinced the mission of the British Empire was only just beginning. "It is a mission of peace, and civilization, a union of hearts, spirit, and interests. If I have done anything to lay a single brick to that great edifice which I believe will rear itself into the skies in the future, I am amply repaid."

MAPLE LEAF IN LONDON.

London, March 11.—The proposal is made in the press that a maple leaf society be formed among Canadians in London on similar lines to the St. Andrew's and St. George's societies in Canada, especially devised to assist fellow-country-men by advice, influence and money.

PRISONERS BEHEADED HEADS DISPLAY IN PUBLIC

Death Penalty Imposed on Members and Abettors of Boxer Organization

Pekin, March 11.—Yuanshikai, the former Governor of Chili Province, having been informed that the Boxer organization was resuming activity in the eastern part of the Province, despatched troops who discovered that members of the society well armed, were drilling at night in a town a hundred miles east of Pekin. The Boxers were dispersed after a dozen of them and several soldiers had been killed. Yuanshikai ordered the prisoners to be beheaded, and their heads displayed in the public, and issued a proclamation imposing the death penalty on members and abettors of the organization.

Do Your Kidneys Perform Their Functions?

Paine's Celery Compound

Is the World's Spring Remedy for Kidney and Bladder Troubles

Unless your kidneys properly and regularly perform their functions, the accumulations of morbid materials in your blood will act like a poison upon the nervous system. Have you headache, vertigo, puffiness under the eyes or dropsical tendencies? Have you fever sometimes with chills, and a dry skin? Is the urine highly colored, sometimes scanty in quantity, sometimes cloudy and foul? Any of these symptoms are true warnings of kidney disease.

To-day a multitude of men and women, suffering from various forms of kidney affections, enduring pains and mind agony are, through the use of Paine's Celery Compound eliminating morbid and poisonous materials from the blood. Wise and able physicians are prescribing Paine's Celery Compound for their patients. No other medicine in the world is so strongly indorsed by the best people of the land. Mrs. E. O. Clairmont, Vancouver, B.C., writes about her blessed experience with Paine's Celery Compound; she says —

"For five years kidney and urinary troubles made life a misery to me. Before coming here I was treated by two doctors, both failed to cure me, and my sufferings increased. I was advised by a friend to try Paine's Celery Compound. After use of the second bottle I experienced a happy change. I could see and feel that your wonderful medicine was doing its work well. After using eight bottles I am free from all symptoms of the old troubles, and feel that I am a new person. Paine's Celery Compound is truly a blessing to those afflicted with kidney complaints."

THE COURT OF REVISION

The Court of Revision met on Tuesday night, when the following were present, Messrs. D. O'Connell, chairman, J. Hatton, M. A. Morrison, and J. Finnie. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

R. J. Jamieson stated that he had sold property to R. Nimmo and claimed that the latter should be assessed for 69 feet 7 inches and one private connection, leaving Mr. Jamieson 99 feet 1 inch and two connections. R. Nimmo consented and the change was made.

Erasmus Green, Water street, objected that his rate was too high.—Left over until next meeting.

A. McFarlane objected to the assessment of his frontage on Bubb's Lane.—Assessment confirmed.

E. Flaherty claimed he was assessed seven feet too much on Smith street.—To be decided at next meeting.

W. Connor appealed that he was assessed 1 1-2 feet too much.—Assessment confirmed.

Jas. Froude claimed that he was assessed 14 feet too much.—Assessment confirmed.

Chas. Miller thought the cost of Rubidge street sewer was too high.—Assessment confirmed.

The Toronto Savings and Loan Company claimed that Hon. Geo. A. Cox should be assessed for 96 1-2 feet on Homewood avenue instead of the company. Upon consent of Mr. Cox the change was made and assessment otherwise confirmed.

An appeal from Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr and Stevenson was left over until the next meeting.

The court adjourned to meet again on Monday, March 23rd, 1903.

A Japanese View of Religion.

The spirit of religious unrest and of dissatisfaction with existing religions that undoubtedly prevail to a large extent among the more intellectual classes in Japan finds noteworthy utterance in an article by Kiichi Kaneko in the "Metaphysical Magazine." "What is religion?" he asks; and answers:

"According to the ancient philosophers, religion is the worship of God. 'The object of religion,' says Seneca, 'is to know God and to imitate Him.' Even among modern thinkers, a man like Schleiermacher held that religion is to worship God and obey His commands. Immanuel Kant, the great German philosopher, once said, 'Religion consists in our recognizing all our duties as divine commands.' Many other scholars concur in this opinion. But it seems to me that these are the definitions given to the religions of the past. Such is the definition of the historic religions. It is not the definition of ideal religion, not of the religion of the new age, not of the religion of the future. It is too narrow and one-sided. Religion is not merely the worship of God. It is one's sincere attitude toward the universe and life. In this sense, we may call Socialism a religion; Positivism a religion; and Buddhism a religion. If religion is merely to worship a God, Buddhism may not be called a religion, because it names no god to worship. But no historical scholar of religion would overlook it. Buddhism is, undoubtedly, a religion. One of the representative scholars on comparative religion says, summing up all definitions of religion, that religion is the worship of higher power in the sense of need. This seems to me much better and a little broader. Edward Caird wisely adds to this that a 'man's religion is the expression of his summed-up meaning and the purport of his whole consciousness of things.' I think this is as nearly perfect a definition of religion as modern philosophers can give."

It seems a strange thing to Oriental peoples, continues the writer, that Christians should think that God is rightly acknowledged in Christendom only. Is it rational, he asks, to suppose that God should exclude the great majority of the inhabitants of this planet from His care and love? Mr. Kaneko finds it strange, too, that our people "read the Bible so much and always look back to Jesus." "Suppose the Bible were destroyed," he says, "would men then lose all faith in God?" He writes further:

"Christianity is a traditional religion, an historic religion, and so is Buddhism, so is Islam. Let science examine them and if desirable destroy them, and let us build there the new, the true religion of science. The Bible of the new religion should be science, but not that of the imperfect religious histories of Israelites, Hindus, or Chinese. Astronomy, biology, chemistry and psychology are the four gospels of the new religion. I do not say perfect gospels. They are still imperfect. We must make them perfect. The true gospel of the new religion is the universe itself. Look up to heaven—how beautifully the stars shine! Hear the birds—what sweet tones they sing! See the flowers—how lovingly they smile along the peaceful stream! What harmony! What mystery. Are not these the real gospels of our mother nature? . . . The Nirvana of the Buddhist is too abstract for the majority of the people, and the heaven of Christians is too mythological for a scientific mind. Mankind does not want Christianity, Islam, nor Buddhism. Mankind wants the truth, and the truth is brought out by candid and impartial investigation. Mankind is destined to have one religion, and one universal truth. Science will spread slowly but surely, and the scientific world-conception is leading the way to the religion of truth—the one truth, the one religion, the one moral end, and the one eternal God who exists forever."

Why Is It?

There are a few regular occasions on which every pretty girl feels inclined to give vent to her feelings by a "good cry." One is when her plain sister enters into the bonds of matrimony with an exceedingly good-looking man. It is very mortifying, if you happen to be pretty, to be left out in the cold, and the pretty girl never has understood, and never will understand, how it is. And perhaps it is really a good thing for the beauty of the family that she is so ignorant on this matter. If she fully comprehended the brain workings of that strange creature Man, matrimony would lose its dearest charm. The handsome man marries the plain girl. Cry as we will, this is a fact, and one that we may test the actuality of every day if we will.

To take up the question of forlorn beauty. Why is it? A man who is good-looking must admire beauty. He does admire it; he cannot help himself. Then why, the pretty girl enquires, does he marry her plainer sister?

The answer may best be found in the letters of twelve intelligent men on the subject of choosing a wife. Each one stated seriously what qualities he would look for in a possible partner, and set them down in order, the most important first, the less important following. Taking an average, their ideal was to be as follows: (1) Kind-hearted, true and sympathetic; (2) lively and fond of children; (3) proud of herself for the sake of her friends; (4) a good housekeeper and a busy bee; (5) a graceful figure and beautiful; (6) wealthy and clever.

The plain girl scores at once with her sympathy; it is her chief and most powerful weapon against a man. The girl with good looks has no need to find friends by being sympathetic, and it is doubtful if people would believe her sympathy to be genuine. At all social gatherings the plain girl is so much alone that her manner appears at once modest and retiring. Let a handsome man give her half an hour of his company and her whole mind is bent on being agreeable. But the pretty girl has a score of men to talk to, and falls into a habit of inattention. The pretty girl really has a harder time than the plain girl.

A Plausible Suggestion.

They were coming across the Brooklyn bridge, says the New York "Evening Sun," and saw a little tug puffing around one of Uncle Sam's war vessels just outside the navy basin.

"There's a man-of-war, my dear," he said, pointing to the big ship.

"And is the little one a tug-of-war?" she asked, as she gazed dreamily upon the water.

DEATH CAME WITH AWFUL SWIFTNESS

Catastrophe Follows a Railway Wreck at Olean, N. Y.

Oil Cars Exploded Carrying Death in Every Direction—Twenty at Least Killed

Olean, N.Y., March 10.—From eighteen to twenty lives were lost and fully twice that number of people were burned or bruised by an explosion of oil cars last night following a wreck on the Erie Railway north of this city. Owing to the fact that some of the bodies were incinerated in the fierce flames or blown into the creek by the force of the explosion, the exact number of dead will probably not be known for several days. The number of injured, too, is uncertain, as a large number of them were able to reach their homes and received treatment there.

HEARTRENDING SCENES.

The scenes following the explosion will never be forgotten by those who saw them. It was about nine o'clock in the evening when the train was wrecked. An Erie freight train, west-bound, broke in two on the hill two miles north of the city. At first the forward part of the train, released from the weight of the cars behind, sprang forward with increased speed. Brakes were applied, and the front portion of the train was brought almost to a standstill at the iron bridge across Olean Creek. The rear cars gathering momentum as they came down the hill, crashed into the forward part of the train. Most of the cars in the train were tank cars, filled with refined oil or gasoline. They weighed thousands of tons, and the impact was terrible. One of the tank cars caught fire soon after the collision. The exact cause of the fire is not known, but it is supposed to have started from a spark struck from the grinding pieces of iron in the wreckage. In a few minutes another car of gasoline caught fire, and burst in flames with a terrific report. Portions of the iron domes of the cars were hurled a distance of several hundred feet. The flames shot high up in the air, presenting a brilliant spectacle. In this early accident, so far as can be learned, no one was injured.

SPECTATORS INJURED.

A large crowd quickly gathered. Hundreds of people from Olean, North Olean, and the surrounding country side gathered to watch the brilliant display of flames. For two hours the people stood massed together, seemingly fascinated by the bright flames that shot hundreds of feet into the air. As the heat became less intense, the crowd began to edge a little closer to the wreckage until, at about 11 o'clock, some venturesome boys approached to within a few hundred feet of the burning debris.

Suddenly there was a terrific explosion. Great masses of white flames shot hundreds of feet into the air, and literally rolled down the banked sides of the track into the gully, where the spectators were standing. The heat was intense. Men and boys fell before the wave of white light to rise no more. Huge pieces of iron were hurled through the air with lightning velocity, mowing down the human beings by the score. Some managed to scramble to their feet, and get away from the flames, but others lay still in death.

DEATH CAME QUICKLY.

The scene of agony and horror at that moment was beyond description. A veritable rain of fire came down upon the crowd. Men and boys, with their clothing a mass of flames, ran down the track, shrieking in their agony, some of them falling to the ground unconscious, while others grovelled in the ditch or jumped into the creek in a mad endeavor to put out the fire that was consuming them. Many of those, overwhelmed by the flames, probably never knew what happened. They dropped where they stood and never again moved. The groans and cries of those maimed or burned were frightful to hear.

THE WORK OF RESCUE.

As soon as the telephone could be reached all the doctors in the city were summoned, and the ambulances were called out. Express wagons and other vehicles were pressed into service. In the meantime those in the vicinity of the wreckage who escaped injury made valiant efforts to rescue the wounded who were lying within reach of the withering flames. Boys were burned to death before their father's eyes, while they stood helpless to save them. Men so badly injured by the flying pieces of iron that they could not move, lay in the gully with the flames rolling down upon them until they perished.

Nothing could be done to check the flames. They began to die out about midnight. A short distance west of the iron bridge a dead line was established beyond which no one was permitted to pass, as one of the burning cars was still thought to be in danger of exploding.

THE SCENE A SAD ONE.

Weeping women and fear-stricken men were huddled together, many unable to find missing sons, brothers or husbands, and not knowing who, that they were among the dead lying strewn along the track or in the crowd of onlookers. It was about 1 o'clock in the morning when Deputy Sheriff Osterhout came forward and called for 20 volunteers to carry stretchers, on which the dead and injured were borne, to the ambulances and wagons, which had now begun to arrive. Three times as many as were called for stepped forward. It was a gruesome trip. A strong light was shining down the track, but, instead of serving to illuminate, it seemed to blind the sight with its dazzling whiteness. The first intimation of the proximity of a dead body was when the stretcher-bearers stumbled over two corpses lying in the middle of the track. They were the bodies of full-grown men, burned to a crisp and totally unrecognizable.

BURNED TO ASHES.

The body nearest the burning cars appeared to be that of a boy. Every stitch of clothing was burned off and the flesh was beginning to burn. It could not be approached owing to the intense heat. The body was burned to ashes. It is believed others were also incinerated.

For a distance of several rods north from the wreckage, in attitudes indicative of agony, lay corpses, on all of which the clothing was still burning. Several bodies were recovered from the water, where they had been blown by the force of the explosion. In all, 15 bodies were recovered and laid out beside the track out of reach of the flames. Over all the flames threw a sickly glare, and the smell of burning flesh was sickening. When the last body had been rescued the stretcher-bearers formed a procession and started down the track toward the ambulances and carriages. The crowd fell back as they approached and opened a passage-way for them. The only sound that broke the stillness while the sad procession filed past was an occasional sob or a shuddering "Oh!" The remains of the dead arrived in the city about 3 o'clock and were taken to undertaking establishments to be prepared for burial.

THE CHAMPIONS OF CANADA

Gauthrie Wins the Special Wrestling Contest

Owing to a number of the Britannia Naval Brigade missing the train, the entertainment in the opera house last night was delayed for over half an hour, but the audience was amply repaid for their wait when the curtain rose.

The five-round boxing bout between Jack Daly and Lorne Galloway furnished great sport.

The principal feature of the evening was the wrestling contest between the local wrestler, G. Gauthier, and W. Lorne Galloway, Gauthier throwing his opponent twice.

SMALLPOX AGAIN

Another Case Which is Causing Considerable Alarm

Further inquiry into the recent development of smallpox in Lindsay, elicits the information that the victim is an agent or peddlar, and it is his custom to drive from place to place. Before going to Lindsay he visited Norwood, Westwood and Warsaw, and the result is that the Provincial Board of Health is taking action, and has ordered the different hotels quarantined where he stayed. At Westwood he is said to have described his illness as chickenpox. At present the man is in safe keeping at Lindsay, where he will undergo the usual treatment.

It is sincerely hoped that no serious results will follow the negligence of the unfortunate man, who perhaps was quite innocent regarding the seriousness of his malady.

AN AUTOMOBILE LINE

Prospects of a Line Between Chemong Park and Town

Yesterday Mr. E. J. Philip, President of the Dominion Motor and Machine Co., Toronto, was in town in regard to the proposal to establish a line of horseless buses between Peterborough and Chemong Park. In the afternoon Mr. Philip was driven to Chemong, in company with a number of the promoters of the enterprise.

Mr. Philip expressed himself as being favorably impressed with the outlook. The heavy grades of the hills is the chief difficulty, and it is probable that, instead of carriages to carry 20 or 25 persons, as at first proposed, rigs of lighter dimensions will be built, to carry 8 or 10 persons.

That such a line would pay, and pay well, is no longer in doubt. The whole matter will be decided in a few days.

A NEW FLOATING BRIDGE.

Wanted by the Peterborough County Council for Gannon's Narrows

Yesterday morning the County Council of the County of Peterborough left for Ottawa, where it is their intention to interview the Minister of Public Works regarding the proposed floating bridge at Gannon's Narrows, and if possible to secure a grant for it.

The proposed structure has been desired for many years by the people in the vicinity of Gannon's Narrows, and it is felt would be a very great convenience. The cost of the bridge it is estimated would be about $4000, and it is thought that with a grant of $1200 from the Dominion Government, and also one from the Ontario Government, that the County can easily assume the remainder of the expenditure.

The bridge will replace the present ferry service, and will have a steel swing on the Ennismore side of the river. At this point the width is 1275 feet and the depth from 16 to 20 feet.

Will Dissolve Partnership

Messrs. Kerby and Turk, who recently conducted a most successful series of revival meetings in Peterborough, are now in Port Hope, engaged in the same work. Owing to the impaired health of Mr. Turk, who is unable to endure the continued strain of evangelistic work, the evangelists have decided to separate, and Mr. Kerby has accepted a call to the Methodist church at Calgary, Alberta, where he will begin his labors in June.

KEEP EYE ON THE KAISER IS RUSSIA'S ADVICE

Great Britain Warned to Beware of the German Emperor

The Eastern Question May Become Acute at Any Moment, When Britain Must Act

London, March 11.—Not only in England, but in Russia, the press is warning the government to keep an eye on the Kaiser. A late issue of the influential Novoe Vreymya defines the situation thus;

"Germany, who a quarter of a century ago said she was quite indifferent to the Balkaria Peninsula, is at the present moment the most active agent at Constantinople. England is occupied not only with the fate of the Dardanelles, but also with Egypt and Asia Minor, where the Germans are beginning to play a leading role. Russia has now other friends and other rivals. In their new position it is necessary for her to consider matters."

It is quite apparent here that Russia is "considering matters," and is to be deeply disappointed if the Macedonian pretext turns out too weak to enable her to swoop down on Constantinople. Her hand is seen in the organization of the Macedonian Revolutionary League.

For the purpose of administration Macedonia is divided into 800 districts. Every district group consists of eight members—all fanatics sworn to serve the cause. Thus there are 6,400 active agents, mostly of Bulgarian birth who serve to organize the revolution, and who would officer the insurgents in case of war.

At present the agents propagate the doctrines of the society, and are engaged in the smuggling into Turkey of arms, which they distribute among the disaffected population. Another part of their duty is to affect the assassination of spies and tyrannical Turkish officials. They also murder those of their own countrymen who refuse to contribute to the cause.

Their power is so great that they completely terrorize the Christian inhabitants of European Turkey.

If anything is calculated to stir up the Sultan the operations of this League ought to do so. And Russia's ear is open, and eager for Bulgaria's cry for help.

St. Petersburg, March 12.—The leading papers of this city have articles on the eastern question, and nearly all admit Britain's great responsibility. The situation may become acute at any moment, when England, in self protection, will be forced to act.

HAMILTON PROVIDENT AND LOAN SOCIETY

A Splendid Report Presented at the Annual Meeting

The report presented at the thirty-first annual general meeting of the shareholders of the Hamilton Provident Loan Society, which was held at the head office of that progressive institution in Hamilton on 1st instant, is one that will be read with a very great deal of satisfaction by every friend of the Company. The management is to be congratulated on the results of the year's operations. The business of 1902 was unusually good, the net profits amounting to the handsome sum of $94,088.72, out of which dividends amounting to 6 per cent. were paid, and $25,000 was added to the reserve fund, which now amounts to $365,000, while the contingent fund is $18,687.22. The directors reported that repayments of principal and interest had been most satisfactory. The death of the president, Hon. A. T. Wood, necessitated the election of a successor, and at a recent meeting Alexander Turner, of Hamilton, was unanimously chosen for the important position—a wise choice, for Mr. Turner is one of the safest, surest and most careful business men in the country; a man in whom the public has complete confidence. The society is to be congratulated upon the fact that Mr. Turner is now at its head, as well as upon the fact that its business is growing rapidly and surely—the result of good management by the treasurer, Mr. Ferris, and his able staff of energetic assistants. Read the report: you will find it interesting.

THE LANCET AND TOBACCO

Extract from "Liqueurs et Tabacs," July, 1902

A recent number of the English medical journal, the Lancet, contains a long article on the cigarette. After stating that of all the methods of smoking, the cigarette owed its great spread to its convenience, our confrere thus concluded:

This being recognized (the growing general use of the cigarette) it is important to ascertain if its use is more dangerous than that of the cigar or the pipe. One fact which militates in favor of the cigarette, is that it gives a much lighter smoke than a pipe. Moreover, the cigarette, from one end to the other, is in direct contact with the air and the combustion is absolutely complete. It is also objected against the cigarette that the combustion takes place near the nose, and the smoke from the end is constantly inhaled, and that through the lips objectionable matter may penetrate, a reproach attaching, but in a less degree to the cigar. The employment of a cigarette holder obviates these two inconveniences, the inhalation of the smoke, and the flow of tobacco juice into the mouth. A long pipe, kept constantly clean, effectively protects the smoker against these two dangers. Nevertheless, smoked rationally, it is certain that the cigarette is the most inoffensive way of using tobacco. Thanks to its convenience and its cheapness it is easy to understand the immense favor it enjoys throughout the world.

STRIKE ON C.P.R., OFFICIAL STATEMENT

Company Says Trouble Was Caused by Suspension for Irregularities

TWO OFFERS OF SETTLEMENT

Both Rejected by Employes—Places of Those Who Went Out are Being Filled

Montreal, March 11.—"I have nothing more to say regarding the Vancouver strike than the official statement issued to-day," said Mr. D. McNicoll, second vice-president and general manager of the Canadian Pacific, to a press representative. The following is the official statement;

"The strike among our employes at Vancouver and Winnipeg has arisen through the suspension of one of our employes for irregularities. No notice was given us, and the strike was called at an hour intended to embarass the company. The services of the other orders were offered as a conciliation committee, but were rejected by the strikers. An offer of a commission to investigate the alleged grievances was also rejected by them. This organization the United Brotherhood of Railway Employes, is one which caused the Canadian Northern Railway trouble in Winnipeg last season, and their leader, Mr. Estes, of San Francisco, failing there, is making another trial in British Columbia under the ridiculous pretext that we are endeavoring to down unionism. Our position towards our employes is too well known for this cry to have any effect. Promises of promotion and salary increases have been made by the strikers to clerks to divulge confidential information regarding the company's affairs. As this order accepts employes in any branch of the service, including members of other orders, they have induced a few having contracts with the company to break them, and are unsuccessfully trying to get others. All told there are about two to three hundred employes on strike, and we are rapidly filling their places. The position of the Canadian Pacific towrds its employes is to-day what it has always been. Every employe knows that any grievance he may have will be carefully considered by the management."

THE ETHICS OF EATING

Many live to eat while others eat so merely to live, and content themselves with the plainest and smallest amount of food that will sustain life. "If you would be well, learn to eat like a Christian," said a distinguished physician not long ago to a patient who came to him suffering from nervous dyspepsia, heart trouble and general debility. When called upon to explain his idea of a Christian diet, this doctor stated that it meant two hearty and nutritious meals a day with a light luncheon between them. The patient, a business man, who had been pursuing the dieting cure almost to a point of starvation, paid the doctor's fee and by faithfully following this advice has become a healthy man.

As eating to excess is a fruitful cause of dyspepsia, and other like ailments, it is comparatively seldom that the doctor feels called upon to advise their men patients to indulge in a more generous diet. But they tell us that dieting to excess is so frequent among dyspeptic and neurotic women as often to be the cause of the very ills they wish to cure. There is a class of women—the ultra-genteel class—who regard a healthy hearty appetite as vulgar, who nibble delicately at sweets and confectionery, but disdain wholesome meats, fruits, vegetables and plain bread and butter.

Miss Van Vorst tells us how the working girls she met in her experiment of learning by personal experience the [illegible] in order to save money for fine clothes, and lived on pies, cakes and other unwholesome things in those sparing [illegible] supposed to be indicative of superior delicacy and refinement, it would seem as if that ancient cult which made the mortification of the body a means of grace to the soul, had many disciples today among our women, both of the fashionable and the working classes. There is reason in all things. "To eat like a Christian," either for man or woman, means neither a starvation diet nor one full to repletion.

Mr. Harper, of Minneapolis, who last July celebrated his 100th birthday in the enjoyment of a mental and physical vigor, not often granted to men of sixty, fancies that he owes his long life and continued health to the fact that he has always made it a rule to rise from the table with his hunger not quite satisfied. To eat too much is quite as bad as eating too little. "It is the middle course which benefits the wise man," says Horace, that most level-headed of poets and philosophers. This maxim applies to the diet as to all things else. The stomach may be regarded as the very nerve-centre of life. Well cared for it will remain in health and perform its normal functions. Starved, or over-loaded, it will have its revenge.

BODY AND BRAIN

The remarkable statement is made by the Chicago Record-Herald, a careful paper, that about 3,500 persons over one hundred years of age, live in the United States. The average age expectancy of life is increasing all over the world. It is estimated that the prolongation of life has gained twenty-five per cent in the past fifty years. It is added that curiously for every man who has reached the age of one hundred years there are two women. Statistics of most countries confirm this statement. It used to be said that forty was the old age of youth," and that "fifty was the youth of old age." Charles T. Yerkes, in a London interview, said that a man was not really ripe for business until he was fifty, being with few exceptions merely an apprentice before that age. Henry Clew lately said he knew many men who had achieved their greatest successes after they were sixty. Evidently the theory that the world is for young men is not to go unchallenged. And indeed, perhaps the pathetic truth is that the world is for young men only in the ranks of muscular labor or allied callings, where bodily vigor and endurance are of more, or as much account as mental force. The brain may not develop more slowly than muscle, but it may grow for a greater length of time, and last a deal longer in fighting trim.

A PECK OF TROUBLE.

One of the members of the well-known "Beaver Hunting Club" had quite an exciting time last Wednesday. He is down at Mr. Robbins' cottage, Jack's Lake, assisting Mr. Wigg in some improvements that are being made. On that morning "Ned" sent him down to the lake for a couple of pieces of timber that were required. As he did not return in a reasonable time, Ned went out to see [illegible] but could not find him for some time, until he heard a call, when he found him some 20 feet up a cedar tree, where he said he had taken refuge from a pack of wolves. "You can hear them now, Ned; better climb up," was Ben's advice. Ned only laughed as he replied, "Those are my two dogs that got loose, chasing rabbits; get down out of that and help me home with the timber." To say Ben was scared is no name for it. Ned says his tracks in the snow, where he jumped for the tree were 12 or 15 feet apart. Ben had evidently got out of bed on the wrong side that morning, as his troubles were not to end when he got to the cottage. After dinner Ned sent him down to the "farm" for something. Soon after his arrival there he got into an altercation with "Old Jennie," who finally, to clinch the matter, got hold of a club. Ben, in looking for a place of safety, noticed the big windmill and soon, notwithstanding his size, was shying up the ladder like a squirrel up a nut tree. The platform reached, some fifty or sixty feet from the ground, he could take breath and securely watch Jennie as he tore around below with the big club. At last a truce was proclaimed and Ben got down and made tracks for the cottage, where he arrived, minus the article he was sent for, and looking very white and played out.

NEURALGIA.

THIS DISTRESSING COMPLAINT IS DUE TO IMPOVERISHED BLOOD

When the blood becomes thin and watery, as a matter of course you become weak, vitality gets down low, and there is but little power in the system to ward off disease and pain.

Neuralgia hunts out a weak spot, and makes a home there, so secure that it is hard to drive it out. But by using the proper remedies it can be driven from the system, never to return. To obtain immediate relief, first apply to the painful parts a good quantity of Polson's Nerviline and then bind on a hot flannel cloth.

This local treatment will be found very efficacious, but must be followed [illegible] of Ferrozone. Ferrozone is a blood food and a blood purifier, and quickly strengthens the system so that further attacks may never be feared. It makes the rich, red kind of blood, that gives strength and vigor to weak constitutions, and puts them in good shape to resist neuralgia attacks.

This combined treatment of Nerviline and Ferrozone in Neuralgia, Sciatica, and Rheumatism, is marvelously effective, and cures after all else has failed. Because of the unique success of these remedies we have no hesitancy in endorsing their use to our readers. All druggists sell them.

earnestly and more genially. "And I'm sure I shall do my best to persuade the poor, dear, silly girl to remember that all this is her own fault, and that she must consider both you and Sir Astley in every way she can. Poor child! She used to be very impetuous, but I dare say she's toned down now!"

Norma looked at the doctor's wife suspiciously, and wondered whether she had really been ignorant that her sister's death was only a pretense.

"She speaks of coming here," said Norma, glancing at the doctor's letter to his wife, which she still held in her hand. "Surely you can use your influence to prevent that! If she were to force herself into Sir Astley's presence without notice, without warning, it might kill him, I really believe."

"I'll do my very best to persuade her to be cautious," said Mrs. Wharles, "and not to do anything hastily. But, poor thing! I dare say her heart will get the better of her head when once she finds herself near him again!"

"We must hope not," said Norma rather drily, as she rose, as an intimation that the interview was at an end.

She felt that there was nothing to be gained by reasoning with this woman, who was actuated, she felt sure, by self-interest only, and who would carry out her intentions, whatever they might be, without regard to anybody's feelings but her own.

So she gave the doctor's wife not a shake of the hand, but a little cold bow, as the latter took her leave.

When she got upstairs again Norma found Astley, who was better than he had been on the previous night and for the time completely conscious, in a state of evident anxiety. No sooner had Martin left the room than he asked quickly:

"What did Mrs. Wharles want with you?"

"She came to explain that her husband had been called away suddenly," said Norma in a soothing tone. "Didn't you notice that you had a change of doctors?"

"Oh yes," said Astley, still frowning. Then, after a short pause, he added: "I wonder what Wharles is up to! And why his wife should have thought it necessary to call! They're a detestable pair, greedy and I fancy unscrupulous, and I know they're ostentatious and extravagant. Don't have any more to do with either of them than you can help, Norma, mind that."

"Yes, dear. Why do you have him, if you dislike him so much?"

"Because, unluckily, he's the only medical man about here who knows anything about his profession. I dare say," he added, after a moment's thought, "I am influenced by the fact that his wife was a sister of mine, and that her influence was not for good. There was only one decent member of the family, the third sister, a widow, a Mrs. Finch. All the rest, mother, Lottie, Mrs. Wharles, were untrustworthy, every one."

"What is the third sister like?" asked Norma, with a sudden suspicion. "Is she a twin sister of the one you married?"

"Oh, no. She was taller, and not at all like her. Lottie was the shortest, but the prettiest, and took after the mother, who must have been a very lovely woman in her day."

"Oh!" said Norma, with a spasm of disappointment. For the idea had shot into her mind that, if the sisters had [illegible] conceived the plan of getting the living one to pass for her dead sister.

"Don't let us talk about them," said Astley. "Let us talk about ourselves, each other."

Norma smiled a rather pitiful smile, as she accepted his mute invitation to take his hand and sit beside him.

"I'm afraid I must forbid your talking at all," said she, gently. "You have chattered too much already."

"Well then, I'll give you a rest, on one condition: come nearer and tell me, just whisper—whether you'll be satisfied with a marriage which is only a business partnership, whether you won't let a touch of sentiment come in? Come, come, haven't you any answer? There, there, don't cry. It shall be just as you wish, you know, but I thought that—perhaps—"

"Sh—sh!" said Norma, with sudden peremptoriness which did not alarm him. "I won't have you talk; I forbid it. You are to lie quite, quite still, and, and—" She broke off her [illegible] trying to speak irritably and fighting back the tears. She wanted to be business-like, hard, matter-of-fact, forbidding. And then he looked up, and her heart gave a great leap, and without another word she leaned down impulsively and pressed a loving, lingering kiss on his forehead.

He took it quite quietly, without a sound, but after that he seemed satisfied to obey her injunction to be still and submissive, and lay back with her hand clasped in his, breathing regularly, and looking at her with a sort of half smile hovering about his mouth.

As for her, she felt completely broken hearted. How should she tell him the truth? How should she be able to go away and leave him when he learned that the tie between them was non-existent, that he was bound to the woman who had so infamously deceived him?

For Norma had the strongest suspicions that the Wharleses, husband and wife, would succeed in trumping up such an answer to the grave charges Astley had brought against Lottie that it would indeed, as they had predicted, be impossible for him to get free.

After a time, to Norma's great distress, Astley began to grow restless again, and to wander a little in his mind, not for long together, but enough to alarm her, when she had thought the height of the fever past.

His thoughts had been sent back to the old days of his married life with Lottie, and it cut Norma to the heart to hear him remonstrating with her for her frivolity and heartlessness, and reproaching her with not caring for him.

"Why did you marry me, if you didn't care? Why did you? Why did you? You were pretty enough to have married anybody. Haven't you any heart, Lottie? Don't you really care?"

Then for a space he would lie quietly and seem to sleep. Then once again his eyes would open, and the incoherent muttering begin afresh. It was a relief to her when his thoughts went forward a little, and she heard her own name again on his lips:

"Norma, Norma, my little wild girl with the big eyes! I'll make you love me—it will be easy enough—though you don't know it. No, you don't know it! You shall love me, and console me for what the other one did; and you shall be happy yourself, yes, I promise you that. Norma! Little wild bird, little wicked Norma. Norma! Norma! Norma! Hark, what's that? Who's that?"

To Norma's great distress his tone had suddenly changed, and he had sprung up

Thirty-First Annual Meeting of the Shareholders

OF THE

Hamilton Provident and Loan Society

The thirty-first annual meeting of the shareholders of the society was held at the society's head office at eleven o'clock this forenoon. Among those present were the following: Alex. Turner, T. H. Macpherson, Hon. William Gibson, J. T. Glassco, George Rutherford, George Hope, Judge Snider, Jas. Webster, Judge Robertson, H. W. Clarkson, H. H. Miller (Hanover), D. F. Sutherland, (Winchester), J. K. Rochester, (Renfrew), W. L. Harcourt, (Brandon), H. H. Anderson, (Grimsby) Charles Judd, George LeRiche, W. F. Findlay, T. J. Doak, T. H. Crerar, Col. A. H. Moore, P. D. Crerar, John Crerar, John McCoy, C. Ferrie, W. Murray R. Butler, D. M. Cameron, James Angus.

The president, Alexander Turner, in the chair.

C. Ferrie, treasurer, acted as secretary.

The Thirty-First Annual Report of the Directors of the Hamilton Provident and Loan Society.

The secretary read the report and annual statement as follows:

The directors, in submitting the Society's thirty-first annual report, have much pleasure in congratulating the shareholders on the satisfactory results of another year's operations, as exhibited in the accompanying financial statement, duly audited.

The net profits of the year, after paying and providing for all dues and accrued interest on borrowed capital, paying cost of management and other charges, amounted to $94,038.72, out of which two half-yearly dividends at the rate of 6 per cent, per annum were paid, together with taxes on capital and income, and the balance, $26,889.72, has bee annual statements as follows:

Added to reserve fund	$25,000 00
Credited to contingent fund	1,889 72
		$26,889 72

After writing off all losses, providing for possible shrinkage in value of securities, also writing $3,000 off the society's building there remains at the credit of the contingent fund, $18,037.32.

The reserve fund now amounts to $365,000

The repayments on account of principal and interest have been most satisfactory.

The directors have to record with profound regret the death of their late president, the Hon. A. T. Wood, which took place on the 21st day of January last. He was admirably fitted for the position of president, and the directors can only express their sense of the great loss which the society has sustained in his death.

At a meeting of the board held on the 26th ultimo, at which all the directors were present, Alexander Turner was unanimously elected president, and T. H. Macpherson vice-president.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ALEX. TURNER, President.

STOCK MARKETS

AFFAIRS IN THE SOUTH WEST

New York, March 11—Things don't always sell for what they are worth. Sometimes they sell for more than they are worth. The writer has seen Missouri Pacific sell at 120 then at 10, then again at 125. They were not chalk marks upon a blackboard where a guessing match was going on, but sales of real property under the hammer of the auctioneer as every property is constantly from 10 o'clock until 3 that is dealt in upon the exchange. Much as figures change and sentiment with them, the property itself has consisted always of a certain number of miles of railroad terminating at certain points, and it has been influenced and increased in value by one thing only, the growth of the country. To further accentuate it, it should be thoroughly understood that while this country at times stood still it never went backward; the country never went from 120 to 10, indeed it never went from 120 to 119. Its course is onwards and upwards and the very worst that ever happens to it is to momentarily stand still. Mo. P. made these gyrations, principally because thoroughly advertised, thus becoming popularly traded in. It is extremely improbable that the average investor could call all at hand the names of all the southwestern group of railroads. The bold spirits that make history are at work developing the new southwest. This development has all the advantages of modern times and American grit. At Schenectady they are making, for the Southern Pacific, engines which will burn Texas oil, capable of drawing forty times as much as Peters' copper engine drew and ten per cent. more than an engine can draw used anywhere else in the world. These properties are becoming popular thereby possessing a paramount interest to all interested. In fluctuations they will follow the action of their predecessors. Old time traders will remember Lakawanna and its violent and unreasonable ups and downs. Later on Chicago Gas occupied similar position, also St. Paul and B & O., then Rock Island. Cobblestones could not do this. There is something real behind them. Advertising does for a railroad what it does for a brand of shoes. The south western group of railroads will become famous without any effort of their own. Every dollar spent in exploiting Texas oil is a knock at the door of an investor in southwestern stock.

Summary—a marked and most important feature of the market to-day is the large amount of various issues changing hands without recording new low figures, in most cases at improved prices. This fact following several days of similar dealings indicates the near approach of the inevitable turn in the market. Stocks are all better than they were yesterday. We feel inclined to suggest buying to hold for a bit at the moment. Money closed last loan 4 per cent. Sales 724,700.

SAFE AS GOVERNMENT BONDS

IS THE STOCK OF THE

DAYTON OIL COMPANY

If you can find any legitimate investment that will equal ours, we certainly do not think you will share in the profits of our enterprise, but we do expect if you have an eye open for a safe investment and are NOW ready to invest, that we are placing at your disposal an opportunity whereby you can make 400 per cent., when our property is developed and have a security as good as government bonds, cashable then at any time, and at a profit in an enterprise superior in character heretofore given to the general public.

Our property, which is located in famous KERN COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, will prove to be entirely oil bearing. It is surrounded on the north, south, east and west by corporations who have flowing wells, which are giving forth from 250 to 500 barrels of oil a day each.

We are not doing any pioneering or prospecting in the development of this land, as such has already been done by others months ago, therefore we are perfectly safe when claiming that we will be rewarded with a heavy producer in every well we drill. We also know with all assurance that when inviting you to invest, that you will never regret having had the opportunity thrown out to you.

As an illustration of what the returns in dividends have been from a few of Kern County Oil Corporations, we take pleasure in quoting as many as space will permit of, giving the names of the corporations who have earned them, the amounts and acreage of each:

		Acres.			Acres.
American Oil Co	$15,000 00	15	Aztec Oil Co	$ 2,700 00	160
Buckhorn Oil Co	3,800 00	80	Burlington Oil Co	3,600 00	10
Central Oil Co	73,000 00	2,250	Central Point Cont. Co	19,000 00	320
Continental Oil Co	7,000 00	240	Four Oil Co	12,000 00	20
Home Oil Co	230,000 00	80	Homestake Oil Co	28,000 00	160
Kern Oil Co	350,000 00	480	Producers' Oil Co	56,500 00	160
Reed Crude Oil Co	5,000 00	1,560	Rex Oil Co	26,000 00	40
San Joaquin Oil Co	15,000 00	490	West Lake Oil Co	50,000 00	37
Yukon Oil Co	21,000 00	14	Pacific Coast Oil Co	13,000,000 00	..

The Dayton Oil Company's net income to be derived from production upon 10 wells will amount to $225,000, and this amount divided by the number of shares issued will entitle each stockholder to the sum of $90 upon each 100 shares owned by them.

These figures are upon 10 wells only, and figured upon a conservative basis of only 200 barrels a day production from each well.

What then will be the results from our rich holdings, which is good for 200 wells?

Will you be one of the fortunate ones to become identified in this corporation? If so, why not avail yourself of this opportunity and purchase stock at the ground floor starting price of

25 CENTS PER SHARE

Which will have its first advance shortly to 50 cents a share.

Kindly bear in mind that this corporation's stock is absolutely non-assessable, made so by the laws of Arizona where this company obtained its charter.

It is also advisable that you realize when becoming a stockholder that you also own an interest in its land as the Dayton Oil Company owns its land outright.

The Electric Spark GOLD MINING COMPANY

Offers to investors an opportunity to secure through a purchase of its stock

A monthly income of $50.00

On an investment of $1,000; or a monthly income of $5.00 on an investment of $100.00. This is purely a business proposition. Their is no uncertainty about it; you do not take any chances. We actually have enough ore in sight to keep us working for three or four years, and the more development work we do the more ore there is in sight; the deeper we go the richer it is. Bear in mind, too, that we do not come to the public with an untried experiment. Our shaft is nearing the 200 foot mark, with better values at the bottom than any place nearer the surface. The ore runs in value from $25.00 to $86 80 per ton, by actual carload shipments.

The par value of our stock is $1.00, with only a limited amount of shares to be sold, and this has been placed on the market at the low rate of 20 CENTS PER SHARE. On March 14, the price will be advanced to 30 cents per share, providing any of the original offering remains unsold; therefore we advise all who are interested to send in their applications without a moment's delay, as they will be filled and eventually rejected just in the order received. Prospectus free on request. Applications should be addressed to and remittance made payable to the order of

Thunder Mountain!

is the richest gold producing camp in the United States, and also the largest. The Thunder Mountain district, in central Idaho, is twenty miles wide and forty miles long. In comparison with this we have Cripple Creek, four miles wide and seven miles long. In many of the Thunder Mountain mines ore has already been reached that carries ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD TO THE TON. All of the Thunder Mountain ore is free milling, which means that it can be treated by the cheapest extraction process known—the ordinary stamp mill. It can be both mined and milled at a cost not to exceed $2 a ton. The past years operations in the several working mines have opened up millions of tons of ore that will give a net profit of from $10 to $30 a ton, enabling the respective companies to pay dividends at a rate never before equalled. Such is the showing and the prospect of the

EAST DEWEY GOLD MINING CO.

which unless all indications are at fault, will become the largest producer in the district. The EAST DEWEY mine, which it owns outright, is located directly on Thunder Mountain, just east of the famous "Dewey" mine, which already has $20,000,000 of ore in sight. The surface area of the East Dewey mine is one hundred and twenty acres—six full quartz claims. The company has also secured the big GOLDEN GATE [illegible] in the Big Creek section of the Thunder Mountain district—which has been so aptly termed "The Pot of Gold"—and is now developing the mine with all possible speed. For a distance of 9,000 feet, nearly two miles, the Golden Gate mines cover a mineralized ledge that is 900 feet wide, with an average height above the tunnel level of 500 feet, thus giving it the largest exposed tonnage of any mine in the west.

If you would share in the enormous profits which these figures indicate and which these developments promise, invest your money in "East Dewey" Stock. It can be bought to-day for 10 Cents a Share. Its par value is $1.

If the East Dewey mines are what they appear to be, and there is absolutely no reason to doubt or question these indications, this stock will eventually be worth at least $10 a share, and to-day you can buy it for ten cents. PRICE ADVANCES TO FIFTEEN CENTS ON FEBRUARY 28th. 5% discount allowed for cash. Stock sold at flat price of 10 cents on deferred payments, 10% with application, and 10% monthly until paid. Full particulars, prospectus, etc., on request.

THE STREET RAILWAY.

American Capitalists In Town Looking Over the Property

A couple of gentlemen, said to be from Chicago, arrived in town yesterday, with a view to the purchase of the street railway.

The Times is not in a position to say much about the matter to-day, but it is understood that the new syndicate propose to ask for a 30 years' franchise from the town. If this is granted, and terms can be made with the present owners of the property, it is possible that the road may be in operation by the middle of May.

We believe that objection will be taken to granting a free franchise for so long a period.

The Council will be expected to submit the matter to a vote of the ratepayers before taking action.

ASKING QUESTIONS

An Inquiry Changed a Man's Whole Life

When you get a man to recognise that his bad feelings come from improper food and that he can get well by using scientific food, the battle is half won. One of New York's business men says:

"I was troubled for a long time with indigestion, headache and stomach trouble, and had taken various medicines but with no good results. I concluded to see how a change of food would affect me. I never cared particularly for cereals of any kind, and ate meat and pastry continually and drank coffee.

I found on inquiring, that Grape-Nuts was highly spoken of, and decided to give them a trial. To say I was surprised at the result would not begin to do justice to my feelings. My headaches left me; my brain became clearer and active; my attacks of indigestion grew fewer and fewer until they ceased entirely, and where I once went home tired, fagged out and indisposed to any exertion whatever, I now found a different state of affairs.

My color was good, my muscles strong and firm and equal to anything I asked of them, instead of soft and flabby. I live two miles from my business, and walk it daily, back and forth if the weather permits. I am 55 years old, and feel as well and strong as when I was 30, and can ride 75 miles a day on a bicycle without feeling any bad results." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Schwab's New York Mansion.

Andrew Carnegie's splendid new residence on Upper 5th avenue is to have a rival in the home soon to be erected on the West Side, for his protege, Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation.

Plans for Mr. Schwab's city home have been completed, and it will cost about $2,500,000 and stand on a plot for which Mr. Schwab paid $865,000 about a year ago. House and site, therefore, will represent an investment of more than $3,350,000.

Ever since the young president of the billion dollar steel trust bought the block bounded by Riverside drive, West End avenue, Seventy-third and Seventy-fourth streets there has been much speculation as to what he would do with it. One report was that he had bought the land merely as an investment. All doubt as to his purpose has now been set at rest and the bureau buildings have been consulted about the final for the mansion Mr. Schwab will build.

Following the example of Mr. Carnegie, the steel king will have a city residence with ample ground all about it. His new home will be 150x100 feet, and the house will stand in the center of the block. There will be a fine frontage on Riverside drive, overlooking the Hudson, and the grounds on each of the other sides will be laid out magnificently. The house will be four stories in height and is expected to be completed by Christmas next year. The New York Orphan Asylum, which has stood on the site for many years, is being demolished, and orders have been given that work for Mr. Schwab's mansion begin at once.

Milk as a Means of Suicide.

It is remarkable that so mild and intrinsically harmless a beverage as milk should be so frequently chosen as a means of exit into the other world. Yet at this summer season the lethal effects of milk seem to be much underrated. For example, we read in the despatches from California that "a prominent young man of Calaveras County died here to-day as a result of eating cherries and drinking milk." This is a slight variant from the usual combination. Probably the most deadly is pickles and milk. Strawberries and milk are only mildly toxic; with young and hardy stomachs, they are often partially digested; with older ones they frequently cause nothing more than eructative dyspepsia, or, at worst, hives, nettle-rash, urticaria, or summer complaint, therefore those who are fond of this combination rarely abstain in the face of these comparatively trifling ailments.

Next to pickles and milk, probably the most deadly form in which the innocent fluid can be made to figure is the cheap ice cream combination. Despite the toughness of juvenile viscera, milk in the ice cream form, if judiciously administered, has been known to lay out in intestinal kinks many scores of children on Sunday school picnics. With their elders, the combination is not infrequently fatal. Of course it requires much care to make milk so deadly. In fact, with careless mixing this kind of ice cream may be taken with comparative impunity, or only a slight illness. When it is prepared with attention to the proper septic and toxic conditions, however, milk in this form may be looked upon as practically certain death; it would be invaluable as an apparently innocent means of hurrying off rich uncles, tardy spinster aunts, and other rich persons who linger superfluous on life's stage. In its most potent form, when the innocent milk has become merely a culture-bed for billions of ice cream ptomaines, the doctors call the mixture "tyro-toxicon." This name is imposing and scientific sounding, and doubtless gives a certain chastened satisfaction to the mourners—much more than would plain milk.

To return to our original remark—it is extraordinary what pains people take to render deadly this harmless beverage. Even if the cow be sound, they will expose the milk to all manner of impurities—including typhoid germs—before they put it inside of them. Even if it be perfectly pure they take it at temperatures and under conditions that are unwise, if not dangerous. To take a glass of milk by itself is a sensible proceeding; to take it on top of a hearty meal composed of proteids, carbo-hydrates, and hydro-carbons, is most unwise; to take it with acids is to woo dyspepsia. Yet the latter method is the one most preferred, for cream is used as a mechanical lubricant with all manner of acid fruits.

As to temperature—in the summer season people prefer it ice cold, and some lunatics even put ice into it. If they take it at the temperature of the air, without accompanying solid food, it is probably speedily absorbed without going through the complex processes of gastric and hepatic digestion. If, on the other hand, it be taken ice cold, it at once coagulates and the stubborn casein in it sometimes requires hours for digestion; this latter is invariably the case when it is accompanied with solid food.

Many a man and woman has died through drinking freely of iced milk on a hot summer's day. Adelaide Nielson, the beautiful actress, went into a Paris restaurant on the way to the Bois de Boulogne one summer day—one of those broiling, blistering, steaming days of which in Paris they have so many, and of which we hear so little. She ordered a glass of iced milk; she did not sip it—against the advice of her companion, she drank it rapidly, and followed it with another. In a few moments she was dead.

Eheu! She was a fine actress and a very beautiful woman. They show you the room in which she died. They even point out to you the lounge on which she yielded up her last breath. "Yes, monsieur. Yes, madame. Voila!—that is the place where the beautiful actress Anglais have die. She was very beautiful, very gentile. Oh, yes. It was a grand pity. Oh, yes. She drink a glass of the milk—cold, very cold. Thank you, monsieur. Thank you, a thousand times. Good day, madame; good-day, monsieur."

The World's Best Age.

Most people have no doubt asked themselves at some time or other what part of the world's history would have been best worth living in; it is a favorite topic, on which the superlative degree is often exercised. Mr. Justin McCarthy, the eminent Irish historian, has been heard to vote for the period of Dr. Johnson and Mrs. Thrale. Years ago, when Mr. Gladstone was alive, the Grand Old Man and a group of friends were discussing this same question at Hawarden Castle. Mr. Gladstone, without any hesitation, decided from the intellectual point of view, and expressed the opinion that he would describe as the greatest day in the world's history a day in ancient Greece, when Athens was at the summit of its glory. Another member of the group chose the day of Pentecost. The effect on Mr. Gladstone is still remembered vividly by those who were present. The intellectual gave way at once to the spiritual, and the aged statesman, "seeming rather ashamed of himself," according to one who was present, asked leave to withdraw his former choice and to say, "A day with the [illegible]."—Ladies' Weekly.

"I am well now and enjoying better health than ever before in my whole life."

That is the statement of a woman who had never been well until she was made well by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. There are a great many other women in like case. They have always been sufferers from disease. They have never known the joy of perfect health.

For all such women Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription holds out the prospect of perfect and permanent health, by the cure of the womanly diseases which weaken women. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"It gives me pleasure to let you know of the great benefit received from Dr. Pierce's medicines and the advice which you so kindly sent," writes Mrs. Bertie Parker, of Bonham, Fannin Co., Texas. "I took your 'Favorite Prescription,' 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pellets,' and followed your advice regarding the 'Lotion Tablets,' and am cured. I had been treated by different doctors and spent one hundred dollars for treatment and medicine, but received very little relief. I have only spent seventeen dollars and fifty cents for your medicine and it has cured me in three or four months of ulceration and falling of uterus. I suffered severe misery in my back, also irregular periods. Had bearing-down in lower portion of body and great pain all through my body. Pain in uterus was very severe. Had smothering spells, breath was very short all the time, had pain in stomach, pain in my thighs, pain in breast, also between my shoulders. Bowels constipated. I am well now and enjoying better health than ever before in my whole life. Am happy to tell you that I was cured by your good advice and good medicines, the 'Favorite Prescription,' 'Golden Medical Discovery,' 'Pleasant Pellets' and 'Lotion Tablets.' These medicines cured me and will cure others also."

The dealer who offers a substitute for "Favorite Prescription" does so to gain the little more profit paid on the sale of less meritorious medicines. His profit is your loss, therefore accept no substitute.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the bowels.

GAMEY CASE IN THE ONTARIO HOUSE, BOARD OF JUDGES WILL INVESTIGATE

The Charges Made Against Mr. Stratton by Gamey, Member for Manitoulin

THE PREMIER MADE THE ANNOUNCEMENT

Says Gamey will be Forced to Assume His Responsibility as a Member

Toronto, March 12.—The galleries in the chamber of the Legislature were thronged this afternoon, and many people were turned away. The members were all in their seats, and the Cabinet entered at 3.15.

The preliminary proceedings were curtailed, and the Premier rose at once to take up the Gamey charges.

Mr. Ross said he had reason to believe that the statement of the Provincial Secretary in denying the charge made by Mr. Gamey was true. He believed in his integrity and in his loyalty to his oath of office. He had advised his Honor the Lieutenant-Governor officially that the Government prepared to proceed at once with the investigation by a royal commission of judges, which, he contended, would be fairer than by a committee of the House, which would contain a majority of Government supporters, whose finding might not be received by the public with the same confidence as that of the High Court judges.

LIBERALS LOYAL

To-day the Liberal members aver unswerving loyalty to the Provincial Secretary and all the other Ministers. They do not convict anyone on Mr. Gamey's evidence. "Wait till we hear both sides," said one. "Would it surprise you," he asked, "if the result of the investigation put Mr. Gamey out of the House forever?"

They are dissecting Mr. Gamey's statement as they stand around in groups to-day. They claim in their own way to be able to pick lots of holes in it, and they say that there are many circumstantial incidents in it that will weaken the effect of the whole.

Friendly Attitude of France

London, March 12.—The Times' correspondent says: The importance of the debate in the French Chamber of Deputies to-day lay in what it revealed regarding certain somewhat noteworthy tendencies. Not so long ago it was impossible for some of yesterday's speakers to enter the tribune without making unfriendly insinuations directed toward England. The salutary spectacle of the concert of the Powers regarding the Macedonian question has merely continued the suggestive lesson taught by events at Pekin. It is evident, from utterances regarding England, that the moral of the Venezuelan affair and the British attitude there in has not been lost upon French politicians of all shades. It is a lesson doubly taught. African, Asiatic, and European questions can now be discussed without animus toward England.

MR. GAMEY'S POSITION

Will be Made to Assume His Responsibility, Says Premier Ross

The Premier asked the member for Manitoulin if he made his charges on his responsibility as a member of the House.

Mr. Gamey did not hear, and the question was repeated.

"Let me inform the honorable gentleman," said Mr. Gamey, "that I made my statement in this House yesterday. When I have anything further to say I will stand up and say it."

Derisive cheers from the Government benches greeted this reply.

MUST TAKE RESPONSIBILITY.

The Premier said they would find other ways of making the member assume his responsibility.

The Premier said he would ask the adjournment of the House for three weeks. With a cloud hanging over their heads, the Government did not propose to proceed with business. He moved that an address be sent to the Lieutenant-Governor asking for the appointment of a commission, composed of two chief justices of the Supreme Court or the president of the High Court and one of the justices of the Supreme Court, and that the commission be given all the necessary powers.

MR. WHITNEY.

Mr. Whitney then arose, and opposed the appointment of the commission. Also, he did not think that the Government should decide the personnel of the commission, the Government being the accused.

MR. WHITNEY'S SPEECH.

Mr. Whitney said: It seems that the accused shall choose the tribunal. He said he would show that more than one member of the Government was affected. He characterized this new charge as a fitting climax to the events of the past few years. He said that the Attorney-General, the Minister of Public Works, and the Premier were all charged by Mr. Gamey, and only the Provincial Secretary had yet publicly denied it.

There was a warm passage between Mr. Latchford and Mr. Whitney, Mr. Latchford denying a statement. Parts of the gallery broke into partisan applause, and had to be called to order by Mr. Speaker on penalty of closing the gallery.

Mr. Whitney quoted from Mr. Gamey's statement in an attempt to show that the Premier was implicated. It was possible that the Premier might have been ignorant of the goings on up to a certain point, but at a certain point he must have learned that there was something going on

MR. GAMEY'S STATEMENT

As to How He was Bribed—The Last Step in the Plot

Mr. Gamey's exhaustive statement as to how he was bribed by the Ontario Government is here summarized:—

At midnight on August 21st Capt. Gamey's election for Manitoulin, Capt. John Sullivan advised him to resign, saying he would otherwise be disqualified in the pending protest. Immediately after Capt. Sullivan's son, Frank, an employee of the Public Works Department, told Gamey he could get $5,000 if he would support the Government.

Gamey was then interviewed by a prominent Liberal lawyer of Toronto. The proposed deal was discussed under the guise of a stock transaction, by which Gamey was to make $3,000 inside of six weeks, and $2,000 in the spring. Gamey afterwards met D. A. Jones, of Beeton, who said that in addition to Gamey's supporting the Government he must obtain information which would unseat Messrs. Miscampbell and Smith.

At midnight on August 21s Capt. Sullivan went to Gamey's residence, ten miles from Gore Bay, on Manitoulin Island, and asked Gamey to sign an agreement to support the Government. Gamey laid the whole matter before the Secretary of the Manitoulin Conservative Association, and he told him to go ahead and get evidence of the offers he was receiving. Many talks with the two Sullivans followed. The elder wanted a timber limit for his share in the deal. He said he talked with Hon. J. M. Gibson about the matter, but that gentleman referred him to the Hon. J. R. Stratton.

Mr. Gamey saw Mr. Stratton on September 9th, the latter mentioned no sum of money, but referred to "a consideration." He showed Gamey a letter to be signed by the latter, promising to support the Government, and saying he had received no inducement for doing so. Gamey signed the letter.

The next day he went with Frank Sullivan to Mr. Stratton's office. The latter took out of his inside pocket a large, well-filled envelope. By his directions Gamey and Sullivan went down to the smoking room, and a messenger carried in the envelope and laid it on the table. Sullivan opened it and counted $3,000 in it. By agreement, Sullivan took half and Gamey half, which the latter is ready to produce.

Further correspondence followed between Mr. Gamey and the Sullivans, and he was asked to approach W. R. Smyth, member for Algoma, with a view to securing his support.

In order to get proofs that the Government was giving Gamey the priveleges of a government supporter in the way of patronage, the latter secured the appointment of Sheriff Jackson as returning officer at the referendum, in place of the man favored by the Government.

On January 29th, Gamey saw Mr. Stratton, and was given a typewritten interview, which he was to sign, and which was to be published in the Globe. He was told he would receive a further cash payment if he signed it. He made some alterations, making his declared position that of an "independent supporter," and then signed it, and it was handed to a Globe reporter in the ante-room of Mr. Stratton's office.

Mr. Stratton then told Mr. Gamey he had given Frank Sullivan $1,000. On leaving the Parliament Buildings, Sullivan produced the money in an envelope. Gamey gave Sullivan half of it. The other $500 Mr Gamey kept and produced yesterday in the House.

The same evening Mr. Gamey wrote to Mr. Whitney that he had withdrawn his support from the Conservative party. Later the Government sent emissaries to J. C. McMillan, Socialist opponent of Mr. Gamey, asking him if he would run as Government candidate when Gamey resigned his seat because of the pressure of public opinion. They told McMillian that Gamey had received little but promises so far.

On Tuesday night of the present week Mr. Gamey had three shorthand reporters concealed behind pianos in the office of the Crossin Piano Co., at 110 Adelaide street. He took Frank Sullivan there and caused him to discuss the whole deal, and other party matters. The shorthand writers took down a full report. This concluded Mr. Gamey's story.

Toronto, March 12., 11.30 a.m.—The Cabinet was in session nearly all forenoon to-day, considering what action had best be taken in connection with the charges made by Mr. Gamey in the House yesterday. All the seven Cabinet Ministers were in the council room most of the time, and no one else saw the Premier during the course of the morning.

It has been practically decided to refer the whole investigation to a royal commission, to be composed of judges of the High Court. The commission will probably be a small one, and so far only the names of Chief Justices Falconbridge and Boyd have been heard suggested. It is quite within the limits of probability that the commission will be confined to two members, and that the two judges named will constitute it.

HOUSE WILL ADJOURN.

As soon as the motion to refer the investiagtion to a commisjon has been passed, the House will probably adjourn. It would be impossible to conduct the debate on the address in reply or any other business while the trial was going on. The investigation may last weeks, but business in the departments or in the Legislature will without doubt be at a practical standstill until the whole affair is cleared up.

Mr. Stratton Makes a Statement

After the House adjourned Mr. Stratton, in an interview, said that Mr. Gamey had come to his office in the Parliament buildings on three or four occasions. On one occasion Mr. Gamey had spoken to him in reference to the appointment of a justice of the peace in Manitoulin, and Mr. Stratton had suggested that if he (Mr. Gamey) had any recommendation to make, he should forward it in writing to the Attorney-General, who had charge of such appointments, but who was at that time out of the city. On the occasion of another of Mr. Gamey's visits, he said he came to see about some road grants which he desired for certain roads in Manitoulin. Mr. Stratton told him he had better send his application in writing in the usual way to the Department of Public Works, which has charge of colonization road matters.

On another occasion, Mr. Stratton said, Mr. Gamey had come to him complaining of the bad enforcement of the license law in Manitoulin. He asserted that hotelkeepers were not observing the law, and that the inspector was absent from his official duty a great deal, attending to his private affairs. Mr. Gamey asked for the appointment of an inspector, but his request was not acted upon, and he also asked to be allowed to name one of the license commissioners who were to be appointed for the new license district resulting from the subdivision of the district into constituencies. Mr. Gamey also spoke of his intention of supporting the Government—that he had no use for Whitney, whose mining policy was bad, and who was not in favor of giving any encouragement to the development of New Ontario. He believed the Liberal policy would be best for the improvement of the northern country, and he felt that the interest of the constituents would be best served by his supporting the Government. Mr. Stratton told him that if that was the case he had better declare his intention. The Government would in that event consider his recommendations, as they would do in the case of their other supporters. Mr. Stratton said he had never seen Mr. Gamey in any capacity outside of his office in the Parliament buildings, and only when he came to see him on the business mentioned.

TWO MENTIONED AS MINTO'S SUCCESSOR

Names of Lord Stanley and Rt. Hon. St. John Brodrick

OBJECTION MADE TO BOTH MEN

Comments of the Canadian Gazette—Neither Choice Considered Likely

London, March 13—The Canadian Gazette makes the following statement regarding the rumor that Lord Stanley of Preston, eldest son of the Earl of Derby, formerly Governor of Canada, is to succeed the Earl of Minto as Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada:

"Seeing that the Earl of Minto's term does not expire till November next, it is somewhat premature to talk about successors. Lord Stanley has not accepted or been accepted for the post. We do not know that he has yet done anything to qualify him for a position which, more than ever, requires tact and statesmanship of a high, if quiet, order."

Lord Stanley has been press censor in South Africa and neither the journalists there nor the general public have reason to love him, chiefly because of his brusque and lofty bearing.

In that respect he is an alter ego of Right Hon. St. John Brodrick, Secretary of War.

In regard to Brodrick, in the House of Commons, he could hardly be called a Ministerial success, and in any event the statement that he has been chosen as successor of the Earl of Minto may be confidently dismissed.

London, March 12.—A meeting to consider the formation of a Canadian Benevolent and Social Society, upon the basis of the St. George's Societies in Canada is to be held on Friday at the London office of The Toronto Globe.

UNCLE SAM'S MONEY TO BE COUNTED. 2,500 TONS IN ALL

A Great Task in Prospect for the Sub-Treasury

OVER $275,000,000 NOW IN THE VAULSS

The Task Will Cost Many Thousands of Dollars and Much Work

Washington, March 12—On account of the death of Assistant United States Treasurer, Conrad N. Jordan, there vaults of the Sub-Treasury on the will soon be under way a recount of the $275,000,000 which was in the day he died. The magnitude of the task may be judged from the fact that when Mr. Jordan was re-appointed in 1897, it took more than two months to finish the count.

It is well for the business efficiency of the institution that this inventory of treasure is taken only at long intervals. It is undertaken only when a new Assistant Treasurer takes charge.

The count is made by a committee consisting of a representative of the retiring officer, a representative of the incoming officer and an expert who is present in the interests of the Secretary of the Treasury. While thousands of bags of coin are gone over it seldom happens that a variation from the book figures is found. The Assistant Treasurer is under bond of $400,000.

The committee has a working force of about ten skilled clerks and twelve or fourteen laborers. These men are selected with great care as they are daily in contact with millions of dollars, and the stealing of the smallest coin would destroy the value of the count.

The clerks do the figuring and the laborers do the manual labor, which is perhaps the hardest part of the task since the moving of more than 2,500 tons of coin is involved. Each bag of coin, be it silver or gold has to be handled three times; once on its removal from its compartment to the scales, and from the pilers back to the scales, then from the scales to the pile compartment. The first step toward the count is the sealing of the vaults and the making of an inventory of the money exposed, or in the teller's hands. In the present instance this was done on the day Assistant Treasurer Jordan's death was announced. United States Treasurer Roberts came on from Washington to take charge of the work and the interests of the Jordan estate were in the hands of Edward W. Hale, Deputy Assistant Treasurer under appointment of Mr. Jordan. The count of the money in the sealed vaults will be made as soon as President Roosevelt appoints an Assistant Treasurer.

The bills, of which there are some $10,000,000, are counted by hand. If it happens that the majority of these are of small denomination little time is consumed in going over them. This is usually the case, and the committee figures on finishing this part of the work in two days.

[illegible] separately. In counting the gold the committee selects a bag of coin which has been tested as to condition, and amount and this is put against all others in the vault. It is necessary that the condition of the coins in the test bag must be examined carefully and weighed on the most exact scales as a small amount of abrasion brings a bag under weight.

This test bag contains exactly $5,000. It is taken down to the vaults and put on one pan of an expensive pair of scales, and the real work then begins.

The gold [illegible] compartments, each holding ten bags of coin, or $500,000, whether these be double eagles, eagles or half eagles, or the small $2.50 pieces. Each bag is sent to the scales and placed against the test bag.

The standard weight, the weight of the test bag, is exactly 5,375 pennyweights. A bag is allowed to vary from this to 5,348 pennyweights, but no more. There are some 40,000 bags of gold, and each in turn is made to undergo comparison with the test bag.

Although this is unquestionably a quicker method than hand counting, it is still laborious. As there is about $200,000,000 in gold in the vaults there is entailed the handling of approximately 410 tons of gold which must be done carefully, or costly abrasion will result.

The weighing, too, must be done accurately. All in all, the committee is satisfied if it counts some $10,000,000 of gold each day. At this rate twenty days will be used to cover the present store of that metal.

While the method of counting the silver coin is the same, the work is much more laborious. The silver compartments hold from $1,500,000 to $9,000,000 each, depending upon the size of the coin. The bags contain only $1,000.

There is about $67,000,000 in silver [illegible] to weigh 30 tons, something more than 2,000 tons of the metal must be handled. Each bag of silver is balanced against a standard test bag of the same metal as in the case of the gold. The majority of silver coins are dollars.

The minor coins, nickels and coppers, are put up in bags, holding of the former $200, and of the latter $50. The amount of minor money on hand varies noticeably with the time of year; it being greater in the summer season when the trolley lines to suburban resorts are busiest. At present there is on hand about $70,000. This is quickly counted by the same method.

The greatest care is taken of the test bags while the count is under way. For two months they are guarded night and day so scrupulously in fact that one would think the Sub-Treasury filled with gentlemen whose sole desire in life was to get at the bags.

This and many other precautions are summed up thus by Mr. Hale

"The uninitiated might easily believe every one in the building to be at least under suspicion on account of the attention paid to details during the count. This is, of course, not the fact. We look on the proceedings as necessary, and, therefore, accept them as a matter of course.

"The man who would gainsay them would lay himself open to suspicions, to say the least. As for those who are responsible for the integrity of the $275,000,000 in these vaults, the count is a really acceptable occurrence since its result indorses the single-mindedness with which we have watched over it."

HAS 200 TYPHOID CASES

West Seneca is Afflicted and Buffalo is Apprehensive

Buffalo, March 13—One of the worst typhoid fever epidemics ever known in this vicinity broke out in West Seneca, adjoining this city, about two weeks ago, and now there are over 200 cases of the disease in that town. Investigations show that the town's drinking water, obtained from Smoke's Creek, is contaminated.

West Seneca's sewage empties into Lake Erie about two miles above this city, and as Buffalo's city water is supplied from the Niagara River, through which Lake Erie drains to Lake Ontario, this city is greatly alarmed over the condition of affairs.

Ten days ago Health Commissioner Walter D. Greene warned Buffalonians to boil all city water. Breweries report that business is doubled.

A Great Sufferer Cured

Mr. Benjamin Dillon, of Leeds, Ont., was cured of Muscular Rheumatism by Polson's Nerviline, and says: "I feel it my duty to proclaim Polson's Nerviline as an infallible cure for Rheumatism; it cured me after 20 years of suffering, and nothing I know of can equal its penetrating power. Nerviline simply has no equal in quickly relieving and curing Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Sciatica, and Lumbago. A trial will convince anyone. Price 25c.

THE FRONTIER OF INDIA MUST BE STRICTLY GUARDED

Lords Curzon and Kitchener are so Determined

STRONG ARMY IS NEEDED

Russia's Intruges in Persia are Giving Anglo-Indians Much Cause for Anxiety

London, March 12.—Russian commercial and political activity in Northern Persia has given rise to serious reflections on the part of the Indian authorities with reference to the future of the [illegible] Indian frontier.

There is excellent authority for stating that both the Viceroy, Lord Curzon, and General Lord Kitchener, are extremely anxious that the defensive position of the frontier should be placed on a thoroughly effective footing.

It is generally felt here that the despatch of the decoration of the Order of the Garter to the Shah is a very feeble reply to Russia's very strenuous efforts to secure a predominant influence in Persia, and it is felt in official circles that Russian action, which virtually amounts to outflanking British strategic frontier, may necessitate the occupation of Beluchistan in force and, as a last resort, it may become absolutely necessary to cut Russia off from the sea by occupying Southern Persia at the head of the Persian Gulf, which would produce a serious crisis.

It may be remembered that Premier Balfour, speaking recently in the House of Commons, said significantly that the requirements of the army were regulated by the military requirements of India. This statement was repeated a few days ago by Lord Selborne and, as a pendant to these remarks, Lord Kitchener has telegraphed to the Government that no reduction in the heavy army estimates must be permitted in view of the grave situation in Persia.

[In addition to the above it may be stated that in the House of Commons last night the Secretary for War, Mr. St. John Brodrick, discussing the army estimates, announced that the Government intended to fight it out on the line that the establishment of 235,761 men of all ranks was an efficient force, notwithstanding the attack hitherto made on it from both sides of both Houses of Parliament. The Empire's demands were ever increasing, and the proposed establishment would not be found excessive for the colonies, frontiers and home defence in the event of the country being called upon to defend the frontiers, which was always liable to occur. After a short debate on an amendment to reduce the establishment by 27,000 men, the discussion was adjourned.]

London, March 12.—I can say definitely that two Canadians have been appointed as British Commissioners on the Alaskan Boundary Tribunal. There will be slight delay in the announcement of the names, owing to official red tape and the necessity of a further reference to Ottawa.

I am, however, able to announce that the Cabinet has confirmed the selection of Hon. Clifford Sifton, the Canadian Minister of the Interior, as British agent on the tribunal. His position will be identical with that held by Sir C. Hibbert Tupper on the Behring Sea arbitration. Being a diplomatic apointment, it has to be approved by the King.

THE RUSH CANADA-WARD.

London, March 12.—The rush of emigrants to Canada is so great that it is impossible to book either cabin cabin or steerage passages until May.

Thousands of intending emigrants in England and on the continent are anxious to leave immediately, but are unable to secure passages.

The steamship companies were advised months ago to prepare for an unprecedented rush to Canada, but ignored the advice.

WAITING ON SIR THOMAS.

London, March 12.—Mr. Archer Baker, European traffic manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and other officials are now at Liverpool, awaiting Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, who is expected to arrive to-night or to-morrow. The Canadian Pacific can get the fast line if they want it. When Sir Thomas Shaughnessy arrives, immediate consideration must be given to the problem of how to provide steamers for intending emigrants. Lord Strathcona is emphatic on this point.

NO CANAIMANS WANTED.

London, March 12.—Doctors Parry and Dumville, of Ontario, and Dr. Donaldson, of McGill, who went to South Africa with the Canadian Army Medical Corps, tried at the conclusion of the war to practise in the Transvaal colony. They were prohibited from doing so, because only English diplomas were legal there. They appealed to Lord Milner, but he refused to alter the regulation on the subject.

GALWAY'S NEW MEMBER.

London, March 12.—Mr. Charles R. Devlin the member-elect of Galway, will take his seat in the House of Commons to-morrow. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Devlin the day he was elected.

They say: 'We'll put the Devl-in following verse;

"The Galway patriots begin
To show returning reason,
They say: "We'll put the Devil-in
They can't try him for treason"

NOW IN CONTROL OF ALL THE RAILWAYS OF CUBA

Sir William Van Horne also Beginning to Develop His Projected Chain of Hotels Throughout the Island

Havana, March 12.—The Congress of Cuba, by a recent act, decided to remove the convicts from the present great state prison, which lies at the foot of the celebrated Prado Boulevard, and allot the space now occupied by the prison to some great public building or private institution.

This placed a magnificent building site of two entire blocks on the seafront at the right of the harbor entrance and opposite Morro Castle, on the market, and the opportunity was one of Sir William Van Horne was not slow to take advantage of.

The Van Horne Hotel Syndicate secured an option on this splendid building now occupied by the courts and penitentiary with a view to the erection of a modern tourist hotel, which would accommodate next winter's travellers. Havana's poor hotel facilities have long been recognized as one of the great drawbacks to the development of the tourist excursions to Cuba.

The steps just taken by Sir William Van Horne provide the remedy long contemplated. It is understood that the syndicate will construct other hotels simultaneously at Matanzas, Cienfugos, Jucaromeron, Poinape and Santiago, but this I am unable to definitely confirm.

The new penitentiary will be fitted up in the Principe fortress, west of the city.

The pool of all the Cuban railroads reaching the ports of Havana and Matanzas, which has just been arranged, and the purchase of the Cienfugos, Cardenas and Salua lines gives Sir William absolute control of the insular traffic.

WHO WILL CARRY LONDON'S TEEMING MILLIONS OF PEOPLE?

Morgan and Yerkes are in Opposition Over a Gigantic Underground Railway Scheme

YERKES' KNOWLEDGE vs. MORGAN'S MONEY

In Either Case the London Carrying Traffic Will be Improved--Yerkes' Troubles.

London, March 12—Active hostility towards C. T. Yerkes' gigantic scheme for extending and modernising the transportation of London, developed yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the council. The municipal ownership members declared that the Metropolit was about to fall into the hands of immense magnitude, and that the Government seemed powerless to avert the danger. No definite action was taken, Yerkes' opponents deferring full disclosure of their programme to a future date.

Rumour asserts that trouble for the Chicagoan is brewing in certain financial quarters. It is alleged that J. Pierpont Morgan, to whom Yerkes administered a strategical drubbing a year ago in connection with their mutual traction ambitions in London, is in League with Sir Ernest Cassell, Baron Rothschild's secretary, for the capture of a franchise for an underground line straight across the city, from Shepherd's Bush, by way of the bank south of Hyde Park, a line which transportation experts agree is the master-key of London traction. It is supposed that the Central London Railway, the owner of the "Tuppenny tube," is backing the Morgan scheme, since it would give it a southern loop, paralleling the present transmetropolitan road. It is recognised that the forthcoming battle will be an encounter of giants, but it is generally believed that Yerkes' expert knowledge and great organizing skill will win the day.

Yerkes is encountering petty troubles without number. He is holding an auction sale this afternoon to dispose of the fruits of condemnation proceedings in connection with the Charing Cross Hampstead Line. These fruits consist of gas engines, clothing, cigars, and tobacco, office and shop fixtures, and a stock of boots and shoes, all of which cost Yerkes two thousand pounds. When the Star correspondent asked the tubemaster this morning about his troubles, he smiled pleasantly and said: "Everything is lovely." He also announced that he would open the first underground railway in London within eighteen months.

London, March 13—A despatch from Constantinople says that M. Zinovieff, the Russian Ambassador to Turkey, had a conference yesterday with Ferid Pasha, the Grand Vizier, and Tewfik Pasha, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, on the subject of reforms in Macedonia. The Ambassador asked to be informed as to the progress of the scheme. The Grand Vizier and the Minister of Foreign Affairs assured him that preparations for the execution of the reforms were proceeding rapidly. General amnesty would probably be proclaimed on the festival of Kurban Bairam next Monday. Meantime several hundred prisoners had already been released, the local authorities accepting their personal guarantees for future good behavior. The Grand Vizier informed Ambassador Zinovieff that the Porte would keep the Powers informed of the progress of the Austro-Russian scheme of reform. The Ottoman Government, he said, proposed to appoint some German officers at present in the Turkish service to reorganize the gendarmerie in Macedonia.

CONFESSIONS OF A DEGENERATE

Alfred Knapp, of Cincinnati, who was arrested in Hamilton, O., on suspicion of murder, has confessed that he strangled a little girl and four women. Knapp's victims included two of his wives, he having married three women in different places. When asked why he had committed such awful crimes, the miserable creature sobbingly declared that he was seized with an irresistable desire to choke his victims. A feeling of satisfaction immedaitely followed each gruesome performance. While Knapp has confessed to five murders, the police are inclined to believe that the list is greater.

The strangler is undoubtedly a degenerate of the kind that should be incarcerated in an asylum. He is a thief and a coward, as well as a murderer, and is now in a state of abject terror lest the infuriated crowds outside the jail may overpower the guard and lynch him.

Knapp's relatives say that he is insane, that in fact he has manifested mental aberration ever since childhood, when he was kicked by a colt and later struck by lightning. If these assertions are true, the strangler's relatives should be severely criticised for failing to notify the proper authorities as to Knapp's dangerous mental condition. Moral perverts like Knapp and William Hooper Young are as dangerous as that venomous serpent, the fer-de-lance, a serpent more deadly than the rattlesnake, because it strikes its victim without giving warning. A degenerate who manifests criminal tendencies should be placed where he will not have the opportunity to carry out the promptings of a diseased mind.

THE PERILS OF BAD WATER

The typhoid fever epidemic at Cornell College, Ithaca, New York, has proved so serious that President Jacob G. Schurman has felt called upon to make an official statement over his own signature. He says, that one-third of the 2,700 students have gone to their homes, "the university authorities having advised all who had the least illness, or were apprehensive of illness to leave the university, and many have been imperatively summoned by their parents." Of those remaining in Ithaca 78 are on the sick list. Eleven have died.

It is agreed that the epidemic which has invaded the college can be traced to the city water which the students have been using. How the water became contaminated cannot be satisfactorily settled. But the best explanation that has been thus offered is that among some laborers working at the waterworks dam one had typhoid. If this be finally accepted it shows how easily any water supply may become infected, and calls for care on the part of those in charge of the [illegible] system.

President Schurman says the college authorities have made a canvass of the 204 boarding house keepers of Ithaca and secured the following pledge from all of them:

I hereby agree that I will not serve or permit to be served on my table or in students' rooms for drinking in my house, and city water except it be boiled; that I will not serve uncooked vegetables which have not been washed in boiled water; and that all dishes used for serving food and drink shall be washed and rinsed in boiled water, and, in general, that I will take every precaution against the spread of typhoid fever.

This pledge is not a bad one for every housekeeper in every city in the land to take. It requires but little time and effort to boil drinking water. As a precaution against a deadly epidemic it is the surest and least expensive that can be devised.

THE LAST OF THE BOLTERS

In the going down and out of Hon. George E. Foster we see the last of the bolters. If ever a man were entitled to wear a triumphant smile, Sir Mackenzie Bowell is that man. Anyone versed in the inside tactics of the Conservative party, knows that "the bolt" has been the great stumbling block in the campaigns of the past. This last blow is pherhaps just as well, for with a clean sheet and good leaders like Mr. Burden and Mr. Monk, and with a government practising the policy of the Opposition, the Conservative party may yet rid itself of the objectionable part of its traditions and rise to eminence once more. One thing must always be remembered in a party as in a man and that is blind partizanship and small-mindedness may do very well for a village or a fool, but not for a nation or a leader.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The waste of cities will not always be wasted. In London a genius has come forward with a proposition to take all the solid matter in the sewage, which the Englishmen designate as sludge, and prepare it so that it can be used for fuel. He proposes to treat it chemically, mix it with coal dust and screenings and then press it into bricks. This, he asserts, will make cheap fuel. While the members of the council are doubtful about the success of the trial, they are, since it will cost them nothing, willing to let the genius experiment to any extent he likes. If successfull, a monopoly of the sludge is to be given to the inventor, who already sees mines of wealth in his possession.

To Set Her Free

(Copyrighted)

By FLORENCE WARDEN.

Author of "The House in the Marsh," "A Prince of Darkness," etc.

in bed. She rose to her feet, soothing him, begging him to lie quietly. He paid no heed to her words, but remained in a listening attitude, staring at the big screen which, by Dr. Wharles's orders, had been put round the door to keep out some of the draughts for which the old house was famous.

"Who's that? Who's that, I say? Come in, come in, can't you?" he repeated in a loud, harsh voice, with his eyes staring vacantly.

In vain Norma tried to calm him.

"There's no one there, no one," urged she.

Yet still, in a louder voice than before, he shouted: "Come in, come in, I say!"

"Hush, hush, do lie down, you must lie down," cried Norma imperiously. "Listen," she said, distinctly in his ear, as she wrestled with him, and tried to get him to lie back upon his pillow, "I'll go and see that there is no one there, if you'll only lie down, if you'll only be still, and quiet and calm."

As she repeated these words emphatically in his ear, the sick man seemed to take in part, at least, of the sense of her words, and as she made a movement as if to go to the door, he at last allowed her to settle him again among his pillows, as she kept on repeating: "You shall see; I'll show you there's nobody there."

With her eyes upon the bed, and full of the idea of satisfying his feverish fancy, she walked to the screen and looked round it.

She did not cry out: she did not faint, or fall, or stagger: but the sight which met her eyes froze her blood and sent a deadly sickness to her heart.

There, behind the screen, in the very sick-room, trembling, shamefaced, silent, but doggedly, sullenly asserting her earthly presence, her reality, was the woman whom Norma had seen in the hotel office at Oxford, the woman who had followed Astley and herself through the streets.

CHAPTER XI.

Scarcely had Norma's startled eyes rested a moment upon the woman behind the screen, when Astley called to her.

"Norma, Norma? come here, I want you!"

As she hesitated, not knowing what to do, divided between her fear that he would guess something, and her even stronger fear that the dreaded visitor would force her way in, Norma was recalled to decision and to action by a sudden movement forward on the part of the woman.

The door by which she had entered was still open behind her. Norma, with unexpected strength and dexterity, threw herself upon the intruder, and forced her back into the wide corridor outside. At the same time, she had the presence of mind to call out, in a ringing, cheerful voice, to Astley:

"Wait one moment! I'll be back in a moment!"

It was a risk to leave him; but it must be done. Shutting the door quickly behind her, Norma faced the intruder, who was dressed very quietly in dark clothes, and whose face was shrouded in a thick veil of brown gauze which formed an admirable disguise.

"Let me pass! Let me go in!" cried the visitor, not loudly, indeed with some sign of nervousness on her part, but doggedly too.

But Norma seemed to have become suddenly endowed with a strength of iron sinews and iron nerves.

"Who are you?" she asked, in a hissing whisper, "and what do you want?"

The visitor panted as she drew back, forced away from the door-handle by the energetic action of the other woman.

"You know who I am," she answered at once, "and I want to see my husband."

For one moment Norma was too much overwhelmed, prepared as she was for this answer, to frame a word in reply. Recovering herself, however, she gasped out:

"How do I know it? I thought—he thought—his first wife was dead!"

The woman drew herself up, recovering herself in her turn.

"Let me go into the room," said she. "You will want no further proof when he sees me."

And again she made a plunge at the door. Norma put up her hand imploringly.

"Not now, not yet," she entreated. "He's ill; don't you see what the shock would be? Have you no heart, no regard for him?"

"Of course I have. And that's why I've come; I came directly I heard he was ill. Let me go in, I say. I have the right."

Norma bent forward, with flashing eyes that pierced under the veil to the visitor's features.

"You have the right!" she echoed in a voice tremulous with passion. "You who deserted him, chose to be dead to avoid him. No. You have no more right than the dead, and you shall not force your way in, to disturb him, perhaps to kill him, if I have to rouse the house to keep you away!"

Her energy and passion got the better of the determination of the other woman. The visitor drew back a little.

"Call the servants up if you like," said she in a scoffing tone. "And undo all that I've been so careful about. For your sake I came quietly in by the garden door, with this veil on that none of them might recognize me even if they met me. For your sake I've taken every precaution. I don't want to make a disturbance; I don't want to make things unpleasant for you. But I've come all the way from Leamington to see him, and it's hard to be [illegible]."

Norma drew her breath sharply through her teeth. She felt that she was not in an unassailable position herself, and therefore she could not take a high hand with this other woman.

"If I promise that you shall see him," she said in a gentler voice, "will you promise me in return that you won't try to make yourself known to him until—until he's well again? Of course he must know the truth then: but I want to keep it from him while he's ill and weak."

Her words, her pleading, humble tone, evidently surprised the other, who hesitated for a reply.

Then the voice of Astley was heard again, calling for Norma, sleepily, faintly.

Norma pointed to the door of her own bedroom.

"Will you go in there," she said, "and wait for me? I must get someone to stay with him, and then I'll come to you."

The visitor obeyed without a word; and Norma, much relieved to find that she had found the right way to treat her, re-entered the sick-room and rang the bell for Martin. Astley was falling into a doze; he just opened his eyes sleepily on her entrance, and closed them again at once with a half smile.

When the housemaid appeared to take her place, Norma slipped out of the room quietly, and went to her own bedroom, where the visitor, having taken off her veil, revealed an extremely pretty face, somewhat worn and thin indeed, and with evident anxiety in the eyes, but attractive enough to excuse the infatuation Astley had once had for her.

"Well," she said at once, "am I to see him now?"

Norma clasped and unclasped her hands nervously.

"You shall see him if you insist," she said. "But I hope you won't insist. I hope you will wait. He's not in any danger, you know. Ask Dr. Wharles: he will tell you he's not. There's really no more reason why you should insist upon forcing yourself upon him now than there was at Oxford."

The woman started.

"Then you saw me at Oxford?"

"Yes. Why didn't you make yourself known to him then? You would have saved both him and me a great deal if you had."

"But you were married to him already, weren't you? They said you were."

Norma hesitated.

"I'm sure," went on the visitor, "I don't want to bring any more annoyance upon you or him either than I can help. I know I did wrong in letting him think I was dead. But I was frightened; we hadn't got on well together, and I thought that was the best way out of it. Indeed, I never had any idea of coming into his way again. It was only when we got very badly off, my mother, and sister and I—that I heard he was at Oxford, and thought of going there and [illegible] help us. Well, then I heard you ask for him, and I made enquiries, and found you had married him; and there I was for days, watching him and debating whether I should speak to him or not. And then he went away. And the next thing I heard was that he was Sir Astley Darwen with ever so much money, and there were we with hardly any. So what could I do but come!"

Norma was revolted.

"It wasn't his illness that brought you then?" she said. "Only the want of money?"

The visitor looked down.

"Didn't you ever care for him?" pursued Norma, aghast.

"Not as much as you do," answered the other frankly. "We were all poor, you know, and had to marry. Fanny, who married Dr. Wharles, was the only one of us who made a love match. Emmeline married, as I did, because she had to."

"Emmeline—that's Mrs. Finch?"

"Yes."

"Astley says she is a nice woman, a good woman."

The visitor moved petulantly.

"She's no better than I am," she retorted sullenly. Then after a moment's

An Opportunity

We are offering for public subscription a limited amount of stock of exceptional merit affording an unusual opportunity for a very profitable investment. We desire to be conservative in our representations, but do not hesitate to state that the stocks of the properties we are representing are absolutely certain to rapidly increase in value, and the fortunate purchasers of the stock at the present prices will have more than reason to congratulate themselves for grasping this opportunity.

Success lies in being alive to that which is going on around you, and they who "grasp the skirts of happy chance can breast the blows of circumstance."

We have the disposition of a certain amount of treasury stock in four corporations. We have thoroughly investigated the present value of the properties owned by the Companies, and have full cognition of the immense profits that are awaiting only the further development and equipment of the properties.

We are offering an equal number of shares in each of the four corporations at a price that make the combined issue a most attractive feature, giving also to the purchaser an unusual safe guard on his or her investment; in other words, you are not placing all your eggs in one basket. Or if you prefer you can purchase separately the stocks we offer.

As the money received from the sale of the stock is strictly for the purpose of equipping the properties with the necessary machinery, etc., the time will not be long before handsome dividends are available. We are not asking your subscriptions to pay for the properties; they are already owned by the Companies, and there are no outstanding obligations.

This preliminary notice is to advise the public in general that an opportunity now presents itself for a safe investment of unusual character, embodying also speculative possibilities sufficiently great to make even a small investor a competency within a few years.

You can invest in any amount from Ten Dollars up, and, if so desired, you can have the privilege of paying in installments the amount of stock paid for from time to time being non-forfeitable in the event of your ceasing payments, thus relieving those of small or uncertain income from possibility of loss, should they for any reason become unable to continue payments.

Our business is to aid responsible Companies in the disposal of their treasury stock for the thorough equipment of their properties; we do not and will not handle indiscriminate mining or other stocks under any circumstances. We make a thorough personal examination and investigation as to the merits and possibilities before undertaking to assist in financing any Corporation: the paramount issue with us is to give complete satisfaction and cause much success to our patrons.

We have furnished the publishers of The Times with an outlined description of the Companies we represent, and the names of the Directors of each Company whose stock we offer to their subscribers and friends. We have also furnished The Times with bank references as to our own bona fides and standing. We desire to command the utmost confidence of all subscribers and to retain same along with their friendship for all time; you add a few dollars; we add our experience brain and labor; you increase your riches without effort and increase our power to make you still richer. In ordinary everyday experience a man's expenses nearly equal his income and he has little chance to make a turn for the betterment of his condition. This is anyone's opportunity; you can invest Ten Dollars or One Thousand Dollars on the same basis as one who invests Ten Thousand Dollars. You cannot afford to neglect your opportunitie and this is a chance to get in on the ground floor and reap the profits of substantial, quick money making enterprises. Your money need not be tied up for a long time; we know that one of the Companies, at least, will pay handsome dividends this year. It is an easy matter to become rich; just watch for the opportunity and take advantag of it. This is your opportunity; will you grasp it?

STOCK MARKETS

WHEN STOCKS ARE DOWN, BUY THEM

New York, March 12—A peculiarity of stock speculation is the fact that most people do not care to invest freely. When prices are down they will purchase any amount. When prices are soaring and bullishness is rife the proper way to do is to buy them when down, paying no attention to the pessimistic utterances and apparent dismal outlook. When stocks are at the top prices there is not a cloud to be seen in the financial sky, apparently not a reason for refusal to buy. When prices are very low, hardly an encouraging sign is visible, everything appears to disfavor buying—yet it is the time to do so. Prices have had a big fall, they are now low, and consequently should be purchased. Witness the decline in Penna. from 170 to nearly 140; of Union Pacific from 112 to 90; of Southern Pacific from 81 to 60, of New York Central from 170 to 140; of Ill. Central from 170 to 140; Mo. Pacific from 125 to 100 and so on throughout the list. This should certainly not be sufficient to tempt even the most exacting bargain hunter, specially when all influences as far as earning power is concerned, is as heretofore. While it may be possibly true that in some instances prices may be somewhat lower by waiting, the opportunity to buy when cheap may be lost. People are prone to overstay their opportunity of buying when low, as well as in disposing of their property when high. It is usually advisable to get in after so large a decline, not figuring too closely about reaching a price near absolute bottom. The drop more than discounts all existing or past unfavorable influences. The next turn of the financial pendulum must necessarily be in the opposite direction, which is upwards. It takes courage oftimes to buy into a depressed market, but courage is a necessary requisite when trading in Wall street. No one ever made money hiding behind the financial ammunition wagon. Ponder what the decline represents if measured in absolute dollars and cents, figuring the number of shares existing in each company, and the aggregate amount less they are selling for now, than they were when last at top prices. It would simply startle a thinking man, and cause him to at least believe prices to be pretty close to bottom again, even if it failed to induce him to give a buying order.

Summary—Market dull and irregular all day, advancing at first, and then receding. Copper maintains its strength with every indication of going higher, despite balance of market. On the other hand sugar was heavy all day. It looks like a clean-up of the large interests preparatory to any upward campaign. Raiders of St. Paul may find themselves in trouble. The stock today declared a 3 1-2 per cent. dividend for the half year and, earning pretty nearly twice that amount to surplus account. It will do to buy at going prices. Prices for the day are comparatively unchanged, indicating as we said last night the speedy termination of the downward movement. Money closed last loan 5 1-2. Sales 476,100.

OIL IS MONEY AS SOON AS IT IS BROUGHT TO THE SURFACE AND THE

DAYTON OIL COMPANY

HAS ENOUGH UNDER ITS RICH OIL LAND HOLDINGS IN KERN COUNTY, CAL.

TO ASSIST IN SUPPLYING FOR THE NEXT FIFTY YEARS TO COME, its share to the marvelous number of increasing consumers upon the Pacific Coast. You have all witnessed the hardships experienced throughout the West on account of scarcity of coal and its advanced price. You can now form a faint idea of the hardships endured in California for the past forty years, owing to the scarcity of coal, which has at all times been imported into California from Australia and the State of Washington, the market value of which ranges from $6.50 to $11.50 per ton. The discovery of immense deposits of fuel oil in Kern County, that State, has been the means of placing California upon an equal footing with the more favored States of the East, in having now at her command a fuel that is even cheaper than the lowest market price of Eastern coal.

Ground Floor

OPENING 25c OFFERING PER SHARE

The phenomenal success that the company is meeting with in the sale of stock, will warrant the directors in advancing it to 50 cents a share shortly.

Your delay in associating now, will mean that you will lose the benefit of the first advance of 100 per cent.

This is one of the best oil stock offerings ever made. Only enough shares to develop the property will be sold. The shares will go above par and will be withdrawn from the market the moment we have raised the required amount of funds.

ENORMOUS PROFITS

THE DAYTON OIL COMPANY'S net income to be derived from production of 10 wells will amount to $225,000, and this sum, divided by the number of shares issued, will entitle each stockholder to the sum of $75 upon each 100 shares owned by them. These figures are upon 10 wells only, and figured upon a conservative basis of only 200 barrels a day production from each well. The truth of such is easily arrived at when you stop to realize that our property is completely surrounded by neighboring corporations who have wells which are producing from 225 to 250 bbls. of oil a day per well.

Our positiveness in obtaining oil from every foot of our property is made from our knowledge of the unbroken belt which underlays Kern County, a belt that is forty miles in length and seven miles in width. The Dayton Company is directly in its center.

The most wonderful money-making opportunities of recent years are now afforded to the American public by the development of the oil industry in California. A large portion of the State has been found to be underlaid with a high quality of fuel oil, and the bonanzas of the early Pennsylvania oil fields are being duplicated on a larger scale. Thousands of men have been suddenly raised from humble means to great wealth, clerks have become merchants and bankers, laborers have become capitalists from the product of the oil wells or the increase in the value of land. The industry has now reached a stage where it is classed as one of the most important factors in the State's commercial affairs. Not since the first discovery of gold has California witnessed such excitement among capitalists and investors as that caused by the present production of oil.

"The Days of Old, The Days of Gold, The Days of Forty-Nine."

are being repeated in this wonderful State, and greater fortunes are now being made in oil than were ever thought possible, even in those exciting times. Famous as California has become for its gold, grain, fruits, flowers and climate, it will soon become far more famous for its oil.

Send for Company Prospectus ; it will afford you interesting reading upon this wonderful money-making industry.

Offers to investors an opportunity to secure through a purchase of its stock

A monthly income of $50.00

On an investment of $1,000 ; or a monthly income of $5.00 on an investment of $100.00. This is purely a business proposition. Their is no uncertainty about it ; you do not take any chances. We actually have enough ore in sight to keep us working for three or four years, and the more development work we do the more ore there is in sight ; the deeper we go the richer it is. Bear in mind, too, that we do not come to the public with an untried experiment. Our shaft is nearing the 200 foot mark, with better values at the bottom than any place nearer the surface. The ore runs in value from $25.00 to $86 80 per ton, by actual carload shipments.

The par value of our stock is $1.00, with only a limited amount of shares to be sold, and this has been placed on the market at the low rate of 20 CENTS PER SHARE. On March 14, the price will be advanced to 30 cents per share, providing any of the original offering remains unsold; therefore we advise all who are interested to send in their applications without a moment's delay, as they will be filled and eventually rejected just in the order received.

Thunder Mountain!

is the richest gold producing camp in the United States, and also the largest. The Thunder Mountain district, in central Idaho, is twenty miles wide and forty miles long. In comparison with this we have Cripple Creek, four miles wide and seven miles long. In many of the Thunder Mountain mines ore has already been reached that carries ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD TO THE TON. All of the Thunder Mountain ore is free milling, which means that it can be treated by the cheapest extraction process known—the ordinary stamp mill. It can be both mined and milled at a cost not to exceed $2 a ton. The past years operations in the several working mines have opened up millions of tons of ore that will give a net profit of from $10 to $30 a ton, enabling the respective companies to pay dividends at a rate never before equalled. Such is the showing and the prospect of the

EAST DEWEY GOLD MINING CO.

which unless all indications are at fault, will become the largest producer in the district. The EAST DEWEY mine, which it owns outright, is located directly on Thunder Mountain, just east of the famous "Dewey" mine, which already has $20,000,000 of ore in sight. The surface area of the East Dewey mine is one hundred and twenty acres—six full quartz claims. The company has also secured the big GOLDEN GATE mine, in the Big Creek section of the Thunder Mountain district—which has been so aptly termed "The Pot of Gold"—and is now developing the mine with all possible speed. For a distance of 9,000 feet, nearly two miles, the Golden Gate mines cover a mineralized ledge that is 900 feet wide, with an average height above the tunnel level of 500 feet, thus giving it the largest exposed tonnage of any mine in the west.

If you would share in the enormous profits which these figures indicate and which these developments promise, invest your money in "East Dewey" Stock. It can be bought to-day for 10 Cents a Share. Its par value is $1.

If the East Dewey mines are what they appear to be, and there is absolutely no reason to doubt or question these indications, this stock will eventually be worth at least $10 a share, and to-day you can buy it for ten cents. PRICE ADVANCES TO FIFTEEN CENTS ON FEBRUARY 28th. 5% discount allowed for cash. Stock sold at flat price of 10 cents on deferred payments, 10% with application, and 10% monthly until paid. Full particulars, prospectus, etc., on request.

Catarrhozone

Is inhaled 4 times daily

Catarrhozone is the most pleasant and powerful destroyer of disease germs known to science. It is inhaled at the mouth, and in traversing the air passages of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs passes over not less than 1,000 square feet of mucous surface.

The penetrating, healing vapor of Catarrhozone goes wherever the air we breathe can go, and no matter how remote the disease may be it will quickly cure it.

The bacilli of Catarrh and Consumption are expelled from the system by one day's use of Catarrhozone. Ordinary coughs and cold in the head are cured in ten minutes. Most severe cases of Asthma, Bronchitis, and Lung Trouble are relieved in a few hours.

Catarrhal Deafness, Head Noises Ringing in the Ears, can be corrected in a short time and cured by the persistent use of Catarrhozone, which is guaranteed to prove satisfactory or your money refunded. ARISTOCRATS

Should be Allowed Good Things as Well as other People

A Chicago lady visiting friends in Leon, N.Y., heard her hostess say one morning "All of the aristocrats on Allenn Hill have discarded coffee and are using Postum Food Coffee in its place." It seems the doctor had advised the change as a remedy for different stomach and other disorders caused by coffee drinking.

"But when I first made it I was careless. It was only half boiled and drowned in water, so husband, after sipping it, pushed it back and said, 'no more of that stuff for me.' I concluded it was not properly made, and examined the package carefully, finding that it must be boiled 15 or 20 minutes after the real boiling begins.

Next morning husband said, 'You don't mean to tell me this is the same coffee you gave me yesterday, why this is fine.' He drank two cups and since that time we have used no other coffee, and both of us have made a decided improvement in health.

I had suffered for a long time from dyspepsia, nervous prostration, poor [illegible] stomach and bowels, not knowing that coffee was the cause of the trouble. Not getting any coffee from my hostess, except the Postum, I not only found it delicious but my appetite improved, the flatulence and stomach distress left me, and I quickly began to gain in flesh. Now I am enjoying a degree of health that I never expected to attain.

After I left home my brother who has been an invalid for some time, broke down entirely. He was a coffee drinker, and had distress in his stomach always after eating his meals. Finally his stomach refused to retain any food at all. Then the doctor insisted on his leaving off coffee and using Postum four times a day with rich cream and some sugar and absolutely no other food for several days, then he carefully added other food in small quantities, and gradually began to get well. He now eats all kinds of nourishing foods and is again working at his trade." Name given by Postum Co. Battle Creek, Mich.

After the regular chorus work is finished solos are given by some of the pupils, which are very much enjoyed. On Wednesday evening the soloists were Miss Bell, of Keene, and Miss Ruth Dawson, who both displayed remarkable cultivation of tone, and reflected great credit on their excellent teacher. MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

Result of the Debate in St. Paul's School House Last Night

The debate on "Municipal Ownership," in St. Paul's last night was a very interesting affair.

Mr J. S. Knapman was unable to be present, and Mr. McWilliams very ably filled his place. Mr. P. Kerr was leader for the affirmative, while Mr. Galbraith and Mr. F. W. Kerr very ably upheld the negative.

Rev. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Madill were elected judges, and gave their decision in favor of the negative.

Following the debate was a very interesting reading by Mr. C. N. Brown, a solo by Mr. Jas. Dawson, followed by a selection by Mr. Jno. Robinson. Another debate is planned for April 3.

General - Sports

A meeting of the employes of the Wm Hamilton Manufacturing Company was held in the Y.M.C.A. building last night, to organize a baseball team, and to consider the advisability of forming a town league, composed of teams from the different manufacturing establishments.

There was a large turn out of the baseball enthusiasts, and everything looks favorable to this growing concern putting a team in the field that will make the best of them "play ball." It is proposed to have a joint meeting of delegates from the different establishments in town to form a league.

The following officers were elected:

Patrons—E. W. Gibbs, C. McFarlane, J. C. Smith, D. Spence, J. Maine, W. Marks.

Hon. Pres.—Wm. Hamilton, jr.

Pres.—A. McFarlane.

1st Vice-Pres.—T. T. Emmerson.

2nd Vice-Pres.—R. Hamilton.

Manager—C. F. Brown.

Sec.-Treas.—A. L. Scott

Executive committee—C. F. Brown, A. L. Scott, J. Sheridan, L. Potvin.

Messrs. C. F. Brown and A. L. Scott were appointed delegates to confer with delegates from other establishments to form a town league.

A captain will be elected later on and will be chosen from the playing members of the team.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space. I remain,

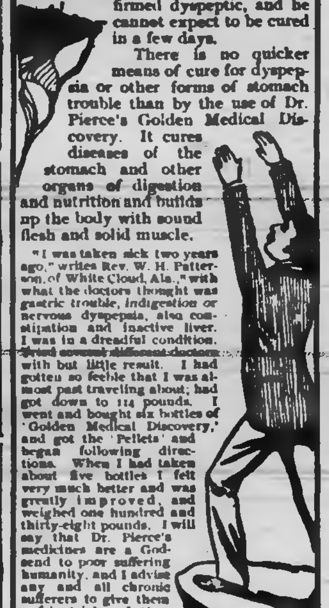
JUMPING UP



Is a great deal harder than jumping down. And yet people who have been for years running down in health expect to jump back at once. It takes years generally to make a man a confirmed dyspeptic, and he cannot expect to be cured in a few days.

There is no quicker means of cure for dyspepsia or other forms of stomach trouble than by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition and builds up the body with sound flesh and solid muscle.

"I was taken sick two years ago," writes Rev. W. H. Patterson, of White Cloud, Ala., "with what the doctors thought was gastric trouble, indigestion or nervous dyspepsia, also constipation and inactive liver. I was in a dreadful condition. Tried several different doctors with but little result. I had gotten so feeble that I was almost past traveling about; had got down to 114 pounds. I went and bought six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and got the 'Pellets' and began following directions. When I had taken about five bottles I felt very much better and was greatly improved, and weighed one hundred and thirty-eight pounds. I will say that Dr. Pierce's medicines are a Godsend to poor suffering humanity, and I advise any and all chronic sufferers to give them a fair trial and they will be satisfied."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness and sick headache.

OPPOSITION OPPOSES A BOARD OF JUDGES TO INVESTIGATE GAMEY CHARGES

Mr. Whitney Maintains That the Premier and Others of His Colleagues are Implicated

CASE OF THE ACCUSED CHOOSING JUDGES

Mr. Gibson Makes a Fighting Speeching and the Premier a Good Thoughtful Address

Toronto, March 13.—All day yesterday the Parliament Buildings were pervaded with a feverish excitement, the aftermath of the semi-panic produced by the reading of the Gamey charges on Wednesday evening. Students and other young men rushed to the galleries of the Assembly two hours before the time set for the opening of the House. Some of the more industrious of them brought their books with them and passed the minutes in preparation for the morning examinations. As three o'clock approached the galleries were filled with a crushed and crushing perspiratory humanity. That the coals of partisanship in the public mind had been planned into flame was shown by the restraint these spectators were under during the debate.

Mr. Gibson's speech helped along the rising tide, especially among the members who had previously become used to his slow, deliberate style of delivery. When Donald Sutherland arose, some panicky individuals suggested that he had probably more revelations up his sleeve. His utterances proved to be of a time-killing character, interjected to pass the minutes until six o'clock, when the House adjourned until this afternoon.

The Premier, in announcing his policy, spoke as follows:

Mr. Speaker, before proceeding with the orders of the day, I desire to address the House briefly for a few moments with regard to the matter brought before us yesterday afternoon by the hon. member for Manitoulin. The charges made by the hon. member were of a very serious character. Quite unexpected, as you can well understand; charges that impressed both sides of the House somewhat seriously, and charges which have given us, very naturally as members of the Government, some concern.

I stated in the House yesterday afternoon that my esteemed colleague, the Provincial Secretary, denied these charges in toto, particularly with reference to that portion of them which was of a very serious and corrupt character. I have [illegible] to believe that the statement of my colleague is true. I have unbounded confidence in his honor, in his integrity, and in his fidelity—to his oath of office, to the serious responsibility which he has assumed as a member of the Government and as an adviser of the Crown. In the long time in which he has been known to myself and my colleagues we have found him trustworthy; we do not believe he is capable of betraying that trust; notwithstanding the grave and serious charges made against him by the member for Manitoulin.

NOT SUFFICIENT.

This faith, however, is not a sufficient answer to these charges. Nor do I think in the interests of the Government, his own interests, or as responsible to a large extent for the honor and dignity of this House, could [illegible] to stand without investigation. We propose to have it investigated. I advised His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor last evening officially that such a charge was made, that it was denied, and that it would be investigated. I desired that the representative of the Crown should know exactly where we stood in regard to this matter. The Government propose to proceed immediately with that investigation—that is, as fast as is consistent with the interests of justice, and with such facilities for examination as circumstances will warrant.

COMMISSION OF JUDGES.

We are proceeding by a royal commission. I mentioned yesterday that it was a matter which might very well be referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections, or a special committee. Either of these two methods would involve considerable delay, we fear. The year is advancing. It is important that public business should be disposed of for the convenience of members and the convenience of the country. We do not want to delay. Moreover, we think that the examination by a commission of Judges of the High Court will be more satisfactory to the parties concerned. The Committee on Privileges and Elections is necessarily a committee composed of a majority of supporters of the Government, and any committee that would be given would be similarly composed.

The investigation, of course, would be open. The committee have the power to swear witnesses, send for persons, papers, and so forth. They have large powers, but not larger powers than the statute enables us to give a commission. No matter what their findings might be, if they exculpated the Provincial Secretary it would be said to be a partizan finding. Those who are prone to believe any charges against the Government would disbelieve the finding of the commission, and instead of us settling what is at best a disagreeable matter, the evidence taken before the committee and the report of the committee would be still under that newspaper criticism and partisan criticism which, in my humble opinion, does not make for the public interest.

CONFIDENCE IN JUDGES.

Happily for us in this country, judicial decisions are received with a great deal of confidence, whether these decisions affect civil or criminal matters. Even where political interests are involved, seldom is it said that an election court displays a partisan character in this Province. I have confidence in asking this House to approve of the appointment first, because of the high character of our High Court judges, in fact of all our judges; secondly, because of the confidence which the people have in any conclusion they may come to; thirdly, because I believe it is the most expeditious way of getting at the questions involved; and, fourthly, because I believe that their conclusion will command the confidence of the country, no matter what their decision may be.

[illegible]

If we have been guilty of these charges we are unworthy to sit here. We are certainly unworthy to ask hon. gentlemen in this House or the country to give us their confidence and unworthy to bring down any measures to this House, no matter how simple. In order to facilitate this investigation we propose that the parties in this matter on both sides shall have a junior and senior counsel if they desire, and I think the House when the time comes will vote the necessary expenditures for that purpose. Whoever conducts the prosecution can elect his own junior and senior counsel. Means will be found to pay expenses of the witnesses. It is a state prosecution practically. The State is bound to provide means to have the prosecution complete in all its details. We think that within three weeks the examination can be concluded and a report returned to the House.

What is It All About?

Recent developments in journalism show to our mind a strange lack of appreciation of the ridiculous. Who will be found to deny, without the necessity of resorting to scare headlines that this great banner province is corrupt individually and collectively? Corruption is a feature of our daily life. The watchword of society is policy and calculation: Go with the boys," is the present day motto, and if you don't go with them "get out of the way of the procession." This is the sort of baby food we have been fed on in the street and in the pulpit. We have sowed the wind and are reaping the worldwind. But if there is any verse in the Bible that pleases us more than another during these glorious times it is: "Be not deceived. God is not mocked." The conscience of our people is about the size of a pea in comparison with a normal of about the size of a turnip. Not Stratton in our mind. Even if the worst were proved against him, he is not guilty. It is the people who are guilty! We shall never get out of this slough of rottenness till character counts for more than cash.

MULLAH'S FORCES WERE BADLY BEATEN

He is Asserting His Authority in a Worthless Manner

Aden, Arabia, March 12.—Advices received here from Obbia, Somaliland, say that during the recent fight between the followers of the Mad Mullah and the Abyssinia forces co-operating with the British, the former lost a thousand men. The Mullah, it is added, is maintaining his authority with ruthless severity, cutting the throats of malcontents and mutilating women and children.

Berlin, March 12.—First Lieutenant Werner von Grawert, son of the Lieutenant-General of that name, who shot Dr. Aye, a lawyer, of Flensburg, through the neck, cutting the spinal cord and causing instant death, in a duel fought in the Grunewald forest, January 16, and who was sentenced January 30 by a military court to two year's imprisonment in a fortress, has been pardoned by an Imperial Cabinet order. He had served only five weeks of his sentence. The newspapers refer to Von Grawert's pardon as a "dispensation" and as tending to encourage all duelists.

Big Money in the Ohio and Indiana Oil Company.

A Company that Pays One Per Cent Each Month to All Stockholders.

We call the attention of investors to the advertisement of the Ohio and Indiana Oil Company, which is to be found on our financial page. This Company is well officered, and is paying monthly dividends of one per cent to its shareholders. The Times [illegible] President and Treasurer of the Company, which reads as follows.

Comes now, F. B. Wilkinson, President and W. W. Ross, Treasurer of the Ohio and Indiana Oil Company of Logansport, Indiana, upon oath depose and says: That, the dividends of 1 per cent. monthly paid each month to all Stock-holders of record by The Ohio and Indiana Oil Company, are paid from the earnings of the Company received from the sale of oil to the Standard Oil Company produced from the wells of the several properties owned by the Company. That the Pipe Line Runs and the Pipe Line Statements of the Standard Oil Company for each month are filed in the office of the Ohio and Indiana Oil Company, subject to examination by any member of the Company.

The United States Investor, in answer to an inquiry, thus speaks of the Company:

This company is capitalized for $1,000,000. All the officers are men of good standing and judgment in all matters, and seem to be working along legitimate line. The company is understood to have had wonderful success in the building up of its enterprise and securing good producing properties. Last May the Company had 6,428 acres of oil land in Ohio and Indiana, with 62 producing wells with a monthly production of 3,000 barrels, but it has since increased its producing wells to 80, with an average daily production, we understand, of nearly 450 barrels, of which 60 are located at Beaver Dam, Allen county, Ohio, and 20 at Parker, Randolph county, Indiana. The company has three drilling outfits in the field actively working all the time in Allen county, Ohio, and Randolph county, Indiana, and control in Allen and Hancock counties, Ohio, and Delaware, Randolph, Grant Huntington and Wabash counties, Indiana, 10,200 acres.

The men who are behind this company are among the brightest oil and gas men in Ohio and Indiana. They have as yet not developed more than [illegible] per cent. of their territory in that county and are considered to have a very valuable property, with an excellent future, if managed carefully. The stock has been steadily advancing for the past year, and among oil men it is considered about the best oil proposition in that part of the state.

'The company is practically out of debt and has at present $37,000 in the treasury. It paid one per cent. per month dividends on the selling price of its stock from the earnings of the company, from October 10, 1901, to May 24, 1902, and since May 24, 1902, 1 per cent. per month, or 12 per cent. per annum on the par value of its stock.

At the present time it is carefully investigating the Kansas oil field, also the Kentucky and Tennessee fields, with a view of opening up active operations in these fields if the situation warrants it; at the same time, if the weather permits, it is arranging for increasing its operations in the Ohio and Indiana field. It is selling all of its oil to the Standard Oil Company, and is receiving at the present time $1.10 per barrel.

The entire field management of this company is in the hands of J. D. S. Neely, J. B. Kerr and E. R. Curtin of Lima, Ohio, and L. G. Neely, of St. Marys, Ohio.—United States Investor.

KILLED BY AN ANGRY HUSBAND

Found His Wife Locked in a Store With his Partner

Memphis, Tenn., March 13—Information reached here from Columbus, Miss., this morning, that A. P. Taliaferro, a jeweller, shot and instantly killed Joseph J. Sloan, a piano dealer last night. The two men had their business in the same store, and Sloan boarded with Taliaferro and his wife.

Last night, while Taliaferro was sick, according to his story, his wife left home and went to the store where Sloan was. When Taliaferro went down he found the door locked and when he unlocked it he declares he saw enough to justify any man in shooting. Sloan jumped behind some boxes and began shooting, but Taliaferro did not cease until he had killed the alleged despoiler of his home.

LONDON AND GLOBE SWINDLE

Whitaker, Wright, the Fugitive Promoter, Said to be an American

London, March 12.—According to a financial paper, Whitaker Wright the director of the London & Globe Finance Corporation, Limited, for whose arrest a warrant was issued yesterday, following the order of the Chancery Court to criminally prosecute him, and who is said to be in Egypt, secured American citizenship while engaged in business enterprises in Philadelphia, and elsewhere. Those who are interested in the prosecution state that this is the first they have heard of Wright being an American citizen, although they knew he went to America as a young man. Wright is believed to have been born in Cheshire, Eng. It is pointed out that, providing Wright should prove his American citizenship, his extradition could not be secured by the British Government without the consent of the United States State Department.

THE AUTOMOBILE COMPANY

Strong Company Formed to Ply a Line of Buses

The Times is in a position to state that the proposed Automobile Company has became a reality, and that the necessary stock has practically been subscribed. Mr. Alex. Elliott, the provisional president of the company, states that the outlook is exceedingly bright for a large and profitable business.

The first carriage for the company will be delivered about the first of June, and will at once be put on between Clemong Park and the town, also connecting with the Trent Valley Navigation Company's steamers.

It is proposed to place a second carriage, or perhaps two additional carriages, on duty next year, so that trips may be made once or oftener every day between the town and surrounding villages. The result will be that an increase in trade may reasonably be expected, as easy and cheap means will thus be afforded people in the country along and adjacent to the roads over which the carriages travel.

Each carriage will seat 20 persons (almost as many as a street car) and are made to travel at the rate of from 8 to 14 miles an hour.

CROWN PRINCESS OF SAXONY PLEADS FOR HER CHILDREN

A Truly Pathetic Plea by the Mother.

Berlin, March 13—The truly pathetic stage of the misfortunes of the Crown Princess Louise, who eloped with M. Giron and then separated from him forever in the futile hope of seeing her children, was reached yesterday when she had a most painful interview with her mother, and then learned that she was to be succeeded by her own younger sister, Archduchess Margaret Maria of Tuscany.

Louise wept bitterly throughout this interview, begging vainly her mother's intercession with the king for permission to see her children. The fact that the little princes will be cared for by her nearest blood relation did not at all appear to reconcile her. She evidently realizes [illegible] is a message from the king making her exile permanent and her separation from her children absolute.

That, the exiled crown princess possesses a temperament which renders her susceptible to the keenest grief is indicated by an exquisite pathetic little poem which has just been published here, and which she wrote. The following is a translation from the original German:

FOR EVERMORE.

Across the land does Winter make its way,
The little birds—ah! they have taken wing:
Dead is the leaf that murmured yesterday.
The forest is so lonely — till the Spring!
Across my heart does sorrow make her way.
With him I love has pleasure taken wing.
Pain is where all was gladness yesterday.
And I—I am so lonely—till the Spring!
Oh! Mother Earth, to sleep while you are sleeping!
To dream of all that happiness of yore!
And when the flowers through every field are creeping
He will come back to me—for evermore.

Police Court

Yesterday morning a number of boys were brought before the Police Magistrate on a charge of loitering on the street corner of Albert and Park streets, on Monday evening last, and thereby hindering the pedestrians on the sidewalk. One boy was further charged with kicking the dinner pail of a passer-by. The Police Magistrate said that these disturbances were too frequent, and in view of the many complaints that had come to [illegible] the pedestrian by kicking his dinner pail, the sum of $2, payable in five days, and in default imprisonment for ten days.

NINETEEN LIVES WERE LOST IN TRYING TO CROSS THE HUDSON RIVER

Italian Passengers Became Panic Stricken and Capsized the Ferry Scow

BODIES WERE SWEPT DOWN THE STREAM

By the Rapidly Flowing Current—Little Hope of Recovering the Bodies

Glens Falls, N.Y., March 13.—Nineteen men are dead as a result of the capsizing to-day of the ferry boat used by the workmen at Spier's Falls, about ten miles west of Glens Falls, on the Hudson river. Over a thousand men are employed there at present in the construction of the power dam of the Hudson River Power Company. The laborers and many of the masons are Italians, who live in shanties on the north side of the river. The main portion of the work is carried on at present on the opposite side of the river. The men had been in the habit of crossing a small bridge where the water flows through the unfinished portion of the dam, but the river has been rising for several days, and the company, fearing that the bridge was unsafe, destroyed it with dynamite.

Below the work, about a half mile, is the ferry. The boat is a scow shaped affair, 30 feet long and 13 feet wide, and is operated by means of cables. It is large enough to carry a heavily loaded team, and as many as 150 men have been taken across at one time. Yesterday when the men were being ferried across an Italian boy known as "Cigarette," became frightened and fell overboard. He was rescued, however. This morning, seventy or eighty men got aboard and the boat started, leaving a big crowd on the bank waiting for the next trip. When eighty feet from the shore the water splashed against the rail, and the Italian boy who had fallen over the previous day seized one of the tackle ropes which ran from the overhead cable to the stern of the boat. Some of the men started toward him and instantly the boat careened and filled, every one being thrown into the water. The Hudson, swollen by the freshet, bore a score or more of the struggling men down the stream. Many others succeeded in catching hold of the boat, which had righted and they clung there until pulled ashore.

The wildest excitement prevailed, but the current carried many of the men toward shore, where they were rescued. Teams were quickly harnessed and loaded with skilled log drivers and sent down along the river to points where the bodies would be likely to land. Dozens of dinner pails, hats and coats were fished out, but it was nearly four o'clock before the first body was found. This was found in a log jam two miles below the dam and was recognized as that of Fred Forran, an Italian interpreter.

The river for miles is being watched and dragged in hopes of finding the bodies of the other victims. There were but two or three English speaking men on the boat, the Italians being all designated by number. The rolls of the men were called and this evening everybody had been accounted for except nineteen men, and it is certain that these men were drowned.

It is unlikely that all the bodies will be recovered. The river is full of logs, and at the big boom, five miles down the river, there are thousands of them.

Freedom For Russia

St. Petersburg, March 12.—The Czar has issued a decree providing for freedom of religion throughout his dominions, establishing to some degree self-government, and making other concessions to the village committees.

In the decree, which was made public to-day, after referring to the efforts of his predecessors, particularly his father, to add to the welfare of the Russian people, the Czar announces his decision to grant freedom of religion to all his subjects who profess non-orthodox creeds, and to improve the condition of village life and those of the local nobility and peasantry.

Among the measures outlined by His Majesty for the attainment of these ends is reform of the rural laws, which is to be effected with the advice of persons who possess the confidence of the people. The system of administration in the various governments and districts is to be examined by representatives of the different localities concerned, with the view of effecting the necessary amendments.

Measures also are to be taken to relieve the peasantry of the burdens of forced labor.

The decree, which was issued in commemoration of the anniversary of the birthday of Alexander III., is considered to be the most magnificent act of state since the emancipation of the serfs. The public hails it as the proclamation of a new era, opening up bright prospects of early improvement of Russian internal administration.

THE CZAR'S DECREE MUCH DISCUSSED.

British Press is Favorable But Will Await the Results--Benefit to Russia

London, March 13.—The Czar's manifesto has created a great sensation in political circles in England. Its results are considered wide-reaching and of incalculable benefit to Russia.

The Daily Telegraph says: "Again the Czar has issued a manifesto which must awaken interests throughout the world, and may even form a landmark in its history. From any view point the proclamation must be accepted as the most remarkable statement of domestic policy which has been made from the throne for a generation. (Of course, Russia is ripe, not so much for anything like our great reform bill, as for a political Magna Charta, leading up to such elementary commencement of national self-government as this country entered upon six centuries ago, and it is from this point that the Czar's manifesto must be judged."

The Daily News says: "The manifesto breathes freedom for every branch of life—politics, industry, and religion. It may be the dawn of a new era. It may be the beginning of the day when Russia shall be able to add freedom to force, and so add one more to the great, progressive nations of the world."

The Daily Chronicle says: "The manifesto will be welcome to all Liberals, even if they cannot quite agree with the Russian newspapers in comparing it with the emancipation of the serfs. We have always to remember that in Russia, almost as much as in Turkey, it is administration rather than law which needs reform."

MAPLE SYRUP SEASON

Will Begin in a Few Days—The Pure Article will be Scarce.

In the spring, the young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love, and the fancy of the rest of the family turns to the fresh maple syrup which is served in the morning with the pancakes. The maple syrup, the real genuine article which is due to arrive shortly, is delicious enough to divert even the thoughts of the aforementioned young man.

Sugaring time is at hand. The sap is running in the maple, and before long there will be fresh maple syrup and sugar for sale at grocers, instead of the dried up sugar and the stale syrup, which is now offered with mendacious labels declaring it to be the up-to-date article, with a total disregard of the fate of Annanias.

Sugaring time in some parts of Peterborough county is one of the events of the year. It is looked forward to and enjoyed with a zest which [illegible]

The maple syrup will be scarce goes without saying: In the first place, help is scarce, and in the second place our maple forests are gradually being cut into firewood.

Chamberlain at Madeira

London, March 12—Speaking at Madeira yesterday, on his way back to England, Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain said:

"When I was at home I had thought that the mission of the United Kingdom had perhaps been pretty nearly fulfilled, but now I am convinced that the mission of the British Empire is only just beginning. It is a mission of peace, of civilization, a union of hearts and spirits in these interests. If I have done anything to lay a single brick to that great edifice, which I believe will rear itself into the skies in the future, I am amply repaid."

NAVAL REORGANIZATION.

The recent publication of the British Admiralty's decision to establish a new naval station at St. Margaret's Hope confirms part of the information imparted in these columns a week ago, which was to the effect that Great Britain had under serious consideration a plan for the creation of a North Sea squadron, with its base on the east coast. There seems now to be no doubt that England has taken the first step toward organizing a North Sea naval force, although the [illegible] of which the force will be composed will very likely not be determined for some months to come.

An important scheme for the reorganization of the Home Fleet and the Naval Reserves will, however, go into effect May 1. The appointment of Lord Charles Beresford as "Senior Officer in command of the Channel Squadron," which has already been announced by cable is part of the reorganization plan. Henceforth the command of the Home Fleet will be divorced from the command of the Naval Reserves and from office work at the Admiralty, and correspondingly the Admiral Superintendent of Naval Reserves will cease to act as the Admiral in command of a sea-going squadron. Besides the appointment of Lord Charles, Vice-Admiral, Sir Arthur Knyvet Wilson, V.C., K.C.B. will be placed in command of the Home Fleet, while Vice-Admiral Ernest Rice is to command the coast guard and Naval Reserve. The position of Admiral Superintendent of Naval Reserves and Vice-Admiral Commanding the Home Fleet is at present held by Sir Gerard Noel, whose flagship, the Revenge, is coast guard ship at Portland.

The separation of the two posts is thought by naval experts to be a wise step on the part of the Admiralty for the Naval Reserves have long been considered the weak spot in the British Navy.

In regard to those naval changes and others which it is believed the Admiralty has in contemplation, naval experts in England declare that, owing to the moral alliance between Great Britain and the United States, the centre of naval gravity has shifted, and that the British North American squadron is an anachronism. They also believe that the creation of a North Sea squadron would do more to promote an intimate good feeling between Germany and Great Britain than any interchange of national amenities.

The German press is as one in regarding the British naval preparations as "unfriendly," and the Berliner Neueste Nachrichten declares with some emphasis: "Oderint dum metuant." (Let them hate, provided they fear.)

RUSH OF IMMIGRATION

Great Possibilities of Western Canada—Wheat Returns Have Raised Interest to the Point of Enthusiasm.

Her great wheat crops have turned out to be the seven-league boots in the march of Western Canada towards prosperity, and the rush of immigration in that direction during the past year indicate that her neighbors and friends desire a share in that prosperity.

The estimates approximate 65,000 as the number of people who have gone to Western Canada in the past year. The record crop of 1901 fastened attention on the great possibilities of that vast prairie country, and the returns of 1902 have raised interest to the point of enthusiasm. That this enthusiasm has a solid basis only, a glance at official figures will demonstrate. The wheat crop for 1902 is officially estimated at 68,000,000. 60,000,000 will be exported. 54,000,000 was produced by Manitoba alone, and 2,000,000 of the 2,500,000 acres under cultivation is located in that province. But the region for three hundred miles west of Manitoba and four hundred miles northward of the Canadian Pacific Railway is capable of the same results. The average yield of wheat per acre, in these districts this year is nearly thirty bushels. Such figures have made Western Canada look very attractive to the eyes of farmers wishing to better their condition, and Mr. E. F. Stephenson, Inspector for the Department of the Interior, reports 14,725 entries of land sales for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1902. The total areas disposed of Mr. Stephenson estimates at 7,000,000 acres. A part of this, of course represents the large holding of companies organized for carrying on the industry of wheat raising on an extensive scale. The British-Canadian Wheat Raising Co., is one of the large corporations of this character.

Chronic Biliousness

IN ITS TRAIL FOLLOW HORRIBLE DREAMS, DESPONDENCY MELANCHOLY AND GENERAL WEAKNESS.

The proper elements needed to promote good digestion, regularity of the bowels, correct action of the kidneys and liver, must be supplied when a bilious condition of the system is once established.

Ferrozone can't help but do this. It gives the stomach perfect rest, and allows you to partake of and enjoy the variety of food that is necessary for maintaining health. One Ferrozone tablet taken after each meal will separate the nutritious portions of the food from the waste, which is carried off, thus preventing and curing constipation and its attendant evil, piles.

Being a potent blood purifier, Ferrozone cleanses the crimson flood of all bile and impurities, and as a result the complexion is restored to a rosy, healthy hue, and the dark circles under the eyes and the deathly pallor of the cheeks, go away never to return.

Taken for disorders of the stomach, commencing with biliousness and ending with derangements of the liver and kidneys, Ferrozone achieves marvelous results. It is at the same time a tonic and stimulant, and a regulator of all bodily functions, and chronic sufferers should not fail to give it a fair trial. It will do them good without doubt, and if the malady is curable it will yield to Ferrozone.

With the use of Ferrozone appetite will be better, the blood made rich and pure, sleep will be dreamless and sound. Your muddy complexion will be cleared, and beautified, your eyes will acquire a new brightness, and as your spirits rise and good health returns, you will bless the day you learned the secret of Ferrozone's power.

If you think you need Ferrozone go to the nearest drug store and procure a supply. Refuse a substitute and insist on having the genuine Ferrozone, which costs 50 cts. per box, or 6 boxes for $2.50. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

THIRTY-THIRD ANNUAL REPORT

—OF—

The Mutual Life of Canada

As Presented at the Annual Meeting of the Company, held at Its Head Office, Waterloo, Ont., Thursday, March 5, 1903.

The Directors have pleasure in submitting their report for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1902, with the financial statement duly audited.

The business of the year was very satisfactory in all respects. New insurances were issued under 3,011 policies for $4,527,878 all of which were written in Canada excepting 14 policies for $22,460. The whole amount of insurance in force is now $34,467,420, under 23,621 policies, being an increase of $2,754,389 for the year. The death rate was very light, and much below the expectation, while the lapses, surrenders and other terminations were less than in 1901.

INCOME.—The net permium income was $1,111,897.41; Interest and Rents, $275,507.03; Annuities, $1,056; Profit and Loss, $2,637.81; total income, $1,391,098.25, being an increase of $113,412.17 over 1901.

DISBURSEMENTS.—The payments to policyholders for death claims, endowments, annuities and surrender values were $405,506.44; for surplus, $77,843.79; total, $483,350.23. All other payments were $248,956.13, including expenses, taxes, etc. The total disbursements were $732,306.36, and the excess of income over disbursements was $658,791.89.

ASSETS.—The Cash assets now amount to $6,098,333.54, and the total assets are $6,459,780.08, an increase for the year of $701,957.91.

LIABILITIES.—The total liabilities are $5,960,629.84, including the reserve for the security of policy holders, $5,925,433.97, computed on the Company's standard 4 per cent. and 3 1-2 per cent.

SURPLUS.—On the Company's standard of valuation the surplus is $499,150.24, and the Government standard $738,256.14. The increase in surplus is $119,179.71.

NEW RESERVE STANDARD.—For some years past, the earning power of money has gradually but steadily decreased. Recognizing the importance of making the most ample provision for the fulfillment of our contracts, your Directors decided to place all new business issued from, and after January 1st, 1903, upon a 3 per cent. basis of valuation, which has been adopted by many leading Companies, both native and foreign.

The Manager, Officers and staff have discharged their duties to the satisfaction of the Board, and in the best interests of the Company. The Agents continue to merit the commendation of the Directors and Policyholders for their loyalty and the success attending the year's work.

The Executive Committee has again examined all the securities and compared them with the records, all of which were found correct and in accordance with the statement herewith submitted.

The following Directors retire by expiry of term of office, but all are eligible for re-election: Sir F. W. Borden, W. J. Kidd, William Snider and Robert Melvin.

On behalf of the Board
ROBERT MELVIN,
President.

INVESTIGATION AND INVESTMENT

Each day finds a heavy recording of sales which is bringing us to the point of advancing the price to 50 cents a share.

WE OWN enough of positively proven oil land in the famous SUNSET-MIDWAY oil district of KERN COUNTY to place 500 wells thereon.

In the development of this valuable property we are not doing any pioneering or prospecting, but on the other hand we purchased outright a valuable tract of proven land which has flowing wells surrounding on the north, south, east and west. These wells have a daily output of 250 to 500 barrels of oil apiece.

Your investment in the stock of this corporation will prove the best investment you have ever made, the rapid development of our property will give you an interest in a corporation whose sole object is to place the company upon a sound dividend paying basis from sale of oil.

Few of our citizens yet realize the magnitude of the oil business as an industry. Of course, everybody has heard of the Standard Oil Company and its many millions, but how many are there who comprehend the fact that the oil business, as a great industrial enterprise, is yet in its infancy. Such, however, is the case, since the discovery of rich oil fields in California, and the acquisition by the United States of the Philippines and the Hawaiian Islands, to say nothing of China and Japan, furnishes a demand for more oil of the high grade kind than this country can now supply. California alone demands far more high-grade oil than is produced within her borders, because of the immense value of this material as a heating, lubricating and illuminating, expense-saving agent. In view of these facts we formed the above named corporation to operate upon land, which is the choicest bit of territory to be had in famous Kern County, California.

The net income that this corporation will earn from the production of oil from 10 wells will permit of the directors declaring a dividend of 90 cents, a share of $90 upon every 100 shares of its stock issued. This income is from 10 wells only and the company has enough land for the drilling of 500 wells. We ask you then to consider an estimate of our earning capacity when our property has been thoroughly developed.

Give this company your investigation and we feel positively sure that you will agree with us that there is no better investment upon the market to-day.

Author of "The House in the Marsh," "A Prince of Darkness," etc.

silence she added in an aggrieved tone: "It's easy to be perfectly good when you have no cares, when you've always got plenty of money and everything you want. This deceit that I've practised upon him is the only thing I've ever had to reproach myself with, whatever anybody may say."

And she looked defiantly into Norma's face in the candlelight.

Norma believed her. There was rather an attractive appearance of sincerity about her visitor, which impressed her in spite of herself. The very fact that she did not make any hypocritical pretense of devotion to Astley seemed to Norma to be in her favor.

A pang of jealousy shot through her heart. This woman had been Astley's choice; he had loved her passionately; the rumors of her misconduct had caused him the most cruel tortures. If—nay—when Lottie should prove that these stories were untrue, would she not easily, with her pretty face, lisping, sweet voice, and unaffected manners, be able to regain the place which she had for the time lost in his affections?

The hot tears sprang to Norma's eyes.

"Well," she said at last, hoarsely, "if what you say is true, if you have been misjudged, as you say, so much the better for you when you are able to see Sir Astley and explain yourself to him. Perhaps he will forgive you for your cruel deception."

Lottie looked at her uneasily.

"And—and what about you?" she said in a low voice.

Norma bit her lip.

"It's rather late for you to ask that," she said bitterly. "If you had given a moment's consideration to anybody but yourself before you played this trick on Sir Astley, you might have known that he, young, handsome, good-hearted as he is, would want to love and marry someone else some day."

The other woman began to walk restlessly up and down the long room.

"Well, well," she said at last, hurriedly, turning to Norma and speaking with great earnestness, "there's no harm done yet, is there? Nobody has seen me here, nobody who knows me. And Astley doesn't know that I'm here. Why tell him? Why tell anybody? I tell you I only want help, a little help for us all. I'm sorry I came now, very sorry; but remember, I didn't come until my brother-in-law told me you knew or guessed that I was alive. Remember that! Perhaps I never should have come but for that."

Norma sat down, trembling.

"But," she said, in a hoarse whisper, "your coming or not coming would make no difference to the fact that you're his wife, and I'm not."

Lottie started.

"Oh, don't put it like that," she said. "Even I shouldn't put it like that. You married him thinking he was free, and he thought the same. So, if nobody knows about my being alive—"

"But he will know, he must know," said Norma quickly. "Don't you see yourself that Dr. Wharles and his wife are dying to make the thing known?"

Lottie looked uneasy.

"Not by my wish," she said quickly. "They do too much: I wish they wouldn't. Look here: I see you are fond of Astley, and no doubt he's fond of you. I don't want to come between you. I'm not ill-natured really. I've forfeited all right to his affection by my wicked deceit, as you said. Let me go away: help me a little if you can. I'm poor, and you're rich: you can spare something, and you would, I know. Then I'll go quietly away, and I won't ever trouble you again. There!"

She spoke earnestly, simply, sincerely. Norma was touched.

"You shall have all the money I can give," she said at once. "But as for hushing up the fact of your existence, it's absurd, you know. The people in your neighborhood must know all about it, and Dr. Wharles and his wife are only too anxious to spread the news about." Lottie moved away impatiently. "No, no," went on Norma with excitement, "we can't go on. It is I who must go away: I'll tell you the truth: our married life has not begun: you have no need to be jealous: you are Lady Darwen, and I am Norma Bascot."

Lottie reeled back, confounded.

"You'll—you'll give him up!" cried she, in amazement.

"I must. We can't begin life on a lie. The moment he is well enough to hear the truth, I shall simply tell him, and go away, and—"

"But I—I—he'll never forgive me!" stammered Lottie. "You'll just spoil your own life without doing any good to me!"

"I can't help that," said Norma, who was wise enough to know how mad it would be to expect this erratic woman to keep any secret for long. "You and he will settle your affairs between you. Of course I shall be grateful to you if you will go away as you have come, and say nothing to anyone till I have left this house. After that, you must do what Sir Astley chooses. In the meantime," she went on, while Lottie paced up and down, wringing her hands in evident distress, "I'll give you some money which will keep you comfortably until you can arrange with Sir Astley. Will you have a check?"

Lottie was crying.

"Oh, you are good, you are generous," she sobbed. "I wish—oh, I wish I had never come. And I—I wouldn't take money from you if only I were not so hard up. Look here!" She put out a little foot, and showed a broken boot. Norma, who had already noticed the pathetic shabbiness of her dress, drew her breath sharply through her teeth, and ran to her writing-table, where she unlocked her little desk.

"Shall I write it out to you?" she asked. "I'm going to give you a check for a hundred pounds."

Lottie sobbed aloud.

When she had muttered some shamefaced thanks, she said:

"Don't give me a check. I don't want to use your name."

"But I have only a few pounds here. Shall I make it out to your sister, or your mother, or—"

"No, no, I should never get the money. I—I mean," said Lottie, hastily checking herself, "I'd rather have the money instead of a check."

"What shall I do then? I can write up to my bank to-night, but I can't get the notes till the day after to-morrow. I don't know these people yet, or I would get it cashed here," said Norma, who was rather shy and ignorant about money matters, and afraid to excite remark in the neighborhood.

"I'll wait, I'd rather wait till you get it."

"And I'll send it to Leamington!" said Norma.

"No. I'll meet you in the orchard, the day after to-morrow, at dusk, just after tea. In the meantime, I'll keep close at home, and nobody shall see me," said Lottie, with shame and tremulous gratitude shining in her eyes.

Norma rose from her chair. She was getting anxious to go back to Astley: but the visitor lingered. There were tears in her eyes; she began to speak several times, stopped short, grew hysterical, alarming. Norma began to get afraid that she was going to be seized with a nervous fit of some kind, when suddenly there came a light tap at the door, and Martin's voice asked if her ladyship would go to Sir Astley. He was calling for her.

"All right, Martin, go back and tell him I'm coming," said Norma.

The moment they heard the door of the sick-room close upon the housemaid, Lottie, with a brief "good-by," dashed past Norma, fled downstairs like a hare, and ran down one of the long dark corridors which led to a door into the grounds.

Trembling and agitated, Norma went back to Astley, who had been dozing, but was now awake and conscious. She had some difficulty in quieting his curiosity as to her long absence, and he was evidently displeased with her for it.

However, she flattered herself that she succeeded pretty well with him, until the following morning, when Dr. Wharles came. Then, after answering the doctor's questions with marked coldness, Astley caught the exchange of a significant look between Norma and him, and thereupon promptly called her back as she was following Dr. Wharles out of the room.

"I must go and hear what he says about you, dear," cooed Norma, bending over him coaxingly.

"You will not. I forbid you. Sit down."

Tremblingly Norma obeyed. And Dr. Wharles had to go away without a word to her.

Ten minutes passed, during which Norma sat silent and submissive by the bedside. Then Astley spoke.

"Norma, kiss me."

Did he suspect anything? There was a world of anguish in her eyes as they met his, and a sob escaped her lips as she pressed them to his forehead.

But he made no remark; it cut her to the heart, though, to see the uneasy glances which he threw at her in the course of that day and the next.

On this second day he was allowed to get up, and it was while he was sitting by the fire in his room, late in the afternoon, that Norma, making the excuse of a letter to write, slipped out of the room, ran to her own apartment, and taking the twenty-five pound notes which she had received by post from her London bank that morning, ran downstairs very quickly, and into the same long dark corridor by which Lottie had entered and quitted the house two evenings previously.

Norma had in the meantime found out that this corridor, which was in the most unfrequented part of the big house, led to a little side-door into the garden, which was always unlocked.

It was dusk, and there was a thick mist over the grass. Nobody was likely to see her, and Norma, who had not been out of the house before since her arrival, had no difficulty in making her way to the orchard without fear of spying eyes. The lights glowed in the windows of the servants' quarters, but the upper part of the house looked dark and gloomy. Norma sped over the grass, dashed through the shrubbery, and into the sparsely filled orchard, where the whitened tree stems looked ghostly in the gloom.

Lottie was waiting, shy, timid, grateful, hysterical again. Norma gave her the packet of notes, waited for no thanks, and turned to flee back into the house.

She had scarcely got into the shrubbery, however, when she heard a man's hurried footsteps, and almost shrieked with terror when she found herself in the grasp of Astley, who, trembling, staggering, seized her arm and glared into her face.

"What are you doing out here?" said he hoarsely.

CHAPTER XII.

"Astley! you here! Out in the cold and damp! Oh, how could you? How could you? Come in, come indoors this minute!"

Norma spoke as if to a perverse child, chidingly, affectionately, and as she spoke led him towards the house by the door which she had used. Submissively he limped along, and as to all his enquiries as to what she herself had been doing in the orchard she would say nothing but "Sh-sh! I'll tell you presently," he dropped into silence, apparently satisfied by her manner, and content to wait her good pleasure for an explanation.

So they went upstairs, quietly, like two naughty children afraid of being caught after an escapade; and it was not until they were back again in Astley's room that he turned to her, and again demanded why she had gone out in the fog.

"Don't you know," said she, evading his question, "that I haven't been outside the house since I came here? Surely you could spare me those few minutes!"

"You are making excuses," said he, sharply. "You went out to see someone? Come, was it Wharles?"

Norma was able to laugh at this question.

"Dr. Wharles! No, indeed it was not! If you must be inquisitive and pry into things which really don't concern you at all, I went out to see a woman, a poor woman who was in want of money."

"What woman? You don't know anybody here yet. You are telling me falsehoods. Why do you do it?"

He stamped angrily on the floor, as he leaned against the mantelpiece. Norma thought it best to take a high hand with him.

"Sit down," she said peremptorily, "sit down here this moment. You don't know what harm you may have done to yourself by going out in the damp, when you are scarcely convalescent after fever."

"Fever! Nonsense! I was all right. It was only that fool Wharles who chose to pretend I was ill, in order to get his foot into the house!" said Astley, angrily.

Norma would not listen to him. She insisted on his seating himself again in the cosy armchair which had been put for the purpose by the fire for him, and then she rang the bell for tea, and busied herself among the medicine bottles which stood in a row on a side-table.

Suddenly Astley's voice rang out in peremptory accents:

"Put those things down, and come here."

The voice thrilled her, but she would not come. She was afraid. So she made an excuse, without looking round:

"I must just see first which of these bottles can be thrown away now. There's

GRAND TRUNK AND C. P. R.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy has expressed himself as strongly opposed to the government granting assistance to the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in any "shape, manner or form. The announcement is not altogether unexpected. The Canadian Pacific Railway has received from the Dominion of Canada at various times twenty-five million acres of land, part of which is now selling, we believe, at from five to six dollars an acre. This land has, from the time it was granted, is now, and promises to remain for a considerable time, free from taxation of all kinds. There is a dispute as to the interpretation of the Act of Parliament under which the grant was made. The Company's view practically is that its land should be free from taxation until it passes into the hands of people who would bring it under cultivation. That is really what its contention amounts to. Some of the more radical of the members of the party which insisted upon the bill of endowment going through Parliament in the indefinite form in which it was introduced in face of the protest of the Liberals that there would be a dispute over its interpretation, at the last session of the House were disposed to insist that the company should be compelled to accept the popular reading of the act. That is that Parliament should interpret its own act. However, it was successfully urged that such a matter is usually left to the courts. And so the courts, after their own deliberate fashion, will settle the dispute between the people and the C.P.R. Whatever the decision may be, it is apparent that the railway company for which Mr. Shaughnessy speaks has not been dealt with in a niggardly manner by the country.

But, in addition to the land grant, which has proved quite a valuable estate, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company received nearly sixty-three million dollars in cash from the Canadian government. We do not cite the bestowal of this extraordinarily generous gift as an excuse for assistance of any kind being extended by the government to the Grand Trunk Pacific, but rather as a reason why Sir Thomas Shaughnessy and all his organs should hold their peace while the subject is under discussion. It is but just to admit, however, that Sir Thomas contends that the great rival of the Canadian Pacific should not be enabled by public aid to penetrate a region which has been opened up and proved by his company, that if the Grand Trunk desires to profit by conditions not of its own creation it has no right to put its hand in the public treasury to enable it to do so. The weakness of Sir Thomas's argument lies in the fact that it fails to take into account the case of the public which would be served by the new system. The people of the Northwest maintain that the existing transportation facilities are altogether inadequate for the transportation to market of the products of the settlers at present established. And they have the facts at hand to prove their case. Settlement is proceeding so rapidly that it is out of the question for the companies at present in the field to overtake the demands of the incomers for the conveniences without which they can do little, and the absence of which may not only cause much distress, but give the most promising portion of the Dominion a setback from which it would not recover for years.

If a large portion of the Grand Trunk Pacific is to be built through just such a virgin territory as the C.P.R. was, can any just reason be given for granting public aid in one case and withholding it in the other? The new line will pass through much of such territory in Ontario, the Territories and in British Columbia. The road will precede population. It will not be a result of the demands of settlers, but a pioneer line, an artery, letting in and spreading forth the tributary streams of life necessary to raise Canada to her true place in the great national sisterhood. Really the only substantial reason that can be urged against granting the Grand Trunk Pacific just such an unreasonable, extravagant and wholly unnecessary subsidy as was voted by a reckless party to the Canadian Pacific is that the first transcontinental road seemed somewhat of an experiment to the unpractical men who thus sacrificed the money and the estate of the people.

The application of the new line for assistance will be one of the most interesting subjects Parliament will deal with at the coming session. The probable effect of the construction of such a road upon the fortunes of the people of the West and upon the future of that great storehouse of Canada will receive just as intelligent consideration as its speculative effect upon the stock of the C.P.R. A great cry has gone up for better transportation facilities. The government is morally bound to do all in its power within reason to open up the country as speedily as possible to the land-hungry multitudes who are in search of homes for themselves and permanent establishment for their children. —Victoria, B.C., Times, February 3, 1903. STOCK MARKETS

REASONABLE MARKET LOGIC.

New York, March 13—The New York Tribune speaking of our prosperity, editorially, under caption, "Yankees are Getting On," day before yesterday, spoke as follows:—Present conditions are not favorable to corners in wheat, in coal, or in anything necessary for the comfort and sustenance of Americans. Every conspiracy to raise prices of food and or clothing to exorbitant figures ought to fail and is likely to fail. But in spite of the effects of the coal strike and the high prices of meats this republic in the main is buzzing and humming with prosperity. There are not nearly enough engines and cars for the rapid handling of the large quantities of goods, which are pressing upon the railroads. The freight congestion is the plainest proof of the amazing advances of the business of our transportation lines, our mills, our shops, our farms and our mines, all over the United States; capital is reveling, to pay rents and allotting more money to wage earners. This is beyond dispute, the most fortunate land that the sun shines on. Such conditions so admirably expressed in a few words are pregnant with meaning to thinking people. Such being the conditions how immensely absurd it does appear, after declines of from 10 to 30 points in the share markets to talk of further serious depressions. It presents the reasons why stocks should be bought at going prices and why it is reasonable to look for an upward swing of the financial pendulum very soon. To be a bear now, is to lock the stable after the horse is stolen. Failure to buy stocks at the present time is to forego the opportunity offering. One brought about by technical and local reasons not due to a turn in the road of progress indicating the setting in of an ebb tide in the volume of business. Every railway in the land is improving its facilities through vast expenditures of money. Astute railway management, and the American is notably the best in the world, does not prepare for vastly increasing business, when at a point that diminution is to set in. The cleverest railway men in this country are pushing day and night to increase their facilities. The properties are thus improved in earning power and in intrinsic value. Ponder seriously before neglecting the bargain table now being offered by Wall Street.

RAPID GROWTH OF MONEY

The Poor Become Poorer and the Rich Richer Because Men of Small Means Allow Savings Banks to Farm Their Funds Instead of Getting the Full Earning Power Out of Their Own Money.

Editor National Oil Reporter:—

Colossal fortunes are being accumulated rapidly by this generation, and, true to the old proverb, "Money makes money," we seem to be on the eve of counting Billionaires by the score, and Millionaires only ordinary mortals, while the average business man no longer considers $100,000 any money for business purposes and surely not enough to retire upon.

The change which has brought about this prosperity is plain. Our country is becoming thickly populated and every one of us earns something, but the question is often asked without answer: "Does each one get his proportion?" If he does not, why not. These questions are answered in many and various ways, but the most plausible reason why the poor keep poor and the rich grow richer is the fact that the poorer classes and the middle classes hand their savings over for the rich man to add to his own riches, instead of using their own brains and money for their own personal comfort and benefit.

The Savings Banks, Insurance Companies, Building Loan Associations, and other similar institutions acting like a huge sponge, absorbing the rain drops from the top and emitting the stream with force enough to turn the wheels of industry from beneath it, are found in every location.

To start a stock firm requires brains, judgment, capital, experience, perseverance and tact; to start a Savings Bank requires a large subscription blank and a few facts relative to what Savings Banks pay the stockholders, and a few days' time. Then enough capital is subscribed to organize the bank; a charter is procured; the building is rented; a large vault placed in position, and the public invited to bring in their money. The Board of Directors meet and Mr. Easy is selected for president; his brother, Live Easy, is made Vice-President; his friend B. Easy, is made Secretary, and their friend Now Easy, is selected for Treasurer. It is decided that from what money the public will bring to them they will draw good and substantial salaries, as well as have certain blocks of stock given to them in case of emergency. They hire money at the rate of three per cent. per annum, and take advantage of the men who must have money in their different enterprises, and their discounts are without limit. Whether the money is loaned out by themselves, their agents, lawyers, etc., or whether it be invested in industrials, stocks or other good paying enterprises, it is safe to say that eight, nine and even twelve per cent. is not a large earning power for a Savings Bank.

There can be but one result: That of making a few men very wealthy, and several hundred men very poor, because with their hands alone the large army of workers cannot accumulate wealth. To hand it over to bank officials at three per cent. per annum is practically throwing their money away, as their home expenses will increase at the rate of ten per cent. while their money earns them only three per cent. Savings Banks are continually failing, like Building Loan Companies, Insurance Companies, etc. We have but to look around us and we will discover that within the last few years this constant condemning of Savings Banks has aroused the feelings of the workman, small merchant, and well-to-do business man. They have opened their eyes; they have looked for themselves; they have sought investments as a bank sees them, along lines that are safe and sure of results, and in many instances fortunes are realized from comparatively small investments. It is natural growth of money. Big fortunes of today are made in that way.

The Empire State, which pays an annual dividend of 14 per cent. to the stockholders, or, better still, the Stirling Oil Co., which is paying 30 per cent per annum, must be acknowledged as phenomenal money makers, and in all probability they will not stop here. Mr. George Stevens is the agent, he will willingly give all information regarding these phenomenal money makers.

An Opportunity

We are offering for public subscription a limited amount of stock of exceptional merit affording an unusual opportunity for a very profitable investment. We desire to be conservative in our representations, but do not hesitate to state that the stocks of the properties we are representing are absolutely certain to rapidly increase in value, and the fortunate purchasers of the stock at the present prices will have more than reason to congratulate themselves for grasping this opportunity.

Success lies in being alive to that which is going on around you, and they who "grasp the skirts of happy chance can breast the blows of circumstance."

We have the disposition of a certain amount of treasury stock in four corporations. We have thoroughly investigated the present value of the properties owned by the Companies, and have full cognition of the immense profits that are awaiting only the further development and equipment of the properties.

We are offering an equal number of shares in each of the four corporations at a price that make the combined issue a most attractive feature, giving also to the purchaser an unusual safe guard on his or her investment; in other words, you are not placing all your eggs in one basket. Or if you prefer you can purchase separately the stocks we offer.

As the money received from the sale of the stock is strictly for the purpose of equipping the properties with the necessary machinery, etc., the time will not be long before handsome dividends are available. We are not asking your subscriptions to pay for the properties; they are already owned by the Companies, and there are no outstanding obligations.

This preliminary notice is to advise the public in general that an opportunity now presents itself for a safe investment of unusual character, embodying also speculative possibilities sufficiently great to make even a small investor a competency within a few years.

You can invest in any amount from Ten Dollars up, and, if so desired, you can have the privilege of paying in installments the amount of stock paid for from time to time being non-forfeitable in the event of your ceasing payments, thus relieving those of small or uncertain income from possibility of loss, should they for any reason become unable to continue payments.

Our business is to aid responsible Companies in the disposal of their treasury stock for the thorough equipment of their properties; we do not and will not handle indiscriminate mining or other stocks under any circumstances. We make a thorough personal examination and investigation as to the merits and possibilities before undertaking to assist in financing any Corporation: the paramount issue with us is to give complete satisfaction and cause much success to our patrons.

We have furnished the publishers of The Times with an outlined description of the Companies we represent, and the names of the Directors of each Company whose stock we offer to their subscribers and friends. We have also furnished The Times with bank references as to our own bona fides and standing. We desire to command the utmost confidence of all subscribers and to retain same along with their friendship for all time; you add a few dollars; we add our experience brain and labor: you increase your riches without effort and increase our power to make you still richer. In ordinary everyday experience a man's expenses nearly equal his income and he has little chance to make a turn for the betterment of his condition. This is anyone's opportunity; you can invest Ten Dollars or One Thousand Dollars on the same basis as one who invests Ten Thousand Dollars. You cannot afford to neglect your opportunities and this is a chance to get in on the ground floor and reap the profits of substantial, quick money making enterprises. Your money need not be tied up for a long time; we know that one of the Companies at least, will pay handsome dividends this year. It is an easy matter to become rich; just watch for the opportunity and take advantage of it. This is your opportunity; will you grasp it?

The Electric Spark GOLD MINING COMPANY

Offers to investors an opportunity to secure through a purchase of its stock

A monthly income of $50.00

On an investment of $1,000; or a monthly income of $5.00 on an investment of $100.00. This is purely a business proposition. Their is no uncertainty about it; you do not take any chances. We actually have enough ore in sight to keep us working for three or four years, and the more development work we do the more ore there is in sight; the deeper we go the richer it is. Bear in mind, too, that we do not come to the public with an untried experiment. Our shaft is nearing the 200 foot mark, with better values at the bottom than any place nearer the surface. The ore runs in value from $25.00 to $86.80 per ton, by actual carload shipments.

The par value of our stock is $1.00, with only a limited amount of shares to be sold, and this has been placed on the market at the low rate of 20 CENTS PER SHARE. On March 14, the price will be advanced to 30 cents per share, providing any of the original offering remains unsold; therefore we advise all who are interested to send in their applications without a moment's delay, as they will be filled and eventually rejected just in the order received.

Prospectus free on request. Applications should be addressed to and remittance made payable to the order of

Thunder Mountain!

is the richest gold producing camp in the United States, and also the largest. The Thunder Mountain district, in central Idaho, is twenty miles wide and forty miles long. In comparison with this we have Cripple Creek, four miles wide and seven miles long. In many of the Thunder Mountain mines ore has already been reached that carries ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD TO THE TON. All of the Thunder Mountain ore is free milling, which means that it can be treated by the cheapest extraction process known—the ordinary stamp mill. It can be both mined and milled at a cost not to exceed $2 a ton. The past years operations in the several working mines have opened up millions of tons of ore that will give a net profit of from $10 to $30 a ton, enabling the respective companies to pay dividends at a rate never before equalled. Such is the showing and the prospect of the

EAST DEWEY GOLD MINING CO.

which unless all indications are at fault, will become the largest producer in the district. The EAST DEWEY mine, which it owns outright, is located directly on Thunder Mountain, just east of the famous "Dewey" mine, which already has $20,000,000 of ore in sight. The surface area of the East Dewey mine is one hundred and twenty acres—six full quartz claims. The company has also secured the big GOLDEN GATE mine, in the Big Creek section of the Thunder Mountain district—which has been so aptly termed "The Pot of Gold"—and is now developing the mine with all possible speed. For a distance of 9,000 feet, nearly two miles, the Golden Gate mines cover a mineralized ledge that is 900 feet wide, with an average height above the tunnel level of 500 feet, thus giving it the largest exposed tonnage of any mine in the west.

If you would share in the enormous profits which these figures indicate and which these developments promise, invest your money in "East Dewey" Stock. It can be bought to-day for 10 Cents a Share. Its par value is $1.

If the East Dewey mines are what they appear to be, and there is absolutely no reason to doubt or question these indications, this stock will eventually be worth at least $10 a share, and to-day you can buy it for ten cents. PRICE ADVANCES TO FIFTEEN CENTS ON FEBRUARY 28th. 5% discount allowed for cash. Stock sold at flat price of 10 cents on deferred payments, 10% with application, and 10% monthly until paid. Full particulars, prospectus, etc., on request.

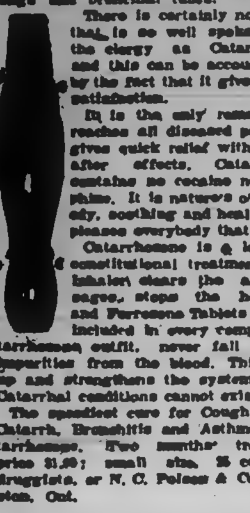
MINISTERS PRAISE
CATARRHOZONE

Rev. D. K. Smith of White Head, N. S. Was cured of catarrh by Catarrhozone.

The following statement coming from one of Nova Scotia's prominent churchmen carries conviction of the fact that Catarrhozone is all right.

"For years I tried all the advertised remedies for Catarrh, but was unable to get relief until I used Catarrhozone. Before I had used the Inhaler half an hour my nostrils became free and clear so that I could breathe easily through them. In one day Catarrhozone helped me immensely, stopped my coughing and hawking and cured a dull pain that was continually over my eyes. I have great pleasure in recommending Catarrhozone. I have proved it the best remedy for Catarrh and diseases of the throat, lungs and bronchial tubes."



There is certainly no remedy that is so well spoken of by the clergy as Catarrhozone and this can be accounted for by the fact that it gives perfect satisfaction.

It is the only remedy that reaches all diseased parts and gives quick relief without bad after effects. Catarrhozone contains no cocaine nor morphine. It is nature's own remedy, soothing and healing, and pleases everybody that uses it.

Catarrhozone is a local and constitutional treatment. The Inhaler clears the air passages, stops the headache, and Ferrozone Tablets that are included in every complete Catarrhozone outfit, never fail to drive impurities from the blood. This builds up and strengthens the system so that Catarrhal conditions cannot exist.

The speediest cure for Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Bronchitis and Asthma is Catarrhozone. Two months' treatment, price $1.00; small size, 25 cents; at druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

If You are Loosing Weight

Splendid Financial Position of the Mutual Life of Canada

The many friends and patrons of the Mutual Life of Canada in Peterborough and district, will read with pleasure the annual report, which appears in to-day's issue. It shows that the company is in a splendid financial position.

The thirty-third annual meeting of this company was held at its head office, Waterloo, on Thursday, the 5th inst., and the report presented to the policyholders is published in this issue. The President, Mr. Robert Melvin, pointed out that the business of the year was very satisfactory in all respects, a statement fully borne out by the financial report. The new insurances issued were $4,527,828, an amount exceeded by but two other native companies. The total amount of policies in force is now $34,467,420, giving the company third place in this respect as regards purely Canadian business. It will thus be seen that the Mutual Life is not only maintaining its popularity, but an examination of its financial statement proves that its administration is in progressive and economical hands. The income, assets and surplus have been largely increased, noteworthy points being the large amount of dividends paid to policyholders, $77,848, and the addition of $119,179 to the general surplus account. Notwithstanding the large transactions of the year, the expenses were kept within the same moderate limit as in previous years. The surplus over all liabilities on the Government standard is $736,256, while on the company's more rigid standard it is $469,150. While the security afforded to policyholders is all that could be desired, the directors, believing that the most ample provision should be made for the fulfillment of its contract, decided upon a three per cent. reserve for all business issued hereafter.

With an income of nearly one and a quarter millions, and assets close upon six and one-half millions, and with a continuation of the steady, healthy growth of recent years, the Mutual Life will soon be numbered among the largest financial corporations of Canada.

Mr. Kelsey Hall, the energetic and popular district manager, will be pleased to discuss the merits of the Mutual Life as compared with other companies, with any that may desire to call on him.

A Farmers' Blacksmith Shop

Hastings Star: At a meeting in the Shamrock factory, Cobourg road, on Saturday last, at which the farmers of that section met to consider the action recently taken by the blacksmiths in that locality, in forming a union and raising the prices, a motion was made that a union meeting of the farmers be held at Hastings to organize and start a blacksmith shop of their own. A delegate was appointed to arrange for the meeting and to agitate the cause for the farmers.

Rev. Mr. Hannah Remembered

The friends and church members of the Rev. Mr. Hannah met together at the residence of Mr. R. B. Martin, on Thursday afternoon, to express their sorrow at his departure from town, and to present him with a token of good-will. An address was read by Rev. Mr. Bastow, and Mr. T. Jewett presented Mr. Hannah with a beautiful set of Shakespeare's works. Rev. Mr. Hannah, who was completely taken by surprise, responded in a few well chosen words. Refreshments were served, and everyone left feeling that a very enjoyable time had been spent. Rev. Mr. Hannah has been a resident of Peterborough for two years. He leaves for Midland in a day or two.

Keeping Pace with Orillia

Midland Free Press: Mr. D. W. Ackerman has become the possessor of valuable power privileges at the mouth of the Severn river, and is about to organize a company to generate electric power and light. He has already secured promises from Coldwater, Waubaushene and Midland manufacturing concerns to take power as soon as ready. The water power at his disposal is sufficient to generate 5,000 horse power. If Mr. Ackerman succeeds in his enterprise it will be a boon to those who require power or who are now using steam.

—The annual report of the Centreville Presbyterian church shows that $3000 has been contributed for church work during the year. This is very satisfactory, for a church membership of 200. Contributions to missions amounted to $236.

HAS A LIMIT

But the Power of Pure Food is Seldom Effaced.

There is of course a limit to the curative abilities even of pure food, but it is a fact that is seldom reached. There are cases of disease so deep rooted that they will never be cured.

It is nevertheless a profound fact that the pure food Grape-Nuts, the most scientific food in the world, has effected marvelous in cases where medical science has given up the sufferer and it seemed there was no hope. Veterans of the Civil War are not youngsters any more (it is nearly 40 years since Appamatox) and when the ill health comes to one of the old soldiers he has not the assistance of youth to help him pull through. But scientific feeding can actually rebuild old bodies and generally build them well. An old soldier who now lives at Boise, Idaho, says:

"I am an old soldier. I have suffered greatly from heart trouble, hypertrophy and aneurism. In addition to this I had terrible indigestion which caused smothering and choking spells and I have also been partially paralyzed in the left shoulder and right side. While at a friend's house one time I tried Grape-Nuts as a breakfast dish and liked it so well that I continued to use it.

"Here is the result and it seems marvelous: I have almost recovered the use of my paralysed shoulder and arm and my side is greatly improved, my digestion is almost as good as good as ever and I have not had a smothering or choking spell since I used the food. I sleep peacefully without nervous starts, I do not tire so easily, my hand is firm and less tremulous and the spells of faintness once very bad, have ceased entirely. Food cannot cure what cannot be cured, of course but this I know that Grape-Nuts has brought me rest and freedom from pain and deliverance from the terrible smothering spells.

"I use two or four teaspoonfuls at a meal with milk, a little sugar and a raw egg. I think a great deal depends upon the regularity with which the food is eaten." Name furnished by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Y.W.C.A. GYM CLOSING

Miss Moody's Physical Culture Classes Give a Splendid Performance in the Y.M.C.A.

Last evening a very pleasing and creditable performance was given in the gymnasium of the Y.M.C.A. by the members of Miss Moody's Physical Culture classes. The different numbers on the programme were well carried out and it was apparent to all that the exercises were in every way beneficial and calculated to promote bodily strength, in addition to graceful movement. The following programme will show, that the pupils have had a most thorough and extensive training in all branches of this art. The regular gymnasium costume was worn by the students, whose graceful movements indicated the utmost ease of manner.

1.—Calisthenics.

2.—Games—a, Indian club race; b, Indian club circle pull; c, Bombardment.

3.—Indian Clubs.

4.—Games—a, Corner ball; b, Circle ball.

5.—Wand Drill.

6.—Games—a, Hopping race; b, Advance object; c, Line foot ball.

7.—Swedish Educational Gymnastics.

8.—Relay Race. Goal Throwing Game. Tug of War.

9.—Fancy Steps.

10.—Ling Ball.

11.—Emmerson's System of Physical Culture.

Miss Moody, A.T.C.M.

The closing number, "Emmerson's System of Physical Culture," is deserving of special mention, as it bears testimony to the superior capabilities of Miss Moody in demonstrating this splendid method. As a teacher Miss Moody is thoroughly equipped for her work, being a student of the Harvard Summer School of Physical Education, and, in addition, a graduate of the Toronto School of Expression in affiliation with the Conservatory of Music.

The success of this class is the outcome of energy, combined with patience, on the part of the directress, and its growth and development during the coming season will be watched with interest.

The accompaniments for the evening were capably rendered by Miss Moody and Miss A. I. Dickson.

The thanks of the Y.W.C.A. management are tendered to the gentlemen at the Y.M.C.A., who so kindly and courteously gave them the use of the gymnasium for their final practices and closing.

Miss Moody leaves to-day for Boston, where she will resume her studies. Much regret is felt at the departure of one who has been so kindly helpful in the work of the Y.W.C.A.

The Ideas and Suggestions of the Great Scientists Secured in

MALT BREAKFAST FOOD

The results which the great scientists so long desired have been secured in a practical form, for the first time, by the production of Malt Breakfast Food. The virtues of this great health food are now universally recognized by physicians everywhere, who depend upon its building-up powers when other forms of nourishment fail. Malt Breakfast Food is now generally prescribed by physicians for those whose digestion is weak and uncertain; it is the one form of cereal food, recommended for invalids and convalescents because of its easy digestion. Ask your Grocer for Malt Breakfast Food; one trial will make it your favorite morning dish.

FIRST STAGE OF CATARRH.

A Serious Mistake Which Thousands Are Making.

The first stage of catarrh is what is commonly known as "catching cold." It may be in the head, nose, throat or lungs. Its beginning is sometimes so severe as to cause a chill and considerable fever, or it may be so slight as to not hinder a person from his usual business. In perhaps a majority of cases little or no attention is paid to the first stage of catarrh, and hence it is that nearly one-half of the people have chronic catarrh in some form.

To neglect a cold is to invite chronic catarrh. As soon as any one discovers the first symptoms of catching cold he should at once begin the use of Peruna according to directions on the bottle, and the cold is sure to pass away without leaving any bad effects.

Unless this is done the cold is almost sure to end in the second stage of catarrh, which is making so many lives miserable. If Peruna was taken every time one has a cold or cough, chronic catarrh would be practically an unknown disease.

Miss Elizabeth Uber, No. 57 Bassett street, Albany, N. Y., writes:

"I have always dreaded unsettled weather because of my extreme liability to catch cold, when a catarrhal trouble would quickly develop through my entire system, which it would take weeks to drive away. I am thankful to say that since I have taken PERUNA I do not have any reason to dread this anymore. If I have been at all exposed to the damp, wet or cold weather, I take a dose or two of PERUNA, and it throws out any hint of sickness from my system."—Miss Elizabeth Uber.

Mrs. M. J. Brink, No. 820 Michigan avenue, St. Joseph, Mich., writes:

"This past winter during the wet and cold weather I caught a sudden and severe cold, which developed a catarrhal condition through my entire system, and so affected my general health that I was completely broken down, and became nervous and hysterical and unfit to supervise my home. My physician prescribed for me, but somehow his medicine did me no good. Reading of PERUNA I decided to try it. After I had taken but three bottles I found myself in fine health."—Mrs. M. J. Brink.

Sibyl A. Hadley, 23 Main street, Huntington, Ind., writes: "Last winter after getting my feet wet I began to cough, which gradually grew worse until my throat was sore and raw. Ordinary remedies did not help me and cough remedies nauseated me. Reading an advertisement of what PERUNA could do, I decided to try a bottle, and you can imagine how glad I felt when it began to relieve me in a very short time. In less than two weeks I was completely cured."—Sibyl A. Hadley.

Miss Sara McGahan, No. 127 3d street, Albany, N. Y., writes:

"A few months ago I suffered with a severe attack of influenza, which nothing seemed to relieve. My hearing became bad, my eyes became irritated and feverish. Nothing seemed right and nothing I ate tasted good. I took PERUNA and within two weeks I was perfectly well."—Sara McGahan.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be glad to give you his valuable advice gratis.

A FORTUNE IN MAY CORN—May corn is now selling 25 cents per bushel less than it was last year at this time. On account of the greater demand for export and manufacturing purposes, it should be selling considerably above. On the Alaskan Boundary Trouble--Lord Chief Justice of England Named by Great Britain

London, March 14.—I am able to state definitely that Baron Alverstone, the Lord Chief Justice of England, has accepted the chairmanship of the British side of the Alaskan boundary tribunal.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has been asked to select the Canadian members of the tribunal. It is believed here that judges of the Supreme Court of Canada will be selected, and my information would lead me to predict that the Canadian Premier will nominate Sir Elzear Taschereau, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, and Hon. David Mills, a puisne judge of the same court.

CANADIANS AT COURT.

London, March 14.—Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, the High Commissioner for Canada, and Mr. Andrew Bonar Law, M.P., Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade, who is a native of New Brunswick, were among the invited guests to the court held at Buckingham Palace last night by the King and Queen.

Lady Strathcona and Lady Stanley Clarke, a daughter of the late Sir John Rose, of Montreal, and a sister of Mr. Charles Day Rose, M.P., were among the ladies presented.

BAD FOR STOCKHOLDERS.

London, March 14.—The damage to the Dominion Line steamship Merion which was recently ashore off the coast of Ireland, is placed at £30,000 sterling. Add to this the fact that the Leyland Line has been compelled to draw £65,000 sterling from its reserves to pay preference called for by the year's trading, and there can be no wonder that a feeling prevails that the Morgan trust shareholders are doomed to serious loss.

TALKING OF REWARD TO CHAMBERLAIN

It Is Believed He Would Reject a Peerage or any Other Title Offered

HIS AMBITION TO BE PRIME MINISTER

Colonial Secretary Is a Far Stronger Figure Now in British Politics than Ever Before

London, March 16—Stirring scenes await Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain upon his return from his tour of Empire building in South Africa. He has grown in the estimation of all parties since he went away, and his reappearance in the House of Commons will be welcomed by practically the entire membership.

Naturally the Conservatives and Liberal-Unionists will receive the Birmingham statesman with especial joy, for they seriously need his ability and prestige to resist the accumulating opposition to the Government. They long to see Mr. Chamberlain's debating batteries in action in Parliament and to have him rebaptize the country with Imperialist fire.

"What special honours are in store for the greatest Colonial Secretary England ever had" is a question that is being widely asked. It is believed he would spurn ordinary knighthood and even brush aside a peer's coronet. Indeed, there is probably no distinction in the gift of the King. Chamberlain [illegible] wishes a peerage least of all, since that would take him out of the House of Commons, whence the path of his opportunity, and ambition, rises toward the Premiership, the glittering goal of which every Englishman dreams.

Chamberlain wants the Premiership and it is probably all he wants. That he may legitimately aspire to that position is admitted by even the most grudging of his enemies.

His campaign of pacification in South Africa shows that he comes to fully realize the uses of conciliation and diplomacy in statesmanship. At the same time, he will retain the force of character and skill required to keep colonial interests under the influence of proper subordination to the central interests and authority of the Empire.

Bridrick's New Officers' Training Course Modeled on System in Kingston College.

OTHER SUGGESTIONS FROM THE COLONIES

Morning Post Wants Officers to Get as in Colonies, More Engineering Training

London, March 16—The new scheme of Right Hon. St. John Brodrick for the training of army officers, is evidently modelled upon the system in Kingston College, the only difference being that the Kingston Cadets receive a training in civil engineering. The surveying practice is of such a class in the Kingston College that within one year after leaving college the students are able to take an engineering diploma in McGill, or to qualify as Dominion surveyors.

The correspondent of the Morning Post raises the question whether the colonial engineering teaching in universities such as Toronto and Melbourne should not be included in Mr. Brodrick's scheme for the training of army officers.

SATURDAY'S MARKET

The Attendance Not Large, But Considerable Produce Offered

On Saturday the amount of produce was of a rather limited quantity and prices ruled firm. The crowd soon picked up everything the farmers and market gardeners had for sale. Good timothy brought $10.00 to $10.50 per ton. Four or five loads of rather poor quality of clover hay sold at from $6.50 to $7.50 per ton. Dressed hogs sold for $7.25. Live hogs will bring $6.00 this week, and probably a fraction better next week. Other produce sold for— Apples, per bag, 60c. to $1.00; potatoes, $1.40 to $1.50; turnips, 25c. up to 30c.; eggs, per doz., 15c.; butter, per lb., 25c.; chickens, per pair, 50c. to 90c.; turkeys each, $1.50 to $2.40; home made cheese, 12c. per lb.

KILLED BY AN ANGRY HUSBAND

Found His Wife Locked in a Store With his Partner

Memphis, Tenn., March 12—Information reached here from Columbus, Miss., this morning, that A. P. Taliaferro, a jeweller, shot and instantly killed Joseph J. Sloan, a piano dealer last night. The two men had their business in the same store, and Sloan boarded with Taliaferro and his wife.

Last night, while Taliaferro was sick, according to his story, his wife left home and went to the store where Sloan was. When Taliaferro went down he found the door locked and when he unlocked it he declares he saw enough to justify any man in shooting. Sloan jumped behind some boxes and began shooting, but Taliaferro did not cease until he had killed the alleged despoiler of his home.

WANT A YEAR'S COAL SUPPLY

Cincinnati Dealers Fear Serious Labor Troubles in the Soft Coal Region

Cincinnati, March 14—An embargo has been placed on soft coal here, and as a result 8,000 cars are now on the various sidings of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad between this city and Russell, Ky. About 2,000,000 bushels are also on the way down by water. Notwithstanding all these shipments, Cincinnati commercial interests today were endeavoring to buy up all the coal they could secure, so as to control a supply sufficient for a year.

The activity of the coal market was caused by the suggestions to big buyers to protect themselves by April 1. Any difficulty at this time in the soft coal fields may involve every soft coal field in the country. It is said that labor troubles are feared.

A TRAMP ELECTED

Conservative Seat Captured by a Liberal who a Few Years Ago was a Tramp

London, March 12—William Crooks, a member of the London County Council, an ex-Mayor of Poplar, a working cooper, and a former inmate of a poor house, a labor agitator, and as late as 1877 a tramp on the road from London to Liverpool in search of work, has been elected to succeed Lord Charles Beresford as member of Parliament for the Woolwich district.

His opponent, Geoffrey Drage, has been vice-president of an international congress at Milan, a member of other international congresses in Brussels and Paris, was Conservative member of Parliament for Derby from 1895 to 1900, has always been prominent in labor questions, and is the author of many important works on social economy. Yet he was defeated by an ex-pauper and cooper by 3,229 votes.

Not only does the election at Woolwich mean the loss of a consistently Conservative seat to the Government forces, but it is a source of great surprise to the labor party itself, who had no idea that the election would result in such an overwhelming victory.

FASTER MAILS FOR THE WEST INDIES

J. P. Morgan and Sir William Van Horne Join Hands in Cuba

THEY ARE NOW IN CONFERENCE IN CUBA

When Panama Canal is opened, Traffic it is Believed, Will Pass Through Island

Havana, March 16 —The projected organization of a great transportation union in conection with the trade of Cuba, is from the best authority, will shortly be rapidly taking form and, I understand made public in all its detail.

The idea of consolidating and applying electric motive power to all railway and tram lines is in conformity with the idea adopted by Sir Wm. Van Horne in constructing his new railway which opens up the eastern districts of the island.

Sir William's return to Cuba is said to have been brought about by a cabled request for a conference from Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, who has delayed his departure until the Canadian magnate can see him.

A combination will be effected by and between the Southern Railway of the United States and the new Cuban Transportation Syndicate for a quick connection by fast steamers, between the Floridian ports of Miami and Havana Matanzas, making the trips from bar to bar in four hours.

Canadian, New York and Washington mails for the West Indies, Venezuela, Jamaica and the Central and South American States, especially those bordering on the Caribbean Sea will come through South Florida, be whirled through Cuba over the Van Horne-Morgan railways, and despatched by fast liners sailing from Cienfuegos, Santiago, or Guantanamo to their decision.

It is also said to be the purpose to have the New York and Panama traffic take in the island of Cuba, either way, as an intermediate point—in the event of the construction of the canal projected to pierce the isthmus; and in this connection, an old scheme to put a canal through Cuba, from Havana to some point on the South coast, has been revived.

BRIDEGROOM IS 93

The Bride is 19—He is a Survivor of the Battle of San Jacinto

Austin, Tex., March 12—The Rev. C. A. King, 93 years old, and his bride, who is 19, arrived here today on their honeymoon. Mr. King is a survivor of the battle of San Jacinto which gave Texas her independence. He says he is the only man now living who fought in that battle. He is a cousin of Gen. Sam Houston.

The couple visited the Legislature, and attracted much attention. They left this evening for the ranch in West Texas where they will make their home. They were married at the home of the parents of the bride, C. J. Long, a farmer of Lee county, this State. The bride said, when asked about her marriage:

"They all think we are such a strange couple, but I don't care what they think. I love him, and he was my choice. It does not make any difference if he is a few years older than I am."

"I suppose if ever woman did love a man, she loves me," broke in the aged soldier. "I thought it was best to marry a young girl. I am getting old and feeble, and think that our match is very appropriate."

TRENTON V. PORT HOPE

How Port Hope Regards the Canal Outlet Matter

SAY IT IS THE BEST ROUTE

Port Hope Will Make a Strong But Futile Bed for the Canal

Trenton Route Will be Adopted all the same —Many Reasons Why the Eastern Outlet is the Best

The fight between Trenton and Port Hope for the canal outlet is becoming interesting. Peterborough's sympathies are unmistakably with Trenton, not only because the people there have been persistent promoters of the scheme from the commencement, but also because the risk of disaster from storm is very much lessened by the eastern outlet. The following from the Port Hope Times, will prove interesting to many of our readers.

There is a small coterie of Peterborough people who are making a great noise about the Trent Valley Canal and advocating the outlet at Trenton. The very name of Port Hope mentioned as being the proper place for the outlet, to be built, is enough to set them going with redoubled energy to defeat the wishes of this part of the country. But does this small crowd who are making such a noise represent Peterborough?

Is it not a fact that at all the meetings they have held, that only about a half dozen Peterborough citizens attend, and those not by any means the most substantial business men of the town. The prominent business men of Peterborough would rather see the outlet of the Canal at Port Hope, where they could have an eight foot canal from the lake to Peterborough which would be of vastly greater benefit and service to that town in getting in their coal and other supplies, than any 5 foot substitute via Trenton could ever be. Perhaps it may not be known to this clique in Peterborough, that a deputation representing some of the best business interests of that town was in Port Hope lately interviewing the Canal Association here, and heartily supporting the Port Hope route as being the best for Peterborough. If Peterborough citizens favor Port Hope it may be asked, why is such an advocacy being made there in favor of the Trenton route? But for such a state of affairs a reason is not hard to find.

Their main argument is based upon a report made by Government Engineer Rogers, which anyone, outside of the clique referred to, will at once upon careful examination, see is based upon a very unfair comparison made between the two routes. The estimates of cost not being for a similar canal. The members of this clique are looking after their own interests and not the interest of the country. They are largely interested through having bought property along the proposed route, which they expect the government will either have to purchase from them, or else will be enhanced in value by the canal, which in the event of the canal being built by Port Hope would be lost to them. A search in the Registry office at Colborne will show to what an extent this Government Engineer is interested, personally and in conjunction with others who have furnished the funds for this speculation which they anticipate will be so profitable to them through the provisions of the Public purpose Act, if the canal is built via Trenton. It is a scandal that any government should continue to employ an engineer to make reports upon a public work in which he is personally interested.

The principal argument they have against Port Hope route is the imaginary dangers of the Lake trip for a few miles along the shore, but they carefully avoid alluding to the trip that will have to be made across Lake Simcoe at any event, and which is quite as dangerous, if not more so, than the piece on Lake Ontario. And in picturing their harrowing tales of the probable wrecks and loss of life that may occur on Lake Ontario, they carefully avoid alluding to the fact that canal boats, of smaller size than the ones proposed for than canal, have for years been crossing Lake Ontario to Oswego from the Rideau Canal and that the first loss of one of them has yet to be recorded. Facts are of more interest in this case than theory. It will be necessary for these gentlemen to give some better reason why the country should expend several millions of dollars more than requisite on this canal to take it via Trenton for a distance of nearly sixty miles, the greater part of which would be through rock, instead of via Port Hope, a distance of less than 20 miles, which is nearly all clay cutting, than they have already given, before we will be able to think that it is not the enrichment financially of themselves that is most prominently in their minds at the present time.

THE AMERICAN NAVY CAUSES GERMAN UNEASINESS

The Large Addition to Uncle Sam's Ships

Berlin, March 16—German naval experts declare that the proposed increase in the United States' naval strength is a much more serious matter for Germany than the establishment of a naval station on the east coast of England.

This view is shared by the officials of the Navy Department, who cannot conceal from themselves the fact that America's enlarged naval programme is chiefly the result of the disappointing Venezuelan expedition. No authority is permitted to discuss the subject for publication, and there is a complete absence of comment in the press, in obedience to official wishes.

Speaking to a Star correspondent today, a prominent naval strategist in close touch with official opinion said:

"Germany's danger from the United States lies not in the expansion of the American fleet, but in the popular sentiment which has brought about that expansion. We contemplate a powerful American navy [illegible] to which popular feeling may at any time compel it to be put. Recent history has convinced Germany that no matter how cordial the relations between Germany and Berlin, the real factor in the situation is American public opinion. [illegible] uncertainty on that uncontrollable and capricious element fills us with concern."

ADVERTISE IN 'THE TIMES' NOW

GAMEY WATCHED BY SLEUTHS WHO BREAK INTO HIS ROOM AT A LATE HOUR

New Phase of Scandal Growing Out of Charges Against Government Agents, Mr. E. F. B. Johnson will Handle Case For Government and Hon. S. Blake for Conservatives

Member Gamey, of Manitoulin, who Makes the Charges of Corruption Against the Government, is Being Watched Night and Day—The Latest News in Connection with the Case

Toronto, March 14.—The liveliest interest continues in the bribery case. Though many of the members went home over Sunday, sufficient remained to keep the hotel lobbies animated. The turn of affairs Monday occupied most of them. Then, too, the story of Tom Lewis's visit to Member Gamey's room at midnight Thursday has caused much speculation. Just what motives inspired the visit at that hour is the source of much speculation. It is believed to have formed some incident of more or less importance in the case. Lewis is from London, and has been employed in certain lines by Liberal politicians in the past. He says he was drinking and drifted into Gamey's room to congratulate him. Gamey says Lewis was not drunk, but was simulating intoxication.

RETAIN BLAKE AND JOHNSTON.

When the formal trial is reached the relative sides will be handled by E. F. B. Johnston and Hon. Samuel Blake. It is said Mr. Johnston was retained within an hour after the developments in the House on Wednesday. The government was instantly alert to the ominous consequences of the disclosures. Mr. Blake refuses to state when he was consulted by those representing the Conservative side. That these two learned jurists will handle the respective sides as senior counsel makes certain some highly entertaining features. It is considered that within another week at least the hearing in one form or another will have commenced.

AS TO THE SCOPE.

Just what scope the investigation will assume is the point that is alarming more than one member of the government. A lawyer of prominence more or less interested in the case makes no secret of the fact that criminal prosecutions will be commenced against those directly concerned in the bribery plot. This will not come, however, until the House or judicial commission has rendered a decision on the merits of the charges. At this investigation all the evidence will be submitted, the names of the stenographers who lay behind the obstructions in the factory and heard Frank Sullivan relate the details of the conspiracy to Mr. Gamey, the name of the "prominent Liberal lawyers," and all others connected with the effort to buy the influence of the member for Manitoulin.

SULLIVAN'S QUEER ACTIONS.

The conduct of some of the leading figures in the scandal is causing much comment. For instance, Captain Sullivan appears to accept it in the nature of a huge joke. He refuses to view it in a serious manner, in spite of the certainty that he is to be involved in some dangerous litigation any day. He has been around the hotel lobbies since the exposure and joking over the affair.

HIGHER OFFICIALS SERIOUS.

But the higher officials are serious enough to atone for any levity Captain Sullivan displays. In justice to the reputation of Sullivan for astuteness, it must be said that he is not talking about the real facts of the case, his connection, nor that of his chief, but confined his remarks to the lighter vein of observation.

R. R. Gamey is being "shadowed." His comings and goings are carefully watched by the sleuths. These men have been in the past employed by the Liberal party. The man for Manitoulin says he is quite able to take care of himself, however.

"Tom Lewis of London came to my room Thursday morning at 2 o'clock," said Mr. Gamey, in reply to a question of a newspaper reporter. "Unfortunately I did not know who he was, or it would have been the worse for my visitor 'Tom' Lewis. The number of my room is 91, but, on that night, I was sleeping in the room occupied by my friend, Smyth, member for Algoma. About 2 o'clock in the morning a man came up to room 91 and battered at the door. Then he got a key and opened it. Smyth and I were in the next room, and Smyth opened the door and asked what the man wanted.

"I WANT TO SEE GAMEY."

"The man came up to the room. 'My name is Macdonald; I want to see Gamey,' he said. Neither of us knew the man, and Smyth asked the fellow to come in. We had both retired for the night. The man stumbled into the room as though he were full, but I saw at a glance that it was merely a pretence. He shook hands with me profusely, congratulated me, and told me I was a brick. At that juncture Smyth had sized the man up, and told him to leave the room, as it was very late.

"The man evidently took the hint, and walked right out, seemingly forgetting his role of intoxication. Had we known who it was, the fellow who gave his name as Macdonald, would have had the hottest time of his life right there in that room. We would have been perfectly justified in throwing him out. Any stranger that breaks into another man's room at 2 o'clock in the morning deserves all he gets."

FAST ATLANTIC FLEET

Britain Hopes the Canadians Will Equal American

England Thinks that the Tenders Should Have Been for Couple 22 Knot Service

London, March 15.—In regard to the fast Atlantic tenders regret is expressed here in the best Anglo-Canadian circles that the Canadian Government did not stipulate that the whole fleet should be a twenty-one or twenty-two knot service in order to make the Canadian weekly service equal to the New York service in speed comfort and equipment. It is felt that nothing would do Canadian interests more good here, than evidence that she is content with nothing short of the best.

Regarding the statements that Galway was practically accepted as the port for the service, it is stated here that the whole question of the selection of ports remains in abeyance. It will finally be made solely on commercial consideration, in which the contractors naturally will have a great deal to say.

There is little evidence as yet on this side that anyone but the Canadian Pacific Company is likely to prove the successful tenderers, although it is admitted that perhaps it would be best, in the general interests of Canada, if an independent organization were found which was willing to undertake the service.

CANADIAN GIRL KEPT PRISONER IN DOCTOR'S HOME IN BUFFALO

Evelyn Johnston of Nirgara Falls Centre Has Exciting Time in New York

Friendship, N.Y., March 15.—The arrest of Dr. John Curry at his home two miles east of Friendship yesterday on a charge of assault and threat to kill, on a warrant sworn out by Miss Evelyn Johnston of Niagara Falls Centre, Canada, has brought to light one of the strangest stories ever told in Allegany County. It is that of a young woman of beauty and intelligence lured from her home in Canada by deception and held a prisoner for weeks by a physician. Her clothes were hidden, she was compelled to do rough work about the barn and farm, her letters were read and the truth kept from her father and sister. Becoming alarmed, her sister determined to visit her, discovered her condition, was ordered from the physician's house, assaulted, had the physician arrested and placed under bail for the grand jury and is now on her way to her home in Canada in company with her sister.

The victim of this strange tragedy in real life is Miss Stella May Johnston of Niagara Falls Centre, Ont. Her story follows:

KEPT A PRISONER.

"I lived with my father and sister on a farm. My mother is dead. I had for some years desired to study medicine, become a physician and make my own way in the world. Last fall I saw an advertisement in a Buffalo paper for a young woman to study medicine, signed by Dr. Curry. I answered it and several letters passed. It seemed the opportunity I was looking for. Dr. Curry wrote that he lived with his mother, and if I desired to I could make my home in the family. I came to Friendship the last of November and after a few days I was aware that conditions were entirely different from what I had been led to believe. Before I knew it I was practically a prisoner, some of my clothes being taken from me and hidden and I was watched closely.

"Dr. Curry lived with his mother in a little farmhouse two miles out of Friendship. I could not write the truth to my father or my sister, for the reason that he read all my letters and when I wrote the truth he tore up the letters.

ATTEMPTED TO ESCAPE.

"I knew no one in Friendship and the nearest neighbor was over 1000 feet away and a relative to Dr. Curry. The doctor's mother seemed afraid of him and all the neighbors had quarreled with him. I had money with me to pay my fare back home and twice I tried to get away. Once I walked down the Erie tracks towards Belvidere, but was overtaken and compelled to return by threats. Another time, three weeks ago, when I was out to the barn cleaning out the stables, I saw I was not watched and ran up the railroad track to Friendship, attired in an old skirt, one of the doctor's old overcoats, his mother's sunbonnet and a pair of rubber boots. I bought a ticket to Buffalo, but just before the train came the doctor came into the station and by threats to kill me made me return to his home. We walked down the track.

TERRIFIED WITH GUNS.

"I was compelled to do rough work on the farm, such as hauling out compost from the barn, cleaning the stables and such work, while the doctor remained in the house and gave orders. He had several guns and revolvers in the house and I was deathly afraid of him.

"Some indignities that I suffered were too coarse to be printed. I was continually insulted, but, thank God, I am free now. After my sister came I dared not tell her for two or three days of the conditions in the Curry household. When I mustered courage to tell her, she told Dr. Curry that we would at once return home. He ordered her from the house, struck her and threatened to kill her. Then she had him arrested and I was free to go."

Miss Johnston is 20 years old, of medium height, auburn hair, and gray eyes. Her sister, Miss Evelyn Johnston, is 22 years old, slightly under medium size, with black hair, dark eyes, and very intelligent. Miss Evelyn says they were formerly in excellent circumstances.

Dr. Curry denies that he mistreated the young woman. Referring to the mob which attempted to avenge the girl's wrongs, he said:

"It is true that a crowd came down here on Wednesday evening to injure me. They stoned the house, the stones are lying in the yard, but I kept them at a safe distance with that repeating shot gun. I shot into the dark and don't know whether anyone was hit or not. I am here to defend my property from anyone who dares not come in the daytime. I do not anticipate any trouble from the Johnston girl."

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 7, 1903.

THE JUDICIAL ENQUIRY

The government, following the charges of the Manitoulin member, brought forth a motion for a judicial enquiry as to their fair and open manner of meeting a grave imputation. This case was objected to by Mr. Whitney as a case of the accused appointing their own judges, and thereby "packing a tribunal." Still worse, of initiating a game with "loaded dice." Aside from the slap at the bench, which Ontario holds in high esteem, the objection to a trial by judges, and the call for an investigation by committee, was not, we think, a wise suggestion. The committee on privileges and elections has never been other than a partisan body, and it ever must be so under party government. It is a contribution to public confidence to have the courts chosen in a matter affecting members in their party affiliation and personal interests.

It is not a sound argument to claim that it is hazardous to the standing of the bench to offer so critical a party question for investigation, since election cases have been before it almost daily and judges are still free from a shadow of suspicion or impeachment. The government members, from their place, declare they do not desire to be whitewashed, and there is no danger of that contingency under a judicial enquiry. A committee's report, on the other hand, will be open to suspicion and challenge, no matter how fair. Under the heat of party feeling, there is no danger of a lack of prosecution and there is no risk of a failure of justice.

The proposal of adjournment pending the investigation has been opposed as improper, but this is straining at criticism. The house could not be carried on with efficiency, dignity, or satisfaction while the enquiry is in progress because of its engrossing demands on the time of members of the government, involving the necessity of adjourning from day to day. Both sides should be free to aid the fullest investigation and to be absolved from frequent vituperative discussion on an unproven charge.

TRAFFIC ON THE GREAT LAKES

There is likely to be a large addition to the number of Canadian bottoms on the great lakes this year. In addition to the two under construction at Collingwood, for the Playfair Co., of Midland, and the St. Lawrence & Chicago Transportation Co., of Toronto, respectively, and the one being built by the Bertram [illegible] Toronto for the Victoria Lumber Co., two are being built at Glasgow, Scotland and one at Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, for Canadian owners. The Algoma Central Railway Co. is looking for a new steamer for one of its freight and passenger lines; the recently-organized Inland Lakes Transportation Co. is about closing a deal for three old Baltic Sea grain carriers in England, and the Western Navigation Co., just formed, is negotiating in England for one or more freight carriers for service on the upper lakes. Hamilton owners are also enquiring in the British market for suitable vessels for the lake trade, so that if all the promises are fulfilled there will be something like fifteen additional Canadian-owned vessels seeking freight cargoes almost entirely on the upper lakes. A daily passenger service at Port Arthur is promised.

ENGLAND IN THE LEAD

The municipal ownership idea is making great advancement in England. Of the 317 municipal corporations in England and Wales all but eighteen are now engaged in reproductive undertakings. In a recent statement in the London Economist it is shown that between January 1st, 1898, and March 31st, 1902, seventeen municipalities undertook water supply, nine gas supply, sixty-two built or bought electric plants, and thirty began the operation of street railways.

In this respect they are in advance of the municipalities of Canada and the United States.

On March 31st, 1902, the total investment of the cities in such enterprises was about $600,000,000, about five-sixths of which was borrowed money. The average annual net profit, after interest, sinking funds, and depreciation had been provided for, was close to $2,000,000, or about one-third of one per cent. on the entire amount invested. These properties are, however, being acquired, and will eventually be owned, debt-free, by the municipalities, which in the meantime claim to be providing better public service than that formerly given.

The figures given by the Economist show that electric plants, bath-houses, burial grounds, and workmen's dwellings are the only kinds of municipal ventures that are not at present yielding profit. Water supply, gas works, street railways, markets, are being profitably managed by the municipalities, and giving the people better service, it is said, than ever before.

KILLED BY AN ANGRY HUSBAND

Found His Wife Locked in a Store With his Partner

Memphis, Tenn., March 13—Information reached here from Columbus, Miss., this morning, that A. P. Taliaferro, a jeweller, shot and instantly killed Joseph J. Sloan, a piano dealer last night. The two men had their business in the same store, and Sloan boarded with Taliaferro and his wife.

Last night, while Taliaferro was sick, according to his story, his wife left home and went to the store where Sloan was. When Taliaferro went down he found the door locked and when he unlocked it he declares he saw enough to justify any man in shooting. Sloan jumped behind some boxes and began shooting, but Taliaferro did not cease until he had killed the alleged despoiler of his home.

Chamberlain at Madeira

London, March 13—Speaking at Maderia yesterday, on his way back to England, Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain said:

"When I was at home I had thought that the mission of the United Kingdom had perhaps been pretty nearly fulfilled, but now I am convinced that the mission of the British Empire is only just beginning. It is a mission of peace, of civilization, a union of hearts and spirits in these interests. If I have done anything to lay a single brick to that great edifice, which I believe will rear itself into the skies in the future, I am amply repaid."

Womanly Troubles

SHOULD NOT BE ALLOWED TO UNDERMINE HEALTH AND BEAUTY, BUT SHOULD BE TREATED AT ONCE BY FERROZONE

It is impossible to go into details on this subject, but the experience of many a poor woman who is crippled for life, just because she didn't use a good remedy in time, should be a warning to others.

When the first stages of womanhood appear in a young girl, a great deal depends upon getting her over this critical stage, so that in years to come she will not develop green sickness or consumption.

As soon as she complains of flushed face, headache, bearing down feelings, give her at once a course of Ferrozone treatment which will carry her past the circle.

In the adult woman if any irregularities occur, Ferrozone will be found a remedy of remarkable potency and power.

Ferrozone is the ideal regulator for the monthly period and causes all organs of the body to perform their work properly, and at just the expected time.

It purifies the blood, tones up the nerves and vital energies. The stomach is strengthened, and digestive and assimilative processes are improved by the good work of Ferrozone. It regulates the bowels, cures constipation, and piles, and replaces disease and decay by health and strength.

There is nothing better for the complexion than Ferrozone. It removes the dark circles from under the eyes, removes and cures all manner of skin eruptions, gives brightness and brilliancy to the eyes, a rosy tint to the cheeks, whitens the teeth and develops a well rounded plump and handsome form.

Ferrozone is the ladies' favorite, and should find a place in every household. It is prepared in the form of a chocolate coated tablet, convenient and pleasant to take. Price per box 50c. or three boxes for $1.25. Sold by all druggists, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

Author of "The House in the Marsh," "A Prince of Darkness," etc.

the [illegible] I must keep that; and there's

Then she felt herself seized and drawn away from the table, and a moment later she was seated in a low chair by the fire, and Astley, in his chair, was leaning over her.

"When are you going to London to take up your abode in the East End, Lady Darwen?"

Norma turned red, turned white, looked down at the carpet, trembled and said nothing. Astley patted her hand sharply:

"Come, answer me, when are you going? You came up here to oblige me, and you were good enough to stay because I was ill; but now that I'm all right again, surely you're dying to get away?"

Norma waited till she could trust her voice, and then said solemnly: "I'm going in a few days. I meant to tell you so."

He seemed to be rather taken aback by this reply. After a short pause, during which he had leaned back in his chair, and Norma had felt the greatest difficulty in keeping back the tears, he bent forward again to say:

"Rather sudden this, isn't it? You had made up your mind to stay, so I understood. Have I grown too unbearable?"

His lover-like tone and manner thrilled Norma through and through. She dared not look round, but sat very stiff and upright, clasping her hands on her knees and looking solemnly at the fire.

It was horribly hard to do what was right, what was best for him. She was longing to turn her eyes to his to whisper to him that she was ready, then and always, to give her life to him, to be his slave, his nurse in sickness, anything to be near him. But, even while these passionate longings filled her heart, her intelligence, quickened in the service of the man she loved, told her that there was no safety for him or for her but in such semblance of coldness as she could put on. The puzzle of Lottie's reappearance must first be cleared up: and before that, Astley must be himself again, well enough to bear the terrible shock in store for him.

So she maintained, though at great cost to herself, an attitude of rigidity and apparent indifference, as she said deliberately after a few moments' pause:

"You are always kind, always charming. I should like to stay here longer. But I've been thinking things over, and I've decided, if you'll let me, to go to London and see my mother's lawyers, and make them understand how I am placed. I'm sure I ought to do this, and that I ought to have arranged to go before."

Astley drew back, hurt.

"Oh, of course I shouldn't think of putting any obstacle in the way of your going to see your lawyers, or anyone else. Do you propose to carry out the programme you had previously arranged for yourself? Is the East End of London to be your future home?"

She tried to answer, but her voice broke. He softened immediately, but yet through the kind words he used it was easy to see that he was offended, puzzled, suspicious.

"I didn't mean to be unkind. Of course you are free to carry out your intention if you choose. It was understood from the first that each was to go his own way, wasn't it?"

Norma, fighting against the tears, gave a sickly little inclination of the head towards the glowing fire.

"And if I was vain enough to fancy that I had made such an attractive invalid, had taken my gruel so beautifully, and swallowed Wharles's poisonous draughts so gracefully, that you would never have the heart to adhere to your original intention, why, that's my lookout, isn't it?"

A stifled sob was Norma's only answer. Astley looked at her for a moment, leaning back in his own chair, and holding up his head in an offended manner, as if he expected her to turn suddenly and make amends. But when she did nothing of the kind, but still sat staring, and persistently turning away her face, with a stiffness of manner which showed no intention of relenting ever so little, he leant abruptly from his chair, and began to walk up and down the room.

Something rose in Norma's breast that forced her to move, to speak. If her life had depended upon her silence, she could not have let this man, who had saved her life, who had sacrificed himself, so she felt, for her, pace up and down, restless, dissatisfied, without giving him so much as a word of sympathy or tenderness.

So she unclasped her hands, and just said "Oh!" ever so softly below her breath. But not so low but that it caught Astley's ear, and brought him back quickly, glowing, tender, passionate, to her side. The next moment he was upon his knees beside her low chair, his head resting on her shoulder.

"Why are you unkind? Why do you blow hot and cold with the same breath? Why do I see love in your eyes, and yet hear cold words, cruel words, from your lips? Oh, Norma, Norma, woman's an enigma always! Why do you do this, child? What silly fancy is in your mind? Don't you know that I love you, and that you are my wife?"

His hands were on her arms, his pleading eyes were raised to her face. Norma could not bear it. With a low, heartbroken cry she drew away and stood up.

"No, no, no," she cried, in a voice broken by sobs, "not your wife. Oh, if I were!"

And, scarcely uttering the last words in a voice loud enough to be heard, she buried her face in her hands, and, leaning against the mantelpiece, sobbed as if the very springs of life and joy were broken within her.

Astley stood still for a moment, misunderstanding her. Was she so modest, so silly, as to doubt him? Did she think he was not in earnest? Could she have any doubt as to his feelings for her?

Wondering, doubting, uneasy, yet touched to the quick by her distress, he drew near to her step by step, until he was able to lay his hand lightly upon her shoulder.

The thrill which ran through her, the sigh which escaped her lips seemed to be answer enough to his doubts.

"My wife," said he, below his breath, "my little wife, look up at me, look up, I say. Don't you know that even if you did marry me at a registry office you are bound to obey me?"

His playful tone, which yet did not hide the deep earnestness underneath, forced from her another cry, more heartbroken than before. Losing her prudence, her dear-bought reticence at one breath, she raised a flushed and quivering face to his, stammering out amid her sobs:

"Oh, don't, don't, you break my heart! I must tell you, I must, though I meant to wait. I'm n-n-not your w-w-wife! She—Lottie—is alive!"

equal market facilities for trading in fractional lots as well as round amounts, handling stocks in multiples of 10 shares and upwards, CEREALS in multiples of 1000 bushels upwards, COTTON in multiples of 100 bales upwards. The fact that a client through our house can secure such a service is greatly to his advantage, as it offers the moneyed trader equal market advantage as the larger dealer. The larger dealer also is a gainer by the fact, inasmuch as he can average his transactions advantageously, consequently more frequently, thereby increasing his chances for securing profits when endeavoring to secure fractional returns from the market's daily fluctuations. Good Brokerage Service is the first requisite to successful trading. We provide it.

Our 400-page, illustrated "DAILY MARKET LETTER" and "GUIDE TO INVESTORS" we issue gratis upon request, even prepaying the postage thereon. The former contains the most complete compiled data, ever gathered together in one publication, relative to the various stock and bond issues, as well as their highest and lowest prices in 10 years, most carefully tabulated.

STOCK MARKETS

THE TURNING POINT NEAR

New York, March 14—Another week of almost incessant market hammering has been completed. Within the time an immense quantity of active securities have changed hands without appreciable declines. It plainly indicates the willingness of the powers that be to take at going prices all the securities that may be seeking a market. This wholesale absorption of stocks at present would cause one to believe that prices are scraping pretty close to bottom. If they are not doing so, they are at any rate selling at prices below those likely to be obtainable in comparatively a short time. Declines of from 10 to 30 dollars per share when figured upon the aggregate bulky capital represented by the leading railways and industrials pretty well discount any unfavorable factors. Winter wheat never looked better—that is the corn crop to be reckoned with, and indications are that it will be a bountiful one. Other crops are not to the point where their dimensions can be determined, some of them not even being planted as yet. If necessary it is evident that the President will call an extra session of Congress to do those things left undone by the one just adjourned, and while a session of Congress is not usually taken as a bullish factor, this one would be, inasmuch as its course of existence would be to speed legislation neglected or side-tracked by its predecessors. The political powers in control are naturally bound to do all in their power to further business interests, at present and to avoid placing any stumbling blocks in the way as the 1904 elections are drawing near and they will consequently do nothing to handicap their chances, but rather act with the view to increasing them. People who will buy now, we believe, can hold their purchases with complacency and confidence.

Summary—The market was more or less dull, though steady until after announcement of the Bank statement, when it braced up perceptibly. There was some early realising in copper. Sugar was more firm all day. An extra session of Congress would undoubtedly benefit sugar stocks. Coalers look as if they were scraping on bottom prices as also do Mo. P., the Pacifics, Southwesterns and Trunk line shares. Steel shares also look well. We believe bottom prices have been recorded. Money closed 4 per cent. [illegible]

An Opportunity

We are offering for public subscription a limited amount of stock of exceptional merit affording an unusual opportunity for a very profitable investment. We desire to be conservative in our representations, but do not hesitate to state that the stocks of the properties we are representing are absolutely certain to rapidly increase in value, and the fortunate purchasers of the stock at the present prices will have more than reason to congratulate themselves for grasping this opportunity.

Success lies in being alive to that which is going on around you, and they who "grasp the skirts of happy chance can breast the blows of circumstance."

We have the disposition of a certain amount of treasury stock in four corporations. We have thoroughly investigated the present value of the properties owned by the Companies, and have full cognition of the immense profits that are awaiting only the further development and equipment of the properties.

We are offering an equal number of shares in each of the four corporations at a price that makes the combined issue a most attractive feature, giving also to the purchaser an unusual safe guard on his or her investment; in other words, you are not placing all your eggs in one basket. Or if you prefer you can purchase separately the stocks we offer.

As the money received from the sale of the stock is strictly for the purpose of equipping the properties with the necessary machinery, etc., the time will not be long before handsome dividends are available. We are not asking your subscriptions to pay for the properties; they are already owned by the Companies, and there are no outstanding obligations.

This preliminary notice is to advise the public in general that an opportunity now presents itself for a safe investment of unusual character, embodying also speculative possibilities sufficiently great to make even a small investor a competency within a few years.

You can invest in any amount from Ten Dollars up, and, if so desired, you can have the privilege of paying in instalments the amount of stock paid for from time to time being non-forfeitable in the event of your ceasing payments, thus relieving those of small or uncertain income from possibility of loss, should they for any reason become unable to continue payments.

Our business is to aid responsible Companies in the disposal of their treasury stock for the thorough equipment of their properties; we do not and will not handle indiscriminate mining or other stocks under any circumstances. We make a thorough personal examination and investigation as to the merits and possibilities before undertaking to assist in financing any Corporation: the paramount issue with us is to give complete satisfaction and cause much success to our patrons.

We have furnished the publishers of The Times with an outlined description of the Companies we represent, and the names of the Directors of each Company whose stock we offer to their subscribers and friends. We have also furnished The Times with bank references as to our own bona fides and standing. We desire to command the utmost confidence of all subscribers and to retain same along with their friendship for all time; you add a few dollars; we add our experience brains and labor: you increase your riches without effort and increase our power to make you still richer. In ordinary everyday experience a man's expenses nearly equal his income and he has little chance to make a turn for the betterment of his condition. This is anyone's opportunity; you can invest Ten Dollars or One Thousand Dollars on the same basis as one who invests Ten Thousand Dollars. You cannot afford to neglect your opportunities and this is a chance to get in on the ground floor and reap the profits of substantial, quick money making enterprises. Your money need not be tied up for a long time; we know that one of the Companies, at least, will pay handsome dividends this year. It is an easy matter to become rich; just watch for the opportunity and take advantage of it. This is your opportunity; will you grasp it?

The Electric Spark GOLD MINING COMPANY

Offers to investors an opportunity to secure through a purchase of its stock

A monthly income of $50.00

On an investment of $1,000; or a monthly income of $5 00 on an investment of $100.00. This is purely a business proposition. Their is no uncertainty about it; you do not take any chances. We actually have enough ore in sight to keep us working for three or four years, and the more development work we do the more ore there is in sight; the deeper we go the richer it is. Bear in mind, too, that we do not come to the public with an untried experiment. Our shaft is nearing the [illegible] level, with better values at the bottom than any place nearer the surface. The ore runs in value from $25.00 to $86 80 per ton, by actual carload shipments.

The par value of our stock is $1.00, with only a limited amount of shares to be sold, and this has been placed on the market at the low rate of 20 CENTS PER SHARE. On March 14, the price will be advanced to 30 cents per share, providing any of the original offering remains unsold; therefore we advise all who are interested to send in their applications without a moment's delay, as they will be filled and eventually rejected just in the order received.

Prospectus free on request. Applications should be addressed to and remittance made payable to the order of

Thunder Mountain!

is the richest gold producing camp in the United States, and also the largest. The Thunder Mountain district, in central Idaho, is twenty miles wide and forty miles long. In comparison with this we have Cripple Creek, four miles wide and seven miles long. In many of the Thunder Mountain mines ore has already been reached that carries ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD TO THE TON. All of the Thunder Mountain ore is free milling, which means that it can be treated by the cheapest extraction process known—the ordinary stamp mill. It can be both mined and milled at a cost not to exceed $2 a ton. The past years operations in the several working mines have opened up millions of tons of ore that will give a net profit of from $10 to $30 a ton, enabling the respective companies to pay dividends at a rate never before equalled. Such is the showing and the prospect of the

EAST DEWEY GOLD MINING CO.

which unless all indications are at fault, will become the largest producer in the district. The EAST DEWEY mine, which it owns outright, is located directly on Thunder Mountain, just east of the famous "Dewey" mine, which already has $20,000,000 of ore in sight. The surface area of the East Dewey mine is one hundred and twenty acres—six full quartz claims. The company has also secured the big GOLDEN GATE mine, in the Big Creek section of the Thunder Mountain district—which has been so aptly termed "The Pot of Gold"—and is now developing the mine with all possible speed. For a distance of 9,000 feet, nearly two miles, the Golden Gate mines cover a mineralized ledge that is 900 feet wide, with an average height above the tunnel level of 500 feet, thus giving it the largest exposed tonnage of any mine in the west.

If you would share in the enormous profits which these figures indicate and, which these developments promise, invest your money in "East Dewey" Stock. It can be bought to-day for 10 Cents a Share. Its par value is $1.

If the East Dewey mines are what they appear to be, and there is absolutely no reason to doubt or question these indications, this stock will eventually be worth at least $10 a share, and to-day you can buy it for ten cents. PRICE ADVANCES TO FIFTEEN CENTS ON FEBRUARY 28th. 5% discount allowed for cash. Stock sold at flat price of 10 cents on deferred payments, 10% with application, and 10% monthly until paid. Full particulars, prospectus, etc., on request.

CATARRH

The Mother of Consumption

How this dread disease may be prevented and cured—the opinions of people who have been cured by

CATARRHOZONE

Catarrh is very often spoken of as the mother of consumption, because when unchecked, it extends from its place of beginning to the bronchial tubes then deeper and deeper, till finally the disease become consumption of the lungs.

The safest and best remedy for any form of Catarrh is Catarrhozone. It is inhaled to all parts of the breathing organs, kills the disease, and drives it completely out of the system.

Mrs. Mary J. Whitney, of Clay Street, Topeka, Kansas, was cured of nasal catarrh after twenty years' suffering by Catarrhozone. She says:—

"I owe to Catarrhozone an immense debt of gratitude. It cured me of Catarrh of the most disagreeable kind after doctors without number had pronounced my case incurable. My breath is pure and my respiration regular, and I do not cough any more since using Catarrhozone. It has cured me perfectly."

Another case of Chronic Catarrh that was cured quickly by Catarrhozone is that of Mr. G. I. Luce, of 1,700 Navasota Street, Austin, Texas. Mr. Luce says:

"I tried for four years to get rid of Nasal Catarrh, used salt douches, atomizers, tablets, stomach medicines, etc., but they didn't do me much good.

"Then I tried Catarrhozone, and received relief in a few hours. It cured in a week, so that I never had a recurrence of my former trouble."

Miss Winer, who resides on May Street, in Hartford, Conn., was cured of throat trouble by Catarrhozone, and speaks of her recovery in the following words.—

"Repeated colds finally resulted in a Catarrhal condition from which I suffered more or less every spring and fall. Catarrhozone was the only remedy that relieved and cured me. I recommend it."

No treatment is so good for Catarrhal affections and Bronchitis as Catarrhozone. Its success is quite unequalled in the history of medicine. It will cure you quickly and surely, and is well worth a trial. Two months' treatment guaranteed to cure, price $1.00, small size 25c. Druggists, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Buy it to-day.

THE DEATH OF CHRIST.

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir,—The question was asked through the columns of The Times, if any ancient historian mentions Christ and his trial, &c. In the "Annals of Tacitus," Book XV., Chapter 44, are these words in connection with a description of the early persecutions: "Christus the founder of that name, was put to death as a criminal by Pontius Pilate Procurator of Judea in the reign of Tiberius, but the pernicious superstition repressed for a time broke out again not over through Judea, where the mischief originated, but through the city of Rome, also, &c." OBITUARY

Death of B. A. Ostrom, a Former Peterborough Resident

It is our sad duty to record the death of B. A. Ostrom on Thursday last in Louisville, Kentucky. Deceased is a son of Mrs. E. K. Ostrom, 351 Charlotte street, and for many years was a popular and progressive citizen of Peterborough. About twenty years ago he went to Chicago where he remained for about four years, and then removed to Louisville, Kentucky. Mr. Ostrom was born in Belleville forty-six years ago. He leaves a wife and one daughter to mourn his loss. His death was caused by paralysis, from which he had been suffering since last November.

The funeral, which will be private, will take place on Monday to the Little Lake cemetery, upon the arrival of the body by the noon train from the West. Rev. W. J. Jolliffe will conduct service at the cemetery chapel.

Will Take a Trip July 1st

At a meeting of officers of the 57th held on Wednesday evening last, it was decided that the regimental trip would be taken on July 1st. This intimation is given that the citizens may know that the regiment will not be in town that day. It has not yet been decided as to what point the trip will be conducted, but a committee was appointed to take this matter in hand, as well as the perfection of other arrangements.

Farms Hands Supplied

During their visit to Ottawa a deputation from the Peterborough County Council called upon Mr. W. D. Scott, Immigration Superintendent for the purpose of securing immigrants for this district. Great need of help has been experienced by the farmers during the past summer and now when the beet sugar factory is about to be established, the want will be greatly felt. It has been intimated that those requiring help should communicate with M. Scott at Ottawa.

COLLEGE PROFESSORS

Talk of Foods

The New York papers recently contained a long account of the so-called discovery of a leading professor in one of the leading universities. The "discovery" related to a new and successful way of treating wheat and barley to prepare the starchy part by dry baking, so it would be made more digestible and nutritious. Thereupon Prof. Livingstone commenting on the discovery of the other profes- on the discovery of the other Professor says, "A discoverer who was a business man first and a scientist afterward found that such foods could be made more digestible when cooked with dry heat instead of by boiling in water, and has already placed on the market the food which he discovered prior to Dr. ——." This refers to Grape-Nuts the most scientifically made food known. Grape-Nuts can be easily digested by babies or any one with a weak stomach and the food contains the most powerful rebuilding element known, particularly as relates to the rebuilding of the brain and nerve centres. It is a delicious food requiring no cooking, but ready for instant service just as it comes from the package. A recipe book free in each package described many delicious dishes made from Grape-Nuts.

TROOP. R BEST SPEAKS IN THE OPERA HOUSE SUNDAY

To The Young Men—Gives an Interesting Account of Life on the Veldt

There was a good crowd in the opera house yesterday afternoon to hear the comrade of the late lamented "Dan Spence." The congregation expected a good deal from Mr. T. F. Best, of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, and their expectations were not "cut off," but fully realized, as the young speaker unfolded the stories of the different "Heroes of the Veldt" in simple narrative. His powers of description are decidedly good. His voice is clear, distinct and melodious. His manner modest and rather retiring at the outset for a soldier of so much courage and actual daring. His appearance was decidedly in his favor. The services commenced by the general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. reading the 121st Psalm.

Mr. Wildgust's singing was a distinctive feature of the services, and was much appreciated.

With a few humorous and pithy remarks he at once commenced his interesting story, by showing how the Canadian soldiers acquitted themselves on the South African veldt. He spoke very appreciatively of Fred Treseler, who was the champion and comrade of Dan Spence. Percy-Price came in for a large share of complimentary remarks by Mr. Best. He told graphically of the death and funeral of poor Dan Spence, with the kindness and loving sympathy of a genuine soldier. His humorous description of the treck of over 2000 miles by the Canadians was well received; but he shewed how easily he could turn from the serious and sublime, and soon he drew the tears down the the hardened cheeks of many a man, both young and old, as he told of such conversions and genuine courage of such as "Broncho Pete," and as he related the story of his Australian chum parting forever with his dying comrade. His experiences as a representative of the Y.M.C.A. of Canada were related with great earnestness and power, and with ease and grace. Much interest centred in his beautiful description of how meetings were conducted during the war. His last urgent appeal to his hearers to enlist in the army of Jesus Christ our Saviour, brought quite a number of their feet, thus expressing their desire to lead the life of a Christian. Thus came to a close one of the most successful Sunday afternoon meetings conducted under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. Mr. John Millar played the cornet and Mr Schneider presided at the piano in their usual manner. It was announced that Dr. Hy. Smith, of Toronto would speak next Sunday on the subject of, "A Straight Talk to Men."

Leaves for the West

Mr. Fred Davidson, eldest son of the late Hugh Davidson, of Smith, has been home for the winter, and has purchased about seven car loads of stockers for his ranch in the North-West. Mr. Davidson, in addition takes with him about one car of thoroughbred registered cattle, which he has secured during the winter from some of the best herds in the Province of Ontario. He has spared neither time nor money to put together a first-class bunch of cattle, and he is not like a young man who is not a judge; but understands the stock business from his childhood up, having been brought up in the right school. After leaving the town Collegiate Institute, Mr. Davidson took a full course in the Agricultural College at Guelph, subsequently he conducted the farm of his late father in such a manner as to win the first prize offered by the Ontario Government for the best cultivated farm in this district, being at that time a mere boy; but the same level head and untiring energy combined with indomitable pluck will very soon place him among the foremost cattle men of the great North-West, and when Fred starts on his westward journey a week from next Thursday, neither he nor his friends will have any reason to complain if he prospers as well as the Times wishes and expects.

"I lost courage and thought I would never regain my health."

"Three years of delicate health trying doctors' prescriptions and patent medicines" without benefit might well sap the courage of any woman. And yet Mrs. Bryant proved that the question of the cure of womanly disease is only a question of using the right remedy. A few doses of 'Favorite Prescription' restored her courage and revived her hope, because she could see "a decided change from the first." Three months' use of the medicine restored her to perfect health.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures irregularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

Mrs. Sarah Bryant, President of Memphis Social Science Club, residing at 271 Atkinson Ave., Memphis, Tenn., writes: "I suffered with delicate health for three years, trying doctors' prescriptions and patent medicines until I lost courage and thought I would never regain my health; but a few doses of your 'Favorite Prescription' made me change my mind. Could see a decided change from the first, so I kept on taking it for three months faithfully and am now in perfect health."

LOOKING TO C. P. R. FOR ASSISTANCE TO RELIEVE STOPPAGE

Of Continental Emmigration, Which is Regarded as Serious

FUTURE PROSPECTS OF BEAVER LINE

Sir Thos. Shaughnessy Meets J. J. Hill in London

London, March 16.—The stoppage of Continental emigration is regarded as serious, and it is hoped that the Canadian Government will arrange with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company that some of the Beaver liners shall relieve the congestion.

The Canadian Pacific holds the whip hand, as the Beaver liners are the only boats outside the Continental steamship combine.

Sir Thomas Shaughnessy announces that the Beaver liners will continue to carry passengers under the management of the Canadian Pacific and that an acclerated freight service will be put on between London and Canada.

Mr. J. J. Hill, the president of the Great Northern Railway of the United States, has arrived here and is in communication with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy.

"IRELAND IS MY POLICY."

London, March 16.—In the course of an interview which I had with Mr. C. R. Devlin, the new M.P. for Galway, said; "It is not my business to formulate policies, but follow the policy of the Irish Parliamentary party. Ireland is my policy. I am a Nationalist, but love Canada, my native land, and will support Canada's interests in Parliament if they do not conflict with the interests of Ireland. I am looking forward to my visit to Canada in June."

The Canadian office at Belfast has been finally closed, Mr. Kelly, the agent there, succeeding Mr. Devlin at Dublin, provisionally."

THE ALASKAN TRIBUNAL.

London, March 16—The latest rumor concerning the Canadian representatives on the Alaskan tribunal is that Mr. Justice Armour and Mr. Justice Mills, of the Supreme Court of Canada, will be selected, Sir Elzear Taschereau having declined. This cannot, however, be officially confirmed.

COLONIES AND NAVY.

London, March 16.—The Admiralty has issued the report of the Commission on Naval Reserves, which states a desire to see the colonies in a position to assist the navy in time of war, just as they assisted the army. It emphasizes the need of a reserve of colonial stokers, and also that the colonies bordering on the Pacific [illegible] naval reserves.

The Town That Attracts

New industries are what every town needs.

And all live towns are after them.

The manufacturer in these times is not latching himself to a community of mossbacks. He wants to rub shoulders with men of his kind—to feel that his lines have been cast in pleasant places.

The town that exhibits signs of progress, that looks healthy, clean and busy, is a place that will in future attract manufacturers. Cheap power and good shipping facilities we already possess—all we require is a more aggressive spirit among our leading business men. We also need cheaper insurance—the rates here are killing; and an economical council so that our taxes may not become excessive. Think it over.

A MUTUAL COMPANY

There is Some Talk of Forming a Fire Insurance Company

There is some talk just now of organising a mutual fire insurance company in Peterborough. The proposal is, as we understand it, that a strong mutual company be organized for this district, and that reinsurance be obtained on exchange basis, with other first class mutual companies. This would prevent abnormal risk at home, which would be fatal to the enterprise.

The recent increase in insurance rates is responsible for the turn affairs are taking.

GRAND ORANGE LODGE

Eastern Ontario Grand Orange Lodge Meets Here To-morrow

The Grand Orange Lodge of Eastern Ontario will meet in Peterborough to-morrow, in annual session.

There will probably be in the neighborhood of two hundred delegates in attendance.

The delegates will be formally received by Mr. J. B. McWilliams, County Master, and will be distributed amongst the different hotels in the town.

SUCCESS OF SUGAR BEET DEPENDS ON SUPPLY OF BEETS

Capitalists will not Invest Funds Without Acreage

The Beet Sugar Gazette states that the Business Men's Association of Marine City, Mich., set an example of enterprise in its methods of assisting the beet sugar factory in that town in its efforts to secure acreage for the coming campaign, which the business men in other localities, where factories have been established would do well to emulate.

Every business man knows that the success of a beet sugar factory depends upon the acquisition of an adequate beet supply. And no one, with any knowledge of the subject, can possibly be blind to the great benefits enjoyed by every community in which a beet sugar factory is being successfully operated.

Realizing these undeniable benefits the association above referred to has called quite a number of meetings in various sections adjacent to the Marine Sugar Company's beet sugar factory. The thoughtful speeches made by practical citizens at these meetings and the discussions which [illegible] ductive of increased interest in the question of raising sugar beets, that will undoubtedly result in educating the people in general, as well as the farmers, to the full comprehension of the necessity of co-operating with the factory management in every possible way that tends to ensure success.

The larger the acreage obtained by a beet sugar factory, the greater will be the amount paid out for beets to the growers and the more money will be brought into the community by the sale of the sugar produced. Never before has the population in and around Maine City realized these facts as forcibly as to-day, and the credit for this awakening is due to the Business Men's Association.

Capitalists cannot be expected to invest their funds in beet sugar enterprises unless they are encouraged to do so by intelligent support of the people, who will undoubtedly receive the greatest benefit from an investment of such a nature.

All business men, farmers, mechanics and laborers should unite in the effort to secure for the beet sugar factory in their town a sufficient acreage of beets to make the operation of the factory profitable and successful in every way.

The development of the beet sugar industry in general can be hastened and the benefits of each community in particular can be augmented by the combined efforts of all concerned.

THE RESULTS AT BERLIN

In connection with the above article we present the following excerpt from an address recently delivered at Whitby by Dr. Shuttleworth, as reported in the Whitby Chronicle:

Dr. Shuttleworth, Agricultural Superintendent of the Ontario Sugar Co., by way of introduction spoke of the advancement in value in real estate, rents, etc., as a result of the sugar factory starting at Berlin. Every business man, in fact all classes of people experienced the benefits of freer circulation of money, which was due to the payments of large amounts for labor and to farmers for beets. The main point of his address was devoted to facts and [illegible] received by farmers who grew beets in Waterloo county. Of the eight to nine hundred beet growers, fifty-three measured their beet fields. These formed a basis for an accurate statement of the yield per acre. These 53 farmers obtained an average yield of 12.6 tons of net clean beets per acre, giving an average of $50.72. The highest yield was 21 1-2 tons per acre, and the sixty highest 15 tons. The lowest percentage of sugar was 1 4, the highest 17, and the average 15.3 Payments in 1902 were based on $4 per ton, regardless of quality. This year the payments will be upon a sugar basis, viz., $4 per ton for 12 per cent. beets with the addition of 33 1-2 cents for every [illegible] basis therefore, the above average of 15.3 of sugar would represent an average price per ton of $5.10, delivered at the factory. With the evidently high per centage of beets, which the soil about this vicinity is capable of producing, it is confidently expected that after the deduction of the freight there will be left about $4 per ton to the farmers, which is quite as good as the farmers of Waterloo county received for their beets last year. Whitby is well located for the receipt of beets from an extensive territory at a moderate cost, and should the farmers here take hold and produce beets and find it profitable, it is not at all unlikely capital will be attracted to it for the erection of a factory at Whitby. This great industry, if it be established here, will bring to the business community, as well as to the farmers direct, the same benefits as are already so gratifyingly in evidence at Berlin. Whilst it is generally understood that the cultivation of sugar beets is attended with more work than in growing ordinary roots, the difficulty rising through the scarcity of farm hands, is materially overcome by the system adopted at Berlin, viz., substituting beets for turnips and returning pulp as a stock food, which is generally admitted to be considerably superior to turnips or mangolds. Every farmer sending to the sugar beet factory two carloads of beets is entitled to and may receive should he desire, one carload of pulp. A carload of pulp, containing, for example, 20 tons, is sufficient to feed 28 cattle 10 weeks. Pulp practically silos itself, being fairly dense in consistency, thereby excluding air. It may be conveniently kept in any root cellar or on a barn floor."

THE COCK FIGHTERS

How the Authorities in Western Ontario Deal With Them

The bold manner in which the local cock fighters do their work, is in happy contrast to the way these gentry are dealt with in other places. The cocking main which took place a few miles out of town a few Sundays ago, particulars of which appeared in The Times, was a disgrace to our lawmakers, and also to our police. The fact that it took place outside of the town, or even of the county, makes no difference.

The following from the London Free press tells how differently things are managed in the west:

The sequel to the cock fight in which a large number of local sports were said to have been interested, and which was held, it is said, in Westminster township on the night of March 3rd last, occurred Thursday when John Smart, of O'dell's Corners, at whose hotel the fight is alleged to have taken place, appeared before Squires Lacey and Smyth to answer the charge of keeping a cock-pit on his premises. The action of the authorities in the matter was the result of complaints laid by several people living in the vicinity of the hotel.

On coming up before the magistrates Smart entered the plea of "not guilty," and was granted an adjournment. His trial will be held next Thursday afternoon and some interesting developments are expected by the police. In addition to the stories of neighbors, who say they saw the crowd gather and heard the commotion, the court claims to be in possession of the names of more than ninety eye-witnesses. In some cases those who are alleged to have been present have handed in their names voluntarily, and when the time comes will appear as witnesses for the prosecution.

[illegible] taken against those who witnessed the fight, as the authorities are determined to put a stop to all such sport. The offence is a serious one in the eye of the law, the extreme penalty for anyone keeping a cock-pit or witnessing a fight being $50 fine and three months' imprisonment.

THE MILKMAN'S LUCK

The following verses were received by The Times from an esteemed subscriber, who evidently knows what he is talking about:

The milkman placed the pitcher
Where the morning sunlight fell,
On the casement of the window,
When he heard the woman yell:

"You'd better change your milk, sir,
If you want to keep my trade;
Of late your liquid seems to have
A very bluish shade."

The milkman smiled and answered:
"'Tis the fault of my cow Sue;
She was bred way out in Douro,
Where the meadow grass is blue."

$100,00 FOR A TITLE

Polish Prince Searching for a Successor Rejects American Youth

London, March 17—A Polish Prince whose name is well known in the United States, has just declined an offer of $100,000 for his title. He is Prince Wisniewalsi, who has long resided in Paris. The prince is 74 and has no family. He is the last of his line. He does not wish the name and title to become extinct. To keep name and title alive, the prince began negotiating with a youth from St. Paul. The latter's mother offered the prince the sum mentioned for the title. The amount was deemed satisfactory, as Polish princes rarely are rich, but when the prince saw the youth he declined to let him bear the name or title at any price, declaring the hustling St. Pauler was not satisfactory. The prince declined to mention the youth's name. Princess Wisneiwakai is president of the Woman's Society for Universal Peace.

SICHE GAS

An Illuminant that is Safe and Exceedingly Satisfactory

Siche Gas is already well known to many of our readers, especially those who patronize Stony Lake, during the summer season. Burleigh Falls hotel, the store at Juniper Island, and several of the cottages being lighted with the illuminant.

The following from the Monetary Times will be read with a great deal of interest by those who contemplate putting in the new Siche light:

The word "Siche" is a combination of the first part of the names of the two gentlemen who are prominently connected with its manufacture, Messrs. F. H. E. Sims, M E and James H. Clewett, C.E., Toronto, and is also closely allied with a German word meaning "safe." This attribute has an important bearing, as the article which goes by this name is acetylene gas, which until recently, though recognized as an important discovery in the line of high-class illuminants, could not thoroughly be relied upon as free from danger. The Siche Gas Company, however, would seem to have made good its claim to possessing a thoroughly safe system, at any rate, no accident has yet taken place from its use. Moreover, the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association express themselves, after due examination, as being fully satisfied with the Siche gas machine, and place no restrictions on the use of piero or lamp generators. This form of lighting is used for residences, theatres, halls, restaurants, vessels, vehicles and every other purpose in which artificial illumination is required, but is claimed to be particularly well adapted to farm houses and other buildings in isolated districts, where coal gas and the electric light are out of the question. Its use is coming rapidly to the fore in the Muskoka and Georgian Bay sections. The cost of a machine is quite low, while the expense of running it is said to make it cheaper than ordinary gas.

THE ROYAL FAMILY IMPLICATED IN THE WHITAKER WRIGHT CASE

Testimony from British Columbia Against Wright

London, March 16.—The High Court authorized a commission to take the evidence in British Columbia of Hon. C. H. Mackintosh regarding the allegation that Whitaker Wright falsely represented that the London and Globe Corporation had secured options on concessions in British Columbia.

ROYAL FAMILY IMPLICATED.

London, March 16.—John Flower, chairman of the Shareholders' Committee which instigated the prosecution of Whitaker Wright, the director of the London and Globe Finance Corporation, who was arrested yesterday on his arrival at New York from Cherbourg, says;

"I see Wright is quoted as saying he had a powerful protector in an exalted quarter. That statement is not new to us. It is the keynote of the whole case. Prior to the failure of the London and Globe, certain persons maintain, Wright had in his possession letters from leading members of the English Royal Family, showing they were mixed up in his transactions. We have no documentary proof of this. Wright himself, probably, is the only man in the world who could prove it. If he has such letters they ought now to be in the possession of the New York police, as we suppose they searched his effects, and Wright is not likely to let such a powerful weapon of defence out of his personal keeping."

ELOPING COUPLE CAUGHT

Detectives Round up Man and Woman in Washington

Philadelphia, March 17—Mrs. Mary Ziemer, the wife of a wealthy hotel proprietor, of New York and Renhold Hinricks, with whom she is said to have eloped, were arrested by local detectives yesterday.

The runaway couple was caught in Washington, D.C., and brought to Philadelphia. They are locked up in the Central police station for a hearing this morning, having been charged with a statutory offence.

Bernard Ziemer, the husband of the the woman, learned of his wife's elopement on Thursday last and he located the pair in this city, but before the detectives could serve warrants, they had left the city. The detectives traced them to Washington, where they were arrested yesterday.

Ziemer was particularly anxious to regain a bank book account, representing [illegible] on deposit in a New York bank in his wife's name as well as several thousand dollars worth of diamonds which the woman had taken with her.

The bank book was found in a hand bag carried by Mrs. Ziemer and she was wearing costly gems. All the valuables were taken by the detectives, the husband making claim to all the property.

Pigeon Creek Bridge Closed

The County Engineer has closed the Pigeon Creek Bridge for a few days. This has been rendered necessary by the weight of ice on the bridge, which sinks the structure for some inches below the surface of the water. The public will be notified when the bridge will be open for traffic, which will, no doubt, be in a few days.

Washing With Soap or Exposure to Sunlight Cannot Fade Diamond Dye Colors

Diamond Dye colors are absolutely fast and unfading. Washing with strong soap, or exposure in sunlight cannot start or fade these brilliant and imperishable colors. No other dyes in the world have such an established reputation for strength, purity and beauty of colors. Diamond Dyes are the most economical agents for coloring; one package will color as much material as three packages of any other brand of dyes. Send your address on a Postal Card and the Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, 200 Mountain, St., Montreal, P.Q., will send you free of cost, new book on home dyeing, samples of dyed cloth and the newest designs for Hooked Mats and Rugs.

THE GERMANS PRAISE HON. JOS. CHAMBERLAIN

Berlin Press Compliment the Colonial Secretary--His African Mission

London, March 16.—Mr. Chamberlain's return and the significance of his mission to South Africa, says the Berlin correspondent of The Times, impress alike the friends and foes of England in Germany. The popular Berlin journal, The Lokal Anzieger, which, during the Boer was was extremely hostile to Great Britain, pays an unreserved tribute to the services rendered by Mr. Chamberlain to the British Empire.

It says: "The influence he exercises in the councils of the nation represents a turning point in England's history. There is good reason for awaiting with keen interest the developments of the future as they may effect him and his great plans."

The Berliner Neueste Nachrichten, in speaking of Mr. Chamberlain, says: "This personification of policy of force, relentless, unscrupulous, resolute, fearless harmonises with the instincts of the English people as long as his policy is on a grand scale."

THE STATE OF AFFAIRS IN MACEDONIA AT PRESENT

Revolutionaries Continue War Preparations Despite Promise of Reform

London, March 16.—A representative of The Matin says the Paris correspondent of The Times, has interviewed M. Militchevitch, Servian Minister in London, who said that since the publication of the Austro-Russian reform scheme, the Bulgarian committees in Macedonia had been helped by other Christians, who had previously held aloof. The Minister said that women were the most active agents, even bearing arms. The Mohammedans had also helped in carrying ammunition from the frontier or coast.

M. Militchevitch declared that he pitied the Sultan, who was the cleverest and most capable man in Turkey. He (the Minister), had seen His Majesty several times, in Constantinople, and had found him as anxious for conciliation as anybody.

Inspector-General Hilmi, the Minister asserted, was able and honest, and the Porte was full of good will, but the Turks would not succeed, though everything possible under the circumstances would be done under the Austro-Russian scheme.

The municipality of Sofia, says The Times correspondent in that city, recently took possession of a tract of land on which neighboring villagers have pastured their flocks from time immemorial. An attempt by the villagers to resist to appropriation, resulted in the appearance of gendarmes and two squadrons of cavalry. The peasants threw stones, whereupon the troops fired two volleys, eight peasants falling. A large number of prisoners were taken. The incident, says the correspondent, illustrates the reckless disregard of human life in Bulgaria.

INQUEST CONCLUDED

The Late John Wood, of Asphodel, Met His Death by Exposure

The late John Wood, of Asphodel, came to his death through the act of no other person; but by exposure and exhaustion, after having partaken of too much intoxicating liquor while in Peterborough and on the road home. Coroner Gray returned last evening, being assured that nothing was done by any one else which in the least way contributed to the death of this unfortunate young man. By the evidence taken it was shown that he was intoxicated before leaving town in company with Mr. Elmhirst and his little daughter, when a few miles out he became angered and would not stay in the rig with his benefactor, and persisted in walking. This was the last time the young man was seen alive. So satisfied were the members of the Coroner's Jury that they brought in the following clear and concise verdict: "That the said deceased came to his death from exhaustion and exposure, and that no blame is attachable to any other person in connection with such death." Thus closes another sad chapter.

A BRITISH SQUADRON FOR NORTH SEA

Britain's New Move to Maintain Her Proud Position

The "Tight Little Island" to be Safely Guarded on all Sides

London, March 16—It is learned on high authority that the British Board of Admiralty has under consideration a scheme devised by Admiral the Hon. Sir E. R. Fremantle for the organization of a North Sea squadron with a naval base at Hull. It has long been the opinion of English naval experts that something should be done in this direction, owing to the development and transformation of Continental fleets during the last five years. It has been pointed out that the rise of Germany as a naval power is of almost incalculable importance to Great Britain, and that it should immediately call for a redistribution of English squadrons. Germany, with its naval base at Kiel, has developed her North Sea naval forces to such an extent that they are far ahead of anything which England could within a few weeks bring against them—the Channel squadron and the home squadron, with headquarters at Portland. It has even been asserted by a British expert that Germany's North Sea squadron would be sufficient to cover the landing of an army in England.

Moreover, the necessity of a strong naval station on the eastern coast of England has often been advised. Hitherto the Admiralty has almost exclusively confined its attention to the Channel ports, with the result that all the existing arsenals have been located with a view to action in the Channel or at the junction of the Atlantic with the Mediterranean. On the other hand, the east coast is practically barren of all warlike provision, and is seldom visited by British men-of-war.

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 7, 1903.

THE PAPAL SUCCESSION

In the ordinary course of events, the days of the reigning Pontiff, Leo XIII., can not be very many, and the news from Rome gives the disquieting impression that the Pope is at present very feeble. The "Grand Old Man of the Vatican" may pass away almost at any moment.

For years the Pope has been very feeble of body, although his spirit seems supreme over old age and infirmity. Upon all occasions, when physically able, he has shown himself to all who have visited the Eternal City to pay their homage. But these audiences are manifestly trying to a man of the Pope's age and feebleness, and his physicians have been kept in nervous apprehension of a break-down. One of these physicians who ministered many years to his august patient has now gone before, and his colleague just as untiringly, but as ineffectually strives to conserve the vitality of the Pope by restricting his indomitable determination to reward all comers with a sight of his personality, a kind word and a benediction.

The late solemn ceremony in St. Peter's, while it must have cheered and consoled the Supreme Pontiff, was no doubt a very exciting ordeal, full pageant, gradneur and display, which might have little effect on younger [illegible] waning strength of the chief personage very seriously. Although there was no help for the function, the Pope's chief physician, Dr. Lapponi, was obliged to submit, but when it was over he enjoined absolute quiet and rest on his illustrious patient.

It may be that this may restore the Pope's health, but it does not require very great exertion to tire out Leo just now, and his present weak spell may be a prelude of the end. In that event the church and the world will lose a wise and conservative pontiff, who has done more than most of his long line of predecessors toward promoting good will and good feeling between nations and peoples. Leo's place will be filled in the usual manner, but his successor must be a very exceptional man in all the attributes which constitute greatness and diplomatic ability of the present incumbent. For a quarter of a century he has done his part towards governing the world by love and affection, and while not abating a particle of the legitimate standing of his church in its relations with the world, his kingdom has been built upon peace, morality and Christian charity.

The most that well-disposed people of any religion, or of no particular religion, can hope or wish for in the successor of Leo XIII. is that, for the sake of the world's advancement in fraternal feeling and Christian morality, he may be molded in character like the present Pontiff, and guided to a great extent by Leo's admirable example.

THE PROGRAMME OF PARLIAMENT

In the Speech from the throne at the opening of Parliament much is usually omitted as to what Parliament is likely to busy itself with; but in the speech this year, several important propositions are definitely promised.

1. A redistribution bill.
12. A railway commission.
3. An important militia bill.
4. A commission to report upon national transportation desirabilities.

Noticeable as absent is any reference to alteration of the tariff.

The first item mentioned above namely as to redistribution, is the one which will be the big issue in the present session of Parliament. The tariff may be the next biggest bone of contention. Some expectancy prevailed that the Grand Trunk application for a transcontinental subsidy would precipitate warm discussion, but the government's proposition of transportation commission may stave that off.

THE BALKAN POWDER MAGAZINE

Nicholas II. is getting praise from some of the London papers for his skill in averting troubles in the Balkans, even though this gives a chance to the sultan to continue his atrocities. Undoubtedly the Czar wants to preserve the peace of Europe. All the crowned heads have a like desire. A war in the Balkans might extend further than any of them wish. Nevertheless, the question of peace or war is not entirely in the hands of czar, kaiser or sultan. The Albanian and Macedonian victims of Abul Hamid have in in their power to start a conflict which may force Russia, Austria and other countries into it. That powder magazine in southeastern Europe may blow up any day and shake the whole continent.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

O what at Gamey did put up on those awful Grits!

The Tory papers have a nice lot of choice paragraphs written about Mr. Gamey, a short time ago, which they offer for sale to Grit newspapers at bargain rates.

France, Germany and Russia are all diplomatically courting the friendship of Great Britain. After all, it doesn't appear that British prestige received in the Boer war the solar-plexus blow that continental critics talked so much about.

If dreams of the scientists should ever be realized death will become only a memory or a superstition. In order to live forever it will only be necessary to keep formalin and salicylic in the house and have a surgeon in the neighborhood, so that operations for appendicitis may be performed on demand. It will then be up to the railways to make this world an Elysium.

WANT A YEAR'S COAL SUPPLY

Cincinnati Dealers Fear Serious Labor Troubles in the Soft Coal Region

Cincinnati, March 14—An embargo has been placed on soft coal here, and as a result 8,000 cars are now on the various sidings of the Chesapeake [illegible] and Russel, Ky. About 2,000,000 bushels are also on the way down by water. Notwithstanding all these shipments, Cincinnati commercial interests today were endeavoring to buy up all the coal they could secure, so as to control a supply sufficient for a year.

The activity of the coal market was caused by the suggestions to big buyers to protect themselves by April 1. Any difficulty at this time in the soft coal fields may involve every soft coal field in the country. It is said that labor troubles are feared.

Constipation

Causes Headache, Abdominal, Pains, Piles and in Severe Cases Insanity and Apoplexy

It is a common mistake to conclude that Constipation is not a dangerous condition. Although at first it is only accompanied by slight inconvenience and pain, yet if not corrected, it will inevitably lead to very dire results.

Great care should be used in selecting a remedy for constipation because if a violent purgative is employed, it is sure to set up pain, irritation and congestion, and result finally in piles. The experience of those who have tested all the cures for constipation, seems to prove that Ferrozone is the most agreeable and satisfactory treatment. It makes the bowels so well ordered that natural and unassisted action is established. Nothing can equal the immediate sense of comfort it produces, and pains in the head, and stomach, and in the intestines, disappear almost at once.

Ferrozone is very mild and certain in its action, and never causes inconvenience or distress. Ferrozone can be taken early as long as required and in no way interferes with business or pleasure, and nothing may be feared from its use, however prolonged it may be.

For Constipation, Piles and Sick Headache, Ferrozone stands unrivalled. The driver of the City Express Company, who suffered from piles, says: — "Constant sitting on the wagon seat, produced a rectal irritation, which combined with constipated condition of the bowels brought on a severe attack of piles. I used without benefit, different ointments, and other remedies; but got quick relief and most satisfactory results from Ferrozone. I can recommend Ferrozone to all who suffer from piles."

Ferrozone always cures, and can be purchased at any reliable drug store for 50cts. a box or three boxes for $1.25. Sent to your address by mail if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

By FLORENCE WARDEN.

Author of "The House in the Marsh," "A Prince of Darkness," etc.

Astley received the news with a stare of utter incredulity. Then he laughed quite easily.

"Oh, nonsense," said he; "who's been telling you that stuff? Ah, I know! I can guess! That beast Wharles—and his wife—of course!"

And he stamped his foot, not in consternation, but in vivid anger.

Norma looked at him, half in hope and half in fear. There was more to tell him, unhappily.

"It's true," faltered she. "Really, really true. Astley, I've seen her. She came here: she tried to force her way into the room when you were lying ill. And you—that's the worst part of it all, I think—even in your delirium you recognised her voice, her footstep!"

But, earnest as her tone was, clear as were her words, Astley persisted in his attitude of utter disbelief in her story.

"Oh, no, no, it's some trick," said he. "It's some plot laid by that doctor and his precious wife. Oh, I know it is! I'm sure of it. Only wait till I've come face to face with them, and you'll see." He had turned away for a moment, so angry that he could scarcely trust himself to speak. Then he again faced her, with his eyes aflame. "They dared introduce her into my house, this woman, whoever she was, and let her speak to you! It's an insult I'll make that cur pay for. I'll—"

Norma sprang across the room, and laid a restraining hand upon his arm.

"Listen," she said, "just listen."

But he would not. He turned upon her, and went on, as furiously as ever.

"They made you pay, of course. Tell me, you had to pay her something, had you not? Ah! That was what you were doing out in the orchard! Come, you may as well confess, since I've made a good guess."

Reluctantly Norma acknowledged that he was right.

"I did give her some money," she admitted, imploringly, "but she was not rude or cruel to me. She was gentle, ashamed of herself. I felt half sorry for her, I did indeed!"

"Sorry!" cried Astley, "sorry for this impostor, this adventuress!"

"I shouldn't have been sorry if I'd thought she was that," said Norma, earnestly, "but indeed I'm afraid you won't think that either when you come face to face with her. She wanted to see you, you know."

"She said she did," retorted Astley, obstinately. "But you'll find, when it comes to the point, the lady will have disappeared. Oh, to think you could be taken in so easily! Come, kiss me, child, kiss me; you are my wife, never fear!"

And he flung his arm round her, and, with a loud laugh which was not as hearty as he intended and believed, pressed his lips to hers, and told her not to be afraid.

But through all his almost boisterous assurances that all would be well, Norma detected a vague, unacknowledged uneasiness; and she was not surprised when he presently sank into moody silence, and sat back in his chair, with an air of reserve and gloomy foreboding which contrasted strongly with his first reception of the news.

She, on her side, had by this time grown so accustomed to the miserable position of affairs that she was complete mistress of herself, and was presently able to steal gently to Astley's side, to thrust a loving hand into his, and to try to console him for the fresh misery which, so she declared, it was she herself [illegible]

By this time he was feeling ill and weak from the strain of strong emotion, acting upon a frame enfeebled by fever and by his premature exertion of the afternoon.

He began to shiver again, and Norma was full of fears for him, and dreaded a recurrence of the fever that night.

Astley was rather glad of these symptoms, since they gave him a right to her renewed attentions. When she expressed her intention of sitting up with him, he made but a faint murmur of protest, and she felt comforted in her heart of hearts at having this excuse for remaining near him.

He passed a peaceful night, on the whole; though he started up from time to time complaining that he had had dreams. And towards morning he slept quietly enough for Norma to slip out of the room and away to her own vast apartment, where, with tears in her eyes, she began to prepare her things for packing.

Go she must, and soon. She felt sure that a rude awakening was in store for Astley, if indeed he was as confident as he pretended that it was only a trick which had been played upon her for the purpose of extorting money. And she did not feel strong enough to stand firm against his entreaties to her to remain near him, while at the same time she felt certain that nothing but misery could come to him through her staying at Darwen Haigh if the truth of Lottie's existence in the flesh were once demonstrated beyond any doubt.

When Dr. Wharles came that morning she would have gone to meet him; but Astley, who had not yet got up, sent Martha to command, rather than to request her to come to him.

"That fellow Wharles has dared to turn up," growled Astley as soon as Norma came to his bedside. "I won't see him. And neither shall you."

"But—"

"I'll have no buts. You're to do as I tell you. Do you hear?"

"Yes," said Norma meekly, as she withdrew a step or two, white and trembling.

"Then you may go," said he.

He was snappish, peremptory, irritable beyond his wont. She went back to her room, and heard with a fast-beating heart the wheels of the doctor's gig on the drive. She had wanted an explanation with him above all things, and she dreaded the attitude Astley was taking up.

When she went downstairs, and sat alone at breakfast in the dreary morning-room at the front of the house, which was shut in by leafless trees and unutterably depressing, she saw a person who looked, she thought, like a doctor's man-servant, approaching the house with a letter in his hand. She rose to her feet, feeling sure that he had brought a letter for herself from the doctor or his wife. She looked at the clock, and saw that enough time had elapsed for Dr. Wharles to reach home, to write and send a note to her, demanding an explanation of Astley's refusal to see him.

But no one came into the room. And presently Norma saw the man returning down the drive towards the lodge gates.

As she stood at the window, watching and wondering whether it was to Astley the doctor had written, she heard the halting footsteps she knew in the hall outside, and ran to the door, just as Astley opened it and came in.

He was white as the dead, and shaking like a leaf.

KILLED BY AN ANGRY HUSBAND

Found His Wife Locked in a Store With his Partner

Memphis, Tenn., March 13—Information reached here from Columbus, Miss., this morning, that A. P. Taliaferro, a jeweller, shot and instantly killed Joseph J. Sloan, a piano dealer last night. The two men had their business in the same store, and Sloan boarded with Taliaferro and his wife.

Last night, while Taliaferro was sick, according to his story, his white left home and went to the store where Sloan was. When Taliaferro went down he found the door locked and when he unlocked it he declares he saw enough to justify any man in shooting. Sloan jumped behind some boxes and began shooting, but Taliaferro did not cease until he had killed the alleged despoiler of his home.

Chamberlain at Madeira

London, March 12—Speaking at Madeira yesterday, on his way back to England, Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain said:

"When I was at home I had thought that the mission of the United Kingdom had perhaps been pretty nearly fulfilled, but now I am convinced that the mission of the British Empire is only just beginning. It is a mission of peace, of civilization, a union of hearts and spirits in these interests. If I have done anything to lay a single brick to that great edifice, which I believe will rear itself into the skies in the future, I am amply repaid."

STOCK MARKETS

The Best of the South

New York, March 16—While the market at present writing does not present a particularly bright and encouraging aspect, one of the southern issues, nevertheless, would appear particularly attractive at going prices; it is one of a class of stocks particularly good to purchase during a period of depression and discouragement, inasmuch as such stocks are always in the van when a change of speculative sentiment comes about. We are speaking of the shares of the Ill. Central railroad. Last Sept. this stock sold above 170, and for most excellent reasons. In scanning the list it is a difficult matter to find many issues returning to shareholders the same rate of dividends they did during the depressed period of '93 to '96. Ill. Central is one of them however. All during that time when St. Paul was paying nothing, also Atch. while the preferred did not pay its full 5 per cent, when Rock Island paid but 2 per cent and Burlington but 4 per cent, Ill. Central paid and earned 6 per cent. to the shareholders. It is only paying 6 per cent. now, yet earning 12 per cent. while the other companies mentioned have all entered the dividend paying list or increased their returns to shareholders. Ill. Central has recently, jointly with other southern lines, strengthened its grip upon the southern railway situation. It is one of the absolute gilt-edged investments of Wall St. that has withstood successfully the fires of adversity, maintaining its full regular dividends when even the majority of the railways of the United States were being operated by receivers. Below 140 it is a magnificent bargain. It is worth every dollar as much per share as is St. Paul stock. It will sell up to 170 again. In our opinion there is absolutely no doubt of it. We cannot consequently recommend the issue too strongly. A five per cent. margin would seem safe beyond peradventure—buy the stock. Do so at present while the price is down sympathetically with the balance of the market. We fail to see wherein any mistake can be made in so doing.

Summary—Steel sold ex-dividend, while the preferred sold ex-rights. Industrials were all firm, save copper, which sagged somewhat. There would appear to be a preparation for an upward movement in the industrial department. Railways generally dropped throughout the day, recovering somewhat before the close. The following stocks look specially attractive to buy at present: Southern and Union Pacifics, Atch., Rock Island, the Readings, Wabash, Mo. Pacific and the Southwesterns. Southern Pacific before the close sold up to 63 upon good buying. Buy stocks upon the dips, but for the time being take profits of a point or so when they appear. Money closed 6 per cent. Sales, 627,800.

HAIGHT & FREESE.

How Salt Cools Coffee.

Between bites of the simple breakfast he had ordered, the young clerk gazed nervously at the restaurant clock. It was plain he had overslept himself and was paving the way to future indigestion by bolting his food. The coffee was the stumbling block. It was hot—very hot—but the clerk needed it badly, and he sipped it carefully, having due regard for his mouth and tongue.

But time pressed, and, with a parting glance at the clock, he reached for his glass of ice water and prepared to pour some of the frigid fluid into his cup.

"Don't spoil your coffee, young man," said an elderly gentleman who was eating his breakfast on the other side of the table. "You take all the good out of it by putting ice or ice water in it."

The clerk was at first inclined to resent the interference, but the patriarchal appearance of the other man tempered his resentment.

"What am I to do?" he asked. "I am late for the office, and I want this coffee badly."

"Let me show you a little scheme," said the elderly man. Taking the cylindrical saltcellar from the table, he wiped it carefully with a napkin, then, reaching over, deposited the glass vessel in the cup of coffee.

"Salt, you know, has peculiar cooling properties," he said, meanwhile holding the receptacle firmly in position. "They put it with ice to intensify the cold when making ice cream. It is used extensively in cold-storage warehouses for cooling purposes, and being incased in glass does not affect its power to any great extent."

As he spoke he withdrew the saltcellar from the coffee and motioned to the younger man to drink. He raised the cup to his lips, and, to his surprise, found the liquid cooled to such an extent that he could drink it without inconvenience.

"The uses of salt are manifold," said the elderly man, with the air of one beginning a lecture. "I remember once when I was in Mexico——"

But the clerk, with another glance at the clock, thanked him profusely and dashed out of the restaurant.

"Have you seen Mrs. Connyshaw's wonderful collection of old china?"

"Yes," replied Mrs. Fussilove, "I have; and I can't say that it gives me a good opinion of the Connyshaws' social position." "Dear me!" said the other lady. "How is that?" "Well, you see," explained Mrs. Fussilove, "they can't ever have kept many servants, or they would never have had all that china unbroken."

An Opportunity

We are offering for public subscription a limited amount of stock of exceptional merit affording an unusual opportunity for a very profitable investment. We desire to be conservative in our representations, but do not hesitate to state that the stocks of the properties we are representing are absolutely certain to rapidly increase in value, and the fortunate purchasers of the stock at the present prices will have more than reason to congratulate themselves for grasping this opportunity.

Success lies in being alive to that which is going on around you, and they who "grasp the skirts of happy chance can breast the blows of circumstance."

We have the disposition of a certain amount of treasury stock in four corporations. We have thoroughly investigated the present value of the properties owned by the Companies, and have full cognition of the immense profits that are awaiting only the further development and equipment of the properties.

We are offering an equal number of shares in each of the four corporations at a price that make the combined sale a most attractive feature, giving also to the purchaser an unusual safe guard on his or her investment; in other words, you are not placing all your eggs in one basket. Or if you prefer you can purchase separately the stocks we offer.

As the money received from the sale of the stock is strictly for the purpose of equipping the properties with the necessary machinery, etc., the time will not be long before handsome dividends are available. We are not asking your subscriptions to pay for the properties; they are already owned by the Companies, and there are no outstanding obligations.

This preliminary notice is to advise the public in general that an opportunity now presents itself for a safe investment of unusual character, embodying also speculative possibilities sufficiently great to make even a small investor a competency within a few years.

You can invest in any amount from Ten Dollars up, and, if so desired, you can have the privilege o paying in installments the amount of stock paid for from time to time being non-forfeitable in the event of your ceasing payments, thus relieving those of small or uncertain income from possibility of loss, should they for any reason become unable to continue payments.

Our business is to aid responsible Companies in the disposal of their treasury stock for the thorough equipment of their properties; we do not and will not handle indiscriminate mining or other stocks under any circumstances. W make a thorough personal examination and investigation as to the merits and possibilities before undertaking to assist in financing any Corporation: the paramount issue with us is to give complete satisfaction and cause much success to our patrons.

We have furnished the publishers of The Times with an outlined description of the Companies we represent, and the names of the Directors of each Company whose stock we offer to their subscribers and friends. We have also furnished The Times with bank references as to our own bona fides and standing. We desire to command the utmost confidence of all subscribers and to retain same along with their friendship for all time; you add a few dollars; we add our experience brain and labor: you increase your riches without effort and increase our power to make you still richer. In ordinary everyday experience a man's expenses nearly equal his income and he has little chance to make a turn for the betterment of his condition. This is anyone's opportunity; you can invest Ten Dollars or One Thousand Dollars on the same basis as one who invests Ten Thousand Dollars. You cannot afford to neglect your opportunitie and this is a chance to get in on the ground floor and reap the profits of substantial, quick money making enterprises. Your money need not be tied up for a long time; we know that one of the Companies, at least, will pay handsome dividends this year. It is an easy matter to become rich; just watch for the opportunity and take advantag of it. This is your opportunity; will you grasp it?

Write immediately for prospectuses, reports and full details.

The Electric Spark GOLD MINING COMPANY

Offers to investors an opportunity to secure through a purchase of its stock

A monthly income of $50.00

On an investment of $1,000; or a monthly income of $5 00 on an investment of $100.00. This is purely a business proposition. Their is no uncertainty about it; you do not take any chances. We actually have enough ore in sight to keep us working for three or four years, and the more development work we do the more ore there is in sight; the deeper we go the richer it is. [illegible] to the public with an untried experiment. Our shaft is nearing the 200 foot mark, with better values at the bottom than any place nearer the surface. The ore runs in value from $25.00 to $86 80 per ton, by actual carload shipments.

The par value of our stock is $1.00, with only a limited amount of shares to be sold, and this has been placed on the market at the low rate of 20 CENTS PER SHARE. On March 14, the price will be advanced to 30 cents per share, providing any of the original offering remains unsold; therefore we advise all who are interested to send in their applications without a moment's delay, as they will be filled and eventually rejected just in the order received.

Thunder Mountain!

is the richest gold producing camp in the United States, and also the largest. The Thunder Mountain district, in central Idaho, is twenty miles wide and forty miles long. In comparison with this we have Cripple Creek, four miles wide and seven miles long. In many of the Thunder Mountain mines ore has already been reached that carries ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD TO THE TON. All of the Thunder Mountain ore is free milling, which means that it can be treated by the cheapest extraction process known—the ordinary stamp mill. It can be both mined and milled at a cost not to exceed $2 a ton. The past years operations in the several working mines have opened up millions of tons of ore that will give a net profit of from $10 to $30 a ton, enabling the respective companies to pay dividends at a rate never before equalled. Such is the showing and the prospect of the

EAST DEWEY GOLD MINING CO.

which unless all indications are at fault, will become the largest producer in the district. The EAST DEWEY mine, which it owns outright, is located directly on Thunder Mountain, just east of the famous "Dewey" mine, which already has $20,000,000 of ore in sight. The surface area of the East Dewey mine is one hundred and twenty acres—six full quartz claims. The company has also secured the big GOLDEN GATE mine, in the Big Creek section of the Thunder Mountain district—which has been so aptly termed "The Pot of Gold"—and is now developing the mine with all possible speed. For a distance of 9,000 feet, nearly two miles, the Golden Gate mines cover a mineralized ledge that is 900 feet wide, with an average height above the tunnel level of 500 feet, thus giving it the largest exposed tonnage of any mine in the west.

If you would share in the enormous profits which these figures indicate and which these developments promise, invest your money in "East Dewey" Stock. It can be bought to-day for 10 Cents a Share. Its par value is $1.

If the East Dewey mines are what they appear to be, and there is absolutely no reason to doubt or question these indications, this stock will eventually be worth at least $10 a share, and to-day you can buy it for ten cents. PRICE ADVANCES TO FIFTEEN CENTS ON FEBRUARY 28th. 5% discount allowed for cash. Stock sold at flat price of 10 cents on deferred payments, 10% with application, and 10% monthly until paid. Full particulars, prospectus, etc., on request.

The Day of Miracles not Past

A Toronto "Star" reporter investigated the case of Mr Geo. Warner, and found that after thirteen years of almost total deafness, he had been cured by inhaling Catarrhozone.

This proves that where Catarrhozone treatment is employed, impaired hearing and deafness can be cured. Catarrhozone always brings quick relief, and is warranted to give lasting satisfaction. All sufferers from Impaired Hearing, Deafness, Head Noises and Ringing in the Ears are advised to inhale Catarrhozone and derive the great benefit it is capable of affording. OBITUARY

Death of Mrs. C. E. Hubbs, Ashburnham on Sunday Afternoon

On Sunday afternoon there passed away Emma Clarke, wife of Mr. C. E. Hubbs, Lake street, Ashburnham. Deceased has been a resident of Ashburnham for the past twelve years, and was very highly respected. She was the daughter of Mr. Ezekiel Clarke, and was born in Prince Edward County in 1855. In 1875 she was married to Mr. C. E. Hubbs, and resided in Deseronto for a number of years. For about two years deceased has been ill, suffering from cancer of the stomach which finally caused her death. She was a member of the George street Methodist church. She is survived by her husband, and three children. Edith, of town, Fred, of Toronto, and Frank, of Duluth. Mrs. E. Somen, sister of deceased, has spent the past two months with her.

The remains will be taken to Deseronto for interment this morning on the 8.20 G.T.R. train from the family residence, Lake street, Ashburnham.

HANDSOMELY REMEMBERED

Miss Lizzie Stenson, Auburn, Receives Present and Address

Miss Lizzie Stenson, who is leaving Peterborough to reside in the North-West, was remembered by her friends of the weaving and finishing departments at Auburn, who presented her with a beautiful watch guard, accompanied by an address, which was read by Miss Maggie Turnbull, while the presentation was made by Miss Ella Rocle. Miss Stenson feelingly acknowledged the gift, saying that it would hold strong the ties of friendship, with those she was now about to sever her connection. The address was signed by Mrs. D. Hewie, and Misses Annie Moffat, Maggie Turnbull, Nora Congidin, Jennie Moffat, Julia Burke and Susie Truman.

A SUDDEN DEATH

Gideon Mercier, of Lake Street, Ashburnham Dropped Dead Sunday Night

About nine o'clock on Sunday evening, Gideon Mercier was found dead in his brother's barn. Deceased lived with his brother, Narcisse Mercier, and at 6.20 on Sunday evening went out to attend to a cow, and was never seen after alive. When he failed to return to the house a search was made, and upon going to the stable he was found lying upon his back on the floor. When examined it was found that life was quite extinct, the cause of death being heart failure, with which the deceased has been troubled for some years. Upon hearing the circumstances, the coroner, Dr. Gray, considered an inquest unnecessary. Gideon Mercier had been a resident of Ashburnham for the past 26 years, and was born in Montreal.

The funeral will take place at 7.20 this morning from the family residence, and will proceed to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

More Houses Wanted

This spring there is an unusual demand for tenement houses in Peterborough and very few to be had. This has been the case for several seasons, yet none of our capitalists have shown any desire to invest money in erecting suitable dwellings for mechanics and others of moderate means. If some enterprising men would erect a number of houses in Peterborough there would be no difficulty in finding suitable tenants.

Exhorbitant Insurance Rates

The City Council of Kingston have their "backs up" against the exorbitant rates charged by insurance companies, and the exacting demands of the Board of Fire Underwriters, and will very materially reduce the insurance on city property, and take risks in non-tariff and mutual companies only. If Peterborough and other corporations would do likewise possibly it might make a difference with some of the old companies as to rates.

Lightning Remedy for Cramps

Some people have cramps pretty often, others only now and again. But when you do have them, it's a mighty quick relief you want. Polson's Nerviline is as sure as death to relieve cramps in five seconds—it's instantaneous, just a few drops in sweetened water, and the pain is gone. Buy a bottle of Nerviline to-day, and keep it handy. Nerviline is a common household necessity and only costs 25 cents.

Embossed Badges

The Times has just completed an order for the County Orange Lodge, of 200 embossed badges. The work is done in gold on blue ribbon, and is printed on our new embossing machine, (the only one in Eastern Ontario). The type is kept hot with fire during the printing process. Work done in this way has a different appearance from that done on the ordinary printing press—having a distinctly bright appearance. We now make a specialty of printing badges and similar work.

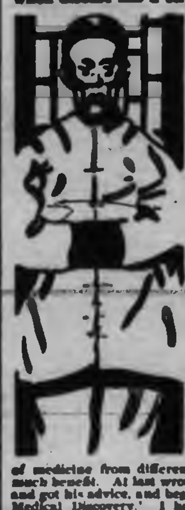
ONE LUNG

May be gone and yet the remaining lung will be amply sufficient to sustain a vigorous vitality. As a general thing few people make more use of both lungs than is equivalent to a healthy use of one lung.

These facts are all in the favor of the man or woman with weak lungs, even when disease has a strong grip on them.



Many a person living in health to-day has the lungs marked by the healed scars of disease.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes weak lungs strong. It cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bronchitis, bleeding lungs and other conditions, which, if neglected or unskilfully treated, find a fatal termination in consumption.

"I had been troubled with lung disease and pleurisy for a number of years and the trouble had almost become chronic," writes A. S. Elam, of Howe, Ia. "Had several kinds of medicine from different physicians without much benefit. At last wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce and got his advice, and began using his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I have used twenty-five bottles. When I commenced taking it I had no appetite, my system was completely run-down, had no ambition to do anything. Now I feel better than I did before I got sick. Have a good appetite and am able to do my work. I sincerely recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to all who are afflicted as I was."

Those who suffer from chronic diseases are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets assist the action of the "Discovery."

NEED OF MORE HOUSES IN TOWN

Ald. McWilliams Urges That Steps be at Once Taken to Arrange for a Big Celebration—To Welcome Visiting Orangemen

At last night's Council meeting Mayor G. M. Roger said that several manufacturing institutions had complained to him that people are leaving town for want of house accommodation. Several citizens had also drew his attention to the fact that houses had been sold over their heads, and they were unable to rent others. This is a bad state of affairs, and it seems the Town hardly recognizes the fact that several large industries have been established here of late years, and that increased population has come, and is coming, to stay. The Mayor took this occasion of calling public attention to the urgent need of more houses for rental in Peterborough which he hoped would be speedily responded to in the interests of the whole community.

PERMANENT IMPROVEMENTS.

His Worship also drew attention to the fact that complaint is frequently made of public works, such as sewers and sidewalks, is frequently delayed till too late in the season to put the streets in good condition after their construction before snow flies. Such improvements are paid for by frontage tax, and it is the duty of ratepayers to move first in the way of petitioning of them. He would urge that application for such work be made at an early date.

Ald. McWilliams thought the Board of Works should be empowered to give notice that such work will not be undertaken after a certain date. This matter will be seriously considered.

GREETING TO ORANGEMEN.

Ald. McWilliams thought it would be courteous for the Mayor and as many of the Aldermen as possible to wait on the Orange delegates at the convention of the Orange Grand Lodge of Eastern Ontario, on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock and extend the greetings of the Town.

Ald. McWilliams moved a resolution to this effect, seconded by Ald. Finnie, which was carried.

PULIC CELEBRATION.

Ald. McWilliams suggested that it would be a good thing to appoint a committee to confer with other bodies with a view to arranging for a celebration on one of the public holidays, so that a successful event may be secured by the matter being taken in hand in good time. Such a celebration, he urged, should be announced early enough to make it a celebration, including not only Peterborough, but the Midland Counties.

Ald. McWilliams moved in this direction, seconded by Ald. Finnie, which was carried, and Ald. Shortly, Rush and the mover were named the committee.

COUNCIL IN SESSION.

The Town Council met in regular session. There were present, Mayor G. M. Roger, presiding, and Aldermen Edgecumbe, Shortley, Morrison, Finnie, R. F. McWilliams, Clinkscale and Corkery.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were taken as type-written.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Arthur C. Mitchell, secretary of the Label Committee of the Trades and Labor Council, asking that the Printers' Union Label be placed on all town printing, as per resolution of the Council of 1902, since the passing of which several forms had been printed without the label. Also asking that the Tailors' Union label be sewn on each piece of the new summer suits too be furnished the police.—Received.

From a number of ratepayers, asking that a drain be constructed on Parnell street and on Park street, from Lake street to the boundary, to drain that section of the town, as they are greatly injured in health and otherwise, by water in the cellars.—Board of Works.

From Harold Barrett, secretary Port Hope Canal Association, to the mayor, stating that he had been instructed by his association to request that Mayor Roger call a meeting of the city council to meet with the Board of Trade of Peterborough, and receive a deputation from the Port Hope Canal Association, who desire to lay before them their claims re the outlet of the Trent Valley Canal, and the advantages which would help the trade and commerce of Peterborough if the outlet is via Port Hope.—Council decided to call this meeting for Tuesday night next.

From D. W. Dumble, re assessment served Mrs. Dr. Fife for property for which she received no rent from its late tenant, and asking that the taxes be remitted, as has been customary under similar circumstances.—Court of Revision.

From Hampden Burnham, complaining that a blast at the Cereal Co.'s dam on the evening of March 13th, shook his dwelling, No. 547 Water street, so severely, that he is afraid of permanent injury to it, and saying that he will be obliged if council will request the company to exercise a little more care in their blasting operations.—Received and a copy to be forwarded the company.

From S. R. Armstrong, secretary-treasurer Trent Water Way Association, asking that the town, together with other interested municipalities, again contribute to the funds of the association, which is urging a united effort to secure the whole remaining work on the Trent Valley Canal being put under contract this year. An effort is also to be made to get the members of the Dominion Cabinet from this Province to make a trip over the whole route at an early date, and this will entail considerable expense.—Received.

From R. G. Pattison, General Superintendent Canadian General Electric Co., as follows: "We propose making additions to our plant this year in the shape of three buildings or more. One of these buildings will be located on the corner of Park street, and run on Townsend street, 400 feet, and in order to utilize this building for the purpose for which it is put there it will be necessary for us to have Townsend street graded and macadamized the length of the building, and some arch or brick work done crossing the sewer sufficient to carry heavy loads upon our lorries. Before proceeding with the building we will be glad to have this presented to the council, so that we may be sure that after we have erected the building we will be able to use it, and that the street will be improved as desired."—Received.

From Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr and Stevenson, stating that they have been instructed to enter another action against the town for damages sustained by reason of the premises of Messrs. Ormond & Walsh being again flooded by surface water, owing to the causes which have been set forth in previous correspondence from time to time.—Legal Committee.

From H. P. Zimmerman, of the C.P.R., saying that the construction of gates at the George street crossing has been authorized, and the work will be proceeded with at once.

ACCOUNTS.

A number of accounts were referred to the Finance Committee.

PUBLIC PARKS.

Messrs. D. W. Dumble and James [illegible] tural Society, addressed council and asked for the council grant for keeping up the parks in town. They requested that, owing to necessary improvements, particularly to the Central Park, where more water mains will be required, the customary grant of $500 be raised to $600.

The mayor thanked the deputation and promised that the council will be as liberal as possible.

SALVATION ARMY BAND.

Mr. M. Green, bandmaster of the Salvation Army Band, asked the Civic Fathers for a grant of $100 in support of this musical organization. Mr. R. C. Brown also addressed Council in support of this petition. Mr. Dumble remarked that the band had grown to be quite a respectable one, and suggested that Council give them the grant asked for. He would couple the grant, however, with a condition that they give a concert now and then in the south end of the town.

The Mayor replied in eulogy of the Salvation Army, and assured the petitioners that their application would receive the fullest consideration circumstances would permit of.

PUBLIC PLAY GROUNDS.

Ald. McWilliams, referring to the application of the Horticultural Society, remarked that while recognizing the good work done at the Central Park last year, he did not think we needed this ground as a beauty spot. What we want is a play ground for the young folk, and he would like to see this land devoted to that purpose. A majority of the trees might be cut down and the whole turned into one clean green swath.

Both these petitions were referred to the Finance committee, and Ald. McWilliams was promised that his suggestion, re a public play ground, should receive earnest consideration.

UNION WITH ASHBURNHAM.

Ald. Rush submitted the following report:

The report was received as read.

Ald. Edgecumbe submitted the following report:

CONSTRUCTION OF SEWERS.

Ald. Shortly moved, seconded by Ald Edgecumbe, That notice be given that the Council of the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough intends after one month after the last publication of this notice, to undertake the construction of sewers on Hunter street, from Aylmer to Stewart street; on McDonnel street, from Aylmer to Downie street; on Reid street, from McDonnel to London street, and on Downie street, from McDonnel to London street; and to assess upon the real property to be benefitted by such sewer, in proportion to the cost thereof as may be just in accordance with the provisions of sections 664 to 668, inclusive, of the Municipal Act; or as so much thereof as may be applicable thereto, and subject to the provisions of such by-law or by-laws of the said corporation, now, or hereafter to be passed, as shall be applicable to the same.—Carried.

A QUESTION OF PROTECTION.

Ald. Shortly submitted a draft [illegible] Sugar Association of Ontario, petitioning the Dominion Government to extend substantial aid to the beet sugar industry of the Dominion, and moved, seconded by Ald. Morrison, that it be adopted by the Council and forwarded to Ottawa.—Carried.

Both the Mayor and Ald. McWilliams agreed that this matter savored of politics, it being clearly a question of protection, and were rather adverse to the Council moving in the matter, although they were in sympathy with the beet sugar movement itself.

DOG TAGS.

Ald. [illegible] moved, seconded by Ald. McWilliams, that the License committee be authorized to purchase dog tags.

BY-LAWS.

A by-law to authorize payment for water for public purposes and for fire protection passed its several readings.

A by-law repealing all former ones with reference to the market, and regulating the same, passed its several readings.

A by-law to grant $300 to the Children's Aid Society of the Town and County of Peterborough passed its several readings.

Council then adjourned.

MR. STRATTON'S RESIGNATION TENDERED ALMOST A WEEK AGO

But Has Not Been Accepted by Premier Ross

MR. GAMEY ASKS FOR HIS DOCUMENTS

And $500 in Bills and Walks Out of the House Upon Receivinn Them

The first incident of the session was a debate on the custody of the documents handed by Mr. Gamey to Mr. Whitney in the House of Wednesday last, and Mr. Whitney, "at his request, returned these papers to the member for Manitoulin."

GAMEY STARTS OUT.

He handed the envelope to Mr. Gamey and sat down. Mr. Gamey started for the Opposition lobby.

"I will now," spoke up the Premier, "ask the member for Manitoulin if he has any objection to placing the documents in the hands of the Speaker?"

Mr. Gamey kept on towards the door.

Mr. Whitney said: "I understand he is going to consult his solicitor."

The Premier then stated that when he had suggested to Mr. Whitney to give the Speaker the documents he had believed that it was the proper thing that the House should be formally possessed of the indictment. If the concurrence of the leader of the Opposition was forthcoming he would move that the papers be impounded and placed in the hands of Mr. Speaker.

"You make a motion?" asked Mr. Whitney.

"Yes," said the Premier.

"Well, then," answered the leader of the Opposition, "we'll go ahead and debate the resolution."

"If there is to be delay," said Mr. Ross, "I won't press my motion. Indeed, I believe unless it meets with the approval of the whole House the Speaker can rule it out or order."

"Oh, there is no delay," said Mr. Whitney.

"But yes, but yes," said the Premier. "If the hon. gentleman wants to expedite matters he can concur; if he wants to delay he can oppose."

Mr. Whitney said he would concur in the motion if the Premier would consent to refer the investigation to a committee of the House. He argued further that if the documents were by any chance lost, the one who would be most greatly benefitted would be the man who was charged with the crime.

"But we don't want them to disappear," said the Premier. "We want them here, so that we can refute them."

Mr. Whitney repeated his offer to concur in the motion if the investigation would be referred to a committee of the House.

Mr. St. John stigmatized the relegating of the investigation to a commission as a sidetracking of truth to [illegible]. The Provincial Secretary should have stepped down and out when charged, but instead of that he had been sitting in the House as dumb as an oyster.

STRATTON HAS RESIGNED.

Mr. Stratton rose in his place for the first time this session. "Permit me to say," said he, "that on Wednesday last I tendered my resignation to the Premier."

Mr. St. John—"May I ask the hon. Premier if he has accepted the resignation?"

Mr. Ross—"It has not been accepted, and so is still under consideration."

Mr. St. John—"Has it been refused?"

Mr. Ross—"That's the hon. the Premier's business."

Peterborough's Interests to be Guarded.

Some time ago the Montreal papers stated that the new Grand Trunk Pacific line was to run from Gravenhurst eastward to Quebec. It was hoped that Peterborough was to be on the main line, the present line between Peterborough and Gravenhurst to be utilized as a section of the proposed transcontinental line.

In order to clear up the matter, we wrote the General Manager of the Grand Trunk, asking him plainly if the road between Peterborough and Gravenhurst was to be a part of the through line. From Mr. Hays' reply given below, we assume that this portion of road will not be used as the main line. The following is the General Manager's letter:

Mr. W. H. Robertson,
The Times, Peterborough:

Dear Sir,—Replying to yours of March 14th. Any new lines we may construct will not mean the abandonment of existing lines, but merely the enlargement of our facilities. When our plans in the Northwest are carried to completion and the traffic is developed, we will have need for all the existing and contemplated lines we may have, and certainly we value Peterborough too much to disregard her interests.

Yours &c.

PORT HOPE AND CANAL

Big Effort Being Made to Secure Canal Outlet

STRONG REASONS GIVEN

Cost Would Be Very Much Than if Entrance Were at Trenton

Peterborough will Be Asked to Join Port Hope in Delegation to Ottawa—Peterborough Will, However, be Loyal to Trenton

Yesterday a couple of Port Hope gentlemen visited Peterborough for the purpose of laying the claims of Port Hope before a number of our leading citizens with a view to securing our assistance in the proposed deflection of the Trent Waterway to Port Hope, instead of Trenton. It is almost certain that Peterborough's influence will stay with Trenton regardless of anything that may be said in favor of the Port Hope route. The following letter presents Port Hope's case, and it must be admitted, it is not a weak one:

Dear Sir,—As that portion of the Trent Valley Canal lying between Lake Simcoe and Rice Lake is now nearing completion, the attention of the Dominion Government is naturally being directed to a consideration of the outlet at each end. The Port Hope Canal Association, which was recently organized for the purpose of securing the co-operation of the various municipalities interested in the Port Hope outlet in memorializing the Government to thoroughly investigate the merits of this route, has been meeting with great encouragement, and but few municipalities remain to be interviewed in the matter by the representatives of the Association.

The section remaining to be constructed between Lake Simcoe and the Georgian Bay is thirteen miles, while for the southern outlet the prevailing idea has been that the only possible route was by way of the Trent River with the outlet at Trenton, a distance of 66 1-2 miles from the Otonabee River, until the discovery by Port Hope people a few years ago of a survey and report made in 1833 by Mr. Robert A. Mainry, C.E., for Sir John Colborne, Lieutenant-Governor of Upper Canada, which said in part: "That the position of Port Hope is particularly favorable for the termination of such a work must appear evident to every impartial observer. It is not only the shortest possible distance from Lake Ontario to Rice Lake, possessing a safe and commodious harbor, but its eminence presents every facility for defence in case of war, and the communication from Lake Ontario to Rice Lake up to Lake Simcoe can by this route be completed for a sum not greater than is necessary merely to open the navigation from the mouth of the Trent to Rice Lake. These are facts that cannot be refuted, and which, it is sincerely hoped, will induce its being adopted and undertaken by the Province, in lieu of the roundabout and expensive route by the Trent."

At the solicitation of the municipalities interested in the Port Hope route, the Dominion Government had a survey of this route made in 1900 by Mr. R. B. Rogers, but the people of Port Hope, Cobourg and adjacent municipalities for several reasons, are not satisfied with it, and hence their present requests to the Minister of Railways and Canals for a thorough and impartial inquiry into the merits of this route before any decision as to the outlet into Lake Ontario is arrived at by the Government.

Five Feet Versus Six.

Engineer Rubridge estimated the cost of a five foot canal, via Trenton at $3,367,262, and Mr. Rogers estimated the cost of a six-foot canal via Port Hope at $2,100,000, on this unfair basis, allowing a saving in favor of the Port Hope route of $1,267,262 and a saving in distance of 22 miles.

The supporters of the Port Hope route claim that the cost of maintenance of their route would be much less than via the Trenton route, as by the latter the canal would cross five railways, whereas at Port Hope it could enter Lake Ontario without a single railway crossing, the present viaduct of the G.T.R. being 22 feet above the water. Another reason advanced why the canal should be constructed via Port Hope is that thousands of acres of land have already been flooded along the Trent route, and if, as proposed, seven new dams are built, thousands of acres more will be drowned.

The Coal Trade.

Port Hope, being opposite Oak Orchard, N. Y., is considered much better situated for the coal trade than Trenton. Practically the only objection raised against the Port Hope route is the stretch of 30 miles of open Lake to Presque Isle Point, but the supporters of this route claim that, owing to the deepening of the St. Lawrence Canals, allowing larger vessels to come up into the lakes than hitherto, the cargoes would be trans-shipped to Port Hope for Montreal and Liverpool, but even should it be considered necessary for small barges to run to the Murray Canal, with several harbors between, affording perfect shelter in case of storm, the danger would be no greater than the same barges would experience at the earlier part of their journey in crossing Lake Simcoe. In this connection it is pointed out that small barges have for years been running from Ottawa down the Rideau Canal, across Lake Ontario to Oswego, N.Y. For local trade Port Hope possesses superior advantages over Trenton, especially when trade with Toronto and Lake Ontario ports is concerned. It is eighty-eight miles shorter from Peterboro to Toronto via Port Hope than by the Trenton route.

ARE AFTER MORE PAY

Post Office Employees Circulating a Petition for

ALL CLASSES TAKEN IN

They Aask General Advance of Twenty-five Per Cent. on Present Pay.

Along with the rest of the workers of the country the post office employes are after an increase of salary, the demand being for twenty-five per cent. over the scale now received.

It appears that the postal employes have signed, and are still signing, a petition to this effect, the local employes placing their name to the paper the latter portion of last week

About four weeks ago the post office employes here received circular letters from Toronto asking them to support the Ottawa clerks in their agitation for higher salaries. The Toronto circular said that the original intention has been to ask that post office salaries by $1,000 a year for third class clerks, $1,400 for second class and $1,800 for first class clerks. This idea has been amended, however, so as to include letter carriers, and all other post office employes, and the rate of increase changed to twenty-five per cent. all around.

The employees of the post office department state that they are to-day receiving the same salaries as were in vogue a quarter of a century ago, and that in the interval their living expenses have advanced at least fifty per cent. At the present time there are employed in the post office men who are receiving only $30 a month or $360 per year. The employes of the post office are also under bonds as it is required that a carrier shall furnish $800 and a clerk $400.

So far as the Peterborough office is concerned the clerks are shamefully underpaid and overworked. A young man, recently employed there, was forced to quit work and seek other employment, because he asked for an increase. He was receiving $1.30 a day, and had served 9 years in the local post office. From the postmaster down, there is only long hours and poor pay.

BEET SUGAR SYRUP FOR HORSES

Experimenters Say it is Better and Cheaper Than Oats

Binghampton, N.Y., March 17—As a result of several weeks of experimenting Dr. E. F. Verlde, of Oswego, has decided that beet sugar syrup is a better and cheaper food for horses than oats. He bought thirty barrels of this syrup, each containing fifty gallons, from the Binghampton Beet Sugar Company. The syrup costs 3 cents a gallon if the barrels are returned.

This syrup has been fed to the horses of George Crabbe, who runs the Oswego omnibus and baggage transfer line, and to those of James Forsyth a farmer. All of these horses have been able to perform their work satisfactorily, they like the food and it seems to agree with them, as they have kept in better condition than when fed on oats. The syrup is also considerably cheaper than oats.

UNION LABEL

PETERBOROUGH, MARCH 18, 1903.

IS GIBRALTAR PASSE?

A writer in the Petit Journal of Paris, has abolished Gibraltar as the key of the Mediterranean. With the improvement in modern warships, he says, it has lost its formidable character. He argues that the English seek a footing on the Moroccan coast because they know the strength of Gibraltar has been much overrated. It has been so thoroughly undermined by galleries and magazines, he declares, that the British engineers have prohibited the repeated discharge of guns from the same side of the Rock. Indeed, those of the largest calibre are only allowed to be fired one at a time for fear of the galleries falling in.

Owing to this state of affairs, he says a whole series of batteries have been erected at the foot of the Rock. But these batteries can only operate during a calm, and their searchlights cannot penetrate beyond ten or a dozen miles in clear weather, nor beyond two or three during fogs. The speed of the French vessels renders it impossible for the British fortress to prevent their passage.

What could it do, he asks, against a squadron steaming at night at eighteen or nineteen knots, with all its lights covered and hugging the Moroccan coast, which would have been previously explored by small craft? Beyond a range of eight or nine miles its projectiles would be perfectly harmless. Owing to the width of the Straits, the attempt to pass through, if made at night, would unquestionably succeed, even if a hostile fleet should try to drive the French ships [illegible]. Therefore, he concludes, Gibraltar hereafter is of no account except as a repair station and coaling dock.

THE IRISH LAND QUESTION

It is not surprising that the present attitude of the Nationalist members in the House of Commons to the Government and its Unionist supporters should arrest attention and excite not a little curiosity and surprise. But [illegible] when contrasted with former stages of oratorical and even physical conflict—[illegible] permanent. The exchange of compliments, the serenity of the Parliamentary atmosphere and the spectacle of Mr. John Morley flattering Mr. Wyndham, are, we fear, rather the outcome of the anticipated raid on the British taxpayer by both the landlords and tenants of Ireland, than of other causes.

Still there is no doubt that Lord Dunraven's confidence was not devoid of success, even if it should not prove to have laid a foundation upon which Parliament can build a scheme of general reconciliation and pacification for the "distressed country." The conference brought the two opposing elements together and discovered the fact that there was no tangible reason for insisting on the assertion that they could not live together in Ireland in peace and as good neighbors. What seemed to us, in the report of the conference, to shed light on a most interesting feature of the real situation was the desire, so earnestly expressed by the Nationalist leaders, that the landlords should retain and occupy their mansions in the event of the accomplishment of the land purchase. There cannot be such a gulf between landlords and tenants as the Irish League would have us believe.

MIXED

Children were mixed up in Pinafore with remarkable results, and some children have apparently been mixed up in Amsterdam. In that city a newly-born child was taken from the mother's care to be reared in an incubator. Meanwhile, in compliance with the Dutch law, the father had the birth of a son registered, and the child was given the name of Franciscus Gerardus. At the hospital a receipt was given for the baby boy and he was put into one of the incubators. Some weeks passed and the parents received notice that their child was well enough to be taken away. Imagine the father's surprise when he went to get his son, to have a baby girl thrust into his arms. The hospital nurse declared some mistake had been made by the parents. The parents nurse and other witnesses declared the mistake was on the part of the hospital authorities. The baby girl was not wanted by the parents of the missing baby boy, and nobody else owned her. The father took proceedings against the mayor of the city, who is the nominal head of the hospital and claimed $1,200 damages for his "lost son." During the time the child was in the incubator the outside of the machine was painted, and, according to the plaintiff's advocate, the cards on which were written the particulars regarding the inmates were mixed up. A touch of romance is added to the case by the offer of an anonymous woman, who undertakes to pay the compensation claimed by the parents and adopt the girl who ought to be a boy.

It is a strange case, and if there is a Solomon hearing it he has a large opportunity.

Fremantle's Plan May Be Adopted

The recent order issued to the coast guardships to join the combined home and cruiser squadrons for a cruise in the North Sea this month is believed in England naval circles to be a sign that Admiral Fremantle's plan will ultimately be adopted. As a result of this cruise a nucleus of a North Sea force, it is believed, will be formed. Another significant sign is the order of the battleship Audacious to take up a position off Felixstowe, on the east coast, as a depot for torpedo craft, the destroyers, Hardy, Haughty, Race Horse, Ranger, Roebuck, Snapper, Sunfish and Swordfish acting as her tenders.

Billious Dyspepsia

A DREADFUL COMPLAINT ACCOMPANIED BY HEADACHE, SICKNESS OF THE STOMACH, VOMITING SPELLS CAN BE PERMANENTLY AND QUICKLY CURED BY FERROZONE

Some persons have attacks of Billious Dyspepsia very frequently, and feel as if they were about to die. The whole system seems to collapse. The tongue becomes coated, the face a sallow pallor, and a bitter taste is always noticeable in the mouth. At times the bowels are very constipated, but occasional acute diarrhoea is caused by the accumulation of bile in the system.

It is highly dangerous to allow such a condition to imperil your life. It must be cured and the simplest and surest remedy is Ferrozone. It digests every particle of food eaten, and prevents the waste products from clogging up the system.

Ferrozone restores all deranged organs to a healthy, vigorous condition. It keeps the bowels well regulated, makes the kidneys eliminate all poisons from the blood, and supplies the necessary elements to build up and strengthen the entire body.

Mr. Louis Maclam, one of Peterborough's most enterprising and well known business men, during the past three years was an unceasing sufferer from Billious Dyspepsia. He was cured permanently by Ferrozone and is so anxious that all others may profit by his experience that he gives the following testimonial.

"About three years ago," says Mr. Maclam, "I had the Grippe which left me in a very run down condition that finally developed into Dyspepsia. I was unable to eat but a few things and had a craving for acid. I gave up treating with the doctors because they did not help me, and on the advice of a friend used Ferrozone. It not only cured by of Dyspepsia and Billiousness, but has built up my strength to what it was before I had the Grippe. I can recommend Ferrozone as an ideal restorative."

Ferrozone is capable of digesting all classes of food, and contains in a highly concentrated form the elements necessary for strengthening and reconstructing, and nourishing the stomach and other digestive organs. It is a builder of blood, muscle and fat, and makes sickly, weak, disheartened people strong and well. Ferrozone gives you force, energy, vim and spirit and cures every time. Sold by all druggists. Price 50c. per box or three boxes for $1.25. By mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

To Set Her Free

COPYRIGHTED

By FLORENCE WARDEN.

Author of "The House in the Marsh," "A Prince of Darkness," etc.

"It's true, great Heavens, it's true!" said he hoarsely.

And with a trembling hand he held out to her a letter in a woman's handwriting.

"It's from her, from Lottie. There's no trick. It's no forgery. Read it, read it!" stammered he as he threw himself into a chair.

Without a word Norma took the letter, which was short and scrawled in a rather peculiar hand, and, first dashing her hand across her eyes, which were for the moment dim and moist, she read these words:

"Dear Astley—It's all true, and I confess it. Will you ever forgive me for this deceit? They say you won't, but I think I know you better. You cared for me once; can't you forgive me and care for me again? Your unhappy wife,

"LOTTIE."

When Norma had read it, she laid it down on the table, and met Astley's eyes with a long look. Both felt that there was no longer room for hope.

CHAPTER XIII.

"What shall we do?" asked Norma hoarsely, after a long pause.

Astley pulled himself together, and, snatching up the letter, buttoned it up in his coat-pocket with an air of determination.

"I shall go round to the Wharles' house. She is staying with them, you see. I shall see her, tell her plainly that I mean to go on with the case against her, and let her know, at the same time, that she will be provided for. I think that will put an end to all difficulties, as she and the family have shown plainly enough that they look at the whole business in the most sardid way."

"And if—supposing you can't prove anything? You know they say you can't."

"I don't believe it," said he shortly. "The information I received about her conduct was too circumstantial. There, there, I can't bear to have to talk about it to you." He stopped in front of her, with a look of the deepest solicitude on his face. "I don't know what to do for the best as regards you," he went on tenderly. "Perhaps I shall know better when—when I've seen these people."

And he turned away abruptly, and walked towards the door.

Norma ran after him, and tried to smile into his face.

"You are not to trouble your head about me," she said gently. "I'm not unhappy, and nothing they can do will make me unhappy. Remember that. It is for you, you only that I'm concerned in this matter. Not for myself. Really."

Then she ran back again, and he, after a moment's hesitancy, restrained his inclination to go back to her, and saying, in a low voice: "Thanks, thanks, dear," he left the room quickly.

A little later she saw a dog-cart brought round to the front door, and Astley, wrapped up to the eyes, got in beside the groom, to whom he left the driving.

He had lost no time.

The doctor's house was in a road on the outskirts of Blackdale, and was a conventionally fanciful red brick house of the usual modern suburban type, standing at the corner of a road, with a little bit of garden in front, and a little bit more behind.

There was a brass plate on the door, and there were flower-boxes of rather showy colors in the windows; and the lace curtains were pink, and were arranged in a fashion more eccentric than tasteful. The whole house seemed to [illegible] inhabited by people who thought themselves of more importance than their neighbors, so Astley thought as he got down from the dog-cart and walked up the garden-path.

He asked for Dr. Wharles, but was told by the servant that he had started on his morning round. Then for Mrs. Wharles. Yes, the doctor's wife was at home, and Astley was shown into the drawing-room, a front room on the right, furnished in the worst of would-be elegance.

As he entered, the folding doors which cut the room in half were hastily shut, and Astley heard whispering, scuffling, and then the closing of a door.

He caught also the sound of a suppressed laugh, and the anger which already [illegible] him against these intriguing, greedy people increased tenfold.

He was seized by an impulse to tear open the folding-doors and to confront the giggling women, one of whom, as he guessed, was Lottie; but he restrained himself: and after he had waited a couple of minutes, the door by which he had entered opened, and not only Mrs. Wharles, but her widowed sister, Mrs. Finch, came in.

He bowed coldly to them both.

"Where is Lottie?" he asked abruptly.

"She won't come," said Mrs. Wharles. "She's afraid of what you would say to her."

Astley shrugged his shoulders.

"She must risk that," said he shortly. "I don't mean to leave the house till I have seen her."

Mrs. Wharles turned to her sister, who was a much less showy-looking person than herself, very well but quietly dressed, and of more simple and straightforward manners than the doctor's wife.

"Emmeline," said Mrs. Wharles, "go and tell her she must come. Sir Astley insists." Then, as Mrs. Finch went out, she continued: "You mustn't be surprised at Lottie's shyness. She's awfully ashamed of herself, and sorry now, for what she did. Did you get her letter?"

"Yes," said he. "But of course forgiveness is out of the question. Unless someone had suggested it to her, I'm sure she would never have conceived it possible that I could entertain such an idea. Does she consider the frightful position she placed another woman in by her wicked freak?"

"Well, well, we never thought you would marry again so soon, you know," said the doctor's wife, who seemed, he thought, to be taking things very coolly. "I've no doubt if you hadn't been in such a hurry to marry again, you would soon have had a wild letter from Lottie, begging your forgiveness."

"I had too much to forgive," said Astley shortly. "I am writing to my lawyers, and they will go on with the divorce proceedings at once."

"That won't be of much use," said the doctor's wife with assurance, "since Emmeline or I was with her all the time you were away, besides her own mother. You will have too many witnesses against you to prove anything."

For the first time it flashed through Astley's mind that there was a danger he had not thought of to be considered. Emmeline Finch was not a bad sort of woman; he thought he could take her word. But both Mrs. Wharles and her mother, Mrs. Midsummer, were [illegible] of the most unblushing type, ready to swear to anything, and [illegible]

$100,00 FOR A TITLE

Polish Prince Searching for a Successor Rejects American Youth

London, March 17—A Polish Prince whose name is well known in the United States, has just declined an offer of $100,000 for his title. He is Prince Wisaniewalsi, who has long resided in Paris. The prince is 74 and has no family. He is the last of his line. He does not wish the name and title to become extinct. To keep name and title alive, the prince began negotiating with a youth from St. Paul. The latter's mother offered the prince the sum mentioned for the title. The amount was deemed satisfactory, as Polish princes rarely are rich, but when the prince saw the youth he declined to let him bear the name or title at any price, declaring the hustling St. Pauler was not satisfactory. The prince declined to mention the youth's name. Princess Wisanelwaksi is president of the Woman's Society for Universal Peace.

STOCK MARKETS

Buy the Reading Stocks

New York, March 17—These shares look very good at present in a drooping market. They appear to be inclined to hold their heads up and show every indication of preparing to advance. Some one is most positively absorbing them. Why Saturday they they were quoted at the low prices since the January rise. The buying was largely for long account and predicted on the belief that the statement for February earnings will be the most favorable, not only since the strike, but the best ever issued by the company. The Reading earnings for January showed an increase of over $670,000, following that of over half a million dollars for the month of December. The February gain is likely to come very close to one million dollars even if it don't exceed that sum. There can be no doubt but that the stock is very cheap, and that the interests now in control are endeavoring to buy as much of the minority stock as they can and as cheaply as possible. Coal will never again sell as low as it did prior to the strike A net advance of thirty-five cents per ton above the prices current before the strike will cause Reading to earn six per cent. upon its common stock. They are now getting fifty cents per ton more than they did then. This will leave fifteen cents per ton which can be given to the miners if necessary and leave sufficient advance for the company to place each of its stock issues in the dividend list. We believe that Reading common will sell at par within eighteen months. A margin of five dollars per full share ought to be sufficient to hold the stock at going prices. A margin of 10 per cent. is in our opinion, more than sufficient. No line of business has a better outlook at present than anthracite mining. The Vanderbilts and Pennsylvania people did not buy the control of reading through medium of the Lake Shore and B. & O., without coming pretty close to figuring out that even the common stock could be quickly made a dividend payer. As soon as control was secured they started a campaign of depression in their own property. To depreciate their own assets? Certainly not, but to buy up a good slice of the minority stocks for themselves cheaply before they make the issue more valuable. They are buying now, go with them.

Summary—Today's market was materially stronger. Excellent cumulative buying continued in [illegible]. The stock looks good for a five point advance at least. All the industrials that were actively traded in showed marked indications of being picked up. Railways were more aggressive. Good buying was discernible in Atch Metropolitan, St. Paul, the Wabashes, Mo. Pacific, L. N., the Readings and Pacifics. The short interest in New York Central has been greatly augmented through the strike talk on the New Haven. A sharp rally is likely to occur in this issue at any moment, also in Pennsylvania. Southern Pacific is becoming scarce in the loan crowd. A marked advance is likely in this quarter. Buy on each depression. Realize upon bulges of from 2 to 3 points. Money closed 2 1-2 per cent. Sales [illegible].

An Opportunity

We are offering for public subscription a limited amount of stock of exceptional merit affording an unusual opportunity for a very profitable investment. We desire to be conservative in our representations, but do not hesitate to state that the stocks of the properties we are representing are absolutely certain to rapidly increase in value, and the fortunate purchasers of the stock at the present prices will have more than reason to congratulate themselves for grasping this opportunity.

Success lies in being alive to that which is going on around you, and they who "grasp the skirts of happy chance can breast the blows of circumstance."

We have the disposition of a certain amount of treasury stock in four corporations. We have thoroughly investigated the present value of the properties owned by the Companies, and have full cognition of the immense profits that are awaiting only the further development and equipment of the properties.

We are offering an equal number of shares in each of the four corporations at a price that make the combined issue a most attractive feature, giving also to the purchaser an unusual safe guard on his or her investment; in other words, you are not placing all your eggs in one basket. Or if you prefer you can purchase separately the stocks we offer.

As the money received from the sale of the stock is strictly for the purpose of equipping the properties with the necessary machinery, etc., the time will not be long before handsome dividends are available. We are not asking your subscriptions to pay for the properties; they are already owned by the Companies, and there are no outstanding obligations.

This preliminary notice is to advise the public in general that an opportunity now presents itself for a safe investment of unusual character, embodying also speculative possibilities sufficiently great to make even a small investor a competency within a few years.

You can invest in any amount from Ten Dollars up, and, if so desired, you can have the privilege o paying in installments the amount of stock paid for from time to time being non-forfeitable in the event of your ceasing payments, thus relieving those of small or uncertain income from possibility of loss, should they for any reason become unable to continue payments.

Our business is to aid responsible Companies in the disposal of their treasury stock for the thorough equipment of their properties; we do not and will not handle indiscriminate mining or other stocks under any circumstances. We make a thorough personal examination and investigation as to the merits and possibilities before undertaking to assist in financing any Corporation; the paramount issue with us is to give complete satisfaction and cause much success to our patrons.

We have furnished the publishers of The Times with an outlined description of the Companies we represent, and the names of the Directors of each Company whose stock we offer to their subscribers and friends. We have also furnished The Times with bank references as to our own bonafides and standing. We desire to command the utmost confidence of all subscribers and to retain same along with their friendship for all time; you add afew dollars; we add our experience brains and labor: you increase your riches without effort and increase our power to make you still richer. In ordinary everyday experience a man's expenses nearly equal his income and he has little chance to make a turn for the betterment of his condition. This is anyone's opportunity; you can invest Ten Dollars or One Thousand Dollars on the same basis as one who invests Ten Thousand Dollars. You cannot afford to neglect your opportunities and this is a chance to get in on the ground floor and reap the profits of substantial, quick money making enterprises. Your money need not be tied up for a long time; we know that one of the Companies, at least, will pay handsome dividends this year. It is an easy matter to become rich; just watch for the opportunity and take advantag of it. This is your opportunity; will you grasp it?

The Electric Spark GOLD MINING COMPANY

Offers to investors an opportunity to secure through a purchase of its stock

A monthly income of $50.00

On an investment of $1,000; or a monthly income of $5.00 on an investment of $100.00. This is purely a business proposition. Their is no uncertainty about it; you do not take any chances. We actually have enough ore in sight to keep us working for three or four years, and the more development work we do the more ore there is in sight; the deeper we go the richer it is. Bear in mind, too, that we do not come to the public with an untried experiment. Our shaft is nearing the 200 foot mark, with better values at the bottom than any place nearer the surface. The ore runs in value from $25.00 to $80.00 per ton, by actual carload shipments.

The par value of our stock is $1.00, with only a limited amount of shares to be sold, and this has been placed on the market at the low rate of 20 CENTS PER SHARE. On March 14, the price will be advanced to 30 cents per share, providing any of the original offering remains unsold; therefore we advise all who are interested to send in their applications without a moment's delay, as they will be filled and eventually rejected just in the order received.

Prospectus free on request. Applications should be addressed to and remittance made payable to the order of

Thunder Mountain!

is the richest gold producing camp in the United States, and also the largest. The Thunder Mountain district, in central Idaho, is twenty miles wide and forty miles long. In comparison with this we have Cripple Creek, four miles wide and seven miles long. In many of the Thunder Mountain mines ore has already been reached that carries ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD TO THE TON. All of the Thunder Mountain ore is free milling, which means that it can be treated by the cheapest extraction process known—the ordinary stamp mill. It can be both mined and milled at a cost not to exceed $2 a ton. The past years operations in the several working mines have opened up millions of tons of ore that will give a net profit of from $10 to $30 a ton, enabling the respective companies to pay dividends at a rate never before equalled. Such is the showing and the prospect of the

EAST DEWEY GOLD MINING CO.

which unless all indications are at fault, will become the largest producer in the district. The EAST DEWEY mine, which it owns outright, is located directly on Thunder Mountain, just east of the famous "Dewey" mine, which already has $20,000,000 of ore in sight. The surface area of the East Dewey mine is one hundred and twenty acres—six full quartz claims. The company has also secured the big GOLDEN GATE mine, in the Big Creek section of the Thunder Mountain district—which has been so aptly termed "The Pot of Gold"—and is now developing the mine with all possible speed. For a distance of 9,000 feet, nearly two miles, the Golden Gate mines cover a mineralized ledge that is 900 feet wide, with an average height above the tunnel level of 500 feet, thus giving it the largest exposed tonnage of any mine in the west.

If you would share in the enormous profits which these figures indicate and which these developments promise, invest your money in "East Dewey" Stock. It can be bought to-day for 10 Cents a Share. Its par value is $1.

If the East Dewey mines are what they appear to be, and there is absolutely no reason to doubt or question these indications, this stock will eventually be worth at least $10 a share, and to-day you can buy it for ten cents. PRICE ADVANCES TO FIFTEEN CENTS ON FEBRUARY 28th. 5% discount allowed for cash. Stock sold at flat price of 10 cents on deferred payments, 10% with application, and 10% monthly until paid. Full particulars, prospectus, etc., on request.

MR. DENNISTOUN PRESIDENT

The Annual Meeting of the Peterborough Golf Club

At the annual meeting of the Golf Club, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Hon. President—R. Neill.

President—R. M. Dennistoun.

Captain—Sam Ray.

Sec.-Treasurer—V. McGill.

Green Committee—To be chosen by the Captain and President.

House Committee — Messrs. D. Walker, chairman, A. A. Hollingshead and A. H. Stratton.

Auditors—Messrs. [illegible] and W. H. Cluxton.

Upon motion of Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, seconded by Mr. R. M. Hamilton, it was decided to allow those who were members of the club at one time but who had dropped out last year, to rejoin the club upon the payment of the annual fee without in addition the usual entrance fee. This arrangement is to apply to this year only.

Mr. Craig moved, seconded by Mr. Stratton, a hearty vote of thanks to the ladies in recognition of their energetic services in behalf of the club. The motion was carried most enthusiastically.

WAS REFUSED LIFE INSURANCE

Rejected on Account of "Coffee Heart"

Life insurance companies have fully established the fact that the use of coffee causes an organic derangement of the heart, shortening the long beat, and imperilling life. For this reason habitual coffee drinkers are refused life insurance in many cases. A well known merchant of White's Creek, Tenn., proprietor of a large store there says:—"Three years ago I was examined for life insurance and to my surprise was rejected because my heart action was at times out of place 15 beats in 60.

"I consulted several good doctors, and was invariably asked by them "Do you drink ardent spirits? use tobacco? or drink coffee?" to the first I answered 'Very little' to the second 'No' and to the last 'Yes' and they would all say 'Quit coffee.'

"I determined to do this. I had read about Postum Cereal Coffee, and bought and used it, and I liked it as well as the best of real coffee, and as a result of its use in the place of coffee I find myself without a skip in my heart action and I can get insurance on my life cheaper by 25 per cent. (notwithstanding the advance in age), than I could when I commenced using Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

MR. STRATTON'S POSITION.

A New Election Possible in West Peterborough

Should Mr. Stratton's resignation as Provincial Secretary be accepted by Mr. Ross, and should he be exonerated of complicity in the bribery charges, which is exceedingly probable, he will be obliged to seek re-election should he be required to resume his position as Cabinet Minister.

A minister may change from one department to another without being obliged to go back to his constituency for re-election, but he cannot retire, even for a brief period, from the Cabinet, and return again without re-election to Parliament. This is the rule, from time immemorial.

Should Mr. Stratton decide to withdraw from the Government, pending enquiries into the charges made by Mr. Gamey, and be in a position to again appeal to the electors of West Peterborough for re-election, he will probably be returned by acclamation.

MR. CRESSMAN'S RE-OPENING

It Will Take Place During the First Week of April

The work of repair is proceeding so satisfactorily in the Cressman stores, which were so badly damaged by fire a few weeks ago, that Mr. Cressman expects to open up again about the first week in April.

In the meantime he is visiting the wholesale markets in Toronto, Montreal and New York, and has purchased a superb stock of dry goods and clothing. His stores will be replete with all the novelties of the season, without a dollar's worth of old stock. These goods have been bought for cash, and at "right" prices, so that Mr. Cressman is able to offer genuine bargains.

The premises are being greatly improved, and no doubt will attract wide attention from shoppers. His millinery rooms are superb, being probably the largest and most complete in Canada, outside Montreal and Toronto.

Just a little too far and the woman who reaches over the cliff for the coveted flower goes crashing down into the abyss below. Just a little too far and the woman, who, day by day, neglects to cure the womanly diseases which weaken her is prostrated upon a bed of sickness.

No woman should trifle with the diseases peculiar to her sex. Neglect to-day means a worse condition to-morrow.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a safe and reliable remedy for the cure of diseases peculiarly womanly. It establishes regularity, dries enfeebling drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"My wife, Mrs. Mary Estes, has been taking your medicine and received great benefit from it," writes Mr. Geo. Wm. Estes, of Springgrove, Va. "Was troubled with female weakness, heavy, bearing-down pains, severe pain in back and head, and a tired, worn-out feeling all the time. Tried all the remedies we could hear of, but they did no good. Finally we wrote to you and my wife commenced taking 'Favorite Prescription.' Took ten bottles, and is in better health than before in a long time. We shall always recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to all who are thus afflicted."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

BALKAN SITUATION LOOKS VERY DARK

EUROPE FINDS THE BALKAN SITUATION VERY CLOUDY NOW

London, March 18—Now the situation in the Balkans and Turkey is still so clouded that it is impossible to forecast either the immediate or distant developments. There is still a general expectation of an insurrection in Macedonia, but no indication of any sort as to what the Sultan really intends doing politically or in a military way. Nobody expects for a moment that he will display any qualities of disinterested humanity. On the other hand, when he adopts that role, as in his prompt acceptance of the reform scheme, suspicion of him is everywhere intensified. Europe is therefore simply waiting for him to show his hand, which he will be in no hurry to do.

Some attempts are being made in England to induce the Government to change its policy of abstention from interference in affairs of the Near East. It is urged that there are ample inducements and wide imperial interests in favor of a revival of British prestige in those regions, where it has declined since the opening of the Suez Canal almost to the vanishing point.

An argument is advanced to-day in favor of an Anglo-Turkish alliance, which would undoubtedly create a military combination that would transform the situation not only in the Balkans, but in Persia and the hinterland of Aden. It is politically of course, for the present British Government, which recently aroused against itself domestic unpopularity of amazing strength, to venture on such a measure as an alliance with the unspeakable Turk.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA FOE OF DIVORCES

Her First Reigning Years Witness Many Scandals

THE KING'S CONSORT GRIEVED

The Case of Lady Granville Gordon Excites Her Royal Highness

London, March 19.—The first year of Queen Alexandra's reign socially has been marked by an extraordinary number of scandals in aristocratic society, scandals which were first publicly disclosed in the divorce court. The Queen, like her mother-in-law, the late Queen Victoria, is opposed to divorce, and is frank in her condemnation of those in her set who are compelled, for one reason and another, to make public their domestic infelicities through the divorce court.

The Queen is said to be deeply grieved by the number of scandals in society that have marked the first year of her royal consort's reign. Her Majesty was so shocked by the most recent scandal in high society that she caused the woman in the case to be turned out of society by having her presentation at court cancelled.

The cancellation of Lady Granville Gordon's presentation at court means practically that no person on the court list (and it includes all those "who are who") can invite her to a dinner, a dance, a tea or a reception at their houses. Her social outlawry is complete.

The Queen accepted Lady Granville Gordon's [illegible] in the divorce court in a suit for the custody of her child as sufficient grounds for blacklisting her from society.

The Granville Gordon case shocked society. Its disclosures of the squalid morals of a certain set in society disgusted the "common people" of England, just as it angered the Queen.

Within a year three aristocratic women, members of the fashionable London set who are admitted to the presence of royalty at Buckingham palace receptions, have lost the last shreds of their reputations in the divorce court.

The end is not yet. Before the court adjourns for the summer vacation there will be other cases tried that will blacken the names of other [illegible] women high up in the social scale.

The Queen is is reported to be genuinely grieved at these revelations of the low tone of morality prevailing in the "fast set" of aristocratic English society, and she may have occasion ere long to add other names quite as distinguished socially as Lady Granville Gordon's and divorced Marchioness of Downshire's to her "black list."

One Common Cause of Headache

Perhaps the most general cause of headache and pain across the eyes is nasal catarrh. The simplest cure is to to inhale the medicated vapor of Catarrhozone which traverses every air cell and air passage of the throat, lungs and nose. It kills myriads of germs at every breath, clears away mucous discharges, preserves and heals the membrane. Catarrhozone is just a splendid remedy for headache and its action is certain and unfailing in diseases of the Throat and Lungs, Deafness, Bronchitis, Asthma and Catarrh. CANADIAN PACIFIC AND UNITED STATES

Important Legislation Regarding Exclusion of Chinese

DETENTION STATIONS ARE ESTABLISHED

Uncle Sam Determines to Prevent Chinese from Entering United States

Washington, March 18—The Treasury Department at Washington has entered into an agreement with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, whereby all ports along the Canadian border which heretofore have been open for the admission of Chinese persons are closed, except Richfort, Vt., Malone, N.Y.; Portal, N.D., and Sumas, Wash.

Detention stations will be established by the United States Government for the care and maintenance, as well as the examination of Chinese persons at these places.

The Canadian Pacific Company will quire from all Chinese persons seeking passage on its steamships to the United States, if of the excepted class, the production of certificates, which certificates are issued only to those other than laborers. The company will deliver to the United States Government officers lists of all Chinese persons brought on board its ships to any Canadian port destined to the United States.

The company agrees to provide free of expense to the United States Government, and under the control of the commissioner general of immigration, reasonable maintenance and hospital treatment for all such Chinese persons delivered, pending the final determination of their right to enter the United States.

The United States will provide for the prompt hearing and determination of the right of the Chinese to enter, and in case of its being determined that such persons canot be admitted, the company will assume full liability in the safe transit and deportation of them to the country whence they came. This, of course, will only apply to Chinese brought in by the Canadian Pacific Company. The same provisions will apply to Chinese persons brought into Puget Sound ports and who are there rejected.

The [illegible] looking after Chinese immigration which heretofore has been under the charge of the different United States Customs officers along the line will now be transferred to Mr. Watchorn and his staff. Mr. Robert Watchorn, head of the United States immigration inspection bureau, is at present in Washington arranging for still further augmenting the staff of inspectors along the Canadian and Mexican frontiers.

THE BULGARIAN MONARCH

He is Regarded Everywhere as a Man Without Humanity

London, March 19—Prince Ferdinand, of Bulgaria, who is now in the eye of readers of European cable grams, because of the threatened rising in the Balkans, is the youngest ruler in Europe.

He is forty-two this month. He would much like to change the title of prince to King in order that he may rank with the other rulers of the principal Balkan countries, Roumania and Servia, and also to be freed from the suzerainty of the sultan of Turkey to whom he is obliged to do homage.

The sultan does not like him, either, for he considers the prince a firebrand who may set the Balkans aflame against Turkey some day.

Once the Emperor of Austria declined to grant him an audience, claiming that he was only a felon with whom no decent man could hold converse.

The record of courtiers who have died suddenly after offending Prince Ferdinand is long and suspicious.

He recently pardoned a military crony, who had been condemned to death for the brutal murder of a pretty actress. Prince Ferdinand did not even expel him from court after the facts of his crime were known all.

Prince Ferdinand is the "ugly duckling" of the Southeast.

UNION WILL WATCH TELEPHONE BILL

Ontario and Quebec Executive Have Been Conferring About It

THE BILLS ASKING FRANCHISES

To be Looked After with Care by Guardians of Municipal Rights

Montreal, March 19—"Most of the attention of the Union of Canadian Municipalities, during the present session, will be devoted to the Telephone bill that will again be introduced by the Bell Telephone Company," was the statement made to a Times' representative today by Mr. W. D. Lighthall, honorary secretary-treasurer of the Union, who has been conferring with Quebec and Ontario executives.

"It is certainly one in which all municipalities are interested. In addition the rights of municipalities will be defended in several other instances when the different bills are brought on. This will be particularly the case when bills are presented asking for franchises on the ground that they are for the general advantage of Canada. The executive of the Union is now considering a number of bills in order to decide what action will be taken with regard to them.

"Before the Ontario Legislature the bill of the Niagara Power Company will be most strongly opposed. It is one in which all the municipalities around Toronto and Hamilton are particularly interested and the Ontario executive are anxious to see that none of the rights of municipalities are taken away. Among those who will watch the interests of the municipalities are Mayor Adam Beck, of London; Mayor Urquhart, Toronto; Mayor Joshua Dyke, of Fort William; Mayor Cook, of Ottawa, and ex-Mayor Howland, of Toronto.

"Before the Quebec House the executive for the Province will consider especially the Provincial Municipal Bill. This is the first time that a Provincial executive has looked after the interest of the towns of this province."

Chief Justice Armour and Sir Louis Jette

WILL REPRESENT US ON THE COMMISSION

The Chief Justice of England is the Other Member

Ottawa, March 19—Mr. Justice Armour of the Supreme Court of Canada, and His Honor Sir Louis Jette, Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, have been chosen as members of the Alaskan tribunal. These two gentlemen, with Lord Alverstone, Chief Justice of England, will be the British Jurists. Everyone will admit that Mr. Justice Armour and Sir Louis Jette come well within the category, "impartial jurists of repute," that is called for by the treaty, and as for Lord Alverstone, he stands in the very forefront of the judiciary of the Empire. None of the three have taken the slightest part in the controversy touching the boundary, and their impartiality and strict sense of fairness make them representatives of whom Great Britain and Canada may well be proud.

Sir Louis Jette was born at l'Assomption January 15, 1836. He was called to the bar in 1862. After engaging sometime in journalism, he was elected to the House of Commons in 1872, defeating Sir George E. Cartier. He was appointed Judge of the Superior Court of Quebec in 1878. He afterwards became Dean of the Faculty of Civil Law. On February 2, 1898, he was sworn in as Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Quebec.

Justice Armour of the Supreme Court, was born in May, 1830, near Peterborough, Ont. He was educated in the local schools and at Toronto University. He began the practice of law, in Cobourg. In November, 1877, he was appointed a puisne judge of the Queen's Bench by Hon. Edward Blake. In 1887 he was promoted by Sir John A. Macdonald to presidency of the court. He has declined a Liberal nomination for the House of Commons and also a knighthood.

BENIGHTED PEOPLE IN MINNESOTA

A Section Where a Deplorable Lack of Civilization is Evident

St. Paul, Minn. March 18—The most benighted section of the state of Minnesota from a religious point of view has been found in Crow Wing, Cass, Aitkin, Hubbard, Morrison, and Mille Lacs counties in the north part of the state. In parts of these counties the word of God is comparatively unknown; young men take girls to wife without any ceremony whatever, and the dead are buried without ceremonies or prayers being said over the rough casket.

In a haystack on a farm a few miles west of Brainerd, in Crow Wing county, rests the frozen body of a 2-year-old child and there it will remain until the father finds time to give it burial. In and near the little settlement of Sylan Lake, Crow Wing county, are living several couples for whom no marriage ceremony ever was performed. In a hundred or more graves in various portions of the northern counties repose the bones of men, women and children over whose bodies no prayers were said. Near the little town of Backus, forty miles from Brainerd lives a woman who married ten days after the death of her first husband, whose body she buried without religious ceremony, at her kitchen door.

There are no clergymen in these places. These are a few of the things that have impelled the Minnesota Sunday School Association to put a force of missionary workers in the field.

Montreal, March 17—Mr. Thomas Tait, manager of transportation of the Canadian Pacific has issued a circular in which he says it is necessary for the safe guarding of life to introduce a uniform system for testing the color sense, sight and hearing of the employes connected with the movement and handling of engines and trains. The following standards of sight will be considered as satisfactory for the different classes of employes mentioned. BRITISH GOVERNMENT WOULD WELCOME COLONIAL AID

Unprecedented Rush to Canada

London, March 19—The unprecedented rush of emigrants to Canada is shown in a circular issued to-day by the Allan line to its agents. The circular announces that the five steamers, beginning with the Bavarian, sailing on March 19, are absolutely full, and agents are forbidden to make any fresh bookings. The three subsequent steamers, until the Numidian, sailing on April 30 are very nearly full, and agents are told that they must advise before definitely promising berths. The Beaver steamers also are full until April 12, when the Canadian Pacific assumes control. The Dominion line steamers are also fully booked.

Ottawa, March 19—This tells its own story. Canada's boom is not yet at its zenith. This great and glorious country of ours is only beginning its great career, and its future is now assured.

A GOOD PROPOSITION

The Little Kingdom Mining Company's Property

Canadian Investors have an Opportunity of Taking Up a Proposition of Rare Merit and Exceptional Value

Elsewhere will be found the advertisement of the Little Kingdom Mining Company, whose property is situated in the richest mining district of Colorado. The business offices of the Company is located at 506 Mining Exchange Building, Denver, Colo.

Mr. Frank Ira, the well known industrial writer, says of the property owned by the Little Kingdom Company:

"When a mining property is proven to possess profit paying ores in well defined veins that have been sufficiently prospected to demonstrate their continuity; has locations, the physical geography of which enable economic operation; formations geologically that correspond with the biggest producers of the region; transportation facilities for hauling in necessary supplies and carrying ore and concentrates to mills and smelters; ample timber on the ground for all possible requirements of mining, together with conditions that make possible the highest degree of accomplishment at minimum expense, it certainly merits the confidence of the public. When these conditions are augmented by situation of the property in a district that is recognized by all mining men as the cheapest in which to operate mines in the United States and conservative management, its value is again enhanced. After a careful examination of the surface territory and underground workings of the eight claims comprised in the holdings of the Little Kingdom Mining company of Gilpin county, the writer is convinced that the stockholders of this company own property possessing all of these characteristics.

Much of the early work as well as portion of that done in more recent years has been by leasers and no records exist of the production.

The ore assays from twelve (12) to thirty-nine (39) dollars per ton in gold. Its geographical location renders it a valuable property in itself, which may be expected when developed to greatly enhance the value of the Little Kingdom group.—From the Rocky Mountain Miner, Denver, Colo.

MORE HOUSES NEEDED

Mayor Roger's Timely Remarks at the Council Meeting

His Worship Mayor Roger shewed [illegible] of the interests of the people on Tuesday night, when he called the attention of the Council and the public to the fact that families were leaving town on account of the scarcity of houses. Something should be done to remedy this evil. Men who have money, and who are in a position to build, claim that labor is too expensive, and that strikes and trouble amongst workmen is too frequent to make it a safe venture for the capitalist. This is regrettable true, as it not only holds the town back, but reacts on the workingman. The only outcome will be that rents will soar still higher, and this may induce the men with the cash to build. A few philanthrophists like Mr. John Carlisle, who has erected scores of homes for the workingman, are badly needed in Peterborough just now.

The following were elected to act as a Committee of Management—Messrs. R. Dobbin, W. Ackerman and C. Blomfield.

GRAND ORANGE LODGE

OF EASTERN ONTARIO MET IN SONS OF ENGLAND HALL YESTERDAY

About 200 Delegates in Attendance—Business Transacted—Committees Appointed

The Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East met in the Sons of England Hall yesterday, there being about 200 delegates present. The business for the day was principally confined to routine work, such as the appointment of committees and receiving the reports.

The Grand Master's address was one of great encouragement, and augured well for the Order throughout the whole Dominion; it was full of information from beginning to end, and the Times would have been glad to publish it in full, but for the fact that it was referred to the Press committee for consideration, when it will be returned to the Grand Lodge at to-day's session before it can go to the press for publication.

The Secretary's report was read with very much interest, and referred in felicitious terms to the prosperity and progress of the Order.

The Treasurer reported the finances of the Grand Lodge to be in a satisfactory condition, and having sufficient capital on hand to meet all the demands made upon the institution. His report was comprehensive, clear and satisfactory to an eminent degree to all present.

The appointment of committees was then proceeded with, viz., Credentials, Correspondence, Finance, Suspension and Appeals, after which the Rev. Mr. Coburn—a blind gentleman from Toronto, who seemed to be possessed of sufficient knowledge concerning the Order to interest the large delegation for a short time, to the great delight and edification of every one present. Adjournment was made early in the afternoon so as to enable the different committees to prepare their reports for to-day's session. It is expected that the business of the Lodge will be completed on Friday morning.

A more lengthy detailed report will be in to-morrow's Times.

After Fifteen Months of Agonies and Sufferings Mrs. Allenton is Cured by Paine's Celery Compound

The Life-Saving Medicine is the Trusted Spring Remedy in Millions of Homes Throughout the World

From time to time adventurers and speculators without conscience or soul, actuated only with a desire to make money easily and fast resort to the compounding of worthless and dangerous preparations, and advertise them as cures for the common diseases that afflict men and women in springtime. Would to Heaven that the cry of danger! danger! could be sounded in the ears of all who unthinkingly buy and use such deceptions and frauds.

Fortunately, honest druggists despise such worthless remedies and refuse to sell them. They will tell you with candor that Paine's Celery Compound is the spring medicine they can recommend. They know its composition, are acquainted with the facts of marvellous cures affected by it, and have seen its happy results amongst their own personal friends.

Can you, reader, hesitate to try this disease-curing medicine? It has restored to health and the full enjoyment of life tens of thousands whom the doctors were unable to cure. Mrs. G. W. Allenton, St. John, N.B, gratefully writes as follows:

"Liver complaint and Stomach troubles caused me agonies and continued sufferings for fifteen months. The doctors did little for me so far as relief was concerned. I became despondent and low spirited and thought my end was approaching. I read of your Paine's Celery Compound, and thought I would try it. The first bottle did so much for me that I kept on using the compound till better. After paying for and using six bottles I am in excellent health and gaining in flesh every week. Paine's Celery Compound for the future will be my family medicine."

Boys and Girls for Canada

London, March 19—The State Children's Association is issuing circulars all over the country to guardians, encouraging them to send normally healthy boys and girls to Canada as the best thing for the children and the Empire. The circular states this can be done at the smallest outlay to the British rate-payers—namely, at £18 per child.

Eor the Navy, but It Must be Voluntary

HAVE NO DESIRE TO COERCE COLONIES

Shaughnessy on the Fast Line Subsidy

London, March 18.—Last night's debate in the House of Commons, especially Arnold Foster's speech on behalf on the Ministry, is accepted as positive evidence that the British Government has no desire or intention to put the smallest pressure upon the colonies to make money contributions to the navy. Radical and Tory speakers alike agreed that this would be futile, and most impolitic. Whatever colonies voluntarily contribute will be heartily welcomed, but no pressure would be attempted. Nevertheless, great weight is attached to Arnold Foster's solemn warning that if Canada, and the other colonies by persistent apathy left Britain as the sole defender of British interests throughout the world, there would be serious danger of a reaction in this country, and a growth of a feeling that it would be impossible to bear the burden of Empire longer. If the reaction came there would be serious danger not only to England, but to the colonies.

The Standard, a Ministerialist organ, says the debate will receive very earnest attention wherever societies of Englishmen enjoy the protection of the British flag.

The Chronicle, Liberal organ, urges the Government to encourage co-operation by founding colonial branches of the Royal Naval reserve in other places than Newfoundland. Mr. Chamberlain heartily approves of of the Mother Country treating the colonies as partners in the Empire, not dependencies paying tribute.

London, March 18.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, when interviewed, said it was absurd in these days for the Canadian Government to talk of giving a ten years' subsidy for a 16-knots service. He would be sorry to see Canada bound for such a length of time.

THE GRAND BLACK CHAPTER

Annual Council Concluded Their Business Yesterday

Downie street, from McDonel to Lon-

The 27th Annual Council of the Black Knights of Ireland concluded business yesterday morning.

The number of delegates in attendance was the largest in the history of the Grand Chapter and the interest of the proceedings corresponded.

The Grand Master, A. W. Gray, presided.

An address of welcome on behalf of the local brethren was read on Tuesday by Sir Knight W. H. G. Armstrong, and eloquently replied to on behalf of the visiting Sir Knights, by Sir Knight Rev. [illegible], Grand Chaplain.

The reports of the Grand Master, the Grand Secretary and the Grand Treasurer, furnished very satisfactory evidence of the favourable condition of the affairs of the Chapter.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Deputy Grand Master—Lt.-Col. J. E. Halliwell, Stirling.
Junior Deputy Grand Master—Major J. R. Orr, Madoc.

Deputy Grand Lecturer — W. H. Cook, Foxboro.

The installation of officers by the Past Grand Master brought the proceedings of a very successful Council of the Royal Black Chapter to a close.

A CONTRACT LET

Mr. Sheehy Gets Job of Building Stone Piers

The committee on roads and bridges, for the County of Peterborough, met in Councillor Peck's office yesterday afternoon to open tenders for the construction of stone piers and approaches to a bridge to be built over the Indian River, in the Township of Dummer, nearly opposite Nathan Payne's gate. There were four tenders for the work. That of Mr. Richard Sheehy was found to be the lowest, and consequently he was awarded the contract. The other contractors who bid for this job were: John Hays, R. Smith and Hy. Evans.

The necessary papers are being prepared by Mr. R. M. Dennistoun, and when complete will be signed by Warden Crow and Mr. Sheehy. A small cash deposit is required by the county, and arrangements are complete. Work will be commenced at once as Mr. Sheehy believes in doing his work at once and doing it well.

PRUSSIA'S POLISH PROBLEM

Prussia's Polish problem, which Count von Bulow has called the most important question in Prussian home politics, doesn't show any signs of becoming less important. In the last census 3,395,749 persons of Polish or kindred stock were enumerated, as against 2,922,475 on December 1, 1900. The Polish population, therefore, increased by 338,274 in ten years. The number of persons who spoke Polish as their mother tongue was 3,063,490 as against 2,705,101 in 1900. The proportion of Poles to the population decreased from 9.23 per cent. in 1890 to 8.89 per cent. in 1900. On the other hand, the number of persons who spoke both German and Polish in- [illegible] censuses to 161,221 in the latter. Only the agricultural provinces of East and West Prussia show a decrease of the Polish in proportion to the total population, while in Silesia, one of the seats of the mining industry, the proportion has risen from 24.95 to 25.22 and in the industrial province of Westphalia from 1 per cent. to 3.16 per cent. The old division of the Poles into the three classes of nobles, priests and country folk, is gradually disappearing, and the Polish influence has been greatly strengthened by the rise of a flourishing commercial class in the towns. The agricultural laborer of Polish nationality [illegible] a miner or an industrial workman. As a Pole is generally a Roman Catholic, there has been in some places an accession to the Clerical Centre, but this is counterbalanced by the rise of a national Polish party of Radical tendencies in Upper Silesia.

A HOPELESS TASK

The New York Herald refers as follows to the American invasion of the Canadian Northwest:

It is easy to understand that with this vast increase of wealth and development of resources without corresponding increase of population it will be but a summer's day task for enough Americans to move over the boundary line from our own great Northwest to capture the country—to take possession of it legally, both for citizenship and for annexation, as all good citizens have a right to do, and to make it a part of the American union, corralling the vast gold, silver, copper and magnetic iron deposits, with all the fisheries, timber lands and invaluable wheat growing districts of Canada West.

For this to be at all possible it would require a population of Americans equal to that of patriotic Canadians, or say an immigration of five million people. Now, the population of the United States, exclusive of foreign born Americans and negroes is roughly 56,000,000 souls. Of these fifty-six millions there are probably at least twenty millions whose fathers and mothers were foreign-born. Of the remaining thirty-six millions only descendants of Irish immigrants and the birth rate among descendants of New England puritans are consumed with this devourish fury of Americanism. It is a notorious fact that the New England puritans is low, and that where the Irish birth-rate is high they mostly congregate in cities. However, let us suppose there are, out of the thirty-six millions of really indigenous Americans, twenty millions of rabid Americans desirous of absorbing Canada, and that all these are available, it would require an emigration of twenty-five per cent. of them before they would have an even chance of accomplishing their full purpose. The United States cannot spare them, even if Canada could handle them, as we rather think Canada could at a pinch. However, we are not getting them. The immigrants we are getting are largely solid farmers of Germanic origin, who will make quite as good British subjects as they have made American citizens.

THE POOR AND INSANE

Toronto has done some good by the demonstration it has made on one question—the committal to jail of persons who are simple and senile and not insane and criminal.

The heartlessness of some people passes comprehension. They may consider that the improvidence of friends is beyond excuse, and that they are not called upon, legally, to make sacrifices in their behalf, and yet they should not permit these unfortunate persons to be sent to jail when, with a little help, they can get the protection they require in a house of refuge.

The statement of Dr. Chamberlain, the inspector of prisons and asylums, at the conference of civic representatives, and members of the government was startling. It was in effect that forty per cent. of the people sent to the asylums of the Province were not insane! What are they? Simple minded and infirm people for whom relatives and friends have no use and no appetite.

New legislation is under consideration, and it will not come too soon if the scandal which these facts suggests is not to remain. The restraints must be increased so that none but the absolutely insane can be committed to asylums and detained there. The poor, the helpless, the infirm, the abandoned, must be sent to the refuge which all the municipalities are required to provide.

After all, Manitoulin does not seem to be the whole politics of Mr. Gamey.

EGYPTIAN MUMMY FOUND IN AN ATTIC

Had Been Lying in an Unopened Box for Nearly Fifty Years

New Haven, Conn., March 17—In overhauling a number of dust-covered boxes in the attic of the Peabody Museum at Yale, Dr. MacCurdy, curator of the anthropological collection came across an unopened box several days ago that proved to be one of the most interesting finds at Yale in recent years. In this box, beneath an inch of peculiar yellow dust, was found a well-preserved mummy of an Egyptian child, wrapped in costly mummy cloth, with the usual death mask tied down over the face as was customary with rich families.

With the child was the mummified hand of an Egyptian woman of rank, and also the body of some small animal, possibly a cat, dog or parrot, the pet of the mummy child when in life. This was a custom among the higher classes of the ancient Egyptians, it being believed that animals having souls [illegible] lasting happiness.

The finding of these mummies was a great surprise to the Peabody Museum authorities, as all record of the gift had been lost. On the box in which they were found was printed. "From the Rev. Lyman Coleman. 1856." so that the box had not been opened for nearly half a century. Mr. Coleman graduated from Yale in 1817. The box had been received with much other material and stored for future opening and had finally found its way to the attic of the Museum, where it might have remained for another half century had not search been made near it for other relics.

Splitting Headaches

CAN BE STOPPED AND THE CONDITIONS WHICH CAUSE THEM CURED BY FERROZONE

Poisons accumulate in the blood and spread with it every movement to all parts of the body. The brain becomes congested, the nerves irritated, and the result is that awful headache so well known to the female sex.

Most of these poisons are absorbed into the blood from the waste matter that has accumulated in the intestines resulting from indigestion. Matter which should be promptly passed from the system through natural channels.

Ferrozone cleanses the entire intestinal tract, and the liver and kidneys as well. It cures constipation and its many attendant evils. It makes the body strong and the blood pure, induces natural sleep and enables one to eat and drink anything at any time without risk of headache, nervousness or skin eruptions.

Ferrozone is nature's own remedy for headaches. It is a lasting potent tonic and the greatest health maker the world has ever seen. It masters all female derangements, and restores weak, sickly women to a healthy vigorous condition of mind and body.

No other remedy so effectually meets the requirements of a health giving tonic and regulator as Ferrozone. Every woman and growing girl can derive marvellous benefit from its regular use, and if you suffer from Chlorosis, Anaemia, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Poor Appetite, Nervousness or female disorders of any kind, you can make no mistake in selecting Ferrozone for a cure.

Every reliable druggist recommends and sells Ferrozone for 50 cents a box. Be sure you get the genuine article, and refuse a substitute. Remember the name and insist on only Ferrozone. Sent to your address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

A BRIGHT ERA DAWNING FOR ERIN

The Irish Land Question Likely to be Finally Settled

WILL SING "GOD SAVE THE KING"

The Irish Leaders are Very Hopeful of the Future—Mr Redmond's Great Speech

London, March 18.—Mr. John Redmond candidly admits that the present attitude of the Nationalist party in Parliament is due to the prospect of the enactment of an exceptionally generous measure for the settlement of the Irish land question. Speaking at a great Nationalist demonstration at Liverpool yesterday, he said it was quite true that for the moment the Irish members of Parliament put great trust in Mr. Wyndham's land bill, but he pointedly added that the word has been passed down the ranks, "Keep your powder dry."

The Irish leader is, however, very sanguine. He does not expect that the bill will act like a magic wand, and at once transfer Ireland into a paradise of contentment and wealth. The settlement of the land problem would not mean the settlement of the whole Irish question, but it would lay the broad and sure foundation towards that end, and Mr. Redmond makes no secret of his belief that Britain will not miss the greatest opportunity she ever had of bringing peace and prosperity to Ireland and gaining the latter's friendship.

Mr. Redmond wound up his speech yesterday with the warning. If, he said, the British Government dashed the hopes which had been raised, Mr. Wyndham would have to leave Ireland. The government of that country by Britain under the present methods had become practically impossible, for with Catholic and Protestant, poor and peasant, united, they had a new Ireland, which would be as a unit in opposition to the continuance of British rule.

JAPAN AND CANADA

No Restrictive Legislation Likely to be Adopted

Ottawa, March 16.—Hon. Mr. Nosse, Consul-General for Japan, had an interview with Sir Wilfrid Laurier Saturday. Afterwards, Mr. Nosse stated that he felt satisfied there would be no restrictive legislation against the Japanese.

"The Japanese Government is doing its best to stop emigration from Japan with complete success," said Mr. Nosse. "Moreover, Japan is an ally of Great Britain, and would feel humiliated if exposed to the same treatment as the Chinese. The Chinese who come to this country are common laborers or coolies. They are sent out under contract for seven to ten years by the Woo Kung Soo or Five Companies of Canton. The agents of this company induce them to sign the contract and to emigrate by painting the United States and Canada as an earthly paradise, where gold may be picked up on the streets. They are shipped like a lot of cattle and are virtually slaves until the period of contract expires. The Five Companies have agents in all large centers of Canada, who see that the contract is carried out. The unfortunate Chinese have to repay the value of the clothes which were given to them on starting, the cost of their transportation, and food en route, and the amount of the capitation tax paid to the Canadian Government. In addition, they have to hand over a certain percentage of their earnings to the Five Companies and its agent. The $500 capitation tax will be paid by the Five Companies, but will ultimately come out of the immigrant.

DOURO.

—"The roads are in very bad condition," says Mr. C. Snider, the popular young tailor of the firm of Gough Bros, who paid a flying visit amongst his friends here on Sunday last. He first called on Mr. M. Ryan, then on Mr P. Ryan, dropping in to see Mr. Maloney, also Mr. Jas. Leahy and Geo. Brook, Mr. Martin Leahy, then down the line to see Mr. John Leahy, Mich. Leahy; then [illegible] road and said he had a call or two more to make before he got home. You may be sure they were all glad to see him. Now he says this was all done inside of about four hours. Can anyone beat that?

SOME STARTLING FACTS

Regarding a Wonderful Discovery by the Famous Dr. Clarke.

To the Editor of The Times—

Sir,—With a view to afford relief to the afflicted, I ask you to publish the following: I am 81 years old and for 9 years have done absolutely nothing, owing to rheumatism; my hands, feet and heart being affected. I was induced by my cousin to take Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills, and before I had taken 4 boxes I could go upstairs without help, and can now go up the stairs as well as I ever could. Two doctors told me that I never would be well again; but I have neither ache nor pain and am in perfect health.

—I was troubled with rheumatism for 23 years, and could get absolutely no relief from the doctors. Six boxes Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills entirely cured me. God bless Dr. Clarke. (REV.) S. HUMMITT, Winnipeg, Man.

—John Williams, of the C.P.R. Works, Toronto, was cured of chronic rheumatism, after taking 10 boxes Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills are a positive and certain cure for rheumatism, asthma, paralysis, coughs, lame back, indigestion, all stomach and liver troubles, female complaints, even when the diseases have been standing for many years; the most stubborn cases will yield. Well Number One is now down to a depth of 700 feet, with its 11 5-8 casing. The formations being encountered are identical with that of the Chanslor and Canfield big wells, adjoining us to the west. We publish a printed report giving the formations being encountered, the number of feet drilled each day. We mail these and other interesting literature upon request.

The following exhibit shows the revenue that this corporation is capable of earning, figured upon a conservative basis of a 200 barrel per well production at 35 cents a barrel at the well, though present consumption of oil for fuel in California is nearing the point of production, which will insure a price of 75 cents a barrel before long

Daily production of one well, 200 barrels, at 35 cents, $70.00—monthly production of one well, 6000 barrels, at 35 cents, $2,100.00—yearly production of one well, 72,000 barrels, at 35 cents, $25,200 00—yearly production of ten wells, 720,000 barrels, at 35 cents, $252,000 00. Deducting $27,000 for operating expenses from gross total of $252,000 will give a net income of $225,000, and this amount, divided by the number of shares which the corporation will issue, guarantees that a dividend of 90 cents a share, or $90.00 for every one hundred shares owned by stockholders, can be paid from production from only ten wells, and when you stop and further calculate that ten wells is the number placed to the acre, where, then, will your stock bound to in value?

STOCK MARKETS

LOW ENOUGH TO LOOK ATTRACTIVE.

New York, March 18—Stocks have had a tremendous drop. Sentiment in many monetary quarters is veering to the bull side of the account. The Keene interests have turned to the side of bull of the Pacifics, the John Loeb interests have placed large supporting orders in Union Pacific and have absorbed considerable stock within the past ten days. Do you notice how sharply Southern Pacific recovers each time the market strengthens? Much stock has evidently been taken out of the market. Its action clearly indicates this to be a fact. [illegible] different proposition purchasing Southern Pacific around 60 and Union Pacific around 90. To purchase them around 80 and 112 respectively to sell them short at going prices in our opinion is exceedingly dangerous. To buy them will be to be in line for profit making when the market turns as it certainly must do. The standard gilt-edged dividend stocks are all lower than they have been for a long time. This class of securities always returns to its previous high prices, usually exceeding them upon each bull wave. That is the history of this class of stocks in a growing, progressive country like ours, they are always appreciating in intrinsic values, never depreciating. Declines in this class of stocks are simply setbacks with the current market, nothing more. The medium priced issues are all down to points where they are not only attractive bargains, but unusually safe to buy. Such stocks do not decline or advance as many dollars per share in a market movement as do their higher priced contemporaries. It is a well established precedent that it is unusually safe to purchase such issues when the higher-priced stocks are down from 15 to 20 points as they are at present. Should the bigger issues go a bit lower, the medium priced shares simply become dormant and droopy but suffer no great fall. Margin and minimum one accompanied by patience, will bring about the desired results if you will purchase this class of stock at present. We deem the present time a good one to take on a few stocks. It is better to buy into a depressed market after it has suffered a severe fall than to buy into an active buoyant market, after an extended advance. The opportunity to do so is with us at present.

Summary—The market is picking up improvement is most perceptible and buying becoming more urgent and aggressive. We will have numerous set backs, but the trend is again upwards, consequently stocks should be bought upon each and every small concession. If sold on the bulges, as advised this past few days in these letters, buy back upon the reactions. If they go higher after closing long stocks buy back when you can do so near your selling price. Sugar led the industrials with a spirited advance. They will all, without exception, go higher. The railways advanced sharply with St. Paul, Manhattan, B. & O., Reading, T. C. I and Southern Pacific in the van. The latter advanced nearly five points. New York Central and Pennsylvania turned on the shorts sharply. The market is again working in an upward direction but as we said before, is likely to react from time to time quite sharply. Money closed 6 per cent. Sales 597,700.

THE KAISER'S VISIT IS VERY OBTRUSIVE

The People of Denmark Will Resent His Presence There

CUMBERLAND IS STUBBORN

Declares That He Will Never Renounce His Right to Kingdom of Hanover

Copenhagen, March 18—King Christian having been informed in the Kaiser's own handwriting that the Emperor would like to meet the Duke of Cumberland on neutral ground, with a view to reconciliation, approached His Grace on the subject of a personal interview. The Duke of Cumberland received the Kaiser's overtures with the utmost indignation.

In the course of a heated argument he also revealed that he had sworn to his father, when the old Duke was on his death bed, that he would never renounce his right to the Kingdom of Hanover, and in turn intended to exact a similar oath from his eldest son, who should also pledge himself to require his eldest son to pass the oath down the line of the Cumberland progeny.

This disclosure came after King Christian had intimated to the Duke of Cumberland the bargain whereby his daughter would ascend to the throne of the German Empire and he himself receive the Duchy of Brunswick.

The Duke's revelation caused King Christian to reply to the Kaiser without touching on the Cumberland question.

Considerable comment has been evoked throughout Denmark by the Duke of Cumberland's decision not to meet the Kaiser. The people approve the decision and regard the Kaiser's visit as ill-timed and obtrusive, since it will drive away the King's daughter and son-in-law from His Majesty's eighty-fifth birthday fetes.

The Electric Spark GOLD MINING COMPANY

Offers to investors an opportunity to secure through a purchase of its stock

A monthly income of $50.00

On an investment of $1,000; or a monthly income of $5.00 on an investment of $100.00. This is purely a business proposition. Their is no uncertainty about it; you do not take any chances. We actually have enough ore in sight to keep us working for three or four years, and the more development work we do the more ore there is in sight; the deeper we go the richer it is. Bear in mind, too, that we do not come to the public with an untried experiment. Our shaft is nearing the 200 foot mark, with better values at the bottom than any place nearer the surface. The ore runs in value from $25.00 to $86 80 per ton, by actual carload shipments.

The par value of our stock is $1.00, with only a limited amount of shares to be sold, and this has been placed on the market at the low rate of 20 CENTS PER SHARE. On March 14, the price will be advanced to 30 cents per share, providing any of the original offering remains unsold; therefore we advise all who are interested to send in their applications without a moment's delay, as they will be filled and eventually rejected just in the order received.

Prospectus free on request. Applications should be addressed to and remittance made payable to the order of

Thunder Mountain!

is the richest gold producing camp in the United States, and also the largest. The Thunder Mountain district, in central Idaho, is twenty miles wide and forty miles long. In comparison with this we have Cripple Creek, four miles wide and seven miles long. In many of the Thunder Mountain mines ore has already been reached that carries ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD TO THE TON. All of the Thunder Mountain ore is free milling, which means that it can be treated by the cheapest extraction process known—the ordinary stamp mill. It can be both mined and milled at a cost not to exceed $2 a ton. The past years operations in the several working mines have opened up millions of tons of ore that will give a net profit of from $10 to $50 a ton, enabling the respective companies to pay dividends at a rate never before equalled. Such is the showing and the prospect of the

EAST DEWEY GOLD MINING CO.

which unless all indications are at fault, will become the largest producer in the district. The EAST DEWEY mine, which it owns outright, is located directly on Thunder Mountain, just east of the famous "Dewey" mine, which already has $20,000,000 of ore in sight. The surface area of the East Dewey mine is one hundred and twenty acres—six full quartz claims. The company has also secured the big GOLDEN GATE mine, in the Big Creek section of the Thunder Mountain district—which has been so aptly termed "The Pot of Gold"—and is now developing the mine with all possible speed. For a distance of 9,000 feet, nearly two miles, the Golden Gate mines cover a mineralized ledge that is 900 feet wide, with an average height above the tunnel level of 500 feet, thus giving it the largest exposed tonnage of any mine in the west.

If you would share in the enormous profits which these figures indicate and which these developments promise, invest your money in "East Dewey" Stock. It can be bought to-day for 10 Cents a Share. Its par value is $1.

If the East Dewey mines are what they appear to be, and there is absolutely no reason to doubt or question these indications, this stock will eventually be worth at least $10 a share, and to-day you can buy it for ten cents. PRICE ADVANCES TO FIFTEEN CENTS ON FEBRUARY 28th. 5% discount allowed for cash. Stock sold at flat price of 10 cents on deferred payments, 10% with application, and 10% monthly until paid. Full particulars, prospectus, etc., on request.

BRONCHITIS

Catarrhozone cures Bronchitis of three years' standing after four Doctors Failed

A Remarkable Case

"I feel it my duty," writes Mrs. Boyd, of Lammasville, N.B., "to let you know that I have been cured of bronchitis of three months' standing by Catarrhozone.

"With the least change in temperature or exposure to inclement weather, I was attacked with bronchial discomfort, wheezing in the chest, hoarseness, sore throat, partial loss of voice, and stuffiness of the head. I consulted four doctors and was treated by them all without any benefit.

"Catarrhozone was strongly recommended to me by several persons whom it had benefited, and I was induced to give it a good trial."

"It quickly relieved my difficult breathing, so I got the complete outfit, hard rubber inhaler, etc., and I began systematically this Catarrhozone treatment.

"In a few days the huskiness and hoarseness disappeared, and my voice became stronger. The running of the nose, and 'stuffiness of the head,' feverishness, difficult breathing, were all done away with before I had been using Catarrhozone very long.

"About six weeks' treatment was sufficient to do more for me than four doctors failed to do in three years' time. It cured me and I don't believe there is another such a remedy on earth. Its action is speedy, pleasant and permanent."

Catarrhozone is a new, scientific treatment, and is guaranteed to cure Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, Cold, etc., or money refunded. It contains nothing injurious and can be used by the infant as well as by the adult.

It is both a local and a constitutional remedy. The inhaler supplies abundance of medicated air, which spreads through all the air passages, killing germ life, and healing sore spots as it goes.

The impurities in the blood are driven off by Ferrozone tablets which strengthen and build up the system to such a healthy condition that disease simply can't exist.

Catarrhozone is recommended by doctors and druggists for all respiratory diseases. It relieves quickly and cures permanently. Complete outfit costs $1.00; trial size 25c. At Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Buy Catarrhozone to-day.

A Correction

In our issue of Tuesday we were in error in stating that the delegates in connection with the annual meeting of the Orange Grand Lodge of Eastern Ontario, which met here yesterday, would be distributed amongst the hotels of the town by County Master McWilliams. Mr. McWilliams assumes no responsibility in this regard. He simply sent to each lodge a list of the hotels and their rates, so that their delegates would be able to select, for themselves their stopping place while in Peterborough.

CONCERT AT LAKEFIELD

A Successful Entertainment in the Village on Tuesday Evening

A very successful concert was given under the auspices of the Methodist Sunday school orchestra, of Lakefield, on Tuesday evening last, in that village.

Prof. Wildgust, organist of St. Paul's church, Peterborough, assisted, and was repeatedly encored, rendering no less than six vocal numbers. His talent as a vocalist is being appreciated, and greatly admired.

The following local talent contributed: Miss M. Fitzgerald, Miss Lightfoot, Miss Cox, Mrs. J. H. Sharin, Miss Bichell, Rev. T. W. Leggott, Messrs. J. H. Sharin, A. Higgins, G. Payne, W. Madill, — Horton.

The fancy drill by twelve young ladies captured the audience, and received enthusiastic applause.

The entertainment concluded with the singing of the National Anthem.

Sewer Construction

The Council propose to do considerable sewer construction this season. Tenders will be asked for the following work: On Hunter street, from Aylmer to Stewart street; on McDonel street, from Aylmer to Downie street; on Reid street, from McDonel to London street, and on Downie street, from McDonel to London street. This will afford employment to laboring men during the summer months.

FOOD LESSONS

What Proper Food will Do

"It was but a few months ago that I learned how to feed myself right," said a man from Washington, Ill. "Then I was but a part of what I am now. I was greatly troubled with my stomach, my muscles were weak and flabby, and I was completely tired out, faint and dizzy after a day's work.

I commenced using Grape-Nuts and in a short time noticed a marked change. The food gave just the kind of nourishment I needed, and agreed with my stomach so well that I soon forgot I had one. I gained rapidly in strength, my brain became clear, and the worn-out feeling at night entirely disappeared. Now I am in the best of health and weigh 150 pounds, which is more than I ever weighed before.

I induced the son of a friend to use Grape-Nuts; he was sick and weakly, caused mostly by indigestion and other troubles arising from a bad stomach. He then weighed 125 pounds; in a few weeks after using Grape-Nuts daily, he was so greatly improved that he entered the field-day contests and acquitted himself splendidly. He kept gradually increasing in weight until now he weighs 148 pounds, all hard muscle, and is playing on the local foot-ball team, a thing that a year ago anyone would have laughed at.

If half the people who have weak stomachs or are about half well, stop eating poorly-cooked food, and use Grape-Nuts instead they would not only save money, but would soon be as healthy as the best. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

NAMES OF COMMISSION LAID BEFORE THE HOUSE

The instructions to, and the names of the commission, Chief Justices Falconbridge and Boyd, to investigate the Gamey charges against Mr. Stratton were laid before the House by Premier Ross yesterday. Much praise is being meted out to the Premier for the prompt action he has taken to have the charges investigated.

PROVINCIAL SECRETARY WILL NOT RETIRE.

Hon. Mr. Ross Says That He will Remain in Office

Toronto, March 18.—Hon. Mr. Ross has decided not to accept the resignation of Hon. Mr. Stratton, Provincial Secretary, giving as a reason that there is no constitutional or public reason why he should do so, as the accused Minister has denied the charges positively, and claims that he can vindicate himself fully before the commission. The Premier says that the refusal of the Opposition to give up the papers containing Mr. Gamey's charges, show their dread of the investigation, and strengthens the position of the Minister and the Government.

The Government will endeavor to show that Gamey made all the advances and was accorded only such treatment and privileges as would be given any member of the Government.

Mr. Burnham's Shock

Mr. J. H. Burnham has written to the Council stating that a blast at the Cereal Company's dam a few days ago shook his dwelling so severely that he feared permanent injury thereto. We fear Mr. Burnham is laboring under a misapprehension regarding the cause of the commotion. This great family journal also felt a similar shock, and at first concluded it was an earthquake, but subsequently found that it was the result of the Gamey explosion in Toronto. The g.f.j. makes this explanation in justice to the Cereal Company, who are thus entirely blameless.

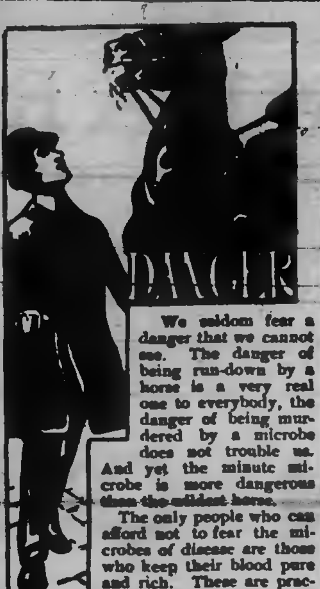
—The Times had a pleasant call yesterday from our friend Mr. Thomas Roberts, Fenelon Falls, who is here attending the sitting of the Orange Grand Lodge. Mr. Roberts has been a life-long member of the Orange Order, and has held many high offices during the past half century.



We seldom fear a danger that we cannot see. The danger of being run-down by a horse is a very real one to everybody, the danger of being murdered by a microbe does not trouble us. And yet the minute microbe is more dangerous than the wildest horse.

The only people who can afford not to fear the microbes of disease are those who keep their blood pure and rich. These are practically immune from the attacks of most microbes.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies and enriches the blood, and gives the body a vigorous vitality. It cures scrofula, eczema, boils, pimples and other eruptive diseases which are caused by impure blood.

"I had been troubled for about four years with eczema, or a skin disease, which at times was almost unbearable as it would itch so," writes Mr. John Larison, of 115 Powhattan St., Dallas, Texas. "I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and after using five bottles found that I was entirely cured. Please accept many thanks."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the blood.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation and its consequences.

GREAT BRITAIN TO HOLD ROCK OF GIBRALTAR

Thirty Millions More to be Added to the Burden of the Empire

ENGLAND TAKING NO CHANCES OF LOSING

London, March 19.—There have been reports from time to time for half a century that Great Britain might retire from Gibraltar, either to please Spain, or because, as some now allege, the rock is no longer of much practical naval use, or even able to resist modern attack. Needless to say, most who have talked so are are usually people with some peculiar mental twist, for no Imperial Government has ever shown the slightest idea of neglecting Gibraltar, and any government that did so could hardly remain in power.

Contrary to any notion that Gibraltar may be dropped some day or other there has been a rigorous row going on for some years about the best way to improve the harbor as a naval base.

Three years ago a commission was appointed to consider whether new harbor works should be undertaken, and if so, whether the east or west side of the rock was best.

The report favored the west and big graving docks were started and are now in process of construction. A member of the commission Mr. Gibson Bowles, M.P., however, resigned. He urged that graving docks now being constructed on the western side, facing Spanish territory should not be continued, as they could be controlled by an enemy's fire from the Spanish mainland. The Admiralty defended the works on the western side, and the commission of inquiry after a compromise, modified its report adversely to Mr. Bowles and his eastern scheme.

In June, 1901, a debate was raised in the House of Commons, Mr. Bowles moving the adjournment on the modification of the report. Mr. Balfour censured Mr. Bowles for forcing a discussion before the Government had had time to come to a decision, but in his motion Mr. Bowles secured the support of 157 members against the government's of 216.

Another commission was appointed and as the London Express says (Feb. 23) "Mr. Gibson Bowles has scored."

Capt. T. H. Tizard and Mr. William Shield, commissioners appointed by the Admiralty to consider the feasibility of constructing a harbor and dock eastward of the rock of Gibraltar, have just issued their report to the Admiralty.

They find that the scheme is feasible and they propose the following works:

1.—A main or outer breakwater, 11,000 feet long, (over two miles) with a spur 300 feet long projecting on the leeward side at a point 1,000 feet from its southern termination.

2.—A southern breakwater 1,800 feet in length.

3.—A graving dock 700 feet long, with an entrance 95 feet wide and a depth over the sill of 38 feet at low water.

4.—Quays and quay walls to the southward of the proposed dock.

5.—A tunnel through the spur of rock which juts out between the Monkey Cave and Monkey's Alameda.

6.—The enlargement of the existing tunnel.

7.—Additional workshops, sheds, dwellings, water supply and other accessories.

Double lines of railways would run along the entire length of the breakwaters, which, being connected with the shore, would be well adapted for the coaling of vessels and the shipment of stores. The quay space provided would be twenty-four acres and the whole of the docks owing to their position in relation to the harbor entrance, would be safe from direct torpedo attack. The proposed harbor would have a water area of 466 acres, with depths of three fathoms and upwards, and would afford accommodation for at least twenty-four battleships, twelve cruisers and a number of gunboats and destroyers. The approximate cost of the works is £6,500,000 ($32,500,000) and they would be completed within ten years of the letting of the contract.

It is pointed out that, while the dock would not be open to any fire from the Spanish mainland, the north eastern part of the harbor would be exposed to gun fire from Sierra Carbonera and the whole harbor might be enfiladed from the lower hillsides of Sierre Carbonera. This however, could be in a measure guarded against by certain fortifications.

It is said to be very likely that the report will be adopted and the new works proceeded with before long.

BABIES KILLED IN THE GUELPH WRECK

Cars Rolled Down an Embankment Into a Small Creek and Swampy Land---Two Killed

Guelph, March 19.—The Grand Trunk Railway train No. 17 ran off into Keating's Creek, five miles north of this city, about 11.20 o'clock Wednesday morning. Of the 75 passengers two lost their lives, and the majority were more or less injured. The dead are Charles Huston, 3-year-old son of J. J. Huston of Tiverton, and the 2-year-old daughter of Mrs. Wm. Irwin of Niagara Falls. The injured include a number of Toronto and Guelph people. The Huston family suffered most. A 5-year-old boy is not expected to live, and the mother is in a critical condition, both from shock and hurts.

No. 17 was bound from Guelph for Southampton. The catastrophe occurred on the Grand Trunk, a mile and a half from Marden. Conductor Lillie was in charge, and Engineer Hazelwood was at the throttle. No. 17 left the city about 11 o'clock, and was descending the grade when the hind truck on the rear coach, some say, jumped the rails. This was followed by the run-off itself. The passenger coach went over the trestle of the bridge into the stream, and at intervals of 20 yards or so the smoker and baggage cars took a similar leap, though not into the brook. The baggage car pitched partly down, but clung to the tender. The engine remained on the track.

The first carriage to go over rolled upon its side, and the water poured in to a depth of from two to three feet. The smoker lay on swampy ground. Two cars split open.

The passengers escaped from their imprisonment in various ways. Those uninjured and those slightly injured made their exit through the windows, which they broke, and the doors. They then went to the assistance of their less fortunate companions. The farmers in the neighborhood lent a willing hand, and the section men notified Elora and Guelph of what had happened.

A PREACHER'S PLIGHT.

The Rev. D.M. Martin, pastor of the Cummington Presbyterian church, interviewed at the Guelph Hospital, said: "My nephew, W. M. Martin, of Osgoode Hall, and I were on our way to a funeral. We were sitting in the last car, and Conductor Lillie was sitting behind us. The first thought I had when I knew the train was off the track was that the rails had spread, and that we were running with both wheels between the rails. We had hardly time to speak to each other when we felt a terrific jar. The car swayed backward and forward. Then came the never-to-be-forgotten ordeal. The car grew darker, valises, parcels, seat cushions were thrown about; the car turned on its side, and we were falling over the bank. The silence was awful for a time; the moment that we went in the descent seemed like a life-time. When I came to myself, I was lying on my face, with luggage on my head, and somebody on the lower part of my body. This person, my nephew, I think, got off my legs, and, when I tried to rise, my left leg refused to respond. I was carried out. The first cry I heard was 'O, my baby,' and I saw Mrs. Huston holding up her child. I believe that the car formed a dam, and the water immediately came into the car, and drenched the passengers. At the rear there was two feet of water, and it was deeper in the forward end."

LORD'S DAY WORK

April 19th to 26th in the Date Fixed for Special Services

"Lord's Day Week" has won a prominent place in the thought of Evangelical Christianity as the Week of Prayer,—throughout at least the Anglo Saxon world. In Britain, United States and Canada it is quite generally observed. It always begins with the first Sunday after Easter (12th April). It therefore begins with Sunday, 19th April. All societies having for their object the preservation of the Lord's Day have united in an earnest call for the observance of the 25th Lord's Day Week on the above dates.

Someone may ask, "Why a Lord's Day Week at all?"

We may answer:

1. Because there is special need of a revival of reverence for the Lord's Day.

The Divine authority of the Sabbath law is called in question or openly denied.

The Day itself is observed by many—even Christian people—with growing looseness. Attendance at Divine service is giving place to general reading, social gatherings or pleasure-seeking. What wonder, therefore, if the worldly and non-religious without hesitation or apology make the Holy Day of God a holiday of the world?

If God's Day be dishonored neither His Word nor His Name, nor other sacred thing will long be revered. Does the 20th century need anything more than a revival of reverence?

2. Because there is serious danger of the Lord's Day as a national Canadian institution, being seriously impaired, and of its becoming a day of business and toil for large numbers of the people.

Many corporations yield to the 'pressure of business,' and make use of the Lord's Day to get relief and to increase their profits. Especially is this true of foreign concerns, which, not content with an effort to secure a lion's share of our phenomenal natural wealth, openly scout our religious convictions and defy our laws.

Imported labor, too —American, European and Asiatic—is ready too often to enter into seven-day-in-the week bondage for the money there is in it, and not a few Canadians will work on the Lord's Day rather than risk losing employment. Between 100,000 and 150,000 in Canada already have no Sabbath rest.

3. Because a general effort, at one season, throughout the country, by all who value the Lord's Day, is bound to make an impression upon the public mind that will last.

How can we observe 'Lord's Day Week'? What use can we make of it? In other years it has been used in the following ways, which may be regarded as suggestions to those desiring such:

1. Special sermons are preached on the Lord's Day, and Christian people encouraged specially to pray for its better observance.

2. Some special reference is made in Sunday School urging upon the children the claims of the Lord's Day —its sacredness or its benefits.

3. The same is done in Y. P. S's Y.M.C.A.'s W.C.T.U.'s &c.

4. Lord's Day Alliance Executive arrange for union meetings in their centre or vicinity.

5. Labor Councils or Unions to arrange for meetings for the discussion of the Question from the Labor view-point and for the emphasizing of the Workingman's special interest in the Weekly Rest Day.

There is no better time in the year than just before the Summer season with its special temptations to Sabbath desecration.

Anyone desiring to speak on the state of the Lord's Day question in Canada can obtain information on application to THE LORD'S DAY ALLIANCE, 133 Confederation Life Building, Toronto.

Discredits Cure for Typhoid

New York, March 19.—William H. Park, head of the research of the laboratory and of the Department of Health and of the Department of bacteriology in the New York University Medical College, said yesterday that the discovery of a cure for typhoid fever announced by Dr. Allen Macfadyen, director of the Jenner Institute of Protective Medicine, is not new. Dr. Park also said that it will not cure.

"The same discovery was made eight years ago by Dr. Bucher, head of the Hygienic Institute, Munich," said Dr. Park, "and has been tried with little success since then."

TO RUN TO EUROPE FROM UPPER LAKE PORTS

Promoters are Now Building Ten Vessels

ARE HOPEFUL OF THEIR SUCCESS

Business Already in Sight for These Ships

Montreal, March 19.—The St. Lawrence canals will again be utilized this year by vessels specially adapted for the lake, canal and ocean traffic.

It will be remembered that a fleet of vessels were built on the lakes last year, and during the spring and summer operated between the lake ports and Europe. The different vessels of this fleet met with a varied assortment of hard luck. The first was caught in the ice, another was nearly wrecked at sea, and so on through the entire list.

It appears, however, that the business will be attempted again, and this time, it is to be hoped, with better success.

The Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Transportation Company, of Duluth, is building ten steel steamships for the export trade between the upper lakes and Europe. The first of these was launched last week, and the last will go into the water in June. Three are building at Chicago, two each at Buffalo, Detroit and Duluth. The cost of the ten ships is $1,500,000.

The fleet will open a new trade. They will run from the head of the lakes through to Quebec and Montreal, where their cargoes will be transhipped. That they may carry cargoes of size through Canadian canals to salt water, they are not more than 255 feet long, making them small for the lakes. They have a capacity of 2,600 tons, however, and will carry 2,200 tons on the fourteen foot draught permitted by the present Canadian canals. The same company will have ocean ships for the Trans-Atlantic trade.

To solve the vexed question of the superiority of Scotch or water tube boilers, six will be fitted with one style and four with the other, all with triple expansion engines and modern engine room equipment.

It is understood a large trade has been worked up for these ships, not only in grain and flour, but in some heavy manufactured goods, which have been handicapped heretofore for the export market on account of excessive freights.

Lecture This Evening

Mr. McGreggor Young, Professor of International and Constitutional Law, of Toronto University, will deliver a lecture on "The Munroe Doctrine" in the Y.M.C.A. Hall this evening at 8 p.m. The Professor is brought here under the auspices of the Fortnightly Club, and no doubt will be listened to by a select and appreciative audience. The lecturer was chosen to succeed the Hon. David Mills, by the University authorities and is perhaps as capable of speaking on the subject in a masterly way as any one in the Dominion.

AT THE POLICE COURT

Two Interesting Cases Heard Yesterday By Magistrate Dumble

There were two cases up before Police Magistrate Dumble yesterday. A young man was charged with raising a disturbance at the Cavanagh House on March 13th last, and a fine of $2 and costs was imposed by the Magistrate. George Charlton was up on a charge of assault on one Edward Baldwin on St. Patrick's Day. The evidence proved insufficient, however, and the case was dismissed.

WHAT A LITTLE AD. DID

This Great Family Journal as a Advertising Medium

On Wednesday last Mr. R. H. Leary's valuable pea hen disappeared from its domicile, and, like a sensible man that he is, Mr. Leary telephoned an ad. to The Times. The advertisement appeared yesterday morning. Early in the day Mr. M. F. Cobb, who is a regular reader of this great family journal, saw the advertisement and also the missing bird. He dropped around and informed Mr. Leary of its whereabouts. But before Mr. Leary was able to capture it the hen again disappeared. In a short time Mr. Leary received a telephone message from Mr. J. E. Belcher, to the effect that a pea hen, answering the description of the one advertised in this g.f.j., was sitting on his barn. Again the bird escaped, and it was only after a third notice from a reader of this paper that the bird was caught. Truly it may be said that "everybody reads The Times."

END OF THE DEBATE STILL FAR AWAY

Conservatives Are Not Satisfied with Terms of the Commission

Toronto, March 19.—It begins to look as though only the physical exhaustion of the members will bring the debate in the Legislature to a close. Mr. Whitney has been promising that as soon as the instructions to the commission were made public he could say when the debate would end, but the notifications were made public yesterday, and no end is in sight, and Mr. Whitney took a minute and a half to express his opinion on the instruction, and then the debate fell back into the same jog trot producing before adjournment five hours of uninterrupted talk.

Mr. Whitney's opinion on the commission was expressed in the words: "I am glad that it has been made clear by my opinion that the Government are determined to hamper the investigation. By the provisions of this commission the House had abdicated its judgment. The remarkable and decidedly unique feature in the whole document is the provision that the commission may report upon any charge arising out of or connected with the present charges which may effect any member of the Cabinet other than Mr. Stratton. But the charges must be preferred in writing, and no person but a member of the Assembly is to have the power or privilege in this British country to make a charge against any other member of the Government except Mr. Stratton.

"Why, I wonder when hon. gentlemen will stop! The right to make a charge against other members of the Government than Mr. Stratton is to be confined to the members of this Legislature, and they are to do it in writing, forsooth! It is a hint to the judges, it is a declaration that they cannot proceed to consider this investigation as one involving the matter of the Government. I admire, let me here express my admiration of the astuteness with which the Provincial Secretary got ahead of his colleagues, and let out the fact that although he offered his resignation on Wednesday, which had been kept secret by the Premier, it has not been accepted, and we now know that they must stand or fall together.

Mr. T. H. Preston, editor of the Brantford Expositor, who resumed the debate, speaks this year from a front row Government bench—a quick promotion for a gentleman who has not yet served a full Parliamentary term, but a promotion by no means undeserved. Mr. Preston has the reputation of being one of the least partisan members in the House. Neither can the charge be laid against him that he has throttled his independence since he was elevated to Parliament. It is not so long ago that a campaign book, filled with pictures and personal references, was issued, and though it caused a great furore for a time, it soon sank into a deep grave. The first man to take up the spade to dig that grave was Mr. Preston, though members of his party were responsible for the publication.

THE LOCKS DAM

Navigation Likely to be Impeded on Account of New Dam

The steamer Water Lily is nearly ready for work, but is unable to get through the locks on account of the dam. The old structure has been removed, or sufficient of it to make it impossible for a steamer to enter the locks from this end.

Commodore Calcutt was seen by The Times yesterday, and he stated that should navigation be impeded by the condition of the dam, as was almost certain, it will be a very serious matter for his boats. Considerable quantities of stuff was awaiting shipment both ways, and it would appear that it will be impossible to use the lock. The high water in connection with the building of the new dam at the lock is responsible for the trouble. Mr. Burnet, the contractor, has been obliged to shut down until the water subsides, so that it is hard to tell when the boats will be able to pass through.

ADVICE OF LONDON PAPERS TO CANADA

Would Root Out Spoils System---As the Only Means of Eradicating Political Immorality

London, March 19. — The Morning Post, discussing Canadian political morality, attributes Hon. George E. Foster's defeat to the fact that Canadian electors know that a member of the Opposition has no patronage. The Post says; "It is universally admitted throughout Ontario, the most populous and wealthy of the Canadian Provinces, that political morality is now almost non-existent. Cases of direct and indirect bribery, personation and ballot-stuffing have been disgracefully common. The evil is not confined to Ontario only, but can be eradicated by depriving legislators of ultra-constitutional privileges and patronage, and forbidding members of the civil service, Federal or Provincial, to take any active part in elections. That is to say, root out the spoils system, which, like the worst weeds in Canadian fields, seems to have originated in seed ideas blown across the international boundary, and must be extirpated by general consent."

C.P.R. GETS LOW INSURANCE.

London, March 19.—It is announced that the Canadian Pacific has insured the Beaver steamers in London at a four guineas rate, against seven paid last year. The hazardous nature of navigation has always been held to render so low a rate as four guineas impracticable.

London, March 17—Mail advices received here from Kabul say the Ameer of Afghanistan has divorced all but four of his wives. The divorced women are allowed to re-marry again at their pleasure, and the Ameer has promised lifelong support to those who do not marry again. He has also decreed by beat of drum that none of his subjects shall hereafter have more than four wives, and that all in excess of this number must be divorced.

The Ameer is also suppressing evil doers with an iron hand. In a recent proclamation he ordered that any one convicted of taunting another on account of his religion should be blown from a cannon's mouth. This punishment has already been inflicted. Robbers are placed in cages which are hung prominently in the thoroughfares as a warning to others.

Another proclamation of the Ameer, evidently aimed against those who attempt to corner grain, decrees that everyone possessing grain in excess of what is absolutely necessary for the support of his family for four months, shall sell it. If he fails to do so his whole supply will be taken by force.

A NOISY MEETING

Election of Officers of the North Dummer Dairy Company

There was rather a noisy time at the annual meeting of the North Dummer Dairy Company, owing to the slight loss sustained by the patrons of the company from the failure of the Linton-Benson bank, at Lakefield, last season. However, most of the sufferers took their loss very philosophically, and accepted the inevitable without any murmur. The election of officers for the ensuing season resulted as follows; President, John Darling; directors, Eph. Bickle, Richard Crow, H. A. Moore, and W. J. Little; secretary, Garfield Crow; salesman, Richard Crow.

Boys and Girls for Canada

London, March 19—The State Children's Association is issuing circulars all over the country to guardians, encouraging them to send normally healthy boys and girls to Canada as the best thing for the children and the Empire. The circular states this can be done at the smallest outlay to the British rate-payers—namely, at £10 per eight.

Damage by Rain and Hail

London, March 19.—The heaviest snow falls of the present winter were reported from parts of England today. Rain and hail fell elsewhere in Great Britain and Ireland, accompanied by gales, causing floods and great damage. Between Londonderry and Coleraine havoc was caused by breaching the sea-wall. Thousands of acres of farm lands were submerged and hundreds of families fled from inland homesteads.

SAYS THE KING'S HEALTH IS POOR, REFORMS IN CZAR'S HOME

The Post Says King Edward's Health is not by Any Means as Good as is Desired

Liverpool, March 19.—The Post says King Edward's health is not by any means as good as could be desired. Court officials, according to The Post, are commenting on the worn, tired look which is continually on his face.

The Post to-day suggests that Premier Balfour accept a peerage, with the Foreign Secretaryship, vacating the Premiership in favor of Mr. Chamberlain.

REFORMS IN CZAR'S REALM.

St. Petersburg, March 19.—The principal demands of the Russian reformers are:

First, a great increase and improvement in elementary education under popular control;

Second, the establishment of Zemstovs where they do not now exist, and the granting of greater powers and representative character Zemstovs everywhere;

Third, the completion of the Liberation Act of Alexander, by the placing of the peasantry on a footing of legal equality with the rest of the nation;

Fourth, a change in financial policy by relieving the peasantry of the burden of taxation now imposed for the sake of encouraging mushroom industries.

These reforms, with a limitation of the arbitrary powers of police and mitigation of press censorship, constitute the irreducible minimum which will satisfy the moderates.

The Czar of all the Russias has chosen the anniversary of the birthday of Alexander III. as a fitting time to issue a decree which is called the most significant act of state since the emancipation of the serfs. In this decree, after referring to the efforts of his predecessors, particularly his father, to add to the welfare of the Russian people, the Czar announces his decision to grant freedom of religion to all his subjects who profess non-orthodox creeds, and to improve the conditions of village life and those of the local nobility and peasantry. Among the measures outlined by his majesty for the attainment of these ends is reform of the rural laws, which is to be effected with the advice of persons who possess the confidence of the people. The system of administration in the various governments and districts is to be examined by representatives of the different localities concerned, with the view of effecting the necessary changes. Measures are also to be taken to relieve the peasantry of the burdens of forced labor.

It has long been evident that the Czar was anxious to do the best he could for his country and the world. The decree he has just issued is a long step forward for Russia, and it will probably allay much of the discontent which exists there.

London, March 18—The first year of Queen Alexandra's reign socially has been marked by an extraordinary number of scandals in aristocratic society, scandals which were first publicly disclosed in the divorce court. The queen, like her mother-in-law, the late Queen Victoria, is opposed to divorce, and is frank in her condemnation of those in her set who are compelled, for one reason and another, to make public their domestic infelicities through the divorce court.

The queen is said to be deeply grieved by the number of scandals in society that have marked the first year of her royal consort's reign. Her majesty was so shocked by the most recent scandal in high society that she caused the woman in the case to be turned out of society by having her presentation at court cancelled.

The cancellation of Lady Granville Gordon's presentation at Court means practically that no person on the court list (and it includes all those "who are who,") can invite her to a dinner, a dance, or tea or reception at their houses. Her social outlawry is complete.

The queen accepted Lady Granville's shameless confession of guilt in a suit for the custody of her child as sufficient ground for blacklisting her from society.

The Granville Gordon case shocked society. Its disclosure of the squalid morals of a certain set in society disgusted the "common people" of England, just as it angered the queen.

Within a year three aristocratic women, members of the fashionable London set, who are admitted to the presence of royalty at Buckingham palace receptions, have lost the last shreds of their reputations in the divorce court.

The end is not yet. Before the court adjourns for the summer vacation there will be other cases tried that will blacken the names of other men and women high up in the social scale.

The queen is reported to be genuinely grieved at these revelations of the low tone of morality prevailing in the "fast set" of aristocratic society, and she may have occasion ere long to add other names quite as distinguished socially as Lady Granville Gordon's and the divorced marchioness of Downshire's to her "black list."

LIVE STOCK MARKET

No Money in the Market Just at Present for the Drovers

The trade in fat cattle is limited to the butchers, there being no money at the present time for the drovers. Prices for fat cattle is almost as good, and in some cases even better, than is paid for the same quality in Toronto. Stockers are moving to a considerable extent; all purchases are intended for the North-West, as the Buffalo market is very dull during the last six or eight months. Hogs are on the upward turn, and fancy prices are being paid, with a prospect of higher levels being reached. Sheep are on the upward grade, and prices, to all appearances, are going to hold very firm. Yearlings, ewes and wethers are now at or above high water mark in Buffalo, and prices paid in the local market are about as high as they have been for many years. Spring lambs can hardly be said to be in the market at all, although some are being bought for local butcher trade. for Easter, and prices are also very high; so that we are likely to pay fancy figures for our Easter lamb.

Our Language.

Yet another humorous story about the idiosyncrasies of the English language is current. A Frenchman came to England with the object of making himself master of the tongue, and the following sentence was given him:

"The rough cough and hiccough plough me through." The teacher told him the first word was pronounced "ruff." He thereupon said this: "The ruff cuff and hiccuff pluff me thruff."

"No, no—the second word is pronounced 'koff'!"

"Then," said the Frenchman, "it must be the roff coff and hiccoff ploff me throff."

The third, fourth and fifth words were explained with the same result, which the reader may repeat for himself.

"Colonel," asked the Northern undertaker, "do you people of the South believe in cremation?" "Sometimes, suh," replied the colonel, "when we think plain lynchin' wouldn't begin to fit the crime, suh."—"Catholic Standard and Times."

She had been shopping, and he was naturally disturbed. "I hope you didn't spend much money while you were down town to-day," he remarked. "Not a cent, except car-fare, George," she answered reassuringly. "I had everything charged."—Chicago "Evening Post."

DOMINION EXPENDITURES

The Dominion estimates provide for a total expenditure of $57,160,974, of which $6,429,750 is chargeable to capital account. About fourteen millions goes to pay interest and charges on the public debt. In these days of prosperity some arrangement ought to be made to cut down this item. A number of loans will mature during the next ten years, and the best way to pay them would be by the issue of terminable annuities. That is the plan so successfully applied for the reduction of the British national debt. Terminable annuities are issued by the Ontario Government and by many of the municipal councils. They operate automatically to pay off principal and interest together, and are much more satisfactory than any sinking fund scheme, for the reason that the debtor does not have to look for investments, nor to buy up his bonds at a premium before their maturity. The full discussion of this subject in the House should take place during the present session.

One of the large items of expenditure is subsidies to Provinces, $4,402,292. An effort has been made to have this increased, the representatives of the several Provinces having met in conference and resolved that they would like to get more money from the Dominion treasury for local expenditure. The idea is not a popular one among the people, because it is well understood that the privilege of spending money without the accompanying odium of imposing taxation encourages extravagance.

The Government is making liberal appropriations for canals and harbors, in accordance with the general demand for increased transportation facilities. Every effort will be made to provide for the handling of Canadian grain and other traffic by Canadians, and both the shipping and railway interests will benefit from these expenditures. The estimates brought down yesterday show a decrease of $1,951,900, as compared with those of the current year, but the supplementaries have yet to come.

To Set Her Free

[COPYRIGHTED

By FLORENCE WARDEN.

Author of "The House in the Marsh," "A Prince of Darkness," etc.

prepared with an elaborately thought-out scheme for confounding him and his own witnesses.

He turned for a moment to the window, considering the matter with a gloomy mind. Mrs. Wharles went on, in a satisfied tone:

"Poor Lottie isn't quite without friends in the world, and they will see that she has justice done her."

"She is likely to have a little more than justice, although she gives less than justice to others," said Astley bitterly.

Mrs. Wharles watched him narrowly.

"Well, well, Sir Astley," said she in a more conciliatory tone, "you know she was always rather flighty, and apt to act on impulse."

"Surely you're not going to try to excuse her conduct!" cried he impatiently.

"No, oh no. Nobody has spoken to her more strongly than I, except Emmeline."

Astley turned upon her sharply.

"Why didn't Mrs. Finch interfere to prevent this trick being played upon me? Why didn't she write to me? It's not like her to behave so. I always looked upon her as a straightforward woman."

"She was away from home, and didn't come back until it was all over," explained Mrs. Wharles. "Then it was too late to say anything, and she had to stand by her sister."

Astley still looked puzzled.

"Somebody must have died," said he. "Somebody must have been buried. I shall get an order from the Home Secretary to have the body exhumed."

"Certainly you had better do that, if you think there's any doubt about it," said the doctor's wife with cold indifference. "But I should think that a still simpler plan would be for you to take a seat and wait quietly for five minutes, until Emmeline has persuaded Lottie to come in and see you. Or do you think that you will fail to recognize your own wife when you see her?"

"Wife!" Astley writhed at the word. "She is no wife of mine!"

Mrs. Wharles shrugged her shoulders. "The law says she is," she said languidly; "but as the poor child is quite ready to efface herself, and to go away and never trouble you again, I don't know what more you would have."

Astley moved with an impatient frown.

"What nonsense! Either she is alive, and is my wife, and must be treated as if she were, or—she is not. There's no question of compromise in such things. So I regret that I am not able to take advantage of your easy morality."

The doctor's wife drew herself up haughtily.

"Sir Astley, you surprise me!" said she. "If Dr. Wharles were at home he would insist upon your apologizing for daring to use such an insulting expression to me."

The lady glared at him in righteous indignation.

But Astley took her outburst very easily.

"If Dr. Wharles were at home," snarled he, holding on by the back of a chair and leaning forward, with his face convulsed with passion, "I should not wait to listen to his remarks upon that or upon any other subject, but I should give him the thrashing he thoroughly deserves."

Mrs. Wharles grew suddenly white. For the first time she noticed that Astley was carrying a hunting-whip, the strong stock of which was a formidable weapon. Her tone changed immediately.

"Surely, Sir Astley," faltered she, with pale lips, "you [illegible] to expose this affair and make it a common scandal!"

"I intend to expose your husband," retorted Astley firmly. "Whatever the truth of this matter may be, I know very well that he has had a hand in a very ugly plot—"

"What!" cried Mrs. Wharles indignantly. "Do you mean that you accuse him of inciting Lottie to deceive you!"

"I mean that. I feel myself and—and someone else to be the victims of a parcel of rascally intriguers, and I mean that I will have justice upon them, whoever they are."

As his voice rose upon these last words the door of the room was opened timidly, and Mrs. Finch, looking at Astley with an alarmed expression, re-entered the room.

"Well—won't she come?" cried Mrs. Wharles eagerly, rising from her chair and speaking with intense excitement.

Mrs. Finch shook her head. "Tell her she must, she must!" cried the doctor's wife, stamping her foot and raising her voice. "I'll go myself and bring her. She has got to come and justify me in the eyes of this man. Let me pass."

"It's of no use," said Mrs. Finch, shaking her head despairingly. "She wouldn't come. And when I tried to bring her downstairs by force, she tore herself away and ran out of the house."

"Out of the house! Why then she'll be seen, after all our care!" cried Mrs. Wharles.

But Astley interrupted her with a harsh laugh.

"Oh, don't distress yourselves," said he. "I don't suppose she's gone any further than you wished her to go!"

And, with a profound bow to both of them, he went to the door.

"You don't mean to say—"

"Whatever I mean to say shall be said to Dr. Wharles," he cut in shortly. "This is a matter which can be better discussed between man and man, than between a man and—ladies."

They both began to speak at once, the one angrily, the other apologetically. But he would not wait to hear them. He dashed out of the house as quickly as his lameness would allow, got into the dogcart, and told the man to drive him to the telegraph office.

There he despatched the following message to the office of his London solicitors, directing to the partner who knew the most of his affairs:

"Come down to see me at once if you can. Most important. Wire reply."

Then he drove back towards home, flushed, restless, excited and miserable. He did not know what to believe. The one conviction that stood out prominently in his mind was that the instigator of the plot which had been so successfully formed for the ruin of his happiness, was his bete noire, the handsome Dr. Wharles.

Whatever of truth there might be in the contradictory stories which had been told him, something, which was rather instinct than reason, told Astley, as he drove back home from his interview with Mrs. Wharles, that the doctor was at the bottom of a plot to relieve his own necessities by blackmailing him.

It was one of those bright winter mornings after the turn of the year when there seems to be a touch of spring in the warmth of the sun, and even the black smoke cloud which usually hung over [illegible] showed signs of [illegible]. The grass of the wide lawns which [illegible]

Alaska Gold Mining Company's Stock

NOW. This company owns, free from debt, 2,000 acres on the beach and tundra at Nome, Alaska. 1000 tests made to bed rock on 400 acres averaged to the cubic yard of sand $3.00 in gold, the sand bar averaged $11.00 in gold. This Company's one mill is pumping, through the ice, from the sea bottom, 3000 cubic yards daily, heaping it up on the beach to sluice in the Spring. To erect more mills a limited amount of stock is now offered at $2.00 a share. Capital $2,000,000; all Common Stock. Address,

The Electric Spark GOLD MINING COMPANY

Offers to investors an opportunity to secure through a purchase of its stock

A monthly income of $50.00

On an investment of $1,000; or a monthly income of $5.00 on an investment of $100.00. This is purely a business proposition. Their is no uncertainty about it; you do not take any chances. We actually have enough ore in sight to keep us working for three or four years, and the more development work we do the more ore there is in sight; the deeper we go the richer it is. Bear in mind, too, that we do not come to the public with an untried experiment. Our shaft is nearing the 200 foot mark, with better values at the bottom than any place nearer the surface. The ore runs in value from $25.00 to $86.80 per ton, by actual carload shipments.

The par value of our stock is $1.00, with only a limited amount of shares to be sold, and this has been placed on the market at the low rate of 20 CENTS PER SHARE. On March 14, the price will be advanced to 30 cents per share, providing any of the original offering remains unsold; therefore we advise all who are interested to send in their applications without a moment's delay, as they will be filled and eventually rejected just in the order received.

Prospectus free on request. Applications should be addressed to and remittance made payable to the order of

Thunder Mountain!

is the richest gold producing camp in the United States, and also the largest. The Thunder Mountain district, in central Idaho, is twenty miles wide and forty miles long. In comparison with this we have Cripple Creek, four miles wide and seven miles long. In many of the Thunder Mountain mines ore has already been reached that carries ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD TO THE TON. All of the Thunder Mountain ore is free milling, which means that it can be treated by the cheapest extraction process known—the ordinary stamp mill. It can be both mined and milled at a cost not to exceed $2 a ton. The past years operations in the several working mines have opened up millions of tons of ore that will give a net profit of from $10 to $30 a ton, enabling the respective companies to pay dividends at a rate never before equalled. Such is the showing and the prospect of the

EAST DEWEY GOLD MINING CO.

which unless all indications are at fault, will become the largest producer in the district. The EAST DEWEY mine, which it owns outright, is located directly on Thunder Mountain, just east of the famous "Dewey" mine, which already has $20,000,000 of ore in sight. The surface area of the East Dewey mine is one hundred and twenty acres—six full quartz claims. The company has also secured the big GOLDEN GATE mine, in the Big Creek section of the Thunder Mountain district—which has been so aptly termed "The Pot of Gold"—and is now developing the mine with all possible speed. For a distance of 9,000 feet, nearly two miles, the Golden Gate mines cover a mineralized ledge that is 900 feet wide, with an average height above the tunnel level of 500 feet, thus giving it the largest exposed tonnage of any mine in the west.

If you would share in the enormous profits which these figures indicate and which these developments promise, invest your money in "East Dewey" Stock. It can be bought to-day for 10 Cents a Share. Its par value is $1.

If the East Dewey mines are what they appear to be, and there is absolutely no reason to doubt or question these indications, this stock will eventually be worth at least $10 a share, and to-day you can buy it for ten cents. PRICE ADVANCES TO FIFTEEN CENTS ON FEBRUARY 28th. 5% discount allowed for cash. Stock sold at flat price of 10 cents on deferred payments, 10% with application, and 10% monthly until paid. Full particulars, prospectus, etc., on request.

STOCK MARKETS

A SOUTH WESTERN BARGAIN

New York, March 19.—We are speaking of the Missouri, Kans. and Tex. shares. They are awfully cheap at present, around 25 for the common and 58 for the pfd., we believe it will prove to be like finding money to buy them. Few people appreciate the advance made by this property in the past five years. Years ago it represented a streak of iron rust across Texas, being a semblance or an excuse for the late Jay Gould, the stock manufacturer, to issue securities for sale in times and then going to a bull market. To-day its management is a progressive, business one, and they hold large blocks of both common and preferred issues. The country has grown up to it. The Rockefellers, Goulds and Morgans are in the property. The preferred stock specially is very scarce. There is less than $15,000,000 of it and calls for 4 per cent. before the company participates. Last year the full amount was earned for the preferred, and something on the com. despite enormous expenditures upon the property charged to operating expenses. The preferred will soon pay its four per cent. When it does it will speedily sell at an equivalent price to Union Pacific. A director said yesterday the time is approaching when our stockholders may look forward for dividends. We expect our earnings this year will be the heaviest in the history of the road, in particular, we expect a very heavy cotton haulage. The increase and expenses and taxes of the Missouri, Kans. and T. Railway for January is caused by the great improvements we have undertaken in our roadbed, rolling stock and general railway equipment. This policy of charging betterments to operating expenses will soon be unnecessary, by completion of the betterments we will then have a road whose equipment will be the equal of any road in the country. People who form an estimate of an American road, specially one away from the Atlantic seaboard, from passing over it five or more years ago, fail to grasp its real value, the value of the improvements, or the development of the country which it serves, consequently get wrong. On this property in a Wall street way it is difficult to measure and appreciate the rapid strides and development of our country unless going over the ground, specially so in such sections as the south west.

SOME STARTLING FACTS

Regarding a Wonderful Discovery by the Famous Dr. Clarke.

To the Editor of The Times—

Sir,—With a view to afford relief to the afflicted, I ask you to publish the following: I am 21 years old and for 3 years have done absolutely nothing, owing to rheumatism; my hands, feet and heart being affected. I was induced by my cousin to take Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills, and before I had taken 4 boxes I could go upstairs without help, and can now go up the stairs as well as I ever could. Two doctors told me that I never would be well again; but I have neither ache nor pain and am in perfect health.

GEORGE M. DUNCAN,
729 Albert St., London.

—I was troubled with rheumatism for 23 years, and could get absolutely no relief from the doctors. Six boxes Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills entirely cured me, God bless Dr. Clarke. (REV.) S. HUMMITT, Winnipeg, Man.

—John Williams, of the C.P.R. Works, Toronto, was cured of chronic rheumatism, after taking 10 boxes Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills.

Dr. Clarke's Little Red Pills are a positive and certain cure for rheumatism, asthma, paralysis, coughs, lame back, indigestion, all stomach and liver troubles, female complaints, even when the diseases have been standing for many years; the most stubborn cases will yield. For sale by Ormond & Walsh, Peterborough. Price 50c. per box, or 3 boxes for $1.00.

Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Catarrh and Dr. Clarke's Sure Cure for Eczema, same price. $500 will be paid for any case that it will not permanently cure.

INVESTIGATE--THEN INVEST

The Opportunity of Buying the Ground Floor Stock of the

DAYTON OIL COMPANY

At 25 Cents a Share

is rapidly drawing to a close, owing to the public's generous support in subscribing to it quickly.

If you are desirous of participating in the assured success of this corporation, we earnestly advise your early investigation and investment.

The advance of 100 per cent. over present selling price is not far distant, and if you buy now you will be the gainer by two for one.

The Dayton Oil Company is not doing any pioneering, wildcating or prospecting, but owing to its positively proven rich oil bearing territory is assured of obtaining a large producer in every well they sink.

Heavy Investments of Eastern Capital is now being invested in Kern County, Cal., J. Pierpont Morgan and his fellow associates are making preparations to construct a railroad through our territory to tide water, and have set aside $5,000,000 for this purpose. He has also formed a combination of capital to expend the sum of $30,000,000 for development of oil lands in our section to construct pipe lines and maintain storage facilities. The Midland Pacific railroad, backed by the Rothschilds of London, is another gigantic undertaking by combination of capital. This road's survey stakes are now in position in Kern county, and go through our locality just one-half mile east of our property. The Southern Pacific and Sante Fee railroads completed but a few months ago 45 miles of road from Bakersfield to Sunset Oil District at a cost of half a million dollars. The Standard Oil Company is expending $6,000,000 in the laying of 278 miles of eight-inch steel pipe, completing of a $3,000,000 refinery and building of tankage for the storing of 3,000,000 barrels of oil. These enormous expenditures by the money kings of the world are conclusive demonstration to conservative men what the present and future of the oil industry of California holds out for the rapid accumulation of wealth.

The past, present and future of the Kern county oil industry was weighed cautiously before the purchasing of the valuable oil territory now the property of the DAYTON OIL COMPANY. We know to what extent fortunes have already been taken in oil from Kern county; we also know the greatness of the industry in that locality at the present time, and are just as keen to the magnitude of the future as the above-mentioned foresighted money kings.

OUR FORTUNATE SELECTION OF THIS RICH OIL BEARING PROPERTY is, and will be, the means of your reaping handsome returns if you will identify yourself now, while the stock of this company is being offered for public subscription at the ground floor price.

NOW IS THE TIME! DON'T WAIT as the stock is being rapidly taken, and the time is not far distant when you will wish for it, even though you have to pay 50c. to $1.00 a share.

We will mail you literature which will fully enlighten you.

An Opportunity

We are offering for public subscription a limited amount of stock of exceptional merit affording an unusual opportunity for a very profitable investment. We desire to be conservative in our representations, but do not hesitate to state that the stocks of the properties we are representing are absolutely certain to rapidly increase in value, and the fortunate purchasers of the stock at the present prices will have more than reason to congratulate themselves for grasping this opportunity.

Success lies in being alive to that which is going on around you, and they who "grasp the skirts of happy chance can breast the blows of circumstance."

We have the disposition of a certain amount of treasury stock in four corporations. We have thoroughly investigated the present value of the properties owned by the Companies, and have full cognition of the immense profits that are awaiting only the further development and equipment of the properties.

We are offering an equal number of shares in each of the four corporations at a price that make the combined issue a most attractive feature, giving also to the purchaser an unusual safe guard on his or her investment; in other words, you are not placing all your eggs in one basket. Or if you prefer you can purchase separately the stocks we offer.

As the money received from the sale of the stock is strictly for the purpose of equipping the properties with the necessary machinery, etc., the time will not be long before handsome dividends are available. We are not asking your subscriptions to pay for the properties; they are already owned by the Companies, and there are no outstanding obligations.

This preliminary notice is to advise the public in general that an opportunity now presents itself for a safe investment of unusual character, embodying also speculative possibilities sufficiently great to make even a small investor a competency within a few years.

You can invest in any amount from Ten Dollars up, and, if so desired, you can have the privilege of paying in installments the amount of stock paid for from time to time being non-forfeitable in the event of your ceasing payments, thus relieving those of small or uncertain income from possibility of loss, should they for any reason become unable to continue payments.

Our business is to aid responsible Companies in the disposal of their treasury stock for the thorough equipment of their properties; we do not and will not handle indiscriminate mining or other stocks under any circumstances. We make a thorough personal examination and investigation as to the merits and possibilities before undertaking to assist in financing any Corporation: the paramount issue with us is to give complete satisfaction and cause much success to our patrons.

We have furnished the publishers of The Times with an outlined description of the Companies we represent, and the names of the Directors of each Company whose stock we offer to their subscribers and friends. We have also furnished The Times with bank references as to our own bonafides and standing. We desire to command the utmost confidence of all subscribers and to retain same along with their friendship for all time; you add a few dollars; we add our experience brains and labor: you increase your ideas without effort and increase our power to make you still richer. In ordinary everyday experience a man's expenses nearly equal his income and he has little chance to make a turn for the betterment of his condition. This is anyone's opportunity; you can invest Ten Dollars or One Thousand Dollars on the same basis as one who invests Ten Thousand Dollars. You cannot afford to neglect your opportunities and this is a chance to get in on the ground floor and reap the profits of substantial, quick money making enterprises. Your money need not be tied up for a long time; we know that one of the Companies at least, will pay handsome dividends this year. It is an easy matter to become rich; just watch for the opportunity and take advantage of it. This is your opportunity; will you grasp it?

CATARRHOZONE INHALER is the greatest invention of the century for the cure of diseases of the respiratory organs. It is sure to cure because it cannot fail to reach the germs in the air passages that give rise to the diseased conditions.

The antiseptic vapor of Catarrhozone is inhaled at the mouth, and after permeating the air cells and passages of all the respiratory organs, is exhaled slowly through the nostrils. It goes everywhere the air we breathe goes, and is certain to reach the seat of the disease no matter how remote.

AN ORDINARY COLD lasts about one day if Catarrhozone is inhaled five minutes every hour.

CATARRH and BRONCHITIS are relieved at once and cured for all time, by the persistent use of Catarrhozone.

CATARRHOZONE OUTFIT consists of a beautifully polished hard rubber inhaler and sufficient liquid for recharging to last two months. Costs $1, or trial size 25c. Sold by Druggists and N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Ont.

GRAND ORANGE LODGE

THE ANNUAL SESSION WILL CONCLUDE BUSINESS THIS MORNING

Large Attendance of Delegates—Great Interest in the Proceedings—Welcome Extended

The evening session of the Orange Grand Lodge took place in the rooms of the Association on Simcoe street and was a very happy and instructive affair, presided over by Grand Master R. W. G. M. Munroe, whose kind and pleasant face, supported by an eloquent tongue, render him one of the fittest officials that has ever occupied the Grand Master's chair of Eastern Ontario. He wastes no time, but is a business man from start to finish. A fine exemplification of work was conducted by the Grand Lecturer, O. W. Landon.

The companion and personal friend of the late Grand Master N. Clarke Wallace, was present, in the person of, Grand Master Dr. Sproule, M.P., whose advice and wise counsel has been a tower of strength to the Order in the past.

The second day's session was enlivened by the presentation of an address and a Past Master's Jewel to Mr. Alfred Bradley, P.G.M., who made a suitable reply for the gift and kind words spoken of him by his brethren.

An address of welcome to the Grand Lodge was then delivered by Mr. J. B. McWilliams, County Master, on behalf of the County Lodge. Mr. McWilliams was very happy in his remarks and his whole speech breathed of kindness and fraternal greeting. He was supported by others of his brethren of the County Lodge in expression of good will and welcome to their visitors.

Mayor G. M. Roger, supported by Aldermen McWilliams, Button and Shortley, read an address of welcome to the Grand Lodge on behalf of the Town of Peterborough, which was of such expressions of good will and good wishes that if the visiting Grand Lodge does not feel at home in Peterborough it is no fault of our civic fathers.

MERRY WEDDING BELLS

A Double Wedding Celebrated Yesterday in North Monaghan

The residence of Mr. Robert Dobbin, North Monaghan, was the scene of a very interesting and extremely pretty double wedding on Wednesday evening. The principals in the first marriage were Mr. George Fowler, of North Monaghan, and Miss Annie Sophia Elmhirst, and in the second, Mr. Thomas John Taylor, of Otonabee, and Miss Bella West Elmhirst.

The brides were charmingly attired in white organdie, and wore the customary bridal veils. Each carried a bouquet of exquisite white carnations. Miss Clara and Cleona Dobbin, who were maids of honor, were also dressed in white, and carried pink carnations.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, Peterborough, in the presence of about ninety guests. Among those from a distance were E. Elmhirst, Lightbourne, Cobourg; Mrs. Dr. Lorimer, Richmond Hill; Robert English, Keene; Mr. and Mrs. J. Elmhirst, Keene; Mrs. Richard Short and Mr. R. Short, jr., Keene.

A dainty wedding supper was served at the conclusion of the ceremony. The happy young couples received very many beautiful presents, which bore testimony to their popularity.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] left yesterday morning for a short honeymoon trip and on their return will take up their residence the former in Otonabee and the latter in North Monaghan.

MR. STRATTON'S DEFENCE

To the Editor of The Times:—

Sir,—I would call the attention of the public through the columns of your widely read newspaper, to the fact that Mr. Stratton's paper denies that there was anything between the provincial secretary and Mr. Gamey of a crooked or criminal nature. "Investigation will show," said the Examiner, "that Mr. Gamey approached the government and offered his support; that he went to the government as a friend; that he was courteously received, and that his correspondence, under these circumstances, was promptly replied to."

Continuing the Examiner says: "As to the statement that Mr. Stratton gave or promised Mr. Gamey any consideration or money as a condition of the latter's support Mr. Stratton declares it as false a statement as can possibly be made. The very evidence which Mr. Gamey advances will be the very evidence that will have the greatest weight in condemning his action."

Mr. Stratton, through his paper, alleges that the whole proceedings in the house, so far as the Gamey charges are concerned, were the result of a concerted plan, the outcome of a certain kind of dress rehearsal. The leader of the opposition was acquainted with the order of proceedings; he gave way in the discussion to Mr. Gamey; he changed his seat for the occasion; he received the statement of the prodigal member; he indulged in a bit of theatricals when he locked up paper and rolls of bills in his desk, and he led the clamour that followed for a virtual condemnation of the provincial secretary without trial and without defence.

The opposition has made the most of the little drama. It is time the programme took a change.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

I am, etc.,

VERITAS.

That Gold Spoon.

There are some men who seem to be favorites of fortune. They are industrious, cheerful workers, full to overflowing of the energy of splendid health, and success seems fairly to drop into their hands. It is of such as these that the less hardy and less successful man says enviously, "That fellow was born with a gold spoon in his mouth." And yet on analysis it will be found that this success is largely due to splendid health, the endowment of a healthy mother.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription gives the mother health to give her child. It cures nervousness, nausea and sleeplessness. It makes the body comfortable and the mind content. It gives physical vigor and muscular elasticity so that the baby's advent is practically painless.

"I will endeavor to tell you of the many benefits I have derived from taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. R. E. Robertson, of Medicine Lodge, Barber Co., Kans. "In the fall of [illegible] I was expecting to become a mother and suffered terribly with pains in the back of head; in fact I ached all over. Suffered with awful bearing-down pains; I was threatened with miscarriage. A lady friend told me to use Dr. Pierce's medicine. She had taken them and felt like a new woman. I began using the 'Favorite Prescription' and took four bottles before my baby came and two afterwards. I suffered almost death with my other two children, but hardly realized that I was sick when this baby was born and she weighed twelve and one-quarter pounds. She is now eleven months old and has never known an hour's sickness; at present she weighs thirty-seven pounds. I owe it all to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, and sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most desirable laxative for delicate women.

A FAIR TEST

See if Coffee is the Real Cause of Ails

Some coffee drinkers think they can get on without being sick by limiting the allowance to just one cup a day, and some people can stand this all right, but others cannot.

There are many people where the poison of coffee is so marked and direct that one cup per day, if followed up steadily, will surely and certainly put the patient in bed, or produce chronic, fixed disease of one or more organs of the body.

When a person suspects coffee to be the cause of his or her stomach, liver, kidney, bowel, heart or eye disturbance, it is well to test the case by leaving off coffee for ten days and using Postum Food Coffee in its place. If there is an improvement in health the proof is absolute, and common-sense will naturally guide anyone who values comfort, ease, content and ability to do things, to make the change permanent and continue the use of Postum instead of coffee, for it means that life is worth the living when one can be well.

Now and then will be found a degenerate who really prefers sickness of some sort to the comfort of good health, and such persons will continue to use articles of food and drink that they know do not agree with them.

In this land of liberty let every-one choose his own course, but one great, staring pertinent, absolute fact stands out, that coffee does cause misery and distress to thousands of people who do not suspect the cause, and the quitting of coffee and taking of Postum Food Coffee will return the average person to health and comfort. This fact has be proven by many coffee drinker.

Don't let the cook serve Postum underboiled. Insist that directions on the package be followed, then Postum is delicious, having a flavor all its own, not so sharp as "drip coffee," far better than ordinary coffee, with much the soft, mellow flavor of the most expensive grades of Java.

Discussion Of Venezuelan Affair Starts the Rumpus and Germany's New Representative at Washington is Roundly Scored, Liberal Leader Calling Him an "Expiatory Envoy to the United States

NOT SATISFIED WITH THE SETTLEMENT

Of the Venezuelan Trouble, Says Prof. Hasse, of Leipzig University, Sternberg Severely Criticised

Berlin, March 20.—In the Reichstag today, during the discussion of the Foreign Office section of the budget, Baron von Hertling (Center party) referred to the Venezuelan affair, and also to Baron von Sternberg and the latter's American wife. He said public opinion at first demanded action, since Germany's honor seemed engaged, but after action had been taken, apparently with success, public opinion changed and doubts arose as to whether it was necessary for Germany to risk so much. Chancellor von Bulow replied. He said:

"The Venezuelan matter was from the very first beginning neither a question of territorial acquisition nor of glory for us, but of a settlement, through extraordinary means, of business which has been complicated by the debtors unworthiness, whereby, of course, the maintenance of our honor played a part. We were able to establish our claim only through common action with Italy and England. It was not merely a question of arranging the matter in hand, but of giving a warning which would serve for the future. The mere money standpoint must not control in such cases. We are not submit to breaches of the law.

"I am not satisfied with the settlement of the Venezuelan affair. A formal expiation has not occurred. The moral effect of our co-operation to increase America's reputation intermeditation of America will be while ours sinks. I attribute the the very first beginning neither a ques with other powers and inviting the hostile attitude of the Venezuelans to American intervention. The behaviour of our minister Sternberg, has been of such a character that the United States should pay his salary I refer to his well known interview in which he even censured the late Prince Bismarck's policy as being antiquated. This interview shows to a high degree his vanity and that the flatteries of President Roosevelt were a strong dose. I have no words in which to characterise his action. He even ventures to place the President on the same plane with the German Emperor. [illegible] lack of national spirit. One can really call this gentleman Germany's expiatory envoy to the United States."

The Grand Secretary's report was also read and referred to a committee.

The evening session was very interesting, and concluded the business of the session.

The next meeting will take place in Kingston on the 3rd Wednesday in March, 1904.

$500 Tax on Chinese.

WE are pleased to note that Sir Wilfried Laurier has given notice of a resolution authorizing the imposition of a tax of $500 on every person of Chinese origin entering the Dominion of Canada. This resolution, which will undoubtedly become law, also provides that the person in command or in charge of any vessel or vehicle bringing Chinese emigrants to Canada shall be personally liable for payment of the tax with respect to any immigrant conveyed by it.

This journal has time and again called attention to the Yellow Peril and strongly advocated the imposition of such a tax as above outlined in order to stem the tide of Chinese immigrations, which has grown to such mammoth proportions as to not only menace the welfare of the laundry trade but also to demoralize the whole labor market of Canada. Already British Columbia is overrun with idol-worshipping easterners, and the inundation is fast insinuating itself into Central and Lower Canada.

PROUD OF CANADA AND ITS PROGRESS

Lord Aberdeen Says Kind Words About the Dominion

CANADA'S RAPID DEVELOPMENT.

London, March 20.—The Earl of Aberdeen to-day visited Mr. W. T. R. Preston, the chief commissioner for emigration, at the Canadian Offices, and expressed his hearty approval of the progressive emigration policy adopted by Canada. Lady Aberdeen and himself maintained the keenest interest in the Dominion, of which they had the pleasantest memories. His own investments in Canada were paying handsomely. He considered that the rapid developments of Canada was the most marvellous feature of the Empire's history to-day, that she was destined to hold a position of tremendous importance in the affairs of the Empire and the world. "God-speed Canada," is Lord Aberdeen's message to the Dominion."

Proof For the Unbelieving and Skeptical

Paine's Celery Compound

Saves a Lady from the Dangers and Perils of Insomnia and Nervous Prostration After Failures of Physicians.

It is now generally admitted that insomnia and sleeplessness is caused by exhaustion of nerve force and a sluggish condition of the digestive organs. Overwork, worry and care have also their effect upon the nerves. Sleeplessness in springtime is one of the commonest troubles afflicting men and women, and in too many cases fatal results follow. In thousands of instances the terrible trouble develops insanity and madness—then the asylum with its surrounding horrors.

Paine's Celery Compound promptly banishes sleeplessness and inflammation of the nerves. The wonderful medicine quickly makes nerve fibre and nerve force, cleanses the blood, strengthens the tissues of the brain and gives rest and sleep. Paine's Celery Compound contains exactly the elements needed for your condition in springtime. May Heaven direct you to use it, dear sufferer, at this time. Mrs. A. Legault, Montreal, writes thus:

"I would have been a lost woman had I continued much longer in suffering. My case was a bad one. Nervous prostration, insomnia, headache and loss of memory made up my troubles, and I feared they would lead to insanity. The doctors treated me with all their skill, but I did not get any better. Some of my friends advised me to try Paine's Celery Compound. The first bottle gave me little relief, but the second worked miraculously on my nerves. After the use of nine bottles I can positively say I am cured."

The Fortnightly Club

Professor McGreggor Young delivered an eloquent and exhaustive lecture on the "Monroe Doctrine," in the parlors of the Y.M.C.A. last night to a fair sized audience. On account of the rain a great number who intended hearing the learned gentleman were prevented from doing so, and in consequence the number who enjoyed the address was not large. The varied interpretations of the United States of this sublime doctrine gave Mr. Young plenty of latitude, which he occupied to the fullest extent, and none who heard him came away in the least disappointed; but, on the other hand, were highly delighted and edified, as indeed they expected from the position and reputation of the person who now occupies the chair lately vacated by the Hon. David Mills

RESORT TO FALSEHOOD

A Cruel and Malicious Slander Against Engineer Rogers

The Toronto World yesterday published a cruel and malicious slander levelled against Mr. R. B. Rogers, Chief Engineer of the Trent Valley Canal. Our contemporary has probably been imposed upon by those who are working to have Port Hope made the outlet of the canal.

The Times is in a position to state that Mr. Rogers has acquired no property of privileges other than those acquired on behalf of the Department and under their instructions. Such means as these will not help Port Hope.

PROSPECTIVE BUSINESS GOOD

The Outlook for Rice Lake Steamers is Very Bright

The outlook for business over the Rice Lake and Otonabee River waters is particularly good this year. The Water Lily has a big job to start with in bringing to town 400 or 500 cords of wood. The Rice Lake boats have also towing on hand to keep them going till the tourist season opens.

The steamer City of Peterborough is being caulked and put in first class shape. She already has some excursions booked, and Mr. James Drain, the efficient manager, looks for a more than ordinarily busy season.

The tidy little steamer Water Lily is ready for work, but is unable to get through the locks on account of the condition of the dam.

THE LATE MISS WILSON

The Death of an Estimable Young Lady Occurred Yesterday

The Times is sorry to record the death of Miss Sarah Wilson, of Edinburgh street.

The young lady has been suffering from lung trouble for some time, and surrounded by her sorrowing sisters and brother she passed away yesterday afternoon. She will be especially missed, as she was the head of the household; her father and mother having predeceased her some years.

The brother and two sisters have the sympathy of the whole town in their sad affliction.

The funeral will take place to the Little Lake cemetery this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

A FOLDING ORGAN NEEDED

An Effort to Get One Being Made by the Members of the Y.M.C.A.

At the Y.M.C.A. there is on exhibition a folding organ which weighs but 25 lbs., and can easily be carried. It was manufactured by a Chicago firm, has double reeds, and gives forth good music of delightful tone and quality. For a long time the Y.M.C.A. have felt the need of such an article for open-air meetings and camp work. A special price of $35 has been quoted to the Association, although it is listed at $45. A special committee has been appointed to take charge of the funds, and anyone desiring to aid can leave contributions at office, or hand to any member of committee.

The following members compose the committee; Messrs. H. McCullough, W. Madill, W. Kennedy, S. Taylor and W. D. Campbell.

The proceeds of the basketball match this evening are to be devoted to this fund.

A BRIGHT LIFE ENDED

Mr. Harry Clark, Former Trombone Soloist of 57th Band Passes Away

It is with deepest regret we record the death of Mr. Harry Clark at his home in Stratford. Deceased young man was for two years in Peterborough, where he was in the employ of Messrs. Lech Bros, and was highly esteemed for his kindly and courteous manner toward all. He was a talented musician, and held the position of trombone soloist in the 57th Band. A short time ago he joined the 48th Highlanders Band and made a tour of the United States. He returned to his home in Stratford where he met with an accident which resulted in blood poisoning and which caused his death. His death causes a feeling of deep sorrow in the community, but consolation is felt in the fact that "it is the Father's hand that prepared the cup" and what He ordains is best.

The British Telegraph Service

An incident in the British House of Commons the other day directs attention to the fact that public ownership of large franchises is not always a guarantee of their profitable operation. On the occasion in question, Mr. Fenniker Heaton, Conservative, in the House of Commons, drew attention to the annual loss of $700,000 in the telegraph service, aggregating $8,300,000 since the Government took over the lines, and asked how the Government proposed to remedy this. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, admitted the correctness of the figures. The reason of the loss was that the public was more eager for rapid communication than the revenue warranted. Unproductive extensions must be discouraged. Mr. Fenniker Heaton also asked if the Government was prepared to lease the telegraph lines to a private company. To this question the Chancellor of the Exchequer did not reply. —Galt Reformer.

EMPIRE NEEDS COLONIES' AID OTHERWISE IT WILL BREAK DOWN

Under Weight of Burden of Defence

THE VIEWS OF LORD AVEBURY

He Wants a Council of Colonials to Advise Regarding Foreign Relations

GREAT BRITAIN CANNOT GIVE ASSISTANCE

To Emigrants to Canada—Barnardo Boys Leaving for This Country in April

London, March 20.—Lord Avebury, speaking to the British Empire League last night, declared an arrangement was not satisfactory, and could not be permanent, whereby British taxpayers would bear the whole weight of Imperial defence. They would welcome a well considered plan for a council representing the colonies to advise the British Foreign Secretary on the foreign relations of the Empire, even perhaps ultimately presiding over legislation as of an Imperial character. Unless something of this sort was done, he said, the Empire would inevitably break down.

London, March 20.—Mr. Chamberlain, replying to a correspondent, intimates that the British Government can give no assistance to emigration to a self-governing colony. The Canadian Government must act alone in any scheme.

A party of 321 trained boys from the Barnardo Home sailed on the steamship Canada yesterday, and 150 girls will sail on April 12. There have been 978 Barnardo children sent to Canada, to date.

Uncle Sam to Hustle the Sick Man Of Europe.

Constantinople, March 20.—After repeated unsuccessful representations relative to the fulfillment of the silent promises to satisfy the American claims, Mr. Leishman, the United States Minister, is making use of the autograph letter in which President Roosevelt obtained the consent of the Sultan to the American demands. The Minister intends to push the claims of the United States more vigorously than ever. An interesting situation is likely to develop at any moment, as the patience of the United States is exhausted.

A GREAT RECEPTION FOR CHAMBERLAIN

Enthusiastic Citizens Break Through the Police Lines

THE BOERS ARE NOW RECONCILED

London, March 20.—Colonial Secretary Chamberlain today received the city of London's congratulations on his mission to South Africa in the Guildhall, where the Lord Mayor, Sir Marcus Samuel, and the Corporation, presented him with an address of welcome in the presence of a large gathering of distinguished representatives of politics, the services, art, science, the Church, the law, and the drama.

Mr and Mrs. Chamberlain, who drove to the Guildhall in an open landau, received a remarkable welcome from the expectant crowds, who, in their enthusiasm here and there, broke through the police lines and surrounded the carriage.

Loud and prolonged cheers, and the waving of handkerchiefs greeted Mr Chamberlain on his rising to reply to the address. The Secretary's speech was largely a reiteration of his recent speech at Southampton. He said he was convinced that everything was in train for a united South Africa under the British flag. "In the words of my friend, General Delarey," said Mr. Chamberlain, "the Boer leaders will be as loyal to their new Government as they were to the old."

The Colonial Secretary added he found no trace in South Africa of vindictiveness among the Boers, expressed his admiration of the dignified way in which the burghers had accepted the result of the appeal to arms, and continued: "The only fruit which we desire from the war is the friendship of those who were so recently fighting us."

The conciliatory spirit displayed in this sentence pervaded the entire speech.

WEDDING BELLS

Nuptials of Mr. Elias Beavis, of Douro and Miss Jeanett Armstrong, Garden Hill

The residence of Mr. J. Armstrong, Garden Hill, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday last, when his sister, Miss Jeanett Armstrong, was united in marriage to Mr. Elias Beavis, of Douro.

A pretty travelling suit of blue ladies' cloth with white silk waist and trimmings to match was worn by the bride. A great number of valuable presents were received by the bride, which, in a small degree, indicates the esteem in which she is held. A handsome gold watchguard was the groom's present to the bride. She was also the recipient of a fruit dish set in silver and a handsome marble clock from the members of Zion Methodist church and Sabbath school, where she had been an active worker for many years and will be sadly missed.

Mr. and Mrs. Beavis left on the 5 o'clock G.T.R. train for their future home in Douro.

THEY ALL READ IT

A Local Merchant's Reason for Not Taking the Times

There is only an odd business man, here and there in the town, that is not a regular subscriber to The Times, and our circulation manager has been anxious of late to "make it unanimous," and secure the ear of the whole business community, without a single exception.

Yesterday he was met with this strange argument: "I cannot take The Times at my house, for if I did my hired girl would spend the early morning in reading the paper, and I cannot take it at my store for the reason that my clerks and workmen would do nothing until it was read through."

While this is quite flattering to ourselves, showing as it does that people everywhere are hungry for this great family journal, it does little credit to the merchant. It reminds us of the man who caused his garden to be cleared of fragrant rosebushes for fear his neighbors would get some of the scent. Fortunately, there are few of such individuals in our country.

A COMING TREAT

An Address of Unusual Merit to be Delivered Thursday Night

The Rev. John McDougall, Superintendent of Indian Missions for the Methodist church of Canada, will deliver an address in the George street church on Thursday, March 26th, commencing at 8 p.m. The lecturer is a man of great ability, of wide experience, and is one of the most interesting and entertaining speakers imaginable. The story of his life is more like a romance or fairy tale than the actual experiences of an extraordinary active life. The rev. gentleman comes with the very highest recommendations and will be listened to not only by Methodists, but by those of other denominations who have heard of the fame of this gifted speaker. He has worked amongst the Indians for nearly half a century, and relates incidents in his own experiences of the most thrilling nature.

The subject of his address here will not be that of a missionary, but will be in connection with his own life in the North-West. Those who are able to be present will miss a great treat.

TERROR IS SPREAD

In the West of England By Downpour of Salmon-Colored Rain

London, March 20.—The downpour of salmon-colored rain in the West of England and Wales lately, causing terror among the simple-minded is being subjected to earnest scientific inquiry. Other parts of the Isles and the continent appear to have escaped this phenomenon, though both in 1901 and 1902 similar colored rains reached England after they had passed over other parts of Europe.

Many, remembering the predicted arrival of dust clouds from the volcanic disturbances in the West Indies, have assumed that the terra-cotta-hued dust (left after evaporating some of the peculiar rain which has just fallen in England), owes its origin to the eruption of Mount Pelee.

"One is scarcely justified in saying offhand that this dust comes from the West Indies" said Dr. William Lockyer at the South Kensington College of Science. "What would appear more likely is that it is from a cloud of fine sand from the Sahara."

SIR THOMAS SHAUGHNESSY

Proposal for a Ten Years' Contract is Absurd These Days

London, March 20.—Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, in an interview to-day said that it was absurd in these days for the Canadian Government to talk of giving a ten years' subsidy for a sixteen knots Atlantic service. Personally he would be sorry to see Canada bound for such a length of time in such a manner.

Mr. Richard McCallum

A well known citizen of Stirling Ont., cured of Chronic Catarrh and Irritable Sore Throat by Catarrhozone.

A Remarkable Case Exciting Great Interest in Stirling, which, if Possible adds to the Popularity of Catarrhozone as a cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis and Throat Trouble

Catarrh is one of the most disagreeable and at the same time hardest to cure disease. This has been Mr. McCallum's experience.

"For many years," he writes, "I have suffered from Catarrh, and continually hawked and coughed so that my throat was always in an inflamed irritable condition.

"Doctors' medicines did not help me in the least, and all other remedies I used were quite useless. In one case it was time wasted in snuffing powder up the nose; in another using a greasy ointment, and so on. Not one of them was the least bit of good.

"I heard Catarrhozone favorably spoken of, and tried a sample, and it really benefitted me more in a few hours than years of treatment with doctors' and other so called remedies.

"Receiving such immense benefit from the sample size I got the complete outfit, large Hard Rubber Inhaler, etc., and but a few weeks of its use completely cured me of Catarrh and throat trouble.

"I recommend Catarrhozone as the most satisfactory Catarrh remedy on the market. Every word said about it is true.

(Signed) "Richard McCallum."

Now perhaps you need a remedy like Catarrhozone. It is the only treatment that is applied locally as well as constitutionally. The Inhaler clears the air passages, stops hawking and spitting, and purifies the breath.

The Ferrozone Tablets which are used in conjunction with Catarrhozone Inhaler, drive all the poisons from the blood and build up the system to a healthy, vigorous condition.

The complete outfit costs $1, at all druggists; trial size 25c. by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont. Buy Catarrhozone to-day.

MR. STRATTON'S RESIGNATION

According to all British parliamentary precedent, Hon. Mr. Stratton took the proper course in offering his resignation to Premier Ross the day after the Gamey charges were made in the House. A remark was made in The Times at the time that this was the proper constitutional course. It is in Mr. Stratton's favor that he took that course promptly.

The premier took the responsibility of not acting upon the resignation, and of withholding the information of the offer from the Legislature. Not to act upon it was his own concern, but we do not see how in justice either to Mr. Stratton or the Legislature, Mr. Ross could be right in leaving the House and country in ignorance of the fact that a resignation was tendered.

The premier has made up his mind to stand or fall with Mr. Stratton; and to conduct the fight in his own way.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Charged with being drunk in his own house a Bury (Lancashire, England) publican claimed his "legal privilege to be as drunk as he liked in his own private room." The bench allowed the claim.

A Standing Rock Indian, aged 108, recently walked several miles carrying a 100-pound sack of flour on his shoulder. That's nothing; there was a time when a few Standing Rock Indians held up the United States army.

France has a special association for discovering a remedy for seasickness. In Sept., 1901, it held an exhibition at Ostende. The investigations have since been continued, partly with the aid of a steamer lent by the Belgian government. The results are now made public in a book written by Dr. Madeuf, of Paris. It contains various rules as to diet, clothing, etc., but points out no sure remedy.

The choice of Mr. Justice Armour and Lieutenant-Governor Jette, to act with Lord Alverstone as British representative on the Alaska Boundary Commission is beyond criticism. All three are "eminent jurists," who can be depended upon to give due weight to the evidence and the arguments laid before them. Had the United States' appointments been made in the same spirit of fairness, the outlook would be more hopeful for a satisfactory and final settlement of the question in dispute.

Boarders Wanted

Authors at Work.

Mr. Anthony Hope, who is very much in the public eye again through the success of his clever novel "The Intrusions of Peggy," has evidently no desire to make a secret of his literary methods. Here is his record of a day's work. "Let us suppose," he says, "that I am bidden to write a short story. I arrive at my working-den at 9.45, and read my letters. The rest of the day is much as follows:

10. Put on writing-coat; find a hole in the elbow.

10.03. Light pipe, and sit down in large arm-chair by the fire.

10.15. Who the deuce can write a story on a beastly day like this? (It was quite nice weather, really—that's the artistic temperament.)

10.45. I must think about that confounded story. Besides, I don't believe she meant anything, after all.

11.15. I wish the—these—people hadn't asked me to write for their—paper!

11.45. Hullo! Will that do?

12. Hang it, that's no use!

12.20. I suppose if I happened to have a head instead of a turnip I could write that story.

12.40. Yes! No! By Jove, yes! Where's that pen? Oh, where the—? All right, here it is! Now then. (Scribble.)

1. Lunch! Good, I believe it's going.

1.30. Now I'll just knock it off. (Scribble.)

2.15. Well, I don't quite see my way to— Oh yes, I do! Good! That's not so bad.

3. One, two, three — three hundred words, a page. Well, I've put that in in good time anyhow! Where's that pipe?

3.15. I think I'll fetch 'em. Pitched in passion, by Jove!

3.40. Oh, I say, look here! I've only got about 1,200 words, and I want 2,000 What the deuce shall I do?

3.50. I must pad it, you know. She mustn't take him yet, that's all.

4. She can't take more than a page accepting the fool, though; it's absurd you know.

4.15. Oh, confound it!

4.45. Now let's see—two, four, six seven. Good, I'm in the straight now!

5. Thank Heaven, that's done! Now I suppose I must read the thing over. I know it's awful rot. Well, that's their lookout, they've bought it.

5.08. It's not so bad, though, after all

5.11. I rather like that. I don't know but it seems rather original.

5.15. H'm! I've read worse stories than this.

5.20. No, I'm hanged if I touch a word of it! It's not half bad.

5.25. Pretty smart ending!

5.30. Well, if there are a dozen men in England who can write a better story than that, I should like to see 'em, that's all!

5.35. Puff, puff, puff, puff! Well, I shan't touch a pen again to-day.

"There it is—'How a Story is Written By One Who Has Done It.' . . . The remark about the 'dozen men in England' represents a momentary phase of feeling, not a reasoned opinion."

In answer to a request to tell his readers how he worked, Mr. J. M. Barrie whose new book, "The Little White Bird," has just been published, wrote the following on a crumpled piece of paper that had evidently once contained tobacco:

A writer in "Chambers' Journal" describes how a crime was traced to the criminals by an exceedingly cunning expedient:

"The Mr. Elliott I have mentioned inherited no small amount of his father's courage and energy. On one occasion, armed with nothing but a horse-pistol, he faced an infuriated Madras crowd. He also, with great cleverness, detected the perpetrators of a daring robbery. All the plate of a leading hotel had been carried away, and as the loss was serious, the police were eager to apprehend the thieves. For some time they were quite baffled; but at last suspicion was concentrated on an eating-house near the shore, chiefly frequented by sailors. Having made his arrangements, Mr. Elliott entered this house one day in the costume of a naval officer, and ordered a dish of curry and rice. The food was soon placed before him, but accompanied by nothing better than a pewter spoon. This was precisely what had been expected. Handling the spoon with a contemptuous air, he asked if they expected one of her Majesty's officers to eat with such an article as that. Searching looks were then directed to him; but he succeeded in maintaining an appearance of ingenuousness and simplicity. Then, after a short delay, a silver spoon was brought bearing the mark of the plundered hotel. A few quick steps took the magistrate—for such he was—to the door, and a low whistle brought the waiting subordinates; then the landlord, landlady and servants were seized, and the whole of the plate recovered."

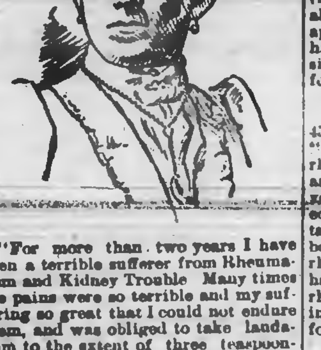
RHEUMATISM AND KIDNEY TROUBLE

Mrs. Alex. Armstrong, of Fox P.O., Man., Suffered to Such an Extent She Had to Take Laudanum to Relieve the Pain.

Would Lie For Days in a Stupid and Helpless Condition--Could Not Walk Without Assistance and Became a Physical Wreck.

A Friend Advised Powley's Liquified Ozone--Less Than Three Bottles Cured Her Completely--She Is Free From Aches and Pains and Is in Perfect Health.



"For more than two years I have been a terrible sufferer from Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble Many times the pains were so terrible and my suffering so great that I could not endure them, and was obliged to take laudanum to the extent of three teaspoonfuls at a time, and I would lie in a stupid and helpless condition for two or three days. I became a physical wreck and thought I would never recover. I got so weak I could not walk without assistance, and I could only get relief from my suffering by taking laudanum. I took doctor's medicine but got no relief. A friend of mine advised me to try Powley's Liquified Ozone. I purchased a bottle and began taking it. I had taken only half the bottle when I began to feel that it was doing me good and I began to get better. I continued the use of Ozone until I had taken over two large bottles, and I am now completely cured. My general health is better than it has been for years. I am entirely free from rheumatic pains and no longer suffer from kidney trouble. In fact I am in perfect health. I am free from aches and pains, and blessed be your Ozone, for it has done it all. I attribute my complete recovery and restoration to perfect health to the use of Ozone alone, having taken no other remedy, and I can recommend Ozone to all sick and suffering women. When all other remedies fail Ozone will restore your health as it did mine.

(Signed)
MRS. ALEX. ARMSTRONG,
Sept. 9, 1902. Fox P.O., Man.

MANY OTHER CURES.

The following extracts are taken from the letters of a few of the many persons who have been cured of rheumatism and kidney troubles by Powley's Liquified Ozone:

WM. FLETCHER,

Erinvale, Ont., says: "For about two years I suffered from kidney disease and finally became so ill that my doctor advised me that if I had any business to settle that I had better have it attended to. Fully expecting to die I had him draw up my will. About this time Mr. Conover, a neighbour, recommended Powley's Liquified Ozone. I felt better after taking the second dose and after taking five bottles was entirely cured. Although 73 years of age I am so well that I can do a good amount of work and feel that I am good for at least ten years to come."

WM. GOUGH,

Danforth and Pape avenue, Toronto, says: "I had a severe attack of la grippe, which developed into rheumatic fever. I was reduced in weight to 130 pounds. I employed the services of a good physician, but derived no benefit; in fact I became worse. I was advised to try several of the cures advertised, but in spite of all the many remedies I took I grew weaker and weaker. I was advised to go to Preston Mineral Springs, which I did, but I was so weak I could not stand the baths and got worse. I became discouraged and came home to die.

"After taking three bottles of Powley's Liquified Ozone the rheumatism left me. For six weeks previous to this I could take no nourishment at all, but the first bottle gave me a good appetite. I began to gain in flesh and have been steadily increasing ever since. I now weigh 170 pounds and feel as well as possible."

JOSEPH CORON,

45 St. Antoine street, Montreal, says: "Two years ago I was laid up with rheumatism for nearly two months, and since February last I have been very bad. I saw your Ozone advertised and I procured a bottle and began taking it. I had not completed the bottle when I began to get better; my rheumatic pains began to leave me. I have taken only three bottles and my rheumatism is completely cured. I am in better health now than I have been for the last ten years."

D. T. GREENSIDE,

99 Clarence street, London, Ont., says: "For years I had rheumatism and indigestion. I tried all kinds of remedies, but got nothing to help me out of my trouble. Mrs. Harry Mason, of Toronto, sent me several bottles of Powley's Liquified Ozone. After taking it I am happy to say I am now in splendid health. You certainly have the best remedy in the market to-day for chronic diseases, as I have proved to my entire satisfaction."

GEO. BRENNAN,

504 Albert street, Montreal, says: "For four years past I have been a sufferer from rheumatism. Sometimes so severe was the pain that I was forced to lay off from my work. I am a cabman and when I was forced to go to bed I suffered much pain. I tried all kinds of liniments and patent medicines, but got no relief. About July 1st I was induced to try Ozone and when I had taken about three bottles I was free from any pain and my rheumatism was entirely cured, and I felt better than I had for years."

WALTER RAINE,

city traveler for the Hough Lithographing Co., Toronto, says: "For some time I was troubled with kidney disease, which I believe was fast developing into Bright's disease. I also had rheumatism in my shoulders and knees and my digestion was far from good. I tried Powley's Liquified Ozone. The first bottle helped me and I continued taking it until I had taken four bottles, when every symptom of my old ailments was gone. I now keep Ozone in the house and find it an excellent remedy for any sickness that we may have."

MRS. MATILDA DALE,

90 Edwin street, Toronto, says: "My husband contracted a very severe case of muscular rheumatism. He soon became so bad that he had to quit work. Finally he had to be lifted or turned in bed, as he could not move himself. At length we decided to try Powley's Liquified Ozone. At first it made him very sick and he wanted to give it up. But I had heard if Powley's Liquified Ozone caused any sickness at the stomach that this was a sign that the remedy was doing good work, and I prevailed on him to continue it. In one week after, he was able to get out of bed. He continued to take Powley's Liquified Ozone, using seven bottles, when he was entirely relieved of the rheumatism, and is now working every day."

DISEASE GERMS cannot exist where Powley's Liquified Ozone is used. We claim just one thing for Ozone and that is that it cures disease by destroying disease germs wherever located. It is due to this fact alone that Ozone cures rheumatism and kidney trouble when drug preparations prove entirely valueless. Ozone is sold by all reliable druggists at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle. Our book on rheumatism and kidney trouble is free. Write a postal to-day.

(COPYRIGHTED)

By FLORENCE WARDEN.

Author of "The House in the Marsh," "A Prince of Darkness," etc.

surrounded The Haigh looked green and fresh in the strong light, and showed up in high relief a little group of people who were slowly strolling about the grounds.

Foremost among the group were the figures of Lady Myfanwy Scorton, a tall, handsome, well-developed blonde, who looked remarkably picturesque in her riding habit, and Norma with her slender form, pale face, and big plaintive black eyes. In her black dress, with the dark lines made by distress and anxiety under her eyes, she looked a pathetic figure; and there was much more of grief in her face and manner than in those of Lady Myfanwy, who had so recently lost her fiance.

Behind these two were the companions whom Lord Wyersdale's daughter had brought with her, on her very early visit to enquire about the invalid Astley. The one was her young brother, a round-faced boy of eighteen or so, who wore his arm in a sling, and a fragile-looking girl, exquisitely dressed in a pale gray tailor-made costume, with gray furs to match and a black velvet hat, who proclaimed her nationality by a slight but not unpleasing American accent.

Miss Brown, for that was her name, was causing a little flutter of consternation among her companions by her outspokenness.

"Yes, it's all very sad, and we've been thinking and talking of nothing else, Lady Darwen, I assure you," she said, when Lady Myfanwy had made a mournful allusion to the death of Sir Hugh. "What with poor Sir Hugh's accident, and then his dying, and then finding out that Sir Astley was married—"

"Sadie! What are you saying?" interrupted Lady Myfanwy quickly.

"It's time you gave up that habit of thinking aloud, you know!" murmured Lady Myfanwy's brother mischievously, in the ear of the indiscreet Sadie.

Jack Scorton, who was called "Jack" because his name was Reginald and he didn't like it, was in his first year at Oxford, and was bubbling over with high spirits and the enjoyment of life. He had taken a great fancy to Lady Astley, whose mournful beauty was the greatest possible contrast to his own robust rosiness, and to his sister's dashing, florid style of good looks; and he was much annoyed at being put in the background as a mere boy.

"What was it that your husband had the matter with him, Lady Darwen?" asked he, thrusting himself forward between his sister and the pale lady in mourning.

Norma hesitated, and her face clouded.

"It was fever, a slight return of the fever he had out in Africa, I think," said she, knowing well while she spoke that distress of mind had been the chief factor in his illness.

"Did the doctor say that?" said Lady Myfanwy, who was possessed by a strong curiosity concerning Astley's relapse.

There had been rumors about the neighborhood already that all was not right at "The Haigh," and Lord Wyersdale's family, who had always been intimate with the Darwens, felt an interest, which the young ones, at any rate, were unable to repress, in the affairs of their old friends.

"Oh, oh, I think so," said Norma rather incoherently.

For a sight had just met her eyes which filled her with uneasiness. And unluckily, try as she would to look in another direction, the sight in question riveted her attention and therefore soon [illegible]

They were all on the great lawn which stretched between the porticoed front of Darwen Haigh and the high road into the town. Nothing but a broad border, in which the spring flowers would appear by and by, and a straggling belt of tall firs and still leafless shrubs, separated the bare stretch of grass from the fence beyond. Norma could see over the fence and through the tree trunks and the leafless twigs. And this was what she saw:

Astley was being driven home in his dogcart when, just before he reached the lodge gates and turned into the avenue, he met the doctor's gig coming in the opposite direction.

Dr. Wharles, who saw the scowl on his late patient's face, and knew what had brought it there, was quite wise enough to wish to pass with only a cheery salutation and a quickening of his horse's pace. But Astley was in no mood for self-restraint. The indignation against Wharles, which had been seething within him all the morning, now bubbled up uncontrollably, made his face deadly white, his voice hoarse, his movements spasmodic and sudden.

"Stop!" thundered he, as he sprang up in the dogcart, and made a sign to the groom to check the horse. "Stop! I want a word with you!"

The fresh, handsome face of the doctor grew a little pale, too.

"Me!" he cried in cheerful surprise, as he stopped his horse, which he was driving himself, and tried to smile in the baronet's face.

The attempt was a failure, however. Before he could compose his face, Astley had leapt down into the road and come up to him.

"Yes, you, you plotting knave and unscrupulous rascal!" stammered the baronet, getting out the syllables in jerks, as he tightened his grasp of his hunting-whip.

"Sir Astley! You forget yourself," said Dr. Wharles, stammering in his turn. "If you want any explanation—"

"I don't!" cried Astley, as he leapt on to the step of the dogcart, "I want satisfaction. And I take it—like this."

And with that he cut the doctor a smart blow across his cheek, causing the flesh to swell and the blood to come, and the doctor himself to shrink back, quivering.

The doctor uttered no word, no cry. But out of his half-closed eyes he shot at the baronet a deadly look.

CHAPTER XIV.

Although Norma and her visitors were too far from the spot where the encounter took place between Astley and Dr. Wharles for them to hear clearly the words which passed between the two men, yet the actions of both had been unmistakable.

The stop, the springing down of Astley, his attack on the doctor, and the dogged attitude of the other: all were to be seen too plainly for anybody to make more than a faint attempt not to notice what was going on.

And if such an attempt was made on the part of the visitors it was thrown away on poor Norma, who was too completely absorbed in the unhappy occurrence to pay any attention to the effect it might have upon her companions.

It was not until Astley had got down into the road, and the doctor had suffered his coachman to take the reins and to drive him off at a smart pace, that the group on the lawn got their breath, and the ladies tried to behave as if they had noticed nothing remarkable.

"What lovely lawns they always have at The Haigh! You must have a very good head gardener!" murmured Lady Myfanwy, frowning at her brother to try to divert his gaze from the dogcart, which could be seen between the tree trunks coming slowly up the avenue.

"Yes, oh yes," stammered poor Norma, without the least idea to what proposition she was assenting.

"So very smooth—and green," added Jack demurely, with a boy's sense of mischief, though also with a kind-hearted wish to help on the slightly flagging conversation.

"Yes," again said Norma, her large eyes haggard, and her lips trembling. "I—I—"

Her voice shook. She was on the point of breaking down. The impulsive American girl sprang forward to put one arm round her.

"Don't worry her," said she. "Let's go away. Don't you see that she must want to get rid of us all?"

One more faint effort Norma made to keep on the conventional level.

"Not at all," she began.

But Sadie laughed gently and gave her a sort of hug.

"I'm going, anyway," she said, as with a nod of farewell she began to skip away across the grass to where Lady Myfanwy's horse was waiting, with the phaeton which had brought the other two.

Lord Wyersdale's daughter took a more conventional leave, but Jack lingered a little, and said heartily, as he wrung her hand:

"Don't look so wretched, Lady Darwen. It'll all dry straight, whatever's wrong: it always does, you know! And," he bent forward to whisper, with boyish glee: "I was glad to see that Wharles got a thrashing. He's an awful bounder. Good-by."

With which farewell he ran after the others, leaving Norma half inclined to cry, indeed, but half inclined to laugh, too.

As they disappeared down the drive, with nods and smiles and waving hands, kindly meant to keep up her spirits in the portentous circumstances, Norma, rather comforted in spite of herself by these demonstrations of kindness on the part of her new acquaintances, went quickly into the house in search of Astley.

She did not find him: she was told that he had shut himself into the library, and, after pacing up and down outside the door for a little while in the hope that he might hear her and tell her to come in, she went sorrowfully away to her own room.

It was still very early, wanting an hour or more to luncheon time. She spent her time aimlessly enough, in wandering up and down the big house, which seemed so cold and empty now that she was quite alone, when she was informed to her consternation that Mrs. Wharles wished to see her.

Dogmatic People

Are often capable of doing injury to less positive people, the very emphasis of their affirmation making up for lack of argument and want of evidence. And the worst of all dogmatists are those doctors who, harking back to some old dogma of the schools, insist that certain patients are beyond all medical help, because, forsooth, their diseases are beyond the limited medical knowledge of the dogmatist.

"When the physicians had given me up I was cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery." That statement, varied sometimes in form but identical in fact, is one of the common expressions found in the letters of those cured by "Golden Medical Discovery." Sometimes the statement runs; "I was given up by four doctors," showing a desperate effort to find relief in local practitioners. But however the story begins, it almost invariably ends with the statement, "I am perfectly cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

Persons suffering from "weak" lungs, hemorrhages, deep-seated cough, emaciation and weakness, have been restored to perfect health by the "Discovery."

The philosophy of the cures effected by this marvelous medicine is not hard to understand. Life is sustained by food, digested and assimilated. The basis of health is a good appetite and a sound digestion. In almost all cases of disease loss of appetite is an early symptom, and this is promptly followed by a wasting of the flesh. For some cause the food eaten is not being converted into nutrition and the body and its organs, being starved, must grow weak. There is only one way to get strength and that is by food. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery heals diseases of the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition, so enabling the body to assimilate the needed nourishment. Thus various forms of "weakness," so-called, are cured by the "Discovery"—"weak" lungs, "weak" heart, "weak" nerves, "weak" or sluggish liver, etc., because the organs are made strong by food, which is perfectly digested and assimilated after the "Discovery" has healed the diseases of the stomach and associated organs of digestion and nutrition.

PAIN ALL GONE.

"I have taken your medicine with the greatest satisfaction," writes Mrs. George Riehl, of Lockport Station, Westmoreland Co., Penn'a, and can honestly say Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has cured me of a pain in my right lung that the best doctors could not help. My appetite and digestion have improved so that I can eat anything at all, and I feel better than I have for years. Your 'Favorite Prescription' has cured me of womb trouble that I suffered from for fifteen years, and painful monthly troubles. I can work a whole day and not get tired. My pain is all gone and I feel like a new person. I suffered with headache all the time, but have no headache now since taking your medicine. Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription' do all that you claim for them, and more, too. I have been cured of troubles that I suffered from for fifteen years, and the best doctor in the State could not cure me. 'Golden Medical Discovery' cured me of neuralgia that I suffered from for five years, and if my letter can save one other poor sufferer, you can publish it."

"ALMOST A MIRACLE."

"I took a severe cold which settled in the bronchial tubes," writes Rev. Frank Hay, of Nortonville, Jefferson Co., Kansas. "After trying medicines labeled "Sure Cure," almost without number, I was led to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took two bottles and was cured, and have stayed cured.

"When I think of the great pain I had to endure, and the terrible cough I had, it seems almost a miracle that I was so soon relieved."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They do not re-act upon the system and become a necessity, as do many other pills.

The Electric Spark GOLD MINING COMPANY

Offers to investors an opportunity to secure through a purchase of its stock

A monthly income of $50.00

On an investment of $1,000; or a monthly income of $5.00 on an investment of $100.00. This is purely a business proposition. Their is no uncertainty about it; you do not take any chances. We actually have enough ore in sight to keep us working for three or four years, and the more development work we do the more ore there is in sight; the deeper we go the richer it is. Bear in mind, too, that we do not come to the public with an untried experiment. Our shaft is nearing the 200 foot mark, with better values at the bottom than any place nearer the surface. The ore runs in value from $25.00 to $86.80 per ton, by actual carload shipments

The par value of our stock is $1.00, with only a limited amount of shares to be sold, and this has been placed on the market at the low rate of 20 CENTS PER SHARE. On March 14, the price will be advanced to 30 cents per share, providing any of the original offering remains unsold; therefore we advise all who are interested to send in their applications without a moment's delay, as they will be filled and eventually rejected just in the order received.

Thunder Mountain!

is the richest gold producing camp in the United States, and also the largest. The Thunder Mountain district, in central Idaho, is twenty miles wide and forty miles long. In comparison with this we have Cripple Creek, four miles wide and seven miles long. In many of the Thunder Mountain mines ore has already been reached that carries ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD TO THE TON. All of the Thunder Mountain ore is free milling, which means that it can be treated by the cheapest extraction process known—the ordinary stamp mill. It can be both mined and milled at a cost not to exceed $2 a ton. The past years operations in the several working mines have opened up millions of tons of ore that will give a net profit of from $10 to $3 a ton, enabling the respective companies to pay dividends at a rate never before equalled. Such is the showing and the prospect of the

EAST DEWEY GOLD MINING CO.

which unless all indications are at fault, will become the largest producer in the district. The EAST DEWEY mine, which it owns outright, is located directly on Thunder Mountain, just east of the famous "Dewey" mine, which already has $20,000,000 of ore in sight. The surface area of the East Dewey mine is one hundred and twenty acres—six full quartz claims. The company has also secured the big GOLDEN GATE mine, in the Big Creek section of the Thunder Mountain district—which has been so aptly termed "The Pot of Gold"—and is now developing the mine with all possible speed. For a distance of 9000 feet, nearly two miles, the Golden Gate mines cover a mineralized ledge that is 900 feet wide, with an average height above the tunnel level of 500 feet, thus giving it the largest exposed tonnage of any mine in the west.

If you would share in the enormous profits which these figures indicate and which these developments promise, invest your money in "East Dewey" Stock. It can be bought to-day for 10 Cents a Share. Its par value is $1.

If the East Dewey mines are what they appear to be, and there is absolutely no reason to doubt or question these indications, this stock will eventually be worth at least $10 a share, and to-day you can buy it for ten cents. PRICE ADVANCES TO FIFTEEN CENTS ON FEBRUARY 28th. 5% discount allowed for cash. Stock sold at flat price of 10 cents on deferred payments, 10% with application, and 10% monthly until paid. STOCK MARKETS

SOLD OUT CONDITION OF BROKERAGE BOOKS

New York, March 20.—One of, if not the strongest and most certain indicators of the future of prices is the extent of public holdings. The recent decline caused the closing of many accounts whose owners declined to protect their holdings further. As a rule, when marginal stock holders fail to renew their margins, the market is pretty close to turning in the opposite direction. On the other hand, when the public freely protect their holdings additionally in a period of declining prices, the market usually works its way lower. In the last week of the just past decline the public generally disposed of their stock, instead of protecting them further. As a result there has been a great shrinkage in the amount of cash being borrowed by commission houses, and their present holdings for their clients are far below the customary average, prices in the meantime are slowly hardening. It is obvious why the above rule can usually be relied upon to work. If the public protect, the bears failing to shake out the holdings, become more aggressive in selling the market to reach these stocks for covering purposes. If they let go them, the bears and insiders secure the stocks, and instead of there being further incentive to hammer the market, both are interested in advancing prices; the former in order to dispose of their bargains at a profit; the latter to secure a better range of prices, in order to sell afresh. At present brokerage houses are pretty well sold out of their surplus holdings for clients and the fact is a decided bull argument. When brokerage holdings are extremely low, stocks are usually good to buy; when commission houses are heavily loaded with stocks, nine times out of ten the market is close to top prices and then stocks are good to sell. The former condition exists at present, and with the other active factors effecting values at present leaning strongly to the bull side, we consistently and confidently espouse the cause of improvement.

THE MONEY KINGS OF THE WORLD

Are Investing Millions in the Oil Industry of Kern County, Cal.

J. Pierpont Morgan and his associates will spend $200,000,000 in the development of the fuel oil industry of Kern County, Cal.—New York Herald of Sept. 27.

Rothschilds of London is now financially backing the new railroad in Kern County, Cal., to the ocean. This road is known as the Midland Pacific.

Many dishonest mining and oil schemes have bitten you. Has it not occurred to you that SOMEWHERE there MUST be good oil mining property, properly managed where your money would be honestly used and later pay you big returns.

THE DAYTON OIL COMPANY is modestly capitalized at three hundred thousand dollars for the purpose of bringing to the surface the oil underlying its valuable KERN COUNTY, CALIFORNIA LANDS. WE CAN ASSURE YOU THAT EVERY DOLLAR you invest will be honestly used to build up a property which at no distant day will be numbered among the largest of California's oil producing companies.

KERN COUNTY, California, has the Greatest Oil Field in the World

And the Dayton Oil Company owns outright enough positive oil-bearing land in that county for the drilling of 300 wells. Thousands of investors have made comfortable fortunes by small investments in oil stocks represented in that country. WHY NOT YOU? A modest investment now will prove the foundation of your fortune and a source of income in your old age.

Conservative experts say that California oil at $2 a barrel is equal to coal at $6.00 per ton. We figure only upon a basis of 35 cents a barrel. The following figures prove what this corporation will return to you as dividends from the sale of oil at 35 cents a barrel.

The proceeds which this corporation will receive from the production of Ten Wells will enable it declaring a dividend of 90 cents a share or $90 upon every 100 shares which it will have issued. You have an opportunity now of identifying yourself as a stockholder upon the ground floor basis of 25 cents a share. This stock is being rapidly subscribed for and the time is not far distant when the company will be holding it at 50 cents a share. A few months from now will find this stock worth its par value of $1.00 a share.

The President of this corporation, Mr. Geo. M. Smart (who is also secretary of the Dayton Gas Light and Coke Co.) spent a number of days in Kern county recently and took every precaution in the purchasing of the valuable tract now the property of the Dayton Oil Company. He made a thorough study while upon the Pacific slope of the fuel oil situation in California and he states, "Though the industry is yet but in its infancy, it has made wonderful progress, and that to-day it offers an opportunity of making all who have an interest a comfortable income for life."

THE DAYTON OIL COMPANY

Will in a few months' time be classed as one of the heavy producing companies of Kern County, Cal., and its success means that its stockholders will rejoice at their having become identified when the opportunity presented itself. You will find upon investigation that this company with its marvelously rich oil bearing lands, offers the safest, best and most profitable oil investment that can be placed before shrewd, sound, sensible and successful investors.

We are now approaching the time to make our last call to you to identify yourself while the opportunity presents itself, as the company has but a few thousand shares left for sale at 25 cents per share.

$100 invested now in Dayton Oil Co. will mean $400 when the stock goes to par, and such time is not far distant; to say nothing of the rich dividends. Now is the time to lay the foundation of a competence with a modest investment.

Be wise, become identified while the opportunity is presented to you to come in upon the ground floor.

If You Are in the Market for an Investment

That will prove beyond a question of doubt, the best you have ever placed money in.

We say, don't delay. The time is now. If not accepted at this time you will want an interest later on, you then will have to pay a fancy price for its stock, which you can buy to-day at the Ground Floor Price 25 Cents a Share

The Little Kingdom Mining Co.

Owns or controls more than 100 acres in Gilpin County, the richest mining district in Colorado, if not in the world. This county has produced over one hundred millions of dollars and continues to yield up great wealth.

The Little Kingdom Mining Company's property has passed the prospective stage and has enough low-grade ore in sight to keep a mill running steadily. As soon as the company has sufficient funds, a mill will be erected, assuring a steady income, which will enable it to push developments and place the property on a dividend-paying basis.

BIG DEVELOPMENT FUND.—The capital stock of the Company is $100,000 (divided in shares of one cent each); more than half of this amount was set aside as a treasury or development fund. Few mining companies possess such a large development fund according to their capital.

An Opportunity

We are offering for public subscription a limited amount of stock of exceptional merit affording an unusual opportunity for a very profitable investment. We desire to be conservative in our representations but do not hesitate to state that the stocks of the properties we are representing are absolutely certain to rapidly increase in value, and the fortunate purchasers of the stock at the present prices will have more than reason to congratulate themselves for grasping this opportunity.

Success lies in being alive to that which is going on around you, and they who "grasp the skirts of happy chance can breast the blows of circumstance."

We have the disposition of a certain amount of treasury stock in four corporations. We have thoroughly investigated the present value of the properties owned by the Companies, and have full cognition of the immense profits that are awaiting only the further development and equipment of the properties.

We are offering an equal number of shares in each of the four corporations at a price that make the combined cost a most attractive feature, giving also to the purchaser an unusual safe guard on his or her investment; in other words, you are not placing all your eggs in one basket. Or if you prefer you can purchase separately the stocks we offer.

As the money received from the sale of the stock is strictly for the purpose of equipping the properties with the necessary machinery, etc., the time will not be long before handsome dividends are available. We are not asking your subscriptions to pay for the properties; they are already owned by the Companies, and there are no outstanding obligations.

This preliminary notice is to advise the public in general that an opportunity now presents itself for a safe investment of unusual character, embodying also speculative possibilities sufficiently great to make even a small investor a competency within a few years.

You can invest in any amount from Ten Dollars up, and, if so desired, you can have the privilege of paying in installments the amount of stock paid for from time to time being non-forfeitable in the event of your ceasing payments, thus relieving those of small or uncertain income from possibility of loss, should they for any reason become unable to continue payments.

Our business is to aid responsible Companies in the disposal of their treasury stock for the thorough equipment of their properties; we do not and will not handle indiscriminate mining or other stocks under any circumstances. We make a thorough personal examination and investigation as to the merits and possibilities before undertaking to assist in financing any Corporation. The paramount issue with us is to give complete satisfaction and cause much success to our patrons.

We have furnished the publishers of The Times with an outlined description of the Companies we represent, and the names of the Directors of each Company whose stock we offer to their subscribers and friends. We have also furnished The Times with bank references as to our own bona fides and standing. We desire to command the utmost confidence of all subscribers and to retain same along with their friendship for all time; you add a few dollars; we add our experience, brains and labor; you increase your riches without effort and increase our power to make you still richer. In ordinary everyday experience a man's expenses nearly equal his income and he has little chance to make a turn for the betterment of his condition. This is anyone's opportunity; you can invest Ten Dollars or One Thousand Dollars on the same basis as one who invests Ten Thousand Dollars. You cannot afford to neglect your opportunity and this is a chance to get in on the ground floor and reap the profits of substantial, quick money making enterprises. Your money need not be tied up for a long time; we know that one of the Companies, at least, will pay handsome dividends this year. It is an easy matter to become rich; just watch for the opportunity and take advantage of it. This is your opportunity; will you grasp it?

A Police Court Case

One of our local merchants was prosecuted by Town Solicitor E. H. D. Hall, for "Hawking" fish through the streets without a license. The merchant claims he bought the fish in Montreal, and had no way of knowing whether the fish were caught in Ontario waters. As there seems to be some misunderstanding as to the law in regard to the matter, Police Magistrate Dumble reserved judgment until he looks more carefully into the law bearing on the case. Mr. O'Connell appeared for the defense.

—Owing to spring coming so early this year, owners of back yards should see that their premises are properly cleaned as soon as possible. If this is done promptly it may save a doctor's bill later on.

A BRIGHT LIFE ENDED

Demise of Miss Julia Hanlan Yesterday Afternoon

The many friends of Miss Julia Hanlan will be sorry to hear of her death, which took place yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's Hospital. The deceased young lady contracted a cold about a year ago, which developed into consumption, and which carried her off. She was greatly beloved by all who knew her, and her death will be generally deplored. Much sympathy is felt for her two sisters — Miss Maggie and Miss Katie, with whom she resided.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, 39 Elm street, to-morrow, Sunday, at 3 o'clock p.m., to St. Peter's cathedral, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery. The Times extends its sympathy.

DOCTOR LEARNED

The Power of Pure Food

Sometimes a physician who has exhausted medical skill on his own case finds that he has to look to pure food to cure him by its simple and homely yet natural and scientific principles.

A well known physician and surgeon of Crowley, La., has spent a great many years in this profession. "The services of my life-time," he says, "have been to try to better mankind, to help them preserve health when in possession of it and to help them to regain it when lost. So it is with great pleasure I recall my first introduction to Grape-Nuts. I had never investigated the food until I came to use it in my own case. I had suffered all that a man can suffer from dyspepsia, had tried to heal myself and had had the services of many other prominent physicians. Then I clutched at Grape-Nuts as a drowning man clutches at a straw and to my great astonishment and gratification I found that I had discovered something besides a bread food to tone me up, for the food began to recuperate me immediately and [illegible] entirely cured [illegible] to such an extent that I have returned to my practice and can eat everything that I desire and can do without distress of any kind.

"And I have not only found a good friend in sickness but a most nutritious article of diet I have ever found and I notice its splendid effect more particularly at night. It is always followed by a most refreshing sleep, and [illegible] look into the scientific marks of the food [illegible]." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

IN MEMORIAM

Of Margaret Theresa Leahy, who died Jan. 9th 1903, aged 12 years.

A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we loved is stilled.
A dear one has left our number
Who no more our songs will sing.

Darling Theresa you have left us,
Broken-hearted here alone,
Yet we know your watching o'er us,
Safe in your celestial home.

A school-mate dear from us is gone,
Dear Theresa's voice is still,
A place is vacant in our school,
Which never can be filled.

You have gone to meet your brother,
On the bright eternal shore,
Oh may we who now are mourning,
Meet you there to part no more.

A bud the gardener gave us,
A pure and lovely friend,
He gave it to our keeping,
To cherish undefiled.

But just as it was opening,
To the glory of the day,
Down came the Heavenly Gardener,
And took our bud away.

Yes, dear Theresa, thou hast left us,
All your cares and sorrows are o'er,
In Heaven we hope to meet thee,
But alas! on earth no more.

We miss thee from our school, dear,
We miss thee from thy place,
A shadow o'er our life is cast,
We miss the sunshine of thy face.

We lay thee in thy tomb, dear,
Sweet blossom of a day,
[illegible] to view thy bloom,
When thou wert called away.

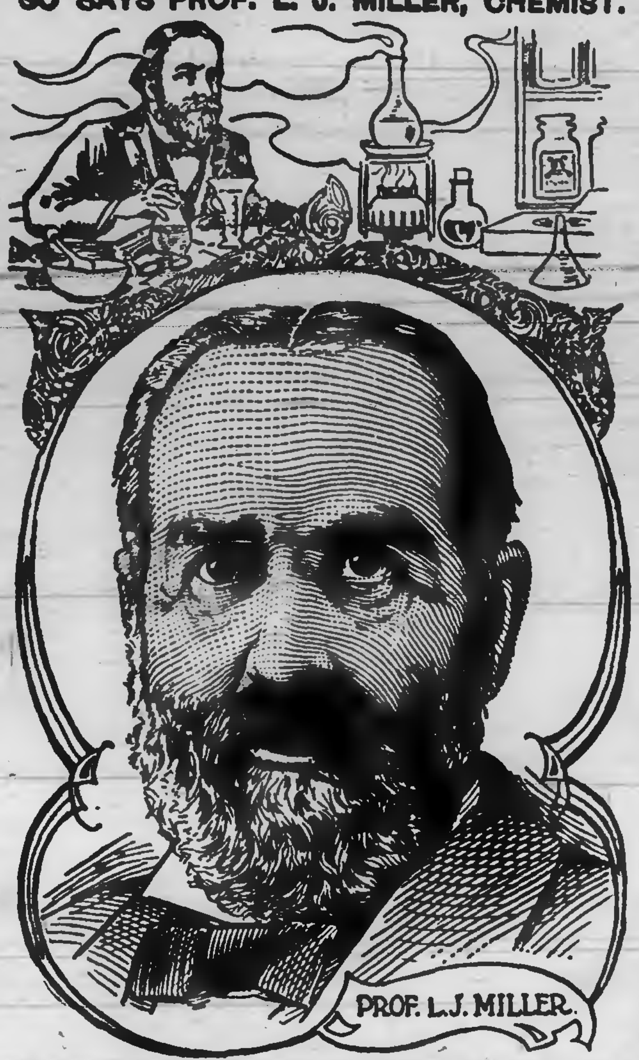
At length relieved from all thy pain,
Our Theresa sweetly sleeps,
How calm and peaceful thy repose,
With Christ thy soul doth keep.

"SCHOOLMATES."

CHEMICAL ANALYSIS

Reveals That "Pe-ru-na is Calculated to Tone up the System, Restore the Functions and Procure Health."

SO SAYS PROF. L. J. MILLER, CHEMIST.



PROF. L.J. MILLER.

Prof. L. J. Miller, late Professor of Chemistry and Botany of the High School of Ypsilanti, Mich., writes from 3327 N. Clark Street, Chicago, Ill., as follows:

"As several of my friends have spoken to me of the favorable results obtained through the use of Peruna, especially in cases of catarrh, I examined it most thoroughly to learn its contents.

"I found it composed of extracts of herbs and barks of most valuable medicinal qualities combined with other ingredients, delicately balanced, calculated to tone up the system, restore the functions and procure health.

"I consider Peruna one of the most skillfully and scientifically prepared medicines, which the public can use with safety and success."—PROF. L. J. MILLER.

"Builds Up the System."

Hon. Joseph H. Ridgeway, Secretary of the American Anti-Treat Society, writes the following letter from the Grand Central Hotel, St. Paul, Minn.:

Joseph Ridgeway.

"It is with great pleasure that I endorse Peruna as an honest medicine, competent to do all it claims. I have used it several times and know of nothing that cures so completely, and at the same time builds up the system.

"I have recommended it to a number of my friends and always feel that I do them a service for I know how satisfactory the results invariably are. I only wish every family had a bottle—it would save much sickness and doctor bills."—Joseph H. Ridgeway.

"Feel Better Than for Five Years."

Mr. James B. Taylor, Roberts, Ind., writes:

"I am at the present time entirely well. I can eat anything I ever could. I took five bottles of Peruna, and feel better now than I have for five years. I have doctored with other doctors off and on for fifteen years, so I can recommend your medicine very highly for stomach troubles. I take great pleasure in thanking you for your free advice and Peruna."—James B. Taylor.

"I Enjoy my Meals as I Used to."

Mr. J. W. Pritchard, Wolf Lake, Ind., writes:

"I am pleased to say that I have been cured of catarrh of the stomach by Peruna. I could hardly eat anything that agreed with me. Before I would get half through my meal my stomach would fill with gas causing me much distress and unpleasant feelings for an hour or two after each meal. But, thanks to your Peruna, I am now completely cured, and can eat anything I want to without any of the distressing symptoms. I can now enjoy my meals as I used to do, and it is all due to Dr. Hartman and his wonderful medicine, Peruna.

"It has been one year since I was cured, and I am all O. K. yet, so I know I am cured."—J. W. Pritchard.

Dyspepsia is a very common phase of summer catarrh. A remedy that will cure catarrh of one location will cure it anywhere. Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. That it is a prompt and permanent cure for catarrh of the stomach the above letters testify.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.

A FORTUNE IN MAY CORN—May corn is now selling 25 cents per bushel less than it was last year at this time. On account of the greater demand for export and manufacturing purposes, it should be selling considerably above. You never saw such a situation in your life, and those who take advantage of the opportunity offered by the low price of May corn at this time, should soon double their money. We predict that May corn will sell for 60c. in March and 75c. in May. Our former predictions have been verified in every respect. Large capital is not necessary to take advantage of this opportunity. Buy now and stand to make a fortune. $25.00 will margin 1,250 bushels, 2 cents, $50.00 will margin 2,500 bushels, and $100.00 will margin 5,000 bushels. Every two cent raise in price means a profit of 100%. We made $2,438.50 for a customer in six weeks from an investment of $250. Experience on your part is unnecessary. We take complete charge of your account and charge but 10 per cent. of the profit we make for you. We devote all our time watching corn and when we say buy May Corn, we know what we are talking about. Now is the time to make a purchase. GREAT BRITAIN'S GIGANTIC PREPARATIONS FOR WAR

The Navy Being Thoroughly Overhauled

COLLOSSAL SUMS SPENT ON SHIPS

One Hundred and Eighty Millions Spent

London, March 22.—The fight of the future will be between Great Britain and one or more continental powers of Europe. And for this the mother country is about to prepare and modernize her navy on a scale of gigantic and unparalleled expenditure. The estimates for the year provide for $180,000,000, exceeding by $30,000,000 the vast appropriations of last year. This sum will be applied to the completion of six battle ships, eleven armored cruisers and eighteen minor ships, and to laying down three battle ships of about 18,000 tons displacement, four first and three third-class cruisers, four "scouts," fifteen torpedo boat destroyers and ten submarine boats.

The theory of naval expansion which has developed into a settled national policy is, that the British navy must be superior to at least those of two other powers joined. Within the last two years Lord Brassey asserted that this two-power standard had been exceeded in the strength of personnel and in the number and tonnage of battleships and of important cruisers. At that date Great Britain's fleet mustered 42 battle ships, 49 first, 62 second and 44 third-class cruisers, 111 torpedo boat destroyers and many other auxiliaries. The total personnel provided for included 122,500 officers, enlisted men, boys, coast guards and royal marines. Combined these represent the greatest array of sea energies the world has known.

But this is not deemed sufficient for the national need, certainly not sufficient to still the national alarm. The scheme of vast new expenditures includes a reorganization of the fleets, increase in the naval reserve, and the recruiting of volunteer corps. The whole system of training and education has been revolutionized. The new theory of war takes in Japan as an ally to protect the right flank of a long line that, facing Southern and Western Europe and foreign sphere of influence in China, stretches from the North Sea, through the Mediterranean, into the Indian Ocean. The individual ships illustrate great advances in fighting power.

APPENDICITIS CURE

Important Discovery Said to Have Been Made

The Knife is Supplanted in 95 per cent. of the Cases—The Worst Cases Easily Treated Minneapolis, Minn., March 22.—Dr. M. H. Thomas, of Huntington, who was here to-day, claims he has discovered a cure for appendicitis that has proved effective in more than 100 cases treated by himself and other physicians. He avers that his remedy will supplant the knife in 95 per cent. of the cases. In seeking the causes of the affliction and remedies for it, he says he found that a salt of copper, in combination with other chemicals produces the remedy sought.

He thinks appendicitis occurs at regular intervals, like malaria, and that every 21 days there is acute activity of the symptoms. He says this points to the germ theory and traces appendicitis in most cases to the grip. Medical men, he asserts, attribute appendicitis largely to severe physical exertion or to hereditary causes, disregarding the existence of these causes prior to twelve years ago, when appendicitis appeared as a distinct disease.

Dr. Thomas says about as many men as women have appendicitis, the ratio being about 48 to 52. He says he has demonstrated to his own satisfaction that it follows the grip. He says his remedy is as much a specific for appendicitis as quinine is for malaria.

"I claim," he said "where patients have recovered from the primary attacks, it will prevent recurrent attacks and statistics show that recurrent attacks occur in from 50 to 80 per cent of primary cases. The treatment with the knife becomes a secondary consideration, being necessary only when this treatment has come too late.

"The temperaments which invite attacks of appendicitis are lymphatic. There is a tendency to slight disturbances of the stomach at irregular intervals; sensations of fulness and discomfort in the abdomen after eating; insignificant colicky pains; a feeling of malaise, pronounced in the morning, with dull, frontal headaches a white-coated tongue, in which the prints of the teeth are seen, especially in the morning; a metallic taste in the mouth; and finally a pulse constantly 80 to 100, alternate beats of the heart being feeble."

Loud Talk By Uncle Sam

Boston, March 22.—The Herald makes the following comment Our South American wards seem to forget that, while the Monroe doctrine, as originally announced, was made for their protection, in its later application it has been constituted chiefly the affair of the United States. As it is now interpreted, Great Britain and Germany and the rest of Europe are to be shut out from South America because our nation doesn't want them there, and the fact that the local governments of that region would be willing to accept their presence would not reconcile the United States at all to their coming. The Monroe doctrine is our doctrine, and the feeling of South American States towards it is only an incidental and altogether a minor affair.

It will be an interesting situation if we have to compel some of our South American friends to accept our benevolent protection. Perhaps we may yet have to assimilate them if our Monroe doctrine is what it is cracked up to be.

GERMANY WROTH WITH GREAT BRITAIN

Papers of That Country Say Nasty Things About England

INDIA AND HER UNSKILLED LABOR

Germany is very wroth with Great Britain, and the papers of that country rarely miss an opportunity to say something nasty about their Anglo-Saxon cousins. The latest attack is made by the Kreuz Zeitung a paper that is the organ of the Conservative and military classes at Berlin. Under the title of "The Impoverishment of the Indian People under British Rule," speaking of Lord Curzon's remarks at Delhi on the unlimited resources of India the Zeitung says "it implies with a frankness really worthy of a better cause, that the insatiable masters of this country intend, as heretofore, to fill their coffers with Indian gold. The ever more frequently recurring famines, with the nameless misery they entail, the plain statements made by prominent natives, and even by Englishmen, whom the distress of the subjugated people causes to blush for shame, have as yet been able to effect no change in the system by which the Indian peasants, who make quite seven-tenths of the entire population must finally be driven to the verge of utter desperation. The inexorable rigor with which the land tax is collected in India is seen from the fact that in the ten years ending in 1900 eight hundred and fifty thousand peasant families in the Presidency of Madras alone were sold up and reduced to beggary."

There is much more of the same sort, the writer ultimately declaring that "in more than one respect the sources of national well-being in India have almost dried up since the country has been compelled to bend under the British yoke." Yet in spite of this diatribe India is making most satisfactory progress in building that sure precursor of civilization—the railway. A recent visitor to this country was Alton Ingram, who is a director of railways in India. He furnished some most interesting information in the direction we have intimated. India with an area of two million square miles, has one hundred thousand miles of railroad, and is building at the rate of eight thousand miles a year. This is surely surprising to those who looked upon this land of mystery as still depending upon primitive methods of transportation.

MOST ALARMING NEWS FROM FLOWERY KINGDOM

Empire Engulfed in a Financial Morass

GLOOMY FORECAST FOR THE FUTURE

A Revolution is Said to Be Certain

London, March 20.—The Chinese officials are distressed and alarmed at the situation at home. The appalling drop in the price of silver has involved the Empire in a financial morass. The attempt of the country to meet its obligations, especially those in connection with the Boxer outrages, has subjected the producing classes to extreme hardships and has still left a heavy deficit in the national exchequer. The crushing weight of taxation, which is being steadily increased, to offset the depreciation in silver, is embittering the masses and driving the importers to their wits' end to maintain order.

At the Chinese legation this morning your correspondent was informed that gloomy reports are reaching Pekin from nearly every province in China. "It is not surprising," said one of the mandarins of the diplomatic staff, "that there are indications of another Boxer storm. China is a squeezed lemon financially. The squeezing process has inflicted untold suffering on millions of people who have not the most remote responsibility for the prevailing misfortunes.

"Agitators have a fertile field in which to sow the seeds of disorder and enmity to foreigners. They say to their followers that the foreign devil is not likely to consent to a new customs tariff made payable in gold." Since then he is the cause of your misery," they argue, "exterminate him." The passions engendered in this manner place a strain on the Government which menaces the whole structure of Chinese civilization.

It was pointed out by the speaker that the tale is worse than when the indemnity was settled. He added that Chinese labor could bear the augmented burden and live. The foreign office is desirous of affording relief to China, but a new customs tariff payable in gold would transfer most of the burden due to the shrinkage of British trade. Neither is Lord Lansdowne likely to consent to China's wish to pay the indemnity in silver. He feels that England has already been excessively generous and hopes that the foreigners, whose demands are deemed extortionate, to grant the concessions made for the relief of this intolerable state of affairs.

MEETING FOR MEN

A Fair Crowd Hear Dr. Harley Smith, of Toronto, Speak

Mr. John Millar did not play the cornet as usual, but if faithfulness, skill and long service in the Y.M.C.A. work and specially the musical services he has rendered this institution, combined with a consistent Christianship, count for anything in the next world, we are sure Mr. Millar's position will be a happy one. We hope to hear him play at next Sunday's service. Notwithstanding his merit as a tenor singer, yet his playing is always acceptable and adds much to the interest and fire of these meetings.

Mr. William Bennett read the Scripture lesson in his usual clear, distinct voice, and we are neither guessing, flattering, nor drawing on our imagination when we say that he has been and is the most faithful friend the Y.M.C.A. in Peterborough has had.

The writer remembers when Mr. Bennett, Mayor Roger and J. C. Turnbull, of Toronto, were about all the friends this now prosperous institution had. It was no secret to the older members that the two former constituted the backbone of the association for many years. They stuck to the work through many dark days of adversity and financial difficulties, and we fear that their long services are not now as much appreciated as they should be, although kind Christian characters and upright lives are well known to all.

Mr. Gilbert Markle gave a selection on his violin which was much appreciated by the audience.

Mr. Wildgust presided at the piano in a capable manner.

The male choir sang with much feeling and sweetness, and had there been no other attraction all would have come away pleased.

Dr. Harley Smith of Toronto, corrected the impression that he was a doctor of divinity or platform orator. He claimed to be one of the common people who enter the battle of every day life and had only consented to come here in the hope of doing some good. His "straight talk to Men" consisted of a wholesome warning to young and old men against impurity of thought, and impurity of action. The discussion was certainly a plain "straight talk," and should all his hearers say, think and act as the speaker indicated, their lives, as well as those in their immediate company, would live happier and more prosperous lives.

Mr. Horace Ayres conducted the meeting and closed it with prayer.

DEATH OF MR. GEO. CURTAIN

The Grim Messenger Enters the Home of Mr Timothy Curtain

When death comes to one, who has reached the allotted years of human life, those who are left are more easily reconciled, than when the white winged messenger carries away one who has just stepped upon the threshold of manhood.

There is no wonder that there is sorrow in the home of Mr. T. Curtain and a gloom cast over the township of Ennismore when it was realized that Mr. George Curtain was no more.

The deceased was only 20 years of age at the time of his death, was well known and respected by his large circle of acquaintances.

He leaves behind, besides his parents, one sister and two brothers.

The funeral, which occurred on Thursday, was largely attended by kind neighbors and friends.

COUNCIL AND BOARD OF TRADE.

A Joint Meeting to be Held in the Council Chamber

A very important meeting will take place to-morrow evening, when a deputation from the Port Hope Trent Valley Canal Association will meet the members of the Board of trade and the City Fathers to discuss the terminus of the canal.

The controversy between the friends of the Trent route and the people of Port Hope is of vast importance to the people of this community, because until the discussion and great difference of opinion existing even among the people of Peterborough is terminated, or nearly so, the government have the best excuse for not proceeding with the completion of the canal.

The Times hopes that there will be a full attendance at this meeting, and that a full discussion be entered into, and that, so far as this town is concerned, we become unanimous.

"Hunting for Hawkins"

If the opinion of dramatic critics may be relied upon as evidence of the merits of a theatrical enterprise, "Hunting for Hawkins" must indeed be a superior one, for it has been most enthusiastically praised by all who have seen the performance. It is described as a "polite comedy" containing a well-defined plot, with an entirely original theme for basis, around which the author, Guy F. Steely, has cleverly woven a series of interesting complications and laughable situations. Although it is essentially a farce, for it does not contain one really serious line, the comedy is of the polite order which amuses but does not offend. The performance of "Hunting for Hawkins" is said to be skilfully blended with numerous specialties, opportunely introduced in a manner that does not interfere in the weaving of the story, or cause a cessation of interest in its unraveling, but render it all the more enjoyable. The presenting company, too, have received a goodly share of encomiums. The entire cast is said to be evenly balanced and exceptionally capable. "Hunting for Hawkins" comes to the Opera House to-night and its genuine merit is so conclusively established, it will prove an exceedingly popular attraction.

Journalistic Emulation.

A distinguished journalist has informed the public that he invariably jots down ideas—to be subsequently worked up into articles—at the moment of their occurrence. In illustration of the good results of this practice he states that an idea, which was afterwards worth five guineas, once came to him when he was washing his hands. Fired by this example, several journalists have made arrangements for taking a complete bath.—"Punch."

How Lillian Russell Keeps Young.

Lillian Russell is described by Geraldine Bonner, who recently saw her at Weber & Field's Theater in New York, as "just the same old Lillian, exactly as good-looking, in the same perfectly regular way, as she ever was." Theatergoers have always wondered how this popular actress contrived to retain her beauty, despite the flight of time, and so they will read with interest her article on "The Secret of How to Keep Young," which appears in a recent number of "Collier's Weekly." Miss Russell declares that it is a comparatively simple thing for any person to keep fresh and youthful-looking without the aid of cosmetics, enamel, dyes and other mineral or vegetable substances which may serve the purpose for a time, but in the end leave the user all the worse for the application. She adds: "There is nothing like exercise and diet to promote the good health which is a necessary accompaniment of—in fact, the vital principle that serves to preserve—youth and beauty. The average woman of to-day is apt to sacrifice all things to her comfort. Exercise is a bore; dieting is troublesome and almost painful; because effects are not at once apparent, she dispenses with any little reform in the mode of living which, in a contrite spirit, she may have taken up. I have known women who made firm resolves to undergo a systematic course of exercise and followed it up religiously for a few days, meanwhile scanning their glass eagerly to note results. None developing at once, they have voted the whole thing a fraud, and gone back to the old routine of pleasure and indolence. The woman who is really in earnest about preserving her beauty and youth will find, in a short time, that the few simple rules to follow soon become a source of genuine pleasure. I say rules, but that is not to be taken literally. There are no set rules to be followed; one must be guided by common sense, and enter thoroughly into the spirit of the thing, for mind has as much to do with accomplishing results as the actual training. The woman who assigns to herself the task and then goes about it in a desultory fashion, with half-hearted hopes of achieving ends, would better not make the attempt at all."

The system of exercise which Miss Russell follows may, to some, seem almost heroic; to her it has now become a sort of second nature. "In the first place," she says, "when I awaken in the morning I drink at least two cupfuls of hot water. Then a plunge into a warm bath is followed by a thorough massage, and I take a few minutes of rest before eating breakfast. This meal consists of a piece of dry toast and, perhaps, a cup of weak tea. If it is summer-time, a game of tennis or practice with the medicine-ball is next. All the muscles are brought into play, and at the expiration of fifteen minutes I am in a profuse perspiration. But the game is enjoyable, and I continue until thoroughly weary. Then into the bath-tub again and another rub-down, and I am ready for breakfast No. 2, which consists of a lean chop and toast—but nothing of a liquid nature. If the day is fine, a spin on my bicycle is next in order. For this I wear a medium-weight sweater over my regular costume, and the ride is never less than ten miles and at a pretty good pace. Reaching home, and after another rub-down, I don some loose costume and read or otherwise pass the time until lunch. This meal is also very simple, all starchy or fattening foods being religiously excluded. Allowing a little time for digestion, some other game is indulged in—such as tether-ball, or perhaps golf. A short carriage drive follows, with a bath and massage at the finish. That takes me up to dinner-time, when usually I eat what my fancy dictates. That is the one meal of the day in which I do not stint myself, although I avoid, so far as possible, any foods which have a fattening tendency. The evenings, too, are spent in quiet relaxation, as I consider I have done enough for the day.

"The following morning," concludes Miss Russell, "the same plan is followed, and I take genuine pleasure in carrying out the schedule laid out. There is nothing hard or disagreeable in what I do. In the winter, when bicycle-riding is out of the question, I play ping-pong, or row a few miles in an indoor boat. The punching-bag, I find, is a grand form of exercise, and I am becoming an expert at that. The care of the skin is, of course, an important factor. The simplest forms of emollients, used in connection with facial massage, I find are the best. But they are of little use without the exercise which brings the natural glow of health to the cheeks. The hair should be carefully looked after, as nothing so much tends to make a woman look youthful or pretty as her 'crowning glory.' Frequent shampoos, combined with persistent brushing, will do all that is necessary in that line."

NECESSITY OF WINNING IRELAND TO THE EMPIRE

British Government Will Favor Ireland

Dublin, March 22.—Liberalism's magnificent victories in the English elections of Woolwich and Rye brighten the outlook for the Irish Nationalists. The Conservatives and Liberal Unionists, at present in power, are forced to put Ireland at the forefront of their legislative programme with a view to paving the way for peace between England and Ireland. Should the electors of Great Britain decide to bear those ills they have than fly to others that they know not of, the cause of Irish emancipation cannot fail of ultimate triumph.

King Edward, his Ministers and the whole body of level headed supporters of the existing regime realise the necessity of winning Ireland to the Empire, even at the cost of concessions, of which staunch Unionists little dream.

The entire policy of the Government, political, Royal, and economic points to a different state of affairs in Ireland at some period, the remoteness of which depends on circumstances and cannot be foretold.

If this tide should continue to flow with the Liberals, and if Woolwich and Rye find imitators in other constituencies, it is probable that within a short time the party will gain power, the real leaders of which are not pledged to Home Rule, but are convinced that Home Rule is the only gift that England can make to Ireland with the assurance of winning that country's devotion. Imperialists of whatever school will be wise and consistent in favoring Ireland's ambition.

MR. SNOWDEN'S ALLIGATORS

Two of the Man-Eating Species Have Arrived at the Snowden House

A few days ago the genial proprietor of the Snowden House received a letter from Mr. J. W. Kearns, formerly of Peterborough, but now in Florida, stating that he had shipped a couple of alligators of the man-eating variety, to him here. The letter also stated that one of the alligators was to be handed over to Mr. T. K. Boddy, of the C.P.R.

Mr. Snowden naturally looked forward to the arrival of the brutes with interest. He at once purchased Mr. Boddy's alligator, so as to keep the pair together, and if possible breed alligators. He determined during the warm weather to place the reptiles in the creek which runs through his yard, and chain them so they could not escape. Mr. Snowden's friends vainly pointed out the great danger of this, for if one or both escaped and swallowed a few citizens and things, it might be serious. But all to no purpose.

In due time Mr. Snowden was notified that the brutes had arrived, and would be delivered after the duty had been paid, and a customs' release obtained. There was no time lost in having this arranged, and the railway people were instructed to deliver the reptiles at once. In the meantime the genial proprietor had invited a number of his friends to be present on their arrival. In a few minutes Mr. John Sim, of the Canadian Express Company, entered with a small box on his arm, and delivered two fine looking specimens, but both were as dead as Bill Smith's horse that was swept over Niagara Falls.

The alligators are now for sale at a bargain.

THE NEXT BIG WAR WILL ENGAGE RUSSIA

Norway and Sweden Preparing to Battle With the Muscovite

Russia's Design on the Absorption of the Two Countries Will Be Contested

London, March 22—Alarming news has been received today. The Daily Chronicle says:—It is asserted that but for the fact that at the time the Finns were deprived of their constitutional liberties by Russia the relations between Norway and Sweden were strained it is possible that the Swedes would have helped the Finns to maintain their rights. But the Russian government adopted a new policy in Finland at the period when Norway and Sweden were embroiled in a dispute over the question of a separate flag for the Norwegians, and when national feeling in Norway had reached so high a pitch that many Norwegians declared they would rather see Norway a Russian province, than have it remain a kingdom in union with Sweden. In these circumstances the Swedes were powerless to help the Finns, and Russia carried out her programme in Finland without opposition. Now, however, the situation has changed materially. The Russians distrust Norway and Sweden, and the Norwegians and Swedes are suspicious of the designs of the Russians and inclined to make common cause against the Colossus of the North. Since the incorporation of Finland into the Russian empire the Swedish parliament has increased the strength of the Swedish army on a peace footing, while larger expenditures on the navy and fortifications have been authorized. The line and the first reserve of the army have been rearmed with Mausers and the artillery with Krupp guns. The ammunition reserve has been increased from 30,000,000 to 90,000,000 rounds, fortresses have been rearmed and their garrisons increased. The ships that took part in last summer's evolutions have retained all stores on board, and a number of battleships always lie with steam up in Karlscrona harbor; Swedish navies have met and decided Representatives of the Norwegian and a special signal code.

STALE HEN FRUIT IN STORE FOR GAMEY

Sudbury Conservatives Had Planned a Warm Reception

BUT MR. SMYTH SAID SOMETHING

R. R. Gamey still finds the public eye. It can be safely said that no man has risen either in Dominion or Provincial politics, in so short a time, from comparative obscurity to such a height of power. His position is not an enviable one, however. The espionage on him is stealthy, but constant. His bodyguard, the strong man of Algoma, W. R. Smyth tells an interesting incident concerning the attitude of the Conservatives of Sudbury, before the true facts of the case became known.

What Might Have Been.

Smyth was one of the chosen few. He and McGregor of Gore Bay, charged the huge secret with the man of Manitoulin. Mr. Smyth and Mr. Gamey arranged to come down on the same train, just before the opening of the House. The Conservatives of Sudbury had gathered on the platform in force. Gamey was their prey. Eggs of doubtful age were the bouquets of welcome. The man of Manitoulin stayed in the sleeper. It was about 4 o'clock in the afternoon when the train pulled into Sudbury. Smyth walked the platform. He saw the men. He caught one glimpse of the eggs, and he drew his own conclusions. A few words to the ringleaders and the crowd melted away. The aged eggs disappeared. There was nothing doing.

North Still is Talking.

The whole of the northern country is still in a ferment of excitement. Gamey is the sole topic of conversation. Wherever two or three are gathered together, the pro and con of the situation is discussed. Never has a member "caught on" like the member for Manitoulin.

He is Not Worried.

Mr. Gamey is still in town. His legal advisers keep him busy. The sleuth does not worry him. He goes about his business quietly and unobtrusively. He says he is sure of his facts and is merely waiting for the chance to prove them to the country.

THE LATE MRS. CAVANAGH

The Body Borne to the Tomb by Her Six Grandsons

While it saddens our hearts to record the death of any of our good citizens; yet there are circumstances which seem to lighten the sorrow of near friends and kindle a flame of sympathy in the hearts of others, when the last sad rites are being paid. Such was the case at the burial of the late Mrs. Cavanagh, who was borne to her last resting place by her six grandsons. Thus it was a gratification to those who were her friends to see her honored and respected by those who knew her best.

The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful, conspicuous amongst which were a pillow from her grandsons, and a beautiful anchor from the guests of the Cavanagh House.

The funeral cortege started from the home of her son-in-law, Mr. T. Cavanagh to St. Peter's Cathedral and from thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

LADY A MINNESOTAIN

Lady Granville Gordon Was an American Girl

Lived in Pipestone Minn., When She Married—The Daughter of Widow Humble

Sioux City, Iowa, March 22.—Lady Granville Gordon, who yesterday kidnapped her child after a London court gave the child to her former husband is in reality a poor Minnesota girl, who fifteen years ago had no dreams but to live out her life in the little town of Pipestone, Minn.

She was Jennie, the daughter of Widow Humble. About eighteen years ago Fred William and James Close, wealthy Englishmen, connected with prominent English financial houses, came to America and invested in hundreds of thousands of acres of land in Northwestern Iowa and Southern Minnesota. They soon became millionaires.

On one occasion they went to Pipestone to sell lands of the Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad grant.

They found the Humble daughters so winsome that two of them were married by Fred. and James Close, and the third was taken by S. H. Graves, their business partner.

Fred. Close was then about twenty years old. They came to Sioux city and lived in elegance. In an unusually lively polo game about 1889 Fred Close was hurled from his horse and killed.

The widow afterwards accompanied her sister to England. There she remarried but divorced her second husband to become Lady Granville Gordon. Recent developments caused her name to be stricken from the court calling list of Queen Alexandra.

THE CASE FOR ANNEXATION

W. R. Hearst's yellow New York Journal and American thinks quite well of the recent move of a Missouri Congressman to invite Britain to land Canada over to the United States.

The New York paper says two good reasons exist why everybody should admire the suggestion.

First, because Canada can not be prosperous until she joins the union.

Right, rather, seeing that our people are already more prosperous than those of the United States, wealthier per head at home, and with a far greater trade per head with other countries, possessing a greater proportionate railway mileage and a vastly greater proportionate ocean shipping.

Secondly, according to the New York paper, because Canada is "already American in tastes, sympathies, ideas and customs."

But if true, this is only a reason why the United States should be annexed to Canada, the more prosperous nation. Northwest, we do seem to be doing some annexing.

COAL PRODUCTION

It will perhaps surprise some people to know that the production of bituminous coal was eight times as great as the production of anthracite during the year 1902; for, in that year, owing to idleness at the mines, the hard coal position fell to where it was in the year 1885. While there is a great deal said and heard of the anthracite industry because it is concentrated in the hands of a few persons, and worked as a rule at a profit, there is a vast extent of the country which takes the soft or bituminous coal—takes it to the extent of [illegible] net tons.

PROVINCES AND SUBSIDIES

In the Dominion estimates for 1903-04 as submitted to Parliament, no provision is made for increased subsidies to the provinces.

Of course supplementary estimates are to come yet. It is to be hoped they will show a similar deficiency. What would increases be given for? Manitoba claims a surplus of $217,000 for the past three years; Quebec claims a surplus of $28,000 for last year; Nova Scotia claims a surplus of $39,000.

What do these provinces want increase of Dominion subsidy for?

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Perhaps one or two of the more merciful Grit newspapers could be persuaded to let Gamey off with his life, if he promised never to do it again.

Journalistic Emulation.

A distinguished journalist has informed the public that he invariably jots down ideas—to be subsequently worked up into articles—at the moment of their occurrence. In illustration of the good results of this practice he states that an idea, which was afterwards worth five guineas, once came to him when he was washing his hands. Fired by this example, several journalists have made arrangements for taking a complete bath.—"Punch."

HER PRAYER ANSWERED

A True Story of a Little Girl's Faith in Prayer

Stockholm, March 20.—A letter addressed in a round, girlish hand to "Our Lord in Heaven," has just passed through the hands of the postal officials in Ost-Gothland, Sweden. On being opened at the Returned Letter Office the letter proved to be a touching prayer emanating from an eight-year-old child, who had selected this means to secure a musical instrument—a guitar. Her appeal has been answered, philanthropic persons having subscribed the amount necessary to accomplish the child's desire.

A Bill Nye Story.

The heresy frequently insinuated that publishers grow inordinately rich at the expense of the author was once amusingly illustrated by the late Bill Nye at an authors' dinner in London. "Just a year ago," said he, "I was walking on the principal street of Indianapolis, when I met a man whose appearance showed that he was reduced to the very depths of poverty. His clothes were ragged, his face unshaven, his hair long and matted and his feet unshod. As I passed him, a look of recognition came into his eye.

"'Nye, old fellow, don't you know me? Don't you know Abel P. Jones, who was your classmate at college?'

"'What, Jones! Is it really you? Well, well, what can I do for you?'

"'For Heaven's sake help me. I am starving. Lend me half a dollar.'

"I felt in my pockets. They were empty. I had no money myself. But a bright thought flashed through my mind.

"'Abel, I can't lend you the half-dollar; I haven't got it. But look here—I'll tell you what I will do: I'll let you publish my next book.'

"Gentlemen, that was just a year ago; and this month Abel P. Jones sent me an invitation to go to Europe with him in his steam yacht."

HER EXQUISITE FEET

Lady Constance Mackenzie Shown to Advantage in Scanty Dress

Cairo, March 20.—Lady Constance [illegible] America, which she visited last year, caused a sensation recently by appearing at a masked ball as a Egyptian eyce. The costume was more beautiful than voluminous. Lady Constance, who is blessed with exquisite feet, had no scruples in showing them with bare legs from the knees downward. She was attended by Miss Bainbridge in the costume of a dragoman.

Nervous Dyspepsia

A Disease very common to the American people, but now quickly remedied.

A SURE CURE.

In a case of Nervous Dyspepsia a doctor sees two things, first, that the digestion is deranged, and second that the nerves are in a starved, irritable condition.

If abreast of the times, and in touch with the latest discoveries the doctor is sure to advise Ferrozone, which is now universally prescribed in cases of acute Indigestion and Dyspepsia.

Ferrozone is prepared specially for diseases of the stomach and bowels, and as a sure cure for Nervous Dyspepsia has proved itself a thousand times to be superior to all others.

Where Ferrozone is taken after each meal, it is impossible for Dyspepsia or Indigestion to exist. It digests the food before it has had time to ferment in the stomach, and by its regular use one is enabled to eat and drink anything at any time, without fear of bad results.

Ferrozone relieves that distressing headache, and burning feeling in the stomach peculiar to dyspepsia. It regulates the action of the bowels, kidneys and liver; strengthens the nerves and makes the sad looking dejected dyspeptic feel like a new man in twenty-four hours.

The general manager of a Toronto Manufacturing Company, who used Ferrozone with very marked results, says: "The strain of conducting a large business brought on a siege of Nervous Indigestion about a year ago, which I endeavored in vain to shake off. Doctors told me only a complete rest would cure me, but not being able to spare the time, I used Ferrozone instead. It perfectly restored my good health in a short time. I have confidence in the merits of Ferrozone, and am pleased to recommend it."

What Ferrozone can do for you can be best proven by giving it a trial. Every reliable druggist recommends and sells it, price 50c. a box, or three boxes for $1.25. Sent to your address by mail if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

To Set Her Free

(COPYRIGHTED)

By FLORENCE WARDEN.

Author of "The House in the Marsh," "A Prince of Darkness," etc.

There was nothing that Norma desired less than another interview with this lady, especially after the scene she had witnessed between her husband and Astley an hour before. She did not like to refuse, however, so she went down to the morning-room, into which the visitor had been shown.

The doctor's wife was in no fighting mood. She was nervous, humble, almost hysterical, and the first words she uttered were an apology.

"I must beg you to excuse this intrusion, Lady Darwen," she said, "but I dare say you know what's happened—between Sir Astley and my husband, I mean, and—I've come to tell you how wrong Sir Astley is, how entirely wrong! He thinks he hasn't been told the truth about"—her voice sank—"about Lottie, and he blames my husband. He doesn't believe Lottie's alive at all, because she was too frightened to come in and see him when he burst in upon us this morning."

"Really, Mrs. Wharles, it was not worth while to come here to tell me this! Sir Astley wrote to his solicitors last night, and they will see into this matter—"

"Exactly, exactly," interrupted Mrs. Wharles eagerly. "And what I want you to understand is that Lottie is quite ready to see them, and to answer any questions. At least, she will be ready in a day or two, when she's got over her experiences of to-day. When my poor husband came home just now, with his face so swollen and cut that we hardly knew him, and she felt it was all her fault, she fainted away, and was so ill when she came to herself that we thought it best to send her back at once to Leamington."

Norma looked at Mrs. Wharles suspiciously.

"Sent her away because she was ill?" she echoed rather drily.

"Not alone of course. My sister, Mrs. Finch, went with her. But she was in such a state of nervous agitation, lest Sir Astley should burst in upon us again, now that he's taken to personal violence, that I thought it better that she should get away at once, before she broke down altogether. But as I knew what Sir Astley would say, when he heard she was gone, I thought it best that you should know, once for all, that if the lawyers or the police, or anybody Sir Astley likes to send, will go and see her, she will be ready to meet them as she will be ready to meet him. There, I won't trouble you any further. Good morning."

"Good-by," said Norma very coldly, with her whole heart up in arms against the doctor and his wife and family, who had irritated Astley to the extent of provoking him to the morning's attack. She thought this woman's new humility in the face of such an outrage very suspicious, and began to feel her hopes rising that the lawyers would find out something which would free Astley and herself from their present miserable position.

At luncheon time she met Astley, who was looking so worn, so much distressed, that her heart ached for him, and it was with great difficulty that she maintained that reserved air which they had now both tacitly agreed to hold towards each other.

He gave her but a brief account of the occurrences of the morning, but she had seen and heard enough to understand pretty well what had taken place. And he told her that Mr. Geoffrey Capper of the firm of Johnson & Capper, would arrive that evening.

Astley said he should spend the afternoon in the library, and only one look passed between these two unhappy beings before they separated until dinner-time.

By that time Mr. Capper had arrived, and the presence of this third person was a welcome relief to them both, lessening the acute tension at which they had passed the day.

Mr. Capper was a tall, gaunt, middle-aged man, with a little ginger-colored hair still left round his head, but with none on the top, a long, shrewd face and a pleasant, courteous manner.

He heard all that had to be told, and declined to pass any opinion upon the case as it stood.

He, however, had previous knowledge of Lottie's conduct while her husband was away, and although he saw the danger of a [illegible] being laid by her family to shelter her from the consequences of her levity by wholesale perjury, he would not say that he had no hope of being able to circumvent them.

"There is one person," said he, "who must be found. And the most suspicious feature of the case is that he seems to have disappeared altogether."

"Who is that?" asked Astley.

Mr. Capper glanced at Norma as if reluctant to go on before her; but she made an entreating gesture.

"Let me know all I may," she pleaded. "Do you think I'm not interested too?"

Mr. Capper went on: "It is a certain Tom Rogerson, whom she was fond of when she was an unmarried girl, with whom she also carried on a flirtation afterwards, when you, Sir Astley, were away. This Rogerson appears to be a ne'er-do-weel, and a man undeserving of the slightest respect, a man who would be useful to us, as he would have no honorable scruples about telling the truth, which a better sort of man would never do in the circumstances."

Astley frowned.

"I'd rather not make use of such a man," objected he.

While Norma's quick movement of assent showed that she sympathized thoroughly with his feeling, Mr. Capper shrugged his shoulders slightly.

"We must use such tools as are to hand," said he drily. "This fellow, as I say, would undoubtedly be a strong witness, and probably we could get his evidence supported. In fact, I feel sure of that. On the other hand, the family know this also, and there is no doubt at all that they are keeping him out of the way."

"Well, I'm glad of it," said Astley quickly.

"Oh no, you cannot be glad of a circumstance which probably makes all the difference between happiness and misery not only to you, but also," and he glanced at Norma, "to Lady Darwen."

"It's horrible," put in Norma in a low voice, "to be persecuting a woman, isn't it? Hunting her down?"

And she shuddered.

"If she or her family had shown the least compunction in their dealings with you both," said Mr. Capper deliberately, "I should say there was some sense in what you urge. But, as it stands, I think your sympathy is misplaced."

"Perhaps, if he's such a loose fish," suggested Astley, "he would be a worthless witness to anybody."

"If his testimony were unsupported, yes, but that would not be the case," said Mr. Capper. "Indeed, so important do I consider his evidence, that I have [illegible]

POWLEY'S LIQUIFIED OZONE CURES DISEASE BY DESTROYING DISEASE GERMS WHEREVER LOCATED.

I have suffered from dyspepsia for fifteen years and during that time could not retain one half of my meals five minutes. After using your preparation for ten days I kept the next sixty meals all right, and after using a bottle and a half the vomiting ceased and after three bottles my weight increased from 165 to 178 pounds. I tried a great many remedies, spending many hundred dollars, but yours is the first to give me relief.

Yours truly,

Ozone Has Cured Many Others.

The cases of dyspepsia that have been cured by Powley's Liquified Ozone are numbered among the hundreds. Many of them had been chronic for years. Drug preparations had been used to such an extent that the system was literally filled with them, and drugs had become almost as much of a necessity as food. Ozone corrected all this, for it not only destroyed the disease germs that caused the dyspepsia, but it cleaned the system of drugs and rendered their use unnecessary. What Ozone has done it is doing and will do for others. The following are a few of the many persons who have been cured of this most distressing complaint:

W. J. ADAMS,

493 Wellesley street, Toronto, writes: "For years I suffered from dyspepsia. My food seemed to lie in a solid lump in my stomach, causing great distress. I tried physicians and advertised cures as well as dieting, but got no relief. Three bottles of Powley's Liquified Ozone cured me completely and I can now digest anything I care to eat."

MRS. ANDREW CARLSON,

Lachine, Que., writes: "I suffered from dyspepsia and heart trouble for two years and was so bad that I could not sleep at nights. Finally I had to give up my household work and was a physical wreck. Four bottles of Powley's Liquified Ozone cured me completely. I eat and sleep well and am strong and healthy in every way."

MISS ANNA MAHON,

85 Wilson ave., West London, Ont., writes: "Powley's Liquified Ozone cured me after I had suffered from dyspepsia for three years and several good physicians had failed to give me relief. I have recommended Ozone to all my friends and will do all in my power to bring it to the attention of any person suffering from dyspepsia. I will gladly answer any questions as to what it has done for me."

Powley's Liquified Ozone is sold by all reliable druggists at 50 cents and $1.00 per bottle.

A monthly income of $50.00

On an investment of $1,000; or a monthly income of $5.00 on an investment of $100.00. This is purely a business proposition. Their is no uncertainty about it; you do not take any chances. We actually have enough ore in sight to keep us working for three or four years, and the more development work we do the more ore there is in sight; the deeper we go the richer it is. Bear in mind, too, that we do not come to the public with an untried experiment. Our shaft is nearing the 200 foot mark, with better values at the bottom than any place nearer the surface. The ore runs in value from $25.00 to $86.00 per ton, by actual carload shipments.

The par value of our stock is $1.00, with only a limited amount of shares to be sold, and this has been placed on the market at the low rate of 20 CENTS PER SHARE. On March 14, the price will be advanced to 30 cents per share, providing any of the original offering remains unsold; therefore we advise all who are interested to send in their applications without a moment's delay, as they will be filled and eventually rejected just in the order received.

Thunder Mountain!

is the richest gold producing camp in the United States, and also the largest. The Thunder Mountain district, in central Idaho, is twenty miles wide and forty miles long. In comparison with this we have Cripple Creek, four miles wide and seven miles long. In many of the Thunder Mountain mines ore has already been reached that carries ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD TO THE TON. All of the Thunder Mountain ore is free milling, which means that it can be treated by the cheapest extraction process known—the ordinary stamp mill. It can be both mined and milled at a cost not to exceed $2 a ton. The past years operations in the several working mines have opened up millions of tons of ore that will give a net profit of from $10 to $30 a ton, enabling the respective companies to pay dividends at a rate never before equalled. Such is the showing and the prospect of the

EAST DEWEY GOLD MINING CO.

which unless all indications are at fault, will become the largest producer in the district. The EAST DEWEY mine, which it owns outright, is located directly on Thunder Mountain, just east of the famous "Dewey" mine, which already has $20,000,000 of ore in sight. The surface area of the East Dewey mine is one hundred and twenty acres—six full quartz claims. The company has also secured the big GOLDEN GATE mine, in the Big Creek section of the Thunder Mountain district—which has been so aptly termed "The Pot of Gold"—and is now developing the mine with all possible speed. For a distance of 9,000 feet, nearly two miles, the Golden Gate mines cover a mineralized ledge that is 900 feet wide, with an average height above the tunnel level of 500 feet, thus giving it the largest exposed tonnage of any mine in the west.

If you would share in the enormous profits which these figures indicate and which these developments promise, invest your money in "East Dewey" Stock. It can be bought to-day for 10 Cents a Share. Its par value is $1.

If the East Dewey mines are what they appear to be, and there is absolutely no reason to doubt or question these indications, this stock will eventually be worth at least $10 a share, and to-day you can buy it for ten cents. PRICE ADVANCES TO FIFTEEN CENTS ON FEBRUARY 28th. 5% discount allowed for cash. Stock sold at flat price of 10 cents on deferred payments, 10% with application, and 10% monthly until paid. Full particulars, prospectus, etc., on request.

STOCK MARKETS

ST. PAUL LOOKS WELL

New York, March 21.—St. Paul has again and quite unostentatiously crept back above 170. It is still some 25 points below its high level of the winter. A large short interest has accumulated in the stock and the long outside interest has been pretty well eliminated by the decline the past week. Buying by the Standard Oil interests, which lifted it to its previous high price, was discernible and fairly large in volume. St. Paul is carrying its semi-annual dividend at present of 3 1-2 per cent and people who will buy the stock prior to March 25th will secure same. When it sells ex-dividend it will look cheap and should speedily recover same by advance in market price. It is one of the exceptionally gilt edged stocks of Wall street, and no matter what one pays for the shares, if held they will be certain, to have an opportunity of disposing of same at a profit. It is one of the pivotal speculatives and at all times enjoys a good market for fractional lots, as well as for one hundred share lots. It is an international issue also, having a market in London, as well as in New York. The Standard Oil interests at present time control the stock and dominate its market fortunes. The road is in as fine a physical condition as any in the country and earns far in excess of current dividends. It has spent in five years fully $40,000,000 in cash upon its property, charging same to running expense. It has several high interest bonds maturing shortly, which will be replaced by a low interest bearing issue, which process will save the company a large amount of money, which will then become the property of the common stock shareholders, instead of belonging to and being collected by the bond holders. St. Paul is one of the high-priced issues that will eventually cross 200. No stock in Wall street is a better property to buy into and hold than is St. Paul. Recent readers of these letters may remember last winter's advice given in them to buy St. Paul when it was selling at 172 1-2, predicting a speedy advance to 200. The stock rose rapidly then, selling as high as 192 3-4. This was near enough to make the advice good. We now advise the purchase of St. Paul again close to 170.

A woman in pursuit of a late summer gown stood in front of a counter heaped with foulards in a big store. A blue ground with a white polka dot seemed to please her best, but she paused irresolutely. "It looks just like the old indigo blue calicoes they used to wear when I was a little girl in the country," she said, discontentedly. "Madame," said the portly salesman, "long after you and I are dead and gone women will be wearing blue and white polka dots. They have worn them since the race emerged from barbarism. They will wear them until it sinks into it again." After that portentous gravity and heavy philosophy the woman bought the dress in a dazed silence.—Tacoma "Ledger."

The Little Kingdom Mining Co.

The Little Kingdom Mining Company's property has passed the prospective stage and has enough low-grade ore in sight to keep a mill running steadily. As soon as the company has sufficient funds, a mill will be erected, assuring a steady income, which will enable it to push developments and place the property on a dividend-paying basis.

BIG DEVELOPMENT FUND.—The capital stock of the Company is $100,000 (divided in shares of one cent each); more than half of this amount was set aside as a treasury or development fund. Few mining companies possess such a large development fund according to their capital.

An Opportunity

We are offering for public subscription a limited amount of stock of exceptional merit affording an unusual opportunity for a very profitable investment. We desire to be conservative in our representations, but do not hesitate to state that the stocks of the properties we are representing are absolutely certain to rapidly increase in value, and the fortunate purchasers of the stock at the present prices will have those than reason to congratulate themselves for grasping this opportunity.

Success lies in being alive to that which is going on around you, and they who "grasp the skirts of happy chance can breast the blows of circumstance."

We have the disposition of a certain amount of treasury stock in four corporations. We have thoroughly investigated the present value of the properties owned by the Companies, and have full cognition of the immense profits that are awaiting only the further development and equipment of the properties.

We are offering an equal number of shares in each of the four corporations at a price that make the combined issue a most attractive feature, giving also to the purchaser an unusual safe guard on his or her investment; in other words, you are not placing all your eggs in one basket. Or if you prefer you can purchase separately the stocks we offer.

As the money received from the sale of the stock is strictly for the purpose of equipping the properties with the necessary machinery, etc., the time will not be long before handsome dividends are available. We are not asking your subscriptions to pay for the properties; they are already owned by the Companies and there are no outstanding obligations.

This preliminary notice is to advise the public in general that an opportunity now presents itself for a safe investment of unusual character, embodying also speculative possibilities sufficiently great to make even a small investor a competency within a few years.

You can invest in any amount from Ten Dollars up, and, if so desired, you can have the privilege of paying in installments the amount of stock paid for from time to time being non-forfeitable in the event of your ceasing payments, thus relieving those of small or uncertain income from possibility of loss, should they for any reason become unable to continue payments.

Our business is to aid responsible Companies in the disposal of their treasury stock for the thorough equipment of their properties; we do not and will not handle indiscriminate mining or other stocks under any circumstances. We make a thorough personal examination and investigation as to the merits and possibilities before undertaking to assist in financing any Corporation; the paramount issue with us is to give complete satisfaction and cause much success to our patrons.

We have furnished the publishers of The Times with an outlined description of the Companies we represent, and the names of the Directors of each Company whose stock we offer to their subscribers and friends. We have also furnished The Times with bank references as to our own bonafides and standing. We desire to command the utmost confidence of all subscribers and to retain same along with their friendship for all time; you add a few dollars; we add our experience brain and labor: you increase your riches without effort and increase our power to make you still richer. In ordinary everyday experience a man's expenses nearly equal his income and he has little chance to make a turn for the betterment of his condition. This is anyone's opportunity; you can invest Ten Dollars or One Thousand Dollars on the same basis as one who invests Ten Thousand Dollars. You cannot afford to neglect your opportunities and this is a chance to get in on the ground floor and reap the profits of substantial, quick money making enterprises. Your money need not be tied up for a long time; we know that one of the Companies, at least, will pay handsome dividends this year. It is an easy matter to become rich; just watch for the opportunity and take advantage of it. This is your opportunity; will you grasp it?

Write immediately for prospectuses, reports and full details.

MONEY NO OBJECT

When People are seeking health or relief from any disease the price never counts.

It is a fact that not less than a million is spent every year by people seeking a satisfactory cure for Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

Probably the best and most highly recommended preparation is Catarrhozone, which treats the local symptoms very effectually by means of medicated air supplied through a convenient hard rubber inhaler. The poisons in the blood are driven off by Ferrozone Tablets, which are taken after each meal. They promote appetite, aid digestion, and make the blood rich and pure, so that it will nourish all parts of the body.

This combined local and constitutional treatment in catarrhal diseases has met with wonderful success and can be relied upon to cure every time. The inhaler stops sneezing, coughing, droppings in the throat, and brings quick relief and cure to all the disagreeable symptoms of catarrh.

The following testimonials from well known Canadians furnish abundant proof what Catarrhozone accomplishes in stubborn cases.

Mrs. James Tweedie, of Jay Bridge, says: "For years my daughter doctored unsuccessfully for Catarrh. She had droppings in the throat, hawkings, nausea, and could not sleep at night. The first day's use of Catarrhozone benefitted and ultimately cured my daughter so that Catarrh has never returned. I can recommend Catarrhozone as a grand remedy for Catarrh."

Thousands of strong letters could be given like the above if necessary, but all that is required to prove the merit of Catarrhozone is a fair trial. It is sure as death to cure and if it fails your money will be refunded. Catarrhozone cured lots of cases worse than yours and can do it again.

Broke Quarantine

A lady named Mrs. Coones, who resides on Aylmer street, near Hunter, made rather a hurried exit from town the other night with her children. The house had been placarded for diphtheria the first of this month, and no doubt Mrs. Coones became tired of living in seclusion and determined to leave town. On Thursday night, last, she and her children departed and on enquiry the Chief of Police found they were in Deseronto. The chief wired the authorities there of her arrival and Saturday he received a message from the chief of that place, thanking him for the information, saying that their house had been found and that they were safely under quarantine again.

AFTER GOVERNMENT AID

The Peterborough delegation will consist of a dozen or more.

SUGAR BEET SEED

Has Arrived in New York from Germany for the Local Growers

The proper kind of sugar beet seed has been ordered from German firms, to supply the farmers of this district who have contracted with the Peterborough Sugar Company to grow certain acreages in beets during the next ensuing seasons. About two tons of seed have already arrived in New York and will be here for distribution in the course of a few days.

Those who are interested in the growing and manufacture of sugar beets throughout Ontario, are sending a deputation to Ottawa Wednesday next to solicit encouragement to this growing and important industry, and it is likely that their efforts will not be unavailing.

THE NEW SAW MILL

Work on the New Dickson Saw Mill is Progressing

The excavation for the foundation of the new saw mill at Burnham's Point is completed, and the work of construction will be begun this week. Mr. John Thompson, the millwright of the Company, has charge of the work, and this is ample assurance that the mill will be modern and first class.

The Company's mill at Lakefield is also being enlarged and greatly improved by the addition of another band saw, which will not only enable the mill to increase the output, but will cut to greater advantage than by the gate system.

Athletic Grounds

The Murray street Athletic grounds are to be put into first-class shape for the T.A.S. Lacrosse Club, who purpose erecting a grand stand capable of holding 700 or 800 people. It is understood that a friend of the club has donated sufficient lumber for the erection of the grand stand. Truly this club has the right kind of friends.

Stomach and Bowel Troubles

A promptly satisfactory cure for Cramps, Colic, Indigestion, Heartburn, Billiousness, Sick Stomach and Summer Complaint, is a few drops of Nerviline in sweetened water. Nerviline at once relieves pain and suffering, eradicates the cause of the trouble and cures permanently. Polson's Nerviline is the best general purpose remedy for internal pains known; it acts so quickly that no household should be without it. Buy a 25c. bottle of Nerviline to-day, it's all right.

Hamilton's Pills cure Constipation.

At the Opera Tonight

The merry comedy, "Hunting for Hawkins," will be offered at the Opera House to-night and should prove a strong "drawing card." Aside from the fact that the farce itself has made a most substantial "hit" and is conceded to be one of the cleverest that has been produced in recent years the entire company engaged by Manager F. H. Stevens for its presentation is unusually well balanced and capable which assures an entirely enjoyable performance. Many of the players are well known here, and many are decided favorites.

Saturday's Market

The farmer's market was not better attended than a week ago. Potatoes were more plentiful and sold 10 to 15c. lower. Apples were also a little easier. Turkeys sold at 12 1/2 to 15c. per pound; chickens brought from 50c. to $1.00 per pair; eggs 14c., butter 25c., honey 12c., hay $10 to $10.50 dressed; hogs, $7.25. Live hogs will bring about $6.25 this week, with a likelihood of lower prices next week.

—A Narrow Escape

A brakeman on the Midland way-freight named Wm. McCrea was seriously injured a few days ago at Coldwater station. He was standing on the top of a box car applying the brake as the car was being shunted into the siding. The chain on the brake broke in two and hurled the unfortunate man off the car. He struck against a rail and sustained painful injuries. His escape is counted little less than miraculous, for had he fallen in front of the car, he would have been run over and killed. Mr. McCrea resides in Omemee.

BETTER SHOW

For her children than she had

They will do it because they don't think carefully, but parents who give coffee to children reap their own punishment in the puny, sickly looking little ones.

Many and many a child has been started on the road to disease that ended in death by being improperly fed and given coffee, which is a rank poison to many a highly organized human being.

A lady of Atlanta, Ga., says, "My mother was a slave to the whims of her children and let us eat and drink anything we called for, particularly she gave us coffee, and lots of it.

I grew up delicate, nervous, half sick and miserable. When I was about grown I began having serious spells with my heart and my condition became so bad my friends decided I could not live long. At a consultation of physicians one of the doctors proposed that I discontinue coffee. This was years before Postum was discovered. I quit the coffee and in a year or two my heart was perfectly well.

Several years later when I had a home of my own I imagined that a stimulant of coffee might benefit me, so I started in on it and in a few days the old symptoms of heart trouble returned. I quit it and took up Postum Food Coffee for my morning beverage and the heart trouble disappeared. I find Postum aids my digestion and has helped to build up my whole system.

I now use it three times a day and give it to my children with the knowledge that it is a powerful, delicious liquid food instead of a pernicious poison. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

HOPELESS CASES.

When the doctor leaves and says the case is hopeless, what remains to be done? Nothing, if the doctor's word is final. Much, if you will listen to the statements of men and women who were once "hopeless cases" given up by doctors, and who were perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Nothing is more sure than that thousands of men and women with diseased lungs, obstinate coughs, hemorrhage, emaciation and night-sweats, have been restored to perfect health by the use of the "Discovery." Will it cure you?

It has cured in ninety-eight cases out of every hundred where it was given a fair and faithful trial. By that record you have only two chances in a hundred of failure and ninety-eight chances of being restored to perfect health. It is worth trying.

Abram Freer, Esq., of Rockbridge, Greene Co., Ill., writes: "My wife had a severe attack of pleurisy and lung trouble; the doctors gave her up to die. She commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and she began to improve from the first dose. By the time she had taken eight or ten bottles she was cured, and it was the cause of a large amount being sold here. I think the 'Golden Medical Discovery' is the best medicine in the world for lung trouble."

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser containing over a thousand large pages is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Steamships All Have More than They Can Do

Montreal, March 23.—The question of how many immigrants Canada is to receive from Great Britain and the continent during the present year is one of never-ceasing interest, and there is much speculation and figuring as to how the present influx is going to compare with other years.

From Liverpool comes word that the earlier steamships have all the second and third-class accommodation taken for some weeks in advance.

For instance, the Allan Line office in this city has received a cable stating that all the steerage accommodation upon all their Canadian steamers out of Liverpool is taken to April 23, while the second cabin is filled until the early May sailing.

The Dominion Line's steamship Canada, which sailed from Liverpool for Halifax to-day, has on board no less than 300 second-class passengers, while the steerage has all that can be accommodated, probably about 1,000.

As a matter of fact, this steamer ceased booking both of these classes of passengers a full three weeks ago.

C. P. R. Line Also Filled.

Communications coming into the C. P. R. state that the line newly acquired from the Elder-Dempster Company is similarly situated.

The Allan Line steamship Tunisian on her last trip out had on board 115 first-class, 285 second, and 900 steerage, and the Bavarian, sailing to-day, will, it is estimated, bring out 120 first, 400 second, and 1,000 steerage.

Up to the present time, very few, if any, of the passenger steamships in the St. Lawrence trade have been fitted to accommodate anything like one thousand immigrants per trip, but the accommodation for this class of traffic is like the proverbial omnibus—always room for one more. As a matter of fact, there is ample room on the larger and better class of passenger steamship in the St. Lawrence trade to take care of one thousand passengers per trip, and do it in a manner that will be acceptable to the travellers.

It is therefore safe to estimate upon a thousand immigrants in the third class or steerage, per trip, on all three lines bringing passengers into the St. Lawrence.

This would mean three thousand weekly by the Allan, Dominion and C.P.R.'s Liverpool steamers in the steerage.

Add to this an average of, say, 250 second class passengers, for the better class of immigrants are travelling largely second class, and we have 3,750 per week.

Another calculation which will figure very largely the present season, and therefore must not be neglected, is the passenger traffic from Scotland by way of the Allan Line's Glasgow-Montreal service.

The Allan Line Service.

On the opening of the St. Lawrence the Allan Line will inaugurate a direct weekly service between the ports already mentioned, utilizing five steamers, as follows: Sicilian, Pretorian, Sardinian, Pomeranian, and Sarmatian.

Advices to the Allans from the other side state that the Sicilian is being fitted to accommodate 196 second class passengers and the Pretorian 130 of the same class. This is considerably in excess of the usual second class accommodation and will no doubt be used to the fullest extent, as the class of Scotch immigrants coming to this side have a decided preference for the second cabin. Individually speaking they are thrifty and of the proper class for the Canadian North-West.

Placing the probable number of passengers via the Allan Line's Glasgow service at 250 per vessel in all classes, and adding, say, five hundred per week from other sources, such as the German lines of steamships, and we arrive at a grand total of 4,500 per week.

This number, however, is not likely to keep up after May 15 at least, as the people on the other side are rightly enough making an early start in order to take advantage of the growing season, and not arriving in the North-West too late to do anything more than help harvest some one else's grain.

Allowing therefore the full capacity of the vessels up to middle of May, and we have something like 23,500 passengers for the St. Lawrence from the opening of navigation till the middle of the month. Computing those who have come into the country for the past six weeks and those now on the water and those to come up to the time of the opening of St. Lawrence navigation, and we have a grand total of something like 54,000, including, of course, the St. Lawrence calculation to the middle of May.

Bearing in mind the supposition that the trade will fall off appreciably from say, May 15 on, and cutting the earlier immigration in half for the sake of the calculation and we have a total of 114,000 immigrants up to the last of October.

Immigration in the Past.

The records show that in years now gone by and forgotten the number of immigrants brought out to Canada has been very large.

For instance, the Allan Line in 1882 brought out 56,386 passengers of all classes and in 1883 the number was 55,282. The record scored in 1883 was the largest between 1850 and the present time.

This is even more noteworthy when it is remembered that those were the days of small vessels; in fact, the Allan Line had at that time but one vessel, the Parisian, which ran upward of 4,000 tons, while now the Parisian is the smallest of the Liverpool fleet.

However, the immigrant of these days did not demand the accommodation which he does now, for, like everything else, the luxuries of travelling, even steerage, are many as compared with twenty, or even ten years ago.

4,912 So Far By Allans.

So far this year the Allans have brought out to Canada 4,912 passengers of all classes, including those on the Corinthian, now on the Atlantic, as compared with 3,530 for the same period last year.

The Special Pacific Express steamed out of Windsor street station to-day with fifteen cars. This is known as the "Thursday Tourist Special," and, in addition to the usual Europeans who were going to settle in the North-West and had come by the Canadian route, it took many who had come by way of New York.

By the time it reaches Winnipeg it will probably be in three sections, as advices from American connections report heavy contingents for Canada's farm lands.

Transcontinental Line will Reach the Atlantic Coast

Montreal, March 23.—"I understand that the Grand Trunk Railway System has quite decided to make its winter Port in the lower provinces, and that such decision will be communicated to Parliament during the present session."

The Important statement just quoted was made to day by Hon. William Puggley, Attorney General of New Brunswick, who, with Premier Tweedie, returned from Ottawa, where they had been sojourning a few days, and no doubt had ample opportunity of hearing a good deal of talk from inside circles.

The Attorney-General said he knew nothing as to the amount of assistance the Grand Trunk Pacific would ask for; neither could he tell what the Federal Government would feel inclined to give, but the Minister appeared to be quite sanguine that the projected transcontinental line would reach the Atlantic coast through the Maritime Provinces.

IRISH LAND BILL IS NEARLY READY

It Will be Introduced on Wednesday Next

MANY MILLIONS ARE NOW AT STAKE

London, March 23.—The date for the introduction of the long-heralded Irish Land Purchase Bill is announced. It will be presented in the House of Commons next Wednesday, March 25 by Mr. Wyndham.

The most intense interest is expressed in its terms, which have been guarded with extreme care. The introduction of this bill is looked upon in Ireland as the most momentuous event in its history since the Act of Union.

As soon as the provisions of the bill are made public, a call will be issued for a convention, to be held in Dublin, which will be the greatest and most representative gathering of the kind ever known in Ireland.

With the adoption of the plan which was outlined at the conference held in Dublin some weeks ago, the solution of the overmastering difficulty in the Irish question will undoubtedly be reached. At that conference were gathered active representatives of landlord and tenant interests, as well as some delegates from the business and professional walks of life.

Millions Are Involved.

It was decided at that conference that the purchase terms should be on a basis [illegible] rental value. Of course, the money to make the transfer must be advanced by the Government, which shall exact about three per cent. interest and establish a graded system of repayment covering a long term of years.

The loan thus advanced will be added to the national debt, but as the Government will have the best of all securities—the farms—the debt will be no burden to the British taxpayer.

It is calculated that under the system so far approved by the Irish members about $500,000,000 will be needed to make the complete transfer. This vast amount will not, of course, be expended at one time, but will be alotted from year to year, as the occasion requires. The whole of this issue will, it is expected, be repaid in forty-nine years.

ADJOURNED COURT OF REVISION

The Remission of Dog Taxes in Great Demand

The members of the Court of Revision who were present last night, were, Ald. D. O'Connell, Chairman, Alds. Dalton, Clinkscale, Plante and Morrison.

The minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. E. Flaherty was granted a reduction of frontage tax, he owning only 30 feet, while he was assessed for 45 feet by mistake.

Erasmus Green was not given the reduction of 9 inches frontage tax asked for, as the committee had no means of assuring themselves as to the correctness of claim.

G. A. Baker asked for remission of taxes on account of having sold his stock of groceries in May last; but his request was not granted.

Wm. Gray did not get the tax remitted on account of giving his dog away.

The following persons found favor with the court in asking that their statute labor be remitted to them, on account of owning land, and paying taxes either in town or county: Mr. A. B. Cunningham, Rev. F. J. O'Brien, John Fanning, F. R. Raines, W. J. Redmund, W. Arnott and John Green. An old gentleman was exempt from statute labor on account of his age.

Mr. D. W. Dumble, on behalf of Mrs Dr. Fife, asked for the remission of taxes on a house occupied by a poor old lady who could not pay the rent, but was refused.

Mr. Robert Redmond's taxes were remitted on account of inability to earn a living.

Mr. C. S. Stapleton's petition was not granted.

The First Church of Christ Scientists showed sufficient evidence to convince the court that their church on Aylmer street was used as a place of public worship, and was entitled to exemption from taxation.

Mrs. Mary Thornton had a tenant who was assessed wrongfully as a supporter of the Separate School, he being a Protestant, and asked that she be remitted 90 cents, being the difference in the school rates in 1902, but the court decided that they had no power to grant her request.

Ellen Rogers, Sarah Drake, Priscilla Payne, Mrs. Eno and John Rogers all had their taxes for 1902 remitted to them.

The following persons convinced the court that their dog was either dead, lost, stolen or made into sausage before the year 1903. Or else they never owned one of the barking brutes. Patrick O'Brien, Robt. White, Geo. Russell, W. J. Kennedy, Wm. Creamer, J. W. Brightman, Robt. Johnston, J. J. Turner, Jr., John Partington, A. R. Plummer, Jas. Goodwin, John McClelland, E. Dessautelle, John Fanning, A. R. Thorn, Mary O'Brien, A. Stevenson.

Rev. Father Murphy, of New York, who is here on a visit, presented the T.A.S. with $25 in aid of the funds of the band.

The T.A.S will hold a bee on Thursday evening next for the purpose of fixing up the Murray street grounds. It is proposed to build a grand stand, Mr. Fred Cook having drawn necessary plans.

The Hockey club and Dramatic section are to be banquetted after Easter. A committee now has the matter in hand.

A BLOCK OF HOUSES

Eight New Houses Started Yesterday in the South End

Mr. John Carlisle yesterday began the construction of eight houses on the corner of Bethune and Dalhousie streets. The buildings are to be of brick, and will rent for about eight dollars a month.

Last year Mr. Carlisle put up 21 houses, and this year he expects to erect 30 or 40 more. The houses are of a class that are badly needed just now. It would be well if there were more of the enterprise shewn by Mr. Carlisle exhibited by our contractors. There is easily room for a couple of hundred houses just now in Peterborough.

MARKET TOLLS SOLD

Yesterday Morning to Mr. Wm. Taylor for the Sum of $1020

Yesterday morning at 10 o'clock the annual sale of the market tolls took place in the Town Council Chamber. There were only two bidders present, Messrs. Wm. Taylor and Wm. Hall, although about thirty were in attendance. The conditions of sale were read by Mr. R. F. McWilliams, and Mr. Chas. Stapleton was auctioneer. Before the commencement of the sale it was announced by the auctioneer that there was a reserve bid of $1,000. The first offer of $1,010 was made by Mr. Hall, which Mr. Taylor raised to $1,020. No higher bid was made and Mr. Taylor became the purchaser of the tolls at $1,020.

The first auction sale of the tolls took place in 1892 when they went at $1,720. They were sold last year at $1,270. The lowest bid as yet took place yesterday.

YESTERDAY'S FIRE

Two Conflagrations—One More Serious than the Other

Yesterday morning at six o'clock a blaze was discovered in a small barn owned by Mr. James Mongraw, corner of Simcoe and Queen streets. The fire had gained so much headway before the fire brigade reached the scene, that nothing could be done to save the animals which were inside the building, and two cows and a horse perished in the flames. The firemen acted promptly, however, and prevented the fire from spreading. The most damage was done to the roof and side of the barn. The fire resulted from an unknown cause but is thought was of incendiary origin. Mr. Mongraw has the sympathy of all in the loss of his animals, which were highly prized by him.

The fire at 10.30 was at the residence of Mr. Jas. Irwin, Parnell street, where a blaze was found in the upper flat. It was soon extinguished, but considerable damage resulted from the smoke and water. This fire was also from an unknown cause.

STILL ANOTHER FACTORY

Galt is Also Organizing a Beet Sugar Company

There is great danger of the beet sugar business being overdone. Besides the factory at Berlin, there is the Wiarton factory, and half a dozen other factories are under contemplation.

The Galt Reporter says: Mr. Peter Patterson returned to Galt yesterday evening after spending a few weeks among Oxford County farmers in the interests of the Wallaceburg Sugar Company, Limited. He says that the farmers of Oxford are taking hold of the beet growing idea with considerable enthusiasm, and that a large acreage will be produced in that county next summer.

It is generally understood here among those in a position to know that, if the Dominion Government this session give the sugar industry an adequate measure of protection the Wallaceburg Company will at once commence the erection of a large factory in Galt. Recognizing the importance of the industry, many public bodies have passed suitable resolutions along this line, so that the policy of the Government on this question will be looked for with much interest.

SPRING TIREDNESS

Is Caused By Unhealthy Action of the Liver and Kidneys Assisted by Starved Blood and Poor Circulation

Paine's Celery Compound

Nourishes the Life Stream and Strengthens Every Organ of the Body

The great virtues of Paine's Celery Compound are abundantly manifested in the spring. It is a medicine compounded specially to brace the nerves, to sustain heart action, to cleanse the blood and keep the stomach, liver and kidneys in vigorous health.

In the springtime the effects of the winter's work, the worries of business, household cares, and the severe changes of temperature all conduce to weakened and inflamed nerves, insomnia, poverty of the blood, deranged digestion, liver and kidneys in bad condition; in thousands of cases of rheumatism and neuralgia commence their horrible tortures. Paine's Celery Compound used three or four times a day for the next four weeks, will furnish the proper and needed elements of life for the growth and repair of the whole body. It will quickly make new nerve fibre, pure rich blood, will bestow sound health and long years of life. Mrs. S. Sindrick, Magog, Que., gratefully writes as follows:

"For a time I suffered severely from nervousness and peculiar feelings of faintness; I felt all used up and my appetite was very poor. After using Paine's Celery Compound for a time, all feelings of nervousness were completely banished, I am restored in strength and general vigor, I eat and sleep well and am perfectly restored to sound health."

ENGLAND DEMANDING THAT WE SHALL CONTRIBUTE

To Her Navy, Thinks We Should Bear a Larger Share of the Cost

CONTRIBUTION ALMOST NON-EXISTENT

Our Merchant Fleet the World Over is Protected by the British Navy.

New York, March 23.—The London correspondent of the Tribune cables to day: "There is undoubtedly a growing demand by the people of this country that the self-governing colonies should bear a larger share of the cost of the Imperial defence. It is pointed out that, although colonial commerce forms one-fifth of the total trade of the Empire, and although the population of the colonies is more than one-fourth that of the United Kingdom, yet the colonial contribution towards the cost of the navy is almost non-existent.

Arnold Foster, speaking on his authority as Secretary of the Admiralty, has made it unmistakably clear that the Admiralty cannot continue to accept with equanimity the idea that almost the whole burden of supporting the defence of the Empire should rest on the United Kingdom. His speech has not been repudiated by any member of the Cabinet, and the colonies are advised to take the warning to heart. The British people cannot understand that it is useless to expect the colonies to saddle themselves with the debts of European feuds.

The Saturday Review, for instance, argues as follows: "Supposing for a moment that Canada were a separate country, she would be forced, especially as her wheat export increases, to keep a considerable fleet to defend her merchantmen, and yet Sir Wilfrid Laurier maintains that Canada is doing her full duty in Imperial defence by building railways, most of which were made possible by English capital." The real meaning of this and similar arguments is that John Bull, in spite of his broad back, is growning under an income tax of fifteen pence in the pound, and is anxious to be relieved of the load.

Prof. Goldwin Smith and Mr. Ross

Toronto, March 23.—Prof. Goldwin Smith in the weekly Sun says: Mr. Ross, it has always been maintained in these columns, had much better after the general election have met without delay the Legislature which he had called, taken a decisive vote, and thereupon made up his mind whether he was in a position to carry on the Government. He preferred, as a matter of party tactics, to fight the battle out in the election courts, and in such bye-elections as might ensue. He thereby manifestly exposed the Province to a reign of intrigue and corruption, as well as to an ordinary outburst of party rancour. He now sees the result. It is much worse for him than even a defeat upon an appeal to the Legislature would have been. In that case he would at all events have retained the confidence and support of a united party. As it is, he is threatened with total wreck.

The proper arbiter of the course to be taken by the Ministers in such circumstances as these is the Lieutenant-Governor. By him the Ministers are appointed, and he is responsible to the Province for their integrity. It is very unfortunate if, as is stated, he is incapacitated by sickness for the performance of his function. It is obviously not for the accused to select the tribunal or determine the mode of procedure.

'HUNTING FOR HAWKINS'

As Presented at the Opera House Last Night Makes a Great Hit

There was a full house last night at the opera. It was filled to the doors with an audience that alternately laughed at the merry comedy "Hunting for Hawkins."

The bundle of laughable absurdities was a sterling attraction in New York, and simply "Gum-shoed" into Peterborough because nobody had heard of it until the eleventh hour on Saturday night, when the busy bill-poster was seen posting their bills after dark.

Last evening a large audience woke up to the fact that there was a barrel of fun in the comedy.

The company presenting the comedy is far above the usual attraction that visits our city, and Mr. Stevens' Company of players certainly deserved the patronage that they gave him. The principals were all regular farce comedians. The result was a company which was able to amuse the people in front all the time.

The farce comedy plot was, and is, indeed a very clever one, not often seen in a regular days travel, and was written by Guy F. Steely, whose musical comedy, "The Storks" had such a phenomenal run last summer at the Dearborn Theatre in Chicago, and now running at the New Majestic Theatre, Boston, Mass.

Mr. Gus Thomas, a Toronto boy, son of Gus Thomas, former proprietor of the English Chop House, of Toronto, was the "Hawkins" for whom everybody was hunting. Mr. Thomas will probably be remembered in connection with several Hoyt comedies that have visited the Dominion from time to time, namely, "A Trip to Chinatown," "Stranger in New York," and "A Contented Woman." As "Hawkins" he sent the listeners into hysterics. In several instances with his gestures and facial expression in addition to the lies he told and under the various names he assumed added to his success in the title role. Mr. Thomas, we will venture to say, is indeed one of the cleverest comedians that we have seen on the stage in or district. Next in consideration, but not least by any means, came Mr. F. H. Stevens, who played "Owen Toucham." His very appearance caused a laugh, and his incidental remark "I could use five" became a "Trade mark." Mr. Stevens is indeed a very funny eccentric comedian, and the droll way he has won him a place in the minds of his listeners that will long be remembered. Miss Ida Palmer, in a "fright" wig with ringlets, as the old maid looking for her lost love, did some comedy work not often seen. She was not only willing to disguise her good looks, but she was a comedienne to the tips of her fingers and as the sentimental creature looking for the missing ideal, she reminded the spectator of a beautiful burlesque of "Lydia Languish." Mr. George Girard had a very funny German dialect that never failed to raise a storm of giggles over the house. Mark Harrison helped things along as the man who wanted badly to find the missing "Hawkins," then really living under his own roof. Harry Clifton was good as the "Boston Post." Miss Helen Harrington as Mrs. Ashley played with dignity and repose, and suited her part to a nicety. Miss Nita L. Pierson as Mrs. Hawkins who hunted for her husband, was a very clever support to the principal of the cast. Miss Pierson enjoys a charm that is magnetic and wins her a following, for she is indeed a very charming woman. Her rendition of "Baby," a poem written especially by herself to suit the part, is a "clear water gem," with a train of romance seldom found in the works of the masters. In addition to all, her various gowns were a treat to the feminine portion of the audience.

The rest of the cast is a very clever one and every part is well cast. The company came direct from New York to the Dominion, and this was the second played on their contemplated Ontario tour. Manager Bradburn, after the second act last evening, pressed Mr. Stevens to play here to-night again. Owing to the company having an open date Mr. Stevens decided to remain here with his company, and will repeat the comedy to-night at the Opera House. We are pleased to know that Manager Bradburn has persuaded the company to remain over, and we can assure and guarantee to our readers that an evening spent at the opera house will not be regretted.

The story of "Hunting for Hawkins" is ingenious, relating the difficulties of a young couple who are anxious to overcome the objection of a proud mamma, who will not consent to the marriage of her only daughter with any man, unless he has (social) distinction. The dowager is an ardent admirer of G. Pussy Sandcroft, a celebrated literary man from Boston. A mutual friend, Hawkins, impersonates Sandcroft and announces the young suitor as his nephew. Matters become complicated by the arrival in New York of the real Sandcroft and Mrs. Hawkins, who, not having heard of her husband's plans, is "Hunting for Hawkins." Owen Toucham, who lives by touching, breaks down the barriers by claiming relationship to the proud mamma, thus clearing the way to happiness for the young couple. A few timely explanations from Hawkins sets matters right ere the curtain falls.

CONGO FREE STATE HORRORS UNVEILED

Belgian Rulers' Methods Revealed by Britons

TORTURE OF NATIVES IS COMMON

New York, March 23.—The Sun has the following special from London: The sensation of the book publishing season was the appearance this month of "The Curse of Central Africa," which is the latest contribution to the sickening history of the Congo Free State, of which Leopold, King of the Belgians, is the autocratic sovereign.

Horrible and Revolting.

What is in the book, however, is sufficiently horrible and revolting. It appears that the natives have only been delivered from Arab slave drivers to become the slaves of the Free State Company. The stories of cruelties practised by its officials equal and surpass the ghastliest tales from Armenia and Bulgaria.

The main trade of the Congo is in rubber. The villages are obliged to send in a certain amount, which is so great that it takes up the whole time of the people. The villagers wear round their necks a zinc badge of servitude with their name and number. If they bring in at the fortnightly muster a quantity which the agent deems insufficient they are handed over to the soldiers, thrown on the ground, and flogged with a hippopotamus hide whip, receiving from 50 to 100 lashes. The natives are reduced to this practical slavery by the sending out of a military force, which surrounds a village and shoots the men and such women as try to escape. The rest are taken prisoners and sent to distant plantations, where they are practically slaves. If the escape, death in the jungle awaits them.

When expeditions go out to reduce fresh tribes the soldiers shoot all the men, women and children they possibly can, and burn the villages which are abandoned on their approach. One practice on these occasions was for the soldiers to cut off the left hand of all the men, women and children killed and bring them to the Commissary, who "counts them to see that the soldiers had not wasted any cartridges."

A photograph, which is reproduced in the book, shows Major Lothaire and other Belgian officials looking at a gruesome scene of two chiefs, who with 400 people, had come in to place themselves under Lothaire's protection, being suspended from a horizontal pole by cords from their necks, waists and ankles in the most painful attitudes. After having been thus suspended these two natives were scalped. Then their shin bones were sawed through by the negro servant of the Belgian doctor. After this their ears, noses and lips were cut off for "the amusement of the white onlookers." This torture lasted for an hour, after which the men were thrown into the bush.

Stories of similar tortures of men, women and children are scattered through the book, with accounts of the general system of administration of this vast district of 800,000 square miles, which give evidence of the existence of an appalling state of affairs. The whole conduct of affairs is a violation of the solemn pledges given to the European nations when the Congo Free State was created.

SUNDAY MILK DELIVERY

It is Claimed that it is Not a Work of Necessity

The Times has received complaints regarding Sunday milk delivery from people who regard the work as a violation of the spirit of the law.

Without expressing an opinion on the subject, we simply copy the remarks of the Rev. Mr. Knowles, of Galt, formerly a resident of Peterborough on this subject. At the conclusion of his sermon on Sunday evening in Knox church, in that town, Mr Knowles said: Nine-tenths of the consumers would not have milk delivered on Sunday as proof that Sunday delivery was not a necessity. He had nothing to say against the dealers who were practically forced to break the Sabbath, but he appealed to the church-going people to see that Sunday delivery was stopped. Some Galtonians would not deal with a vendor who would not deliver on Sunday, and some again would not deal with him if he did deliver on Sunday, a position he could not defend. The delivery of milk was the only commercial element seen on our streets on Sunday, and it was only a step to the Sunday tobacco and barber shop. The matter rested largely in the hands of the church-going people.

THE EAST MIDDLESEX CASE

The decision in the East Middlesex election case will tend either to lower one's respect for the law or for the manner in which the law is interpreted by its judicial interpreters.

Dr. Routledge, the Liberal candidate in East Middlesex, has been confirmed in his seat by Chief Justice Falconbridge and Judge Maclennan, notwithstanding his own admission that during the campaign he freely bought drinks for the electors and that his agent Vining did the same.

Hugh Clark, the Conservative candidate in Centre Bruce, was unseated because one of his agents, without his knowledge or consent, treated three electors.

If it was right that Hugh Clark should be unseated because one of his agents treated electors, how can it possibly be right that Dr. Routledge should retain his seat, in spite of the fact that he himself freely treated electors? The explanation is given by the learned judges who have confirmed Dr. Routledge in his seat. "Extensive and general treating," they say,

> "is truly prima facie corrupt, and may, in fact, be perfectly innocent and a previous habit of treating is an important consideration in determining whether it is corrupt or not. Here the respondent had been in this habit, and simply continued it for a certain time, and there is only a single witness who says that on any occasion reference was made to the election."

You see, although Dr. Routledge treated the electors extensively during the campaign, his practice was not necessarily corrupt, inasmuch as he had previously been in the habit of treating extensively. It does not appear that the agent Vining had also been a habitual treater, but no doubt it has been assumed as a matter of course that he had been, and therefore his election treating was not a source of danger to the Liberal candidate.

If this is the law, then Dickens' beadle hit it right, and "the law is a ass." The decision has the effect of a notification to all aspiring politicians that if they desire to make their calling and election sure they had better start with the cultivation of the treating habit.

But does the law admit of this interpretation? We shrink from expressing doubt as to the accuracy of the interpretation given by the two learned judges who tried this case. As it has taken them several months to arrive at a decision they must have devoted a vast deal of thought to the case, and their decision must not be lightly considered. And yet we confess to a certain curiosity as to how the learned judges would interpret section 162, sub-section 2, of the Ontario Election act (R.S.O., chap. 9) which reads as follows:

> "It shall not, upon the trial of an election petition, be a sufficient answer to a charge of treating electors, that the person charged had been in the habit of treating."

THE ALASKA BOUNDARY

In the course of his speech in the debate on the address, Sir Wilfrid Laurier explained that the Alaskan treaty is a step in advance of any proposition which heretofore would have been accepted by the United States. Previously it was insisted upon that points which have been occupied by the United States should be regarded as being within Alaskan territory, whether an interpretation of the treaty of 1825 placed them there or not. Seven questions are to be submitted to the tribunal of eminent jurists, and they are, in answering them, to give a complete interpretation of the treaty. Sir Wilfrid also pointed out that the failure of the United States Government to meet the requirements in appointing eminent jurists had [illegible] passed without protest to the Imperial Government from the Dominion Government.

The Canadian case will be ably presented. Hon. Clifford Sifton will have charge of the preparation of it and he has the advantage of having been personally on the ground in dispute. Hon. Edward Blake and Mr. Christopher Robinson will be counsel and will have associated with them the Solicitor-General of England. Should the British and United States representatives fail to agree, the information diffused through the sittings of the commission will have a valuable effect in educating the people of both Canada and the United States, and pave the way for a reference to the Hague tribunal.

AN EXAMPLE FOR ONTARIO

Both houses of the Virginia legislature have passed the Barksdale pure-election bill, which has long been pending. "It means," says the Richmond Times-Dispatch, "that elections in Virginia must be not only pure and honest, but absolutely above suspicion. It means that the white men of the State shall rule, that all voters shall be free to express their choice of men and measures at the polls, and that the majority shall control. It means political emancipation in Virginia, freedom from the fear of negro domination, and deliverance from the curse of reconstruction. God be praised."

Capturing a Girl Graduate

"Yes," said the young man, as he threw himself at the feet of the sweet girl graduate, "I love you, and would go to the world's end for you."

"You could not go to the end of the world for me, James. The world, as it is called, is round like a ball, slightly flattened at the poles. One of the first lessons in the elementary geography is devoted to the shape of the globe. You must have studied it when you were a boy."

"Of course I did, but——"

"And it is no longer a theory. Circumnavigators have established the fact."

"I know; but what I meant was that I would do anything to please you. Ah! Minerva, if you only knew the aching void——"

"There is no such thing as a void, James. Nature abhors a vacuum. But, admitting that there could be such a thing, how could the void you speak of be a void if there was an ache in it?"

"I meant to say that my life will be lonely without you, that you are my daily thought and my nightly dream. I would go anywhere to be with you. If you were in Australia or at the North Pole I would fly to you. I——"

"Fly! Men won't fly yet, dear boy. Even when the laws of gravity are successfully overcome, there will still remain, says a late scientific authority, the difficulty of maintaining a balance——"

"Well, at all events," exclaimed the youth, "I've got a pretty fair balance at my banker's, and I want you to be my wife. There!"

"Well, James, since you put it in that light I——"

To Set Her Free

By FLORENCE WARDEN.

Author of "The House in the Marsh," "A Prince of Darkness," etc.

enquiry agent at work to find him out if he can. I only hope he may not have left the country."

Astley began to look gloomy. He had been comforting himself, since the morning's visit to the doctor's house, by the hope that it might be possible to prove that Lottie was not alive at all: but if these people took such pains to hide the evidence of her wrong-doing, it must be because they knew her to be alive, and were determined to establish her claim to the title of "Lady Darwen," and the income he would in that case be bound to pay her.

"And what is the fellow like?" he asked in a sullen voice.

"He is described as tall, well set up and soldierly, with blue eyes, colorless light hair, a particularly long and rather sandy moustache; and he has a scar over the right eyebrow, apparently the result of a sabre-cut."

"Not very difficult to identify then, if he should be in England still."

"No. That's one point in our favor. However, up to now all efforts to trace him have been a dead failure, I'm sorry to say. But we won't give up hope. In the meantime you and I had better start for Leamington as soon as possible; to-morrow morning, I suggest."

"Yes," said Astley, with a wistful glance at Norma, as she rose to leave them together over their wine.

On the following day, therefore, almost immediately after breakfast, Astley, who still looked very ill and weak, and the lawyer, started together for the home of Lottie's mother; and poor Norma was left alone with her anxiety.

She was quite relieved when she presently saw the Hall phaeton come up the drive, and without waiting for her two visitors to ring bells and make enquiries, Norma opened the French window of the morning-room and came out to them.

"Oh, how do you do? You shouldn't come out without your hat; it's cold this morning," said Sadie Brown, leaning out of the phaeton to give her a hearty hand-shake. Jack, who was by her side, raised his hat and smiled comfortingly. It was odd how these two, without any appearance of undue presumption, managed to convey their sympathy to her. "I'm afraid you'll think us very intrusive to come again so soon, Lady Darwen. And we ought to have waited till the afternoon, oughtn't we?"

Norma smiled, and blushed, and the tears came into her eyes.

"I can't tell you how glad I am to see you both," said she. "Especially as I'm all alone to-day." And her voice trembled ever so little. "My husband had to go away this morning on business."

Sadie and Jack gave her a sympathetic nod at the same moment.

"Well, we knew that, as a matter of fact," admitted Sadie. "For you know we can see the road from the Hall windows, and we saw Sir Astley drive past."

"And as he had a little portmanteau," added Jack, meditatively, "why we put two and two together, as people always do in the country, and we decided that he was going to stay away a day or two, and that therefore perhaps you'd be lonely, and would be so dull that even we should be not unwelcome visitors."

"Not that we consider ourselves very entertaining," said Sadie.

"Speak for yourself, Sadie," said Jack gravely.

"Oh, you don't mind him, Lady Darwen, do you? He's only a rude boy," said Miss Brown.

Jack, who was standing beside the phaeton, tried to look haughty, and failed.

"These Americans call everybody boys under fifty," said he. "They don't have boys at Oxford."

"How is it you're here instead of at the university?" asked Norma.

Jack grinned and looked down at his right arm, which he carried in a sling.

"I had the misfortune," said he, sententiously, "to injure my arm at a football match. And, of course," he added more colloquially, "one always spins a thing like that out as long as one can. Oxford's a jolly place, but home's jollier still."

The relish with which he spoke was so boyish as to dispose of any idea that he had got beyond that stage of existence.

And Norma talked to them, and smiled at their light-hearted little jests, and never guessed, until just as they were going away, why it was that they had come, and why they were so particularly nice to her. Then Sadie took up the reins and the whip, and ordered Jack to walk on towards the gates. As soon as he was out of hearing, she leaned out to whisper to Norma, who was keeping pace with the ponies' walk:

"Don't you worry yourself and get nervous and frightened and miserable if people talk. I don't know whether I'm right to tell you, but they are chattering, and I thought you'd like to know that all the right people are on your side, and don't believe a word of this rumor that there's another woman who's got the right to take your place."

"Do they say that?" whispered Norma, faintly.

"Was I wrong to tell you? You were bound to know some time, and I wanted you to feel we were on your side, anyway."

A little smile crept over Norma's white face. She looked up with grateful eyes.

"You were right, and—thank—you," she whispered. "You and—and—though he mustn't hear me call him so—that dear boy!"

So the two kind-hearted young people drove away, and Norma, not knowing whether she was more alarmed by the news that the rumor had spread, or comforted by feeling that she had already made some allies, went back to the house, put on a hat and cape, and took a brisk walk in the grounds.

She had made the tour of the whole place, and was returning indoors to luncheon, when, coming suddenly round the corner of the house, she came upon a stranger who was just leaving the portico as she approached it.

The man turned on hearing footsteps, and Norma with difficulty refrained from uttering a cry. He saw that she was struck by his appearance, and immediately hurried away into the avenue at a great rate.

For a moment she stood undecided; then she ran down the avenue after him; but he had disappeared: whether he had run down the winding road at a great rate, or taken a cut through the shrubs, and over the outer wall, she could not tell.

Trembling and panting, she went back to the house. She knew she could not be mistaken: short as had been the time she had for inspection, she had taken in all the details of the tall, soldierly figure, colorless hair, long, tawny moustache, blue eyes. Above all, there was the cut over the right eye, an unmistakable mark of identity.

Cracked Wheat For Young Chicks.

Some cracked wheat should be given to chicks even before they are a week old, says an exchange. It is the best exercise their digestive organs can have. Whole wheat will be eaten when the chicks are ten days or two weeks old and should always form a part of their ration. It is especially valuable to make them feather quickly, by giving the grain containing just the kind of material necessary for feather production. Where wheat is largely grown, the fowls find enough scattered grains about the barns or stacks, so that young chicks hatched in mid-summer will become full feathered before winter, and make early spring layers.

The hog that stands square and strong upon its feet should be chosen for a breeder in preference to a gouty, weak-kneed animal.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Improvements in Quebec Harbour," will be received at this office until Friday, 17th April, inclusively, for the construction of a cribwork and concrete wharf in Quebec Harbour.

Plans and specifications can be seen at this Department and at the offices of H. A. Gray, Esq., Resident Engineer, Confederation Life Building, Toronto; C. Desjardins, Esq., Clerk of Works, Post-office, Montreal; Ph. Béland, Esq., Clerk of Works, Post Office Building, Quebec; E. T. P. Shewen, Esq., Resident Engineer, St. John, N.B., and C. E. W. Dodwell, Esq., Resident Engineer, Halifax, N.S.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

An accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honorable the Minister of Public Works, for twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) must accompany each tender. The cheque will be forfeited if the party decline the contract or fail to complete the work contracted for, and will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary.

Stocks—THE MARKETS OF THE WORLD—Grain

Great Fortunes Are Made

FROM INVESTMENTS IN GOOD MINING PROPERTIES—HERE IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME

The Electric Spark GOLD MINING COMPANY

Stock was placed on the market eighteen months ago and sold for SIX CENTS per share. In less than six months the stock was selling at FIFTEEN CENTS, and a few months ago rose to TWENTY CENTS, at which price it is now being bought and sold. $100 00 invested eighteen months ago would bring you today $333 33. CAN YOU FIND A BETTER INVESTMENT? Do you know that mining affords about the only opportunity for people of small means to make a large amount of money? Why? Because everything except mining is controlled by the trusts and combines, and the small dealer is soon frozen out. We have left to sell

20,000 Shares at 20c. per share

Inside of twelve months this stock will be worth $1.00 per share and paying a dividend. We refer you to any mining man in Gilpin County, Colorado, and, by permission, to the Rocky Mountain National Bank of Central City, Colorado. NOW IS YOUR GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY. We are ready and willing to give any further information asked for. Address

Thunder Mountain!

is the richest gold producing camp in the United States, and also the largest. The Thunder Mountain district, in central Idaho, is twenty miles wide and forty miles long. In comparison with this we have Cripple Creek, four miles wide and seven miles long. In many of the Thunder Mountain mines ore has already been reached that carries ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD TO THE TON. All of the Thunder Mountain ore is free milling, which means that it can be treated by the cheapest extraction process known—the ordinary stamp mill. It can be both mined and milled at a cost not to exceed $2 a ton. The past years operations in the several working mines have opened up millions of tons of ore that will give a net profit of from $10 to $30 a ton, enabling the respective companies to pay dividends at a rate never before equalled. Such is the showing and the prospect of the

EAST DEWEY GOLD MINING CO.

which unless all indications are at fault, will become the largest producer in the district. The EAST DEWEY mine, which it owns outright, is located directly on Thunder Mountain, just east of the famous "Dewey" mine, which already has $20,000,000 of ore in sight. The surface area of the East Dewey mine is one hundred and twenty acres—six full quartz claims. The company has also secured the big GOLDEN GATE mine, in the Big Creek section of the Thunder Mountain district—which has been so aptly termed "The Pot of Gold"—and is now developing the mine with all possible speed. For a distance of 9,000 feet, nearly two miles, the Golden Gate mines cover a mineralized ledge that is 900 feet wide, with an average height above the tunnel level of 500 feet, thus giving it the largest exposed tonnage of any mine in the west.

If you would share in the enormous profits which these figures indicate and which these developments promise, invest your money in "East Dewey" Stock. It can be bought to-day for 10 Cents a Share. Its par value is $1.

If the East Dewey mines are what they appear to be, and there is absolutely no reason to doubt or question these indications, this stock will eventually be worth at least $10 a share, and to-day you can buy it for ten cents. PRICE ADVANCES TO FIFTEEN CENTS ON FEBRUARY 28th. 5% discount allowed for cash. Stock sold at flat price of 10 cents on deferred payments, 10% with application, and 10% monthly until paid. Full particulars, prospectus, etc., on request.

STOCK MARKETS

MERITS OF METROPOLITAIN

New York, March 23.—Only a few days ago when the Metropolitan was selling around 132, we called attention to this stock in these letters, extolling its merits as a purchase at the then going prices. The latter part of last week it advanced most sharply, and will go so to a still further considerable extent. The security sold down from 145 under a misapprehension. This bear movement in the stock savored most strongly of stock jobbing. The wind up of the bear campaign being an alleged expose of unproper finance, issued in the form of a newspaper attack upon the property. Those who sold upon the articles in question now have a chance to regret their action, the stock having advanced smartly since. The company has acted most frankly in the entire matter, affording every means of investigation to the district attorney's office, while Mr. Whitney, whose probity and business reliability has never been questioned, has most emphatically and thoroughly denied all charges of wrong doing on the part of the company, its officials or promulgators. Metropolitan is a seven per cent. guaranteed city property, uneffected by the ebb and flow of business, crops or otherwise, and should never sell below 150. At going prices it is an unusual bargain, as either an investment or as a speculative purchase. Its business must be as a natural necessity constantly increase, being as it is a transportation company of the great metropolis of our country. The time is coming when we believe it will be jointly operated by interests that will simultaneously dominate the elevated as well as the underground road. Then cost of operation will be most materially reduced all round. We believe buyers below 140 can make no mistake, and that such action will be resultant in splendid profits. The clique who recently operated for a decline in this security certainly were more or less unscrupulous in their methods. They are still short of a considerable block of stock. The latter part of the last week, they were treated to a considerable punishment through rapid advance of the stock in price. We firmly believe that punishment will be still further hounded out to them before they recapture the last 100 share lot of which they are short.

SUMMARY.

Today's market was sluggish, the storm disorganized many wires, militating against activity. Prices were inclined to fractionally recessional due to efforts of the board room traders, who worked for the decline. The principal feature of the market was the strength of the Southern Pacific, Wabash preferred, and T. C. I., which ran counter current to the general market, and the two former making decisive gains. They look good to buy. Buying of good character was noticeable in St. Paul, B. R. T. Manhattan, Missouri Pacific and B. & O. In fact all issues were quietly absorbed. Prices should work higher during the current week. Money closed 5 1-2. Sales [illegible].

Interesting Items.

According to an Omaha correspondent of the Chicago "Tribune," D. H. Hoffman, a Union Pacific machinist getting $3 a day, has received the palm as the most expensively dressed man in that city. The extent of his wardrobe was brought to light in a trial in Omaha, where a man was charged with stealing a suit-case full of clothing from him. While under oath he stated that the grip contained $6 worth of neckties. "How many neckties have you altogether?" asked the attorney. He replied: "I have $400 worth of neckties." The court gasped and the attorney turned pale. "Is the rest of your wardrobe in proportion?" asked the attorney. "It is," responded the witness. Hoffman was dressed faultlessly.

When Henry Hiemenz, jr., of St. Louis died the other day he left $1,000,000 and a will which provided that his widow, who inherited the entire fortune, was to strew the grave of his first wife with flowers every Sunday and on the anniversaries of her birth and death. This probably is the acme of refined cruelty. If the testator had provided that the widow, in order to keep the money, must climb a greased pole every Sunday morning, or give up corsets, or do her own washing, other women might have gone to her and encouraged her with the assurance that the money was worth the sacrifice; but to be compelled to strew flowers on the grave of the woman who is now, let us hope, happy with the man in paradise will undoubtedly be regarded by all sober-minded women as too much.

The English papers tell of a young Parisian in London, visiting the "Chamber of Horrors" at Mme. Tussaud's. Being alone, he was seized with an impulse to put his neck in the lunette wherein had rested that of Marie Antoinette. He lay down, touched a spring, and closed the collar. But how was he to release himself? If he touched the wrong spring the fatal axe might descend. Before long a crowd of visitors, led by an attendant, came on the scene. The guide was a bit of a linguist, and saw an opportunity with himself as master of the situation. He at once began a practical lecture on the guillotine, interrupting his remarks with little asides in French to the indignant victim, asking him to scream louder or writhe more agonizingly. "How well he acts!" exclaimed the gratified onlookers. Finally the Parisian was released and, answering the applause with malediction, fled.

Regarding a Wonderful Discovery by the Famous Dr. Clarke.

To the Editor of The Times—

Sir,—With a view to afford relief to the afflicted, I ask you to publish the following: I am 31 years old and for 9 years have done absolutely nothing, owing to rheumatism; my hands, feet and heart being affected. I was induced by my cousin to take Dr. Clarke's Wonderful Little Red Pills, and before I had taken 4 boxes I could go upstairs without help, and can now go up the stairs as well as I ever could. Two doctors told me that I never would be well again; but I have neither ache nor pain and am in perfect health.

The Little Kingdom Mining Co.

Owns or controls more than 100 acres in Gilpin County, the richest mining district in Colorado, if not in the world. This county has produced over one hundred millions of dollars and continues to yield up great wealth.

The Little Kingdom Mining Company's property has passed the prospective stage and has enough low-grade ore in sight to keep a mill running steadily. As soon as the company has sufficient funds, a mill will be erected, assuring a steady income, which will enable it to push developments and place the property on a dividend-paying basis.

BIG DEVELOPMENT FUND.—The capital stock of the Company is $100,000 (divided in shares of one cent each); more than half of this amount was set aside as a treasury or development fund. Few mining companies possess such a large development fund according to their capital.

Slowly Dying

Thousands are Slowly dying from catarrh, but don't know their danger

A CASE IN POINT

Mr. Ulric Berault, a young gentleman who lived for years in Sweetsburg, Quebec, inherited Catarrh from his mother. The disease spread through his system till he was a physical wreck.

"As a child," said Mr. Berault, "I was prone to an ulceration of the mucous lining of the throat and nasal passages.

"I grew pale and emaciated, lost all desire for food, and got into such a dreadful condition that my friends said that Catarrh was fairly eating me up.

Every organ of my body seemed affected and the doctor said it was the first stage of consumption. He advised Catarrhozone, and I inhaled it ten minutes at a time every few hours, and was rewarded in a few days by a wonderful improvement.

Catarrhozone pleased me and the doctor so well that I used it continually, and took Ferrozone Tablets after each meal to build up my strength. In about three weeks I was quite recovered, and the doctor says no remedy but Catarrhozone could work such a miracle.

"Every one in town knows I was just about dead with Catarrh, and my cure is an evidence of what Catarrhozone can do. It is a pleasure to recommend Catarrhozone."

(Signed) Ulric Berault."

Catarrhozone beyond question is the proper remedy for catarrhal and bronchial troubles. The medicated air goes all through the air passages of the head, throat and lungs. It kills the germs, heals the sore spots, allays irritation and keeps the breath pure.

Headache, tired feelings across the eyes, nausea, all these well-known disagreeable symptoms are overcome by the medicated air of Catarrhozone.

Ferrozone Tablets which are used in conjunction with Catarrhozone Inhaler drive all the poisonous secretions of catarrh from the blood. One taken after each meal creates new appetite and digestion, strengthens the stomach, revitalizes and invigorates the entire system.

Catarrhozone is quite unsurpassed as a cure for Catarrh in any part of the system. It is highly recommended for Bronchitis and Asthma.

Complete outfit, sufficient for two months' treatment, price $1.00; trial size 25 cts. Druggists or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston. Ont.

Boarders Wanted

Comfortable quarters for a couple of boarders at 400, Bethune street.

Increase of Capital

The Canadian Cordage Company has secured the necessary legal authority to increase its capital from $400,000 to [illegible].

Carrier Boy Wanted

One dollar per week will be paid to a good boy to carry a Times' route. Can easily take it before school. Apply at Times Bookstore.

The Lift Lock

Work on the lift lock is proceeding satisfactorily. The pontoons of steel, are now nearly in position, and the whole lock is becoming more interesting daily. Crowds of people go over to see the lock whenever weather permits.

A Close Call

By the escape of coal gas at Mrs. Tusker's boarding house on Charlotte street, three boarders came nearly losing their lives. The gas awakened one of the boarders who got up and threw open the windows. Had this not happened, there probably would have been fatal results.

BOARD OF HEALTH MET

And Several Important Resolutions Were Passed

Yesterday morning the local Board of Health held a meeting, the following members being present: Mr. Robt. Neill, chairman; Messrs. Wm. Eyres, A. Parker, G. Schneider, G M. Roger and Dr. Burnham. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

A committee composed of the chairman and the Mayor were appointed to interview the Nicholls Hospital authorities regarding accommodation for diphtheria patients, and suggesting that a double-walled tent be erected for same.

Messrs. Eyres and Schneider were appointed a committee to appoint a substitute for Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer, during his absence in Toronto, where he is suffering from an attack of la grippe.

It was decided that the Town Council and Water Commissioners will meet and confer with the Board of Health in regard to the sanitation of the town.

The Board then adjourned

Stuck in the Mud

Numerous complaints have reached The Times regarding the disgraceful condition of the streets, especially in the south end. On Saturday a baker's rig stuck fast in the mud, and was with difficulty released. It is time that a change was made in the management of the streets.

The Late Mr. Thomas Foster

There passed away on Sunday night Mr. Thomas Foster, in the 69th year of his age. The deceased had been ailing for a long time, and his early demise was looked for. He was highly esteemed by all who knew him. A wife, two sons and two daughters are left to mourn his death. The sons are Messrs. W. H., and Frank W., both of Trenton; and the daughters are Mrs. E. Downie and Mrs. Charles M. Holland, both of town. The funeral will take place this morning at 10.30 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery.

Miss Delaney's Millinery Opening

The Times is pleased to call the attention of its readers to Miss Delaney's extensive display of millinery, fresh from the world's fashion centres. Where the brightest brains, and nimblest fingers have been at work come the new styles which will be on view Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. To say that it is the best showing expresses but feebly the attempt. It means a harvest of ideas from which her customers can garner to their heart's content. We are assured that all are welcome to attend and see the display whether they wish to purchase or not.

Weary Brain Workers

All fagged out, ideas flow slowly as molasses, snap and energy gone! The buoyancy that made work a pleasure, that's gone also. A doctor would say you are run down, enervated, neither eating or digesting enough. It's Ferrozone you need to brace up that fitful appetite and improve assimilation and digestion so that lots of pure strong blood will be formed to nourish the broken down system. Ferrozone will drive away the tired feeling, restore your spirits and energy, revive your ambition and strength for work. No tonic or rebuilder like Ferrozone—try it. Price 50c. per box, or six boxes for $2.50; at Druggists, or Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont.

TO-NIGHT'S MEETING

Port Hope to Present Its Case on Trent Valley Canal

Port Hope is to send a delegation to the Board of Trade meeting this evening, to discuss the question of outlet into Lake Ontario for the Trent Valley Canal.

It is altogether likely Trenton will also be represented, when both sides will be heard. There should be a large attendance of citizens.

SURE SIGNS OF SPRING

A [illegible] Winter is Over

The snow and ice has melted off the sidewalk in front of the police station.

The street crossings are covered with mud, from one to three inches.

The young man's fancy lightly turns from the oyster girl to his ice cream maiden.

The millinery windows blossom and bloom, and papa begins to fret and fume.

The ash pile is awakening from its winter lethargy and longs to be on the move.

The waterworks and street departments are selecting localities for their spring openings in the public thoroughfares.

The suckers are running.

The creek is on the rampage.

And this great family journal is sawing wood.

—The ratepayers of Midland, Ont., have declared themselves in favor of raising $30,000, part of which ($9,400) is for the purchase of the local electric light system, and the remainder for making extensive improvements and additions thereto. The municipality already owns the waterworks and docks.

Family cares and duties do not weigh down the well woman, and the children are never in her way. But when the womanly health fails, and there is a constant struggle with weakness and pain, household duties are a burden almost past bearing, and children are a ceaseless annoyance and worry.

Weak women are made strong and sick women are made well by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries disagreeable drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I had been ailing some time, troubled with female weakness," writes Mrs. Wm. H. Johnson, of Avondale, Chester Co., Pa. "Every month I would have to lie on my back. I tried many different medicines and nothing gave me relief until I began Dr. Pierce's medicines, using two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' These medicines have cured me. When I began your treatment I was not able to do very much, but now I do the work for my family of nine, and feel better to-day than I have for a year. I thank you, doctor, from the bottom of my heart, for well do I know that you are the one who cured me."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best laxative for family use.

WAR OFFICE BARS CANADA FROM COMPETING FOR MEAT CONTRACTS

Mr. Brodrick's Statement in the House Regarding the Matter

CORK WANTS QUEENSTOWN AS PORT FOR FAST MAIL LINE

Lloyd's Test of the St. Lawrence Route

London, March 24.—Mr. Chamberlain will meet the Canadian-born M. P.'s at dinner to-night at the house of Ian Malcolm, who was a recent guest of Lord Minto, and has since married Mrs. Langtry's daughter.

The Port For the Fast Line.

Lord Strathcona will to-morrow receive a deputation from Cork to urge the claims of Queenstown for the fast mail service. Details for advertisements in the English press for tenders for the service have been received in London from Ottawa. It is still widely regretted that the tenders call for 21-knot boats only. The fact that Lloyds insured the Canadian Pacific's steamers for a guinea rate tells greatly in favor of the St. Lawrence route with British ship-owners. I understand that both the Canadian Pacific and Lloyds regards the low premiums as a test justified by the Canadian Pacific's exemption from disaster with its Pacific steamers, and the belief that the difficulties of the St. Lawrence are largely a matter of the quality of the patronage. The Canadian Pacific has been given to understand that the rate is purely experimental. If a year's experience does not justify the premiums they will be raised.

Canada Barred by War Office.

Mr. Brodrick's statement in the House in reply to Alfred Davies shows that the War Office still excludes Canadian beef from army contracts. The beef must be British or Irish grown, not frozen or chilled, and not from animals killed at Deptford or elsewhere within ten days of arrival from abroad. Mr. Brodrick added in typical War Office phraseology that there "would not appear anything required to make the terms of the contract clearer."

The Beet Sugar Proposition

It might be well for the promoters of the proposed beet sugar industry in Peterborough to enquire into the new process said to have been discovered, the principal feature of which is the separation of the sugar from the pulp. If it is true that a new process has been found, by which the cost of production of sugar will be greatly reduced, it is well to know it now. By the new plan small extracting plants are built in beet growing centres, the sugar extracted and sent to the factory and the pulp sold to the farmer for pig feed. It is alleged that a saving of from one to two hundred thousand dollars can be effected in the building and equipment of a factory by the new methods, as compared with the old. If this is true it would be well for those behind the present movement to investigate it fully at once.

OBITUARY

Death of a Bobcaygeon Young Lady Who was Well Known Here

It is with deep regret that the many friends of Miss Veronica (Vernie) MacFarlane, in Peterborough, heard of her demise on Monday, 16th instant, at her home in Bobcaygeon.

The deceased young lady was called away at the early age of 24 years, and was the second daughter of Mr. Wm. MacFarlane, Bobcaygeon. Mr. and Mrs. MacFarlane have the sympathy of all in their great bereavement, and in the loss of a loving and faithful daughter. The funeral was largely attended, and many floral tributes were sent by sorrowing relatives and friends. The funeral ceremony was conducted by Rev. Father O'Leary, of Bobcaygeon, and the remains were laid to rest in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery, Young's Point.

The Saxony Court Scandal

Dresden, March 25.—The King of Saxony has written an open letter to his people, thanking them with his whole heart for the proof of their sympathy with him in the "recent sad misfortune" which has befallen himself and his family. His Majesty expresses the hope that the "perturbation and excitement which seized on a large section of the population in consequence of the distressing events of last winter," will now give place to gratitude and the old feeling of confidence.

They Father Consumption

Bad coughs, colds and catarrh are responsible for more consumption than is traceable even to heredity. Catarrhozone cures more quickly than ordinary remedies because it is the only antiseptic yet discovered that is volatile enough to reach the root of the trouble in remote parts of the lungs and bronchial tubes, and impregnate every particle of the air breathed with its healing, germ-killing vapor. Colds can't last ten minutes, or coughs more than thirty minutes when Catarrhozone is inhaled. It clears nose, throat and air passages at once, stops dropping, headache, and eradicates catarrh from any part of the system. Two months' treatment, $1.00; trial size, 25c. Druggists, or N. C. PORT HOPE AND THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL

Will the Outlet be at Trenton or Port Hope?

PETERBORO' SUPPORTS TRENTON

A deputation from the Port Hope Canal Association met the Town Council and the Board of Trade in the Council Chamber last night, and submitted their reasons why Port Hope should be the outlet of the Trent Valley Canal, instead of Trenton. Although composed perhaps of the pick of Port Hope's de[illegible] ed to convince Peterborough's representatives that their route was preferable to the one already surveyed and reported favorably on by Mr. R. B. Rogers, the government engineer. While the whole proceedings were characterized by that harmony which should characterize all such gatherings, save in one instance, where Mr. D. W. Dumble scored the Port Hope papers for their unjust criticisms of Mr. Rogers' motives in reporting in favor of the Trenton route.

The Port Hope deputation will return home quite convinced that, although Mr. J. J. Turner expressed his entire support of their scheme, and Mr. J. W. Garvin recommended it as one worthy of serious consideration, still the majority of those with whom they measured swords last night are determined to leave no stone unturned to secure a speedy completion of the canal via Trenton. The opinion was also freely expressed that the attitude of Port Hope will unfortunately cause further delay in getting under contract those sections of the canal yet to be constructed.

A REPRESENTATIVE MEETING.

The meeting was largely attended, the Council Chamber being filled. The Port Hope Canal Association was represented by Dr. Powers, president; H. A. Ward, M.P., vice-president; J. F. Clark, R. A. Mulholland, J. H. Helm, H. Barrett, Sam Purser, S. Bennett, A. Long, and Col. Wm. McLean. Mr. Geo. Young, editor of the Trenton Courier, was also present. Peterborough was represented by Mayor G. M. Roger, and Aldermen Finnie, Batten, Morrison, Edgecumbe, Shortly, Best, H. Rush, McWilliams, Clinkscale, Corkery; Mr. D. Hughes-Charles, president of the Board of Trade; Messrs. John Carnegie, Jas. Kendry, M.P., W. H. Meldrum, T. E. Bradburn, J. W. Garvin, W. J. Ferguson, Robert Fair, D. W. Dumble, R. B. Rogers, government engineer, and a large number of representative citizens.

Mayor G. M. Roger and Mr. D. Hughes-Charles jointly presided.

DR. POWERS.

Was the first speaker for Port Hope. He admitted that a survey of some eight years ago reported adversely on the Port Hope route, but he characterized that incident as more of a pleasure party than one of business, and the work was not thoroughly done with a view to final judgment. He enlarged on the advantages Peterborough would enjoy through having a lake front [illegible] cut, deep enough, say eight or ten feet. Port Hope has, he said, no desire to obstruct this work, but rather to facilitate its speedy completion. But we are particularly anxious that a complete and exhaustive survey of the two routes should be made by one engineer, when we could decide which would be the better outlet for this great work. He urged that it is for the country's good that this waterway should be a deep one, affording navigation for barges drawing from eight to ten feet of water.

J. F. CLARK

Said that this waterway was no new idea with Port Hope, and they had submitted their views to the Ministers at Ottawa, and had, two years ago, communicated them to the Mayor of Peterborough. Port Hope has spent $700,000 in completing the railway to Midland, and $350,000 on a harbor, with a view to increased transportation. We require a deep waterway, and many think the canal will not answer that purpose. It should be cut deeper. If Canada secured one-third (67 millions) of the grain now going by Buffalo, we would require 8,000 barges, with a capacity of 8,000 bushels each, to transport it. The United States have concluded that their canals with their present depth cannot compete with the railways in the grain carrying trade, and they are going to spend $100,000,000 in deepening them. The St. Lawrence is to be deepened, and I would ask that the sections of the T.V.C. to be constructed have a depth of eight feet at least.

Mr. Dumble here explained that Mr. Rogers had provided for this.

Continuing, Mr. Clark claimed that a deepening of the canal for deep draught barges would necessitate an abandonment of the Trenton route, as that harbor is but seven feet, and the water in Lake Ontario is five feet lower today than a few years ago. Port Hope harbor has a depth of fourteen feet. Then the Port Hope route would enable big lake steamers to sail up to Peterborough which would thereby be brought nearer Toronto, and nearer Oak Orchard, the coal station on the American side. Water freight on coal to Peterborough would be only 60 cents a ton, as against $1 by train; this in itself would be a big advantage. In conclusion he argued that the canal from Rice Lake to Trenton will cost as much as a waterway from Lake Simcoe to Port Hope.

H. A. WARD, M.P.

Received the cordial reception his courteous presentation of Port Hope's claims entitled him to. He humorously reminded his hon. friend, Jas. Kendry, M.P., of the time he (Mr. Kendry) told the House of Commons that both the whole House and himself regarded the Port Hope route as a huge joke. He assured his hon. friend that Mr. Blair does not regard it in that light now, for he agrees with him (Mr. Ward) that Port Hope's views should be considered and the whole question thoroughly investigated. It would take a boat from a day to a day and a half longer to reach Peterborough via the Trent route than one by Port Hope. The former will have to cross railways five times in its course, and this necessitates considerable delay in navigation. He submitted that in constructing the Port Hope route it would not be necessary to cross one single railway. Then we have from 38 to 40 feet under the viaduct at Port Hope, sufficient for any ordinary craft to pass under. Mr. Ward thought Port Hope had sufficient grounds to ask for a survey of both routes by one particular engineer, in the interests of the whole country, and Mr. Blair had promised that this would be done before any further construction is undertaken. In conclusion, he quoted Mr. Rubidge as having reported that every stretch of Trent river navigation will have to be improved.

R. A. MULHOLLAND.

Took up the question of distance and lake navigation. He pointed out that it is 10 1-2 miles from the mouth of the Otonabee to Port Hope, and 58 1-2 to Trenton. He submitted that barges could safely navigate the lake east from Port Hope, especially as there are many harbors of refuge in case of storms. Erie Canal boats navigate Lake Erie, heavily loaded with steel, and Rideau Canal barges traverse Lake Ontario a distance of 60 miles to Oswego.

S. PURSER.

Argued the matter from a commercial standpoint. In the interests of the country to the north he claimed that Port Hope is the right outlet for the canal. It is the shortest route by which to transport wood, and to import coal for Peterborough's manufactories.

COL. WM. McLEAN.

Looked at the matter with military eyes, and advocated accepting the shortest possible route. The nearest way we can reach the seaboard is the route for us to adopt. He understood that considerable rock-cutting would have to be done on the Trent route, and only half a mile in the creek's bed to Port Hope.

D. W. DUMBLE.

Took up the argument in favor of Trenton. He was pleased to see that Port Hope had at last awakered to the fact that there is such a scheme as the Trent Valley Canal. He explained that the canal of old days was never thought of as a through route, but simply a local ditch for local trade. To-day, however, this canal has no importance but as a through route to the seaboard for the vast grain trade. It is a great national matter. He could not feel satisfied at Port Hope's action at this late day, which he thought would prove a hindrance to the project. He defended Mr. R. B. Rogers against the malicious slanders in Port Hope papers, to the effect that he was personally interested in the purchase of certain lands at Healey Falls. "Mr. Rogers bought that property by the Government's instruction, and for Government purposes." Mr. Dumble claimed that Ontario is not suitable for barge navigation, hence the advisability of avoiding that open stretch of lake from Port Hope to the Bay of Quinte. Then the Port Hope route, according to Mr. Rogers' estimate, would cost a million dollars more than via Trenton. You cannot tell until you bore whether you have clay or rock to contend with and experts say they would sooner take [illegible] some kinds of clay. As to fuel, we are not anxious for our wood to go to Toronto, we paid $7 a cord for it here last winter. The speaker contended that more coal comes from Oswego to Toronto than from any other American port and via Trenton barges could come up to Peterborough in protected water. This canal, he concluded, has double the capacity of the Erie Canal owing to its larger locks and its adaptability to steam navigation.

MR. GEO. YOUNG.

Was the only representative from Trenton, and he hoped Port Hope would take a reasonable view of the matter, and co-operate in securing its speedy completion. He was much pleased at the stand Peterborough has taken.

J. W. GARVIN.

Thought we should know how long it would take to make the survey proposed by Port Hope. He submitted that they had reasonable grounds for their arguments, which should be taken into consideration by Peterborough citizens.

AN ACT OF JUSTICE.

At this juncture Mr. H. A. Ward explained in justice to Mr. R. B. Rogers that leading officials of the department at Ottawa had informed him the day after session opened that the power at Healey Falls had been purchased for the Government.

A RESOLUTION

Mr. John Carnegie moved, seconded by Col. E. B. Edwards, a resolution to the effect that the Peterborough Board of Trade and Town Council is pleased to see evidence of the interest citizens of Port Hope are taking in the Trent Valley Waterway, and to hear the arguments submitted in favor of an outlet at Port Hope; but that owing to information carefully gathered regarding the matter, they regret their inability to see any advantage in asking for a further delay by a survey to settle certain points upon which they are already settled.

By the advice of Mr. Hughes-Charles this resolution was withdrawn as being lacking in courtesy to the gentlemen from Port Hope, who came here at their own request.

Valuable Advice to Mothers

If your child comes in from play coughing or showing evidences of an approaching attack of Grippe, Sore Throat, or sickness of any kind, first thing get out your bottle of Nerviline. Rub the chest and neck with Nerviline, and give internal doses of ten drops of Nerviline in sweetened water every two hours. This will prevent any serious trouble. No liniment or pain reliever equals Polson's Nerviline, which is a necessity in every household. Large bottles cost only 25c.

Grand Trunk Pension Fund

Ottawa, March 25.—Mr. Guthrie will reintroduce his bill to relieve employes of the Grand Trunk from obligation to contribute to the pension fund and to sign an agreement to exempt the company from liability for damages in the case of injuries to its employes.

NATURE OF THE COMING REDISTRIBURION MEASURE

County Boundaries to be Followed

MANY CHANGE MAY BE EXPECTED

Bill to be Laid Before the House This Week.

Ottawa, March 25.—The cabinet was in session the greater part of yesterday discussing the question of re-distribution. It is likely that the bill will be introduced during the latter part of the week. The principle of observing county boundary lines, to which the Liberals have been practically committed, in dividing the constituencies, will be observed. Where a constituency is too large for one member and enough for two or three it will be divided as equally as possible. This of course refers to the older provinces. Those who have seen the maps as prepared say that the principle has worked out all right and that it will be the means of adopting a guiding plan to prevent any party in power resorting to a gerrymander.

New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island are still holding out for their present representation. Until that is finally decided it cannot be said how the constituencies will be arranged. New Brunswick is anxious that Nova Scotia should take the same stand against a redistribution of members that New Brunswick is doing.

The changes in the proince of Quebec will not be very numerous.

The North West Territories do not come under the same statute as the other provinces as far as representation goes. The government can give to the North West as many members as it considers sufficient. At present there are only four members. The present population would warrant the government in increasing this number to ten. When the census was taken the population of the North West was sufficient for seven representatives on the same basis as the other parts of Canada, and of course has increased a lot since.

In British Columbia the additional member allowed will go to Yale and Cariboo. Vancouver Island will be a little short of population for three members and certain attachments will be made for the third constituency from the mainland.

Manitoba gets three additional members.

The redistribution bill which was introduced in 1899 and was defeated by the Senate provided for a reference to the judges. It is understood that in the present instance parliament will do the work itself the same as in past years so that there will be no reference to judges.

RUSSIA AND CHINA

Muscovite Interest in Chinese Situation

St. Petersburg, March 25.—In view of the threatened Chinese uprising against foreigners, the Russian authorities in Manchuria have requested the Government to straighten the military position in the Far East. They state that the prospective trouble looks more dangerous than that which culminated in the attack on the Pekin legations.

Close connection with the Boxers of North and Central China has been established by the Khunhuz, a semi-political semi-criminal and unconquered tribe of Manchuria, which is the real master of the North China industrial and commercial situation. The Russian movement has determined to reinforce the garrisons of South Manchuria and the Maritime Provinces.

JENA OR SEDAN

Prediction of the Overthrow of the Germans

Berlin, March 25.—Under the title "Jena or Sedan," Franz Adam Beyerlein, a retired Prussian officer, has written a sensational book, which in the disguise of a novel severely criticises the modern German military system, and contends that sweeping changes are demanded to save the army from ignominious defeat at the hands of some firstclass power. He also urges that the present system of training kills initiative in the individual soldier and that the disaster at Jena will certainly be repeated whenever this mechanical army comes in contact with forces, the units of which are permitted some degree of self-reliance. Beyerlein's novel depicts the cruelties which recruits suffer at the hands of non-commissioned officers. The author's conclusion is that between the infliction of brutality and the complete subjection of their individuality, the German soldiers are deprived of the qualities of good fighting men. The book is exciting widespread comment.

NEW OCEAN SERVICE.

Franco-Canadian Ships Will Begin Running this Week

London, March 24.—The Franco-Canadian steamship service will begin next month, when a monthly steamer will run between Lapallice, a town three miles west of Larochelle and Montreal. Lapallice has abundant modern warehousing facilities, and is regarded as the best mercantile port available on the French Atlantic coast for ships of large tonnage. The port has direct access to Paris, Basle, Lyons, Modane and Limoges. The steamers will have a speed of from ten to twelve knots an hour.

WATER RATES REDUCED

Sweeping Reduction to Consumers of Water

Will be Welcome News to the Householder—Water Now Within the Reach of Everybody

We heartily congratulate the Board of Water Commissioners on the sweeping reductions which have been made in the tariff to water consumers. The reductions for domestic purposes run from 20 to 50 per cent., according to the number of rooms. For instance, under the old tariff a five-room house and family of six persons were assessed $8, with 10 per cent. off, making $7.20 net. For the same, under the new tariff, the price will be $4.50 less 20 per cent., making $3.60 net, being a reduction of $3.60, or 50 per cent. Take another example: 9 rooms with 8 persons, with bath room, etc., under the old tariff, cost $16 per year, less 10 per cent., being $14.40 net. Under the new tariff the price is $12.50, less 20 per cent., being $10 net. Reduction $4.00, or 40 per cent.

Lawns under the old tariff were charged $4 for 10,000 square feet or under. This has been abolished and a price charged per 1,000 feet. The following are the figures:

RUSSIA AND TURKEY

MAY SOON BE ENGAGED

IN DEATH STRUGGLE

The Outrages So Long Endured in Macedonia to Be Avenged—War Regarded as Possible in the Near Future

St. Petersburg, March 24.—The mysterious manner in which the newspapers of this city, from the official Gazette down through the long list of important journals, have changed their tone in reference to the present Balkan situation, has excited widespread wonder and can only be explained on the ground that Russia is preparing for war with the Turk.

For weeks all the papers had been condemning in the bitterest of language the inhuman brutality of the Sultan for his toleration of the outrages being perpetrated by his soldiers in Macedonia.

But now all is changed. The papers are milder in tone, there is less hostile criticism, and hopes for a peaceful settlement of the whole question are expressed.

The cause is this:

The Czar and the Russian government have decided that the Turkish horror must end, and the only way that it can be done is through some compromise or a peaceful settlement altogether, if possible. And in order to give this plan of peace every possible chance of success it has been decided to conciliate the Turk; hostility must give way to gentler means, and if they do not succeed, it will be time to try sterner measures.

Should war come there will be a new element of strategy introduced into the situation, for, it would be impossible for Russian troops to pass through Roumania, as they did in 1877, under the terms of the San Stephano treaty, which [illegible].

THE COLONIALS AND THE IMPERIAL NAVY

Views of British Press on Arnold-Forster's Speech and Its Effect

London, March 25.—The London Spectator protests against the recent speech of Arnold Foster, Secretary of the Navy, in which he said that serious consequences were threatened owing to Canada's persistent apathy towards the British navy.

The Spectator says:

"Far more serious results are likely to ensue from these attempts to shame or to cajole the colonies into Admiralty contributions. Until the colonies are far more populous and rich it is not fair to expect them to pay a naval contribution. When the colonies do pay to a naval fund in large amounts they naturally will expect a voice in the policy of the Empire."

The London Saturday Review supports the views expressed by the Secretary of the Navy.

The London Outlook says:

"The colonial echo of his phrase, 'persistent apathy,' will haunt Arnold Foster. He and the Admiralty should take model by the Right Hon. Mr. Chamberlain and lift the whole question of colonial partnership above the level of threats and vulgar fractions."

So serious has this become that a league of telephone subscribers has recently been formed in the city for the purpose of forcing the Minister of Posts and Telegraphs to improve matters.

Detroit has had four competing telephone companies. The first company was heralded as a perfect gold mine for investors, but during the three years of its operation it proved a nuisance to the business community and finally was a disastrous failure financially. The three attempts following this were each still-born. During the closing weeks of 1902 an effort was made to obtain an ordinance from the city council for a thirty year franchise for still another telephone company to take over the uncompleted plants of two of their predecessors, but Mayor Maybury vetoed the measure on the ground that it was not in the public interest.

BEET SUGAR NEWS

The efforts to secure a beet sugar factory at Whitby have been abandoned for the present, says the Lindsay Post, and the farmers of that district are being advised to grow beets for the Berlin factory for a couple of seasons in order to gain a knowledge of the business. If the yield turns out well and the growers are satisfied another attempt will then be made to induce capitalists to establish a factory near that town.

A number of Peterborough citizens and leading farmers of the townships roundabout are also interesting themselves in a beet sugar project and are making a determined effort to secure contracts for a sufficient acreage to warrant them in asking the Ontario Beet Sugar Association to erect a factory there. The Peterborough company in the course of a few days will receive 45,000 pounds of seed from Germany, and will endeavor to place all of it with farmers.

In connection with the above it may be well to state that, whilst little has been said of late about a Lindsay factory, we are assured there is authority for the assertion that some progress is being made, hence we would warn our farmers against making contracts with any outside company for a term of years.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

If "treating" is allowed under the Election Act, why is fish made of one candidate and flesh of another? The Judges at Election Courts do not appear to be guided by any set rules on this point. An elector treated in Centre Bruce, and Mr. Clark was unseated therefor. Dr. Routledge treated wholesale in East Middlesex, according to his custom of spending three or four dollars each day at bars and he retained his seat. The case against him is dismissed with costs on the other side. The doctor could treat at election time because it was his habit to treat at other times. If the law about "treating" should happen to fall into utter contempt, this ruling will not help to save it.

THE SOLDIER AND HIS PACK OF CARDS

A private soldier by the name of Richard Hughes, was taken before a magistrate for playing cards in church during divine service. It appears that a sergeant commanded the soldiers at church, and when the parson had read the prayers he took the text. Those who had a bible took it out, but this soldier had neither bible nor common prayer book, but pulling out a pack of cards and spread them before him. He just looked at one card and then another.

The sergeant of the company saw him, and quietly said, "Richard, put up those cards; this is no place for them."

"Never mind that," said Richard.

When the service was over, the constable took Richard before the Mayor.

"Well," says the Mayor, "what have you brought the soldier here for?"

"For playing cards in church, your worship."

"Well, soldier, what have you to say for yourself?"

"Much, sir, I hope."

"Very good; if not I will punish you!"

"I have been," said the soldier, "about 6 weeks on the march. I have neither bible nor common prayer book. I have nothing but a pack of cards, and I'll satisfy your worship of the purity of my intentions." And spreading the cards before the Mayor he began with the ace. When I see the ace it reminds me that there is but one God. When I see the deuce it reminds me of Father and Son. When I see the three-spot it reminds me of Father, Son and Holy Ghost. When I see the four spot it reminds me of the four evangelists that preached, Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. When I see the five it reminds me of the five wise virgins; they trimmed their lamps; there were ten, but five were wise and five were foolish and shut out. When I see the six it reminds me that in six days the Lord made heaven and earth. When I see the seven it reminds me that on the seventh day He rested from the great work He had created, and hallowed it. When I see the eight it reminds me of the eight righteous persons; they were saved when God destroyed the world, viz., Noah and his wife, with three sons and their wives. When I see the nine it reminds me of the nine lepers; they were cleansed by our Saviour. There were nine out of ten who never returned thanks. When I see the ten it reminds me of the ten commandments, which God handed down to Moses on tables of stone. When I see the king it reminds me of the King of Heaven, who is God Almighty. When I see the queen it reminds me of the Queen of Sheba, who visited Solomon, for she was as wise a woman as he was a man. She brought with her fifty boys and fifty girls, all dressed in boys' apparel, for King Solomon to tell which were boys and which were girls. King Solomon sent for water for them to wash; the girls washed to the elbows, the boys to the wrists, so King Solomon told by that."

"Well," said the Mayor, "you have given a good description of all the cards but one."

"What is that?"

"The knave," said the Mayor.

"I will give your honor a description of that, too, if you will not be angry."

"I will not," said the Mayor, "if you do not term me to be the knave!"

"Well," said the soldier, "the greatest knave that I know of is the constable who brought me here."

"I do not know," said the Mayor, "if he is the greatest knave, but I know that he is the greatest fool."

"When I count how many spots there are in a pack of cards, I find 365, as many days as there are in a year. When I count the number of cards in a pack I find there are 52, the number of weeks in a year. I find there are 12 picture cards in a pack, representing the number of months in a year; and on counting the tricks I find 13, the number of weeks in a quarter. So you see a pack of cards served for a bible, almanac, and common prayer book."

Kidney Disease

Every Year Thousands Suffer and Die from Kidney Disease, That Never Knew the Exact Nature of their ailment.

Among the Most Easily Noted Symptoms are Pain in the Back, Frequent Desire to Urinate, Constant Headache Sleeplessness, and Nervousness.

When these signals of danger are unheeded, and proper precaution is not taken to avert more serious results, the very worst form of kidney trouble will develop, namely, Bright's Disease, which is almost incurable.

To obtain quick relief and a sure cure you must at once commence to take Ferrozone. It is a treatment for kidney and bladder troubles of undoubted merit and is prescribed now by all doctors and physicians who are [illegible] hospitals, sanitariums and all public health institutions rely on Ferrozone in all derangements of the kidneys, and claim that it affects more cures of chronic cases than any other remedy.

The action of Ferrozone is very mild and efficient and can be depended upon to give satisfactory results in every case. It brings about a healthy condition of all the organs of the body, causes the kidneys to eliminate all poisonous products and wastes of the body. It purifies and enriches the blood, reconstructs wasted tissues, excites healthy appetite and promotes good digestion. By the regular use of Ferrozone nutrition is improved, and strength to ward off disease is established and maintained.

No remedy for the alleviation and cure of kidney disease can possibly equal or surpass Ferrozone. This fact is conceded by all those who have used it, and a trial will convince you of its merits. Don't be misled into accepting a cheap, unworthy substitute, but insist on having the genuine Ferrozone. It is the very best that money, brains, skill and scientific research can produce, and that is the sort of remedy you want. Price 50c. per box, or three boxes for $1.25, at druggists, or N. C. To Set Her Free

(COPYRIGHTED)

By FLORENCE WARDEN.

Author of "The House in the Marsh," "A Prince of Darkness," etc.

And was John Rogerson, upon whose testimony her position and Astley's depended!

And Astley was away! A cry of distress escaped her lips at the thought. Astley and Mr. Capper were away—and—Dr. Wharles and his wife were near at hand! Would they get hold of him first?

CHAPTER XV.

The first thing Norma did on entering the house was to ask who the visitor was.

"He gave no name, my lady," said the footman. "He enquired whether Sir Astley was at home. And then he asked, when he heard he was away, how long it would be before Sir Astley would be back. And I said I couldn't tell him, but I believed not above a day or two."

"Did he leave no name?"

"No name, my lady."

A very few minutes' consideration resulted in Norma's sending off a telegram to Astley, containing these words:

"The person you want to see has just called here, and gone away after asking when you would return. He left no name."

She got an answering message that afternoon:

"Thanks for wire. We return to-morrow."

She did not like the tone of these words: she thought Astley must have had bad news on arriving at Leamington, or he would have sent her some word of hope or comfort, in ever so brief a message.

And the following morning her fears were confirmed.

Shortly before luncheon Astley and Mr. Capper drove up in a fly, and the first look at their faces showed Norma that their errand had been unsuccessful. "She's alive, I've seen her." These, Astley's first words, uttered hoarsely, in a low voice, struck like a knell upon her ear. She made no answer, but went with the two gentlemen into the library, where Mr. Capper opened the budget.

"I'm sorry to tell you, Lady Darwen, that there seems no doubt that the first wife has played a heartless trick upon Sir Astley."

"And who helped her in the trick? Who gave the certificate of death?" asked Norma quickly.

"Ah! That was what we wanted to know," said Mr. Capper. "So I called at once upon the medical man who had attended the person whom he supposed to be Mrs. Darwen, and who had certified her death as the result of pneumonia. He was much surprised to hear there was a doubt about it, and said positively that the woman whom he attended as Mrs. Darwen had died, and had been buried."

"Well!"

"Then we went to Mrs. Midsomer's house, and saw first a Mrs. Finch, the sister of the first wife."

"Yes, yes."

"She was in a state of great distress, and refused to answer any questions, referring us to her mother."

At the mention of this woman Astley, unable to keep still, began to pace up and down the room.

"Well," went on the lawyer, "Sir Astley refused point-blank to see Mrs. Midsomer, and I didn't press the point, as he seemed hardly likely to get at the truth from her, in the temper he was in."

"It was she, she and Wharles, who concocted the whole plot. I am convinced of it," cried Astley.

"Very likely," admitted Mr. Capper. "Well, I decided to see her, and I drew, by little and little, the following story from her. According to her, it was a servant they had, a delicate, consumptive girl, who caught cold, and became very ill, who gave Lettie the idea of pretending to be dead, in order to escape the divorce proceedings. I asked Mrs. Midsomer why she should be so much alarmed if she was innocent, as the family persists. And the old lady declares that her daughter was nervous and frightened, and fancied that a case would be trumped up against her, as her husband was anxious to get rid of her."

"But didn't the doctor know the difference between Mrs. Darwen and the servant?"

"It seems not. They went to a doctor who lived some distance away, and who was a stranger to the family."

"And Mrs. Midsomer dared to admit she knew of this?"

"She says, of course, that she tried to dissuade her daughter, but was overruled by her fears. She says the servant died, and was buried as Mrs. Darwen."

"Did you make enquiries about the servant?"

"Yes. It seems, from the neighbors' accounts, that Mrs. Midsomer gave out that the servant had gone home to her friends, to account for the fact that she undoubtedly did disappear about that time."

"Did Mrs. Midsomer give you her name and address?"

"Yes. Of course I've not had time to verify them. But as the girl appears to have been an orphan, and to have been engaged from a registry office in Birmingham, and as the address given me is not a very clear one, being merely the name of a poor street in Birmingham without any number, I'm afraid it will be a hard matter to trace the girl, alive or dead. And, unfortunately, it is not of much consequence whether she is or not, as far as the main facts of this unhappy business are concerned."

There was a dead silence. Norma hardly dared to ask another question.

"And—you—saw—her?" she whispered at last.

"I did not. But Sir Astley did. He asked Mrs. Finch to let him see her, and was told she was too ill. Then he threatened to bring the police in; and this brought her to reason. After a great deal of fuss, and many tears, and entreaties that he would spare the unhappy creature, Mrs. Finch did at last take Sir Astley upstairs to see her, though she was lying ill in bed."

Norma stood up and shivered. Then she turned to Astley.

"And you did really see her? So as to be sure it was she?" she faltered.

Astley bowed his head.

"Yes."

"Oh!" It was a moan of despair. But she recovered herself, and asked again: "And what did she say? Was she really sorry? And—and—"

"She said so," said Astley, who was very dull-eyed and quiet, as if worn out with distress of mind. "She said she had done nothing but reproach herself, and that it was that had made her ill."

"And was she ill, really? Or was she only acting?" cried Norma passionately.

"Oh yes, she was really ill, very ill. She looked thin and worn and wasted. Mrs. Finch, who went into the room with me, pointed out how thin her hands were, and declared, when we got outside the room—which I was glad to do, as you may imagine—that her sister was dying."

"It was an assumption, of course?"

Catarrh and Bronchitis Eradicated

Contractor Ernest R. Cross, of Montreal, Was So Sick That He Could Not Walk and Was Reduced in Weight to Ninety-five Pounds.

Treated by Chicago Specialists, He Was Told He Had But Six Months to Live—Then He Resorted to Patent Medicines, But Continued to Grow Worse.

Hearing of Powley's Liquified Ozone He Tried It—Soon He Noticed a Relief in Breathing—Now He Eats Well, Sleeps Well, Works Daily, and Has Gained Thirty Pounds in Weight.

POWLEY'S LIQUIFIED OZONE CURES DISEASE BY DESTROYING DISEASE GERMS WHEREVER LOCATED.

Five years ago, when suffering from catarrh, a serious bronchial cough made itself manifest and I at once took steps to have it checked, employing a good physician for that purpose. I continued to grow worse and became very weak in the course of time. I had periods of severe coughing and expectoration, especially in the mornings, and from the second year of my sickness suffered much from night sweats.

I had the attention of nearly every specialist in Chicago, whose final opinion was that I would not live another six months. I then fell back on patent medicines, in the vain hope that I would find something in them to meet my extreme case, but these also failed and I was brought to Canada and to Montreal. I was at length reduced in weight to ninety-five pounds, and last winter my life was considered not worth anything. However, I would rally a little at times and try and walk out. On one occasion I took an hour and a half to walk seven blocks and was then completely exhausted.

Last summer I took pneumonia, which seemed likely to prove the closing event of my long illness. Rallying from this, I could not walk across the room for the sense of suffocation. At this juncture in July last I heard of Powley's Liquified Ozone. I sent for a bottle and began taking it according to directions. I soon began to notice relief in breathing, while the night sweats and coughs were less severe.

I have now used in all four small and two large bottles, and I have no night sweats, but little cough, and am working hard every day without the least inconvenience. I sleep and eat well and have gained thirty pounds in weight.

I consider Powley's Liquified Ozone a boon to humanity and can honestly and heartily endorse all that is claimed for it.

THEORY VS. PROOF.

Have you ever noticed that while the patent medicine dealers are supplying you with theories as to why their remedies should cure disease that we are furnishing proof of the most positive, convincing kind that Powley's Liquified Ozone does cure disease? By destroying the disease germs, as it did in the case of Mr. Cross, it effects cures in cases that the ordinary drug preparations could not touch. Never has a preparation been so enthusiastically endorsed as Ozone. From coast to coast letters are received telling of the great good that this infallible drugless preparation is doing in eradicating disease.

Great Fortunes Are Made

FROM INVESTMENTS IN GOOD MINING PROPERTIES—HERE IS THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME

The Electric Spark GOLD MINING COMPANY

Stock was placed on the market eighteen months ago and sold for SIX CENTS per share. In less than six months the stock was selling at FIFTEEN CENTS, and a few months ago rose to TWENTY CENTS, at which price it is now being bought and sold. $100 00 invested eighteen months ago would bring you today $333 33. CAN YOU FIND A BETTER INVESTMENT? Do you know that mining affords about the only opportunity for people of small means to make a large amount of money? Why? Because everything except mining is controlled by the trusts and combines, and the small dealer is soon frozen out. We have left to sell

Thunder Mountain!

is the richest gold producing camp in the United States, and also the largest. The Thunder Mountain district, in central Idaho, is twenty miles wide and forty miles long. In comparison with this we have Cripple Creek, four miles wide and seven miles long. In many of the Thunder Mountain mines ore has already been reached that carries ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN GOLD TO THE TON. All of the Thunder Mountain ore is free milling, which means that it can be treated by the cheapest extraction process known—the ordinary stamp mill. It can be both mined and milled at a cost not to exceed $2 a ton. The past years operations in the several working mines have opened up millions of tons of ore that will give a net profit of from $10 to $30 a ton, enabling the respective companies to pay dividends at a rate never before equalled. Such is the showing and the prospect of the

EAST DEWEY GOLD MINING CO.

which unless all indications are at fault, will become the largest producer in the district. The EAST DEWEY mine, which it owns outright, is located directly on Thunder Mountain, just east of the famous "Dewey" mine, which already has $20,000,000 of ore in sight. The surface area of the East Dewey mine is one hundred and twenty acres—six full quartz claims. The company has also secured the big GOLDEN GATE mine, in the Big Creek section of the Thunder Mountain district—which has been so aptly termed "The Pot of Gold"—and is now developing the mine with all possible speed. For a distance of 9,000 feet, nearly two miles, the Golden Gate mines cover a mineralized ledge that is 900 feet wide, with an average height above the tunnel level of 500 feet, thus giving it the largest exposed tonnage of any mine in the west.

If you would share in the enormous profits which these figures indicate and which these developments promise, invest your money in "East Dewey" Stock. It can be bought to-day for 10 Cents a Share. Its par value is $1.

If the East Dewey mines are what they appear to be, and there is absolutely no reason to doubt or question these indications, this stock will eventually be worth at least $10 a share, and to-day you can buy it for ten cents. PRICE ADVANCES TO FIFTEEN CENTS ON FEBRUARY 28th. 5% discount allowed for cash. Stock sold at flat price of 10 cents on deferred payments, 10% with application, and 10% monthly until paid. Plea For the Plain Husband.

As the result of examining a very extensive collection of portraits of the newly married obtained from the illustrated papers, the present writer has come to the conclusion that the plain man is just now in the heyday of his popularity, matrimonially speaking!

It would seem that while the handsome man is charming to dally with someone whose features are homely, indeed even ugly, is regarded as the wiser matrimonial venture.

The wife of the modern Adonis appears to have discovered, in fact, that by her own act she has created a problem that may bring her many hours of uneasiness, if not of actual pain.

Her husband lives upon the approbation of others. Her own worship of him may for a while suffice to satisfy him; but later on he will assuredly need that of the outside world. And the outside world is only too pleased to grant him all the admiration he requires. Balls, dinner-parties, picnics, skating meetings demand his presence constantly, but make no point of his wife being there at all, a fact she quickly discerns and proportionately resents. Should she absent herself from such gaieties, she imagines her husband making himself too agreeable to this pretty woman or that, and should she become a hanger-on of his popularity, she is all the while seething with hatred for her equivocal position.

Much of the vanity of the handsome man arises from the indiscreet adoration showered upon him in childhood. As he grows up he is made much of outside the family circle, because it is pleasant to have in a room full of guests as many handsome men as possible. And the sequel? Is it not obvious? When he fell in love, it was not altogether because his choice was fair and sweet, but because she, too, paid him the tribute of admiration.

Now, it is all very well to put a man on a pedestal and wreathe him with bays before marriage; but what a woman wants after marriage is a good and serviceable article in the way of a husband.

It is excessively annoying to a woman always to have to play second fiddle pianissimo when the beauty question is uppermost. Breathes there the wife in any household who dislikes some little passing mention made from time to time about her good looks and charming individuality? But the wife of an Adonis obtains little of this sweet incense.

Sweep away this picture and contemplate the companion one of the plain husband. His object is to make life a bed of roses for his wife and family. Unselfishly the plain man toils.

The plain husband "puts up" with things. Did ever a handsome one brook the domestic trials he cheerfully endures? Somehow the handsome man is expected to regard calamities from quite a different standpoint. Nay, more, the ugly, good-humored head of a household is expected to be the handy man of the family. If a chimney smokes, his plain features must be begrimed in an attempt to get at the root of the mischief; if a pipe leaks, his red and uncultured paws are quite good enough to probe the defect to its very depths. What handsome curled darling could possibly be expected to risk his good looks by performing such nasty tasks as these?

Lung Trouble

Promptly relieved and permanently cured by inhaling Catarrhozone

Mrs. Bay Brown of Tenecape, N.S., was cured by Catarrhozone of lung trouble and catarrh after hundreds of other remedies failed

If your lungs are weak; if there is consumption in your family; if Colds, Catarrh and Bronchitis bother you, be sure to use Catarrhozone. It is especially adapted for these diseases and cures every time.

Mrs. Brown took cough mixtures, but they made her sick. Then she used an atomizer, but, after resorting without benefit to emulsions and numerous other remedies, she tried Catarrhozone.

"I used Catarrhozone Inhaler," writes Mrs. Brown, five minutes every hour, and soon recognized that it was going to cure me. I could feel the soothing medicated air spreading through the air passages of the throat, and it touched the sore spots in the lungs that other remedies failed to reach. Catarrhozone seemed to go just where it was needed most, and soon put a stop to my cough. It restored me to perfect health, and I am convinced that no cough, cold or catarrh can exist if Catarrhozone is used."

No treatment is so clean, so pleasant, so certain to cure as Catarrhozone. By means of the Inhaler the local symptoms such as coughing, inflammation and congestion are speedily corrected. Ferrozone tablets which are taken after each meal purify and cleanse the blood of all poisons and build up and strengthen the system.

This local and constitutional treatment is always effective, and cures cases that have been given up as hopeless. Money can't buy or produce anything better, and to get cured it is absolutely necessary to use Catarrhozone.

POLICE COURT

A Case Assault Resulted in a Fine of Five Dollars

Yesterday morning at the police court Andrew Irwin charged Stephen Milstead with assault, and defendant pleaded not guilty. Last fall defendant lost a pick, and suspected that it had been taken by Irwin. An encounter at the gas works on Monday brought matters to a climax, and hot words and blows ensued when Irwin was accused of the theft. Irwin got the worst of the battle, and sought justice in the police court yesterday. After all the evidence had been heard by the Magistrate he fined Milstead $5.00 to be paid in ten days. Mr. G. W. Hatton appeared on behalf of plaintiff.

A young man charged with being intoxicated was discharged.

A BRIGHT IDEA

Which Resulted in Dispensing with Unsightly Cribs in Constructing Dickson Company's Mill

The frame-work for the Dickson Company's big sawmill was begun yesterday, and when completed it will have a capacity of 35,000 feet a day. Mr. Thompson, the millwright, was happily possessed of a splendid idea, which did away with the unsightly cribs necessary to fasten the boom sticks, which would have cost $2,000, besides being continually in the way. Instead of these a number of large stones at the locks, which were formerly owned by Mr. Charles Wynn, were bored and raised to the surface with chains and sunk again where required. The result is that the new arrangement works like the proverbial charm, and the heavy chains hold the boom sticks in place.

SHOULD VISIT THE DISPLAY

Miss Delaney's Millinery a Marvel of Beauty and Loveliness

The old adage that "Each one knows his own business best" is true in almost every department of actual life. So also is the one which says that "A jack of all trades is master of none." The person with ability and energy who seeks a profession and pursues that calling unhampered by any other, is the one whose opinion is worth having, and whose work is perfect. In the field of art, the work of the masters is what is admired and sought after by people of culture and good taste. So in millinery, the person who gives their undivided attention to that business alone is the only one who can produce the single article complete in itself or in grouping them into a harmonious collection, pleasing to the eye and gratifying to the most [illegible] call and see Miss Delaney's grand millinery display to-morrow will certainly be convinced that she is an artist of rare ability, and that very few, even in the large cities equal her in taste and fine work. We are sure the readers of The Times will have no reason to regret the time spent in visiting her show rooms.

POOR SUGAR SEASON

The Sap is Running but Very Poorly This Year

The prevailing opinion amongst those engaged in the maple sugar making business is that the present will be a poor year for syrup. There has been very little made so far, and the farmers say that there will be very little more. It is poor sugar weather as the sap buckets get filled with rain water. It takes a lot of rain water to make a gallon of syrup. The syrup is generally of a poor quality, being very dark. The farmers say it is impossible to get the golden coloured syrup this year.

FAT BABIES

Are Famous Sleepers

The saying, "Sleepy as a fat baby," expresses a good deal, for fat babies are famous little fellows to sleep. What a contrast is their refreshing rest to the [illegible] and tossing of a sleepless coffee drinker. A good elder of Springfield, Ill., found a way to bring refreshing sleep in place of insomnia. "Until three years ago," he says, "for 15 years I was troubled with a throbbing in my stomach, was very nervous, kidneys out of order, troubled with severe headaches and dreadful insomnia.

"After trying all sorts of remedies I came to the conclusion that my troubles were the result of drinking coffee, and seeing an article in the paper about Postum I determined to try it. So I quit coffee and took on Postum. It agreed with me from the first cup. At first I drank it diluted, then pure. I relished it too and to my great joy I was soon free from stomach trouble, nervousness all gone and head clear and instead of being wakeful for half the night I sleep like a fat baby and get up in the morning refreshed. This I owe to having quit coffee and taken to drinking Postum." Name furnished by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Nothing marvelous about it but there is a reason. If healthy sound sleep is worth anything to you drop coffee and give Postum a short trial—say ten days. That will tell the tale.

Family cares and duties do not weigh down the well woman, and the children are never in her way. But when the womanly health fails, and there is a constant struggle with weakness and pain, household duties are a burden almost past bearing, and children are a ceaseless annoyance and worry.

Weak women are made strong and sick women are made well by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries disagreeable drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"I had been ailing some time, troubled with female weakness," writes Mrs. Wm. H. Johnson, of Avondale, Chester Co., Pa. "Every month I would have to lie on my back. I tried many different medicines and nothing gave me relief until I began Dr. Pierce's medicines, using two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and two of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' These medicines have cured me. When I began your treatment I was not able to do very much, but now I do the work for my family of nine, and feel better to-day than I have for a year. I thank you, doctor, from the bottom of my heart, for well do I know that you are the one who cured me."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the best laxative for family use.
